Brampton Fair Attracts Crowd Of 5,000

Despite Curtailment Of Regular Features Fair Draws Big Crowd

Knitting Marathon and Special War Features Red Cross Display

Glorious weather, a huge crowd, and many new types of exhibits helped, on Tuesday and Wednesday, to make Brampton's second wartime fair to be an outstanding success. Despite the fact that government grants had been cut necessitating the curtailment of the usual program, the fair did not lose its power of attraction, and, from all over Peel County, hundreds of visitors spent the day at the Fair. Incidentally, so enthusiastic was the crowd, that the various exhibits remained on display for several hours past the usual time.

The war was very much in evidence. The Red Cross Society of Brampton had a most attractive and comprehensive display of goods being made for war uses. Members of rural branches of the Society were particularly interested in the display and commented freely on the amazing scope of the work being carried on by the Brampton Ladies, Mrs. M. Vanderbilt, convener of war work for the Society, reported that no less than 465 Brampton women are knitting for the Red Cross. On display were all types of the work being done by the women of the society, including various knitted goods, pyjamas, quilts, sheets, and hospital supplies. Even tins of jam, specially made for the soldiers, were on cal Red Cross themselves, who had been active in certain divisions of the work, were not fully aware of the tremendous job being quietly undertaken by the Brampton ladies. It is a proud record of achievement that the Red Cross Ladies displayed at the Fair.

Space does not permit a full report of the many fine exhibits. The knitting marathon proved to be a real attraction. The contestants put on a real display, as they mechanically knitted away, with the precision of machines. Nortonville Red Cross won the contest. Members of the team were Mrs. Gordon Crawford, Mrs. Clarence Prosser, and Miss Stella Caldwell. In second place came the Inglewood Red Cross team, composed of Mrs. Craig Smeaton, Mrs. Fred McMillan, and Miss Helen Cluff. Brampton Red Cross came third, with Mrs. Hilgartner, Mrs. Sam Caruso, and Miss Gowing on the team, and Sandhill Red Cross was in fourth place with a team composed of Miss Mildred Cook, and the twin sisters, Misses Kathleen and Betty Anderson.

Another contest of interest was the House Dress competition. This was won by Mrs. D. J. Lammy of Malton, with Mrs. Harold Wilson of Inglewood second, Mrs. R. C. Robinson of Brampton, third, and

PRINTING EXHIBIT ATTRACTS HUNDREDS AT FAIR

Above The Conservator photographer caught a section of the Printing Exhibit at Brampton Fair yesterday. The exhibit was the first of its kind ever staged at the Brampton Fair and attracted more than a thousand people. It was sponsored by Charters Publishing Company in recognition of the 500th Anniversary of Printing which is being celebrated in Canada and the United States this year, and also of Newspaper Week, which is being observed in North America from October 1st to 8th. Included in the exhibit was the first copy of The Conservator, published on December 4th, 1874, and also a Washington Hand Press over 100 years old. The exhibit was highly educational and the scores of visitors asked hundreds of questions about this interesting industry.

Special Printing Exhibit Marks 500th Anniversary of Industry

Display Sponsored By Charters Publishing Co. Attracts Big Crowd

Over a thousand people visited the special 500th Anniversary of Printing, National Newspaper Week display, sponsored by Charters Publishing Company at Brampton Fair on Wednesday. The display attracted a lot of generous comment, and resulted in no less than six district schools asking for permission to view the Charters plant in operation as a part of the studies of their pupils.

There were several specially interesting exhibits in the display. Many people spent some time examining the first copy of The Conservator which was on display. This copy was published on December 4th, 1874, and is in a good state of preservation. It was in the possession of the late T. W. Duggan for many years, and is now a prized possession of The Conservator. Photostatic copies of the inside pages of the issue were also on display.

Another exhibit which proved especially attractive was the old Washington Hand Press, manufactured in the year 1836, which had been kindly loaned for the exhibit by the Toronto Type Foundry. This old press was similar to that on which the first copies of The Conservator was published.

Many visitors learned for the first time how pictures were reproduced in newspapers. A special display of the process had been arranged by Jack Burkitt, Conservator engraver, showing the various processes through which a photograph must go before it appears in the newsaper. The original photograph, the half-tone negative, untreated zinc, sensitized zinc, the printed plate, the burned in plate and the completed cut were shown, giving visitors an easily understood display of the process.

Another part of the exhibit which attracted considerable attention was that which illustrated the process of printing the Conservator. The front page of last week's Conservator was on display, showing the type locked in the chase. A mat of the front page showed how the impression of the page was taken off on a specially treated matrix, and the final stereotype plate which goes on the press and from which The Conservator is actually printed completed this exhibit.

In addition, there were scores of special prints reminiscent of early printing days, and examples of modern color printing from the presses of Charters' Brampton factories. The whole exhibit proved both educational and of exceptional interest.

Brampton Musician Has War Song Published In Toronto

"I'll Come Back to You When It's Over" is the title of the song that will soon sweep the country. The song was written by Mrs. Mitchell May, well known piano accompanist who resides in Brampton. Mrs. May first wrote the song three months ago and this week final arrangements for publishing and distributing the song have been completed. Copyrighted in England, Canada and the United States, the song is being published and distributed in each of those countries by Gordon Thompson of Toronto.

"Mr. Thompson has arranged a translation in French with a guitar accompaniment," said Mrs. May. "This is especially for the French Canadians who have gone overseas. I have three other songs ready but they will not be published till this one is on the stands. One is a sequel of this song, and another is a song to the Air Forces."

Mrs. May is an accomplished pianist and piano-accordianist. She has accompanied many of our local talent at concerts and entertainments in this district. "It may take a little time for these songs to be released, because, first, we want the present one to be distributed," declared Mrs. May.

A Job Well Done

The Campaign for Brampton's War Charities nears its end, and as we go to press a total fully 50% over the objective of $15,000 has been assured. It is a glorious effort, and one of which the citizens of the town have every right to be proud. The spirit of the great need quite apparently is fully acknowledged by Bramptonians who have rallied more solidly behind this campaign than any in the history of the town. And when all the other war work being carried on by the Red Cross women, and other groups is taken into consideration, Brampton's part in the War Effort may be seen in its real magnitude.

The Committee in charge of the Campaign at its meeting last night was loud in its praise of response of Brampton citizens. To the committee goes a great deal of the credit for its success. The appeal was splendidly organized. The workers were enthusiastic in the task confronting them. The meaning of the appeal and the allocation of the funds was properly and adequately publicized. So to the committee it is—Well done, you've done a splendid job.

On the other hand the committee was quite right in praising the fine spirit of the citizens of the town. They rallied to a cause that is near to the hearts of us all. It was pioneers from Great Britain who founded and named this town, and it is the descendants of these pioneers and those of like spirit who have come to live here, who voiced their decision to stand shoulder to shoulder with our boys overseas, by making sacrifices for these war charities. And so to the citizens of Brampton—loyal, patriotic and true—Well done, you've done a splendid job.

And lastly a brief but deserved tribute to one citizen whose identity must remain secret. Not only did he make a very substantial subscription to the fund, but in addition he undertook to provide the funds for the publicity, printing, advertising and other expenses necessary to acquaint the public with the great need to put this effort over the top. True the local press gave a tremendous amount of free publicity, but all paid publicity was the gift of this generous citizen. And so to him—Well done, you've done a splendid job.

Sons of England Victory Drive Unqualified Success Saturday

Colourful Parade and Garden Party Program Raises Charity Funds

The Sons of England, aided by fine weather and a splendid crowd, held a most successful Victory Drive on Saturday. George R. Farr, who so capably headed the committee in charge, stated that he expects that the drive will net at least $650, to be turned over to the Win the War Charities Campaign.

The affair got under way with a colorful parade, which formed at Gage Park. In the lead were the nattily attired Navy League Cadets of Toronto, who later gave a fine drill display at Roselea Park. The Brampton Citizens band followed, and, in turn, marched the Lorne Scots local platoons under the command of Major C. E. Cerson. Members of the Win the War Committee, the Peel Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, the Red Cross, the I.O.D.E. and the V.O.N. were in the parade in decorated cars. The Salvation Army Band, in the centre of the parade, provided martial music. Four Nurses in snow-white uniforms under the navy blue cloaks received plenty of applause from the huge crowd which lined the streets. The Legion, veterans of the last war, marched proudly, under the leadership of President Gordon Stratton, while members of the Legion Auxiliary followed with their flags. The Sons of England Float, a boat mounted on a wagon and drawn by a tractor, came next, followed by the Campbell's Cross L.O.B.A. flute band, with little Bobby Clarridge, Lorne Scots mascot, marching along like a veteran.

The Boy Scouts, under the command of Cubmaster Reg Richards, the Girl Guides, the children of the public schools with their Jazz Band, and the Companions of the Forest, in the colorful uniforms, completed the parade. The four nurses were Miss Isabel Firth, Miss Jean McBean, Miss Freda Cowtan and Miss Veronica St. Marie, all of the Peel Memorial Hospital.

During the afternoon, a program of sports followed the naval cadet drill, while numerous booths, operated by members of the Sons of England and the Daughters of England, did a roaring business.

The drive was resumed in the evening with an elaborate garden party in the Rose Bowl. Gordon Graydon, M. P. acted as chairman, and explained that no organization would seem to have a greater right to operate such a drive than one bearing the name Sons of England. Mr. Graydon introduced Supreme Secretary Oglesby of Toronto, who

Campaign Objective of $15,000 Is Exceeded by Fifty Per Cent As Donations Reach $21,857.87

Fund is Expected to Go Well Over $22,000 When Returns From Sons of England Drive and Late Donations Included

Reflecting Brampton's desire to do its part in the war effort of the Nation, citizens responded magnificently to the War Charities Campaign, and late last night total subscriptions had reached the spectacular sum of $21,357.87, with prospects of the grand total being well over $22,000. When complete the canvass is expected to bring the total to 50% over the $15,000 objective. In addition to the sum totalled last night, George R. Farr, who was chairman of last week's very successful Sons of England drive stated that he expected that the drive would net $650 for the war fund.

The Win the War Committee, which sponsored the drive, and the Campaign Committee, headed by J. H. C. Waite, were almost overwhelmed by the fine spirit demonstrated in this campaign. Never before in Brampton history, one long time resident told The Conservator, has the town rallied in finer spirit to any cause. It was a definite proof that Brampton has a community spirit, and that its citizens were determined to demonstrate that spirit at a time when the Empire needed all the help it could get.

What has amazed the committee most has been the genuine spirit of sacrifice exhibited by so many of the citizens with smaller incomes. Some reference to this spirit is made elsewhere.

There may be some homes which have not been canvassed, or when they were canvassed the residents were not home. Return visits will be made to these homes, the committee states, but it suggests that, should any be missed, they make their donations direct to the Campaign Treasurer, M. A. Peck, or to any of the local banks.

With regard to the money raised, the committee, at its meeting last night, pledged itself to see that it was judiciously expended. The demands outlined in the appeal will all be met in full, and a reserve held for any emergency call from the Red Cross or other cause in connection with the war.

A list of donations to the fund appears in this issue, and any corrections to the list will be gladly made next week.

Campaign BRIEFS

It has been a heart warming week for those privileged to take part in the War Charities Campaign in Brampton. There have been a score of incidents that has served to reflect the great spirit of the people of the town in the drive for war funds. Here are just one or two outstanding ones.

One citizen, in quite lowly circumstances financially, has been saving coppers for weeks so that a contribution might be made to the fund. When the canvasser called at this home, a contribution of $5.00 in coppers was made, and every copper meant the sacrifice of something to the donor.

At another home, where the circumstances of the family exchequer were fairly apparent, the canvasser received a donation of $2.00. The giver explained that, knowing it would not be possible to give anything from her regular income, she had earned money on the side so as to do her share for the campaign.

In another home the husband is on active service overseas. Here, both the wife and the mother-in-law made substantial donations, despite the acts that the service being rendered to his country by this soldier does not leave the family much to live on, they decided to do still more and give generously to this drive for funds.

And in another home, where money is none too plentiful, the lady of the house signed a pledge to give $2.00 every month for the duration of the war. And the canvasser related that that $2.00 each month means a very real and very noble sacrifice on the part of the giver.

An interesting sidelight on the campaign are the figures worked out this morning on the total number who have contributed to the campaign. These number close to 2000 and still more to be heard from. This is one in three of the town's population and illustrates the point that practically every wage earner has given to this worthy cause. It certainly does Brampton proud.

Now you will understand why it did the canvassers a whole lot of good to give their time to this cause. They met in their calls so many instances of genuine patriotism, and so many people willing to give generously of their little, that their task was turned into a privilege and their work into inspriation.

Barn Destroyed by Fire

The entire season's crop was a complete loss when fire gutted W. H. Henry's barn at Cheltenham last night. Of an unknown origin, the fire is believed to have started in the upper part of the barn. A number of chickens, several pigs and calves were also destroyed.

A bucket brigade, organized by the neighbours, was instrumental in saving the garage which caught fire twice and protecting the house from flying sparks. The loss is covered by insurance.

Communion Table Dedicated Sunday By Presbyterians

The second successive anniversary service of the Diamond Jubilee of Brampton Presbyterian church was held last Sunday. A communion table and service and a new pulpit were dedicated at the morning's services which were conducted by the pastor Rev. Neil Miller.

The pulpit was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Harry McMurchy. The inscription reads: In memory of Mrs. McMurchy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Troughton, in appreciation of the Christian Fellowship they found in this church. The communion table was donated by Mrs. John Davidson in memory of Mr. John Davidson, an elder 1926-1936.

Mrs. James Langskill donated the Communion service in commemoration of the association of Mr. John McCandless and Family with the Presbyterian Churches in Brampton and district 1884-1940.

The quarterly communion service will be held at the regular service Sunday morning this week. Rev. FitzSimmons of Caledon will officiate at the precommunion service this Friday evening.

Special Junior Officers' Course Opened Monday At Local Armouries

Nearly 120 Officers And N.C.O.'s Take Special Training

Inaugurating a course for Junior officers and N.C.O.'s, the Lorne Scots held their first class in the armouries here on Monday. Four schools are operating from the Brampton headquarters of the Lorne Scots, all of them under the supervision of Lieut.-Col. R. V. Conover.

Close to one hundred and twenty junior officers and N.C.O.'s who have not as yet qualified for their rank will attend the school, which will last all winter. "The students will write government examinations in the spring," declared Col. Conover.

The four schools are situated as follows: Orangeville, under Major Leonard Bertram, M.C.; Brampton, Major Searson; Oakville, Major Peacock; Georgetown, Major J. R. Barber. The officers in each school will be the instructors, and if necessary will have qualified N.C.O.'s as assistants. Classes will be held in each of the schools on Mondays and Fridays, except in the case of Georgetown when they will be held on Wednesdays and Fridays. It is understood that classes in military manoeuvers and in military subjects will be conducted by the instructors.

Floral and School Displays Featured At Brampton Fair

There were many outstanding displays at Brampton Fair this year, too many to give adequate coverage to. However the floral displays in the south exhibition building were well worthy of special mention. They were provided by the Dale Estate and C. R. Fendley. Nothing finer could be see at the Horticultural Show at the Canadian National Exhibition than these two splendid exhibits by the local nurserymen.

Another display of note was that provided by Central and McHugh Public Schools. It was far to comprehensive to fully describe, but it covered practically every part of the curriculum. Of special interest in this section was the display of woodwork accomplished in the shop work section of the public schools. The course was started only a few months ago and this was of course, the first time that it could be displayed at Brampton Fair.

In the north building, where the cooking was tastefully displayed, were several other interesting exhibits. Here were included several sections for school children, and some of the knitting displayed by the girls under ten was truly amazing.

Women's Institutes and other groups also had fine exhibits in this building.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1940

Fire Prevention Week

By proclamation of His Excellency the Governor General of Canada, the week of October 6 to 12 has been set aside as Fire Prevention Week. This week provides an annual occasion to impress upon public consciousness the enormous cost of the fire waste, to the end that conditions may be improved and fire carelessness reduced.

The world has passed through a year of the second Great War and we have all read accounts of the devastation and havoc that has been wrought by means of incendiary and high explosive bombs and we are shocked by the details of such accounts. Yet in the twenty years since Fire Prevention Week was first established in Canada, this country has recorded more than 800,000 fires involving a property loss of over $726,000,000 and a loss in human lives of more than 7,700. Our complacency in this respect is only matched by the complacency with which we watched Hitler attain power.

Fire is no respecter of persons. Every man has a responsibility towards his neighbours and that responsibility should cause every right-thinking person to pause and consider what he owes the community in which he lives. We owe it to ourselves but in a greater degree to our fellow-citizens to permit no condition to exist upon our premises that will invite a visitation of fire. A great majority of fires are so easy to prevent that it is certainly a moral crime to tolerate the things which bring them about.

Cities and towns, like individuals, reap what they sow. To permit the erection of fire-traps, to fail to provide an abundant and reliable water supply and means of using it or to fail to apply the everyday rules of fire prevention, is to constantly face a menace of heavy fires and sweeping conflagrations.

Why tolerate a condition which not only levies tribute upon life and property but in effect imposes an added cost to the conduct of every feature of business activity and increases the burden of the people in providing the necessities of life.

We cannot afford to go on and be indifferent to it all. Fire Prevention Week is a particular week set aside to call attention to the menace of fire. And just as we must throw our whole strength against the forces which aim to destroy our liberty, so should we be prepared to battle that other terrible demon—Fire.

The Dominion Fire Prevention Association in co-operation with provincial fire marshals, local fire chiefs, insurance organizations and other organizations of national scope is constantly working in the furtherance of the aims of fire prevention. Are you doing your part?

Germany Alone to Blame

Christian people the world over are deeply concerned about the prospect of starvation conditions of children in the war ridden countries of Europe. Should food sent by the people of the United States be prevented by the British blockade from reaching the intended destination, they ask? No one desires to see children suffer, but, knowing the character of the German command, and its determination to keep the fighting forces in physical condition to carry on the struggle, there is widespread agreement that provisions intended for children would be handed over to the soldiers. Considering this question, a straw vote was taken in the United States with the result that 38 per cent favored the sending of food, and taking the risk of its being appropriated by the army, and 62 per cent that food should not be sent.

Speaking at the Exhibition luncheon, Hon. James Cromwell, a former United States minister to Canada, said:

"I am convinced that my country can do more to assist the empire's cause—and thus assure the future safety of democracy in the world—as a benevolent neutral rather than as an active participant in this war. In reaching this conclusion, I have considered not only the area of hostilities in Europe, but the world situation with all its manifold complexities, as it affects neutral and belligerent alike.

"For example, we must bear in mind the tragic situation of the populations of the various conquered territories and the sad plight of those states in Eastern Europe which still enjoy a precarious and probably impermanent liberty.

"Christian charity demands that these people be fed, clothed and house. Christian charity demands that we avert, so far as we are able, the famine and pestilence which seem inevitable.

"Yet how can we do this without assisting the conqueror and stultifying the policy of non-recognition of conquest, so long pursued by the United States? How can we do this without hampering the British blockade—that great weapon so vital to ultimate victory?

"I advocate that we feed only the peoples of those territories which shall be unconditionally evacuated by the armed forces of the German Reich. By this means alone can we be assured that our assistance will reach its proper destination, for it is only too well attested that during the last war, much material supplied for Belgian Relief was appropriated by the German Army of Occupation, and there is no doubt in my mind that the same thing would happen again under similar circumstances."

Whatever suffering the people of Germany and Italy are called upon to endure is the responsibility of Hitler and Mussolini. They are not hesitating to murder children in England. There are growing evidences every day that the people of the United States will not in any way interfere to prevent the complete success of the British determination to defeat the enemy.

Will Require $60,000

History was made at board meetings of the General Synod of the Church of England held recently at Stratford. It was stated that for 225 years contributions have been made by the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel and by different missionary societies toward the support of missions of the Church in Canada. These contributions, have amounted to very large sums, made possible the establishment of missions and other educational efforts that otherwise would have been impossible. Under present conditions in England the Synod Board felt it to be unfair to look for a continuance of that support and informed the Church in the Old Land that, in future, it will be relieved of this responsibility and that the Church in Canada will provide the amount necessary. The amount relinquished is $60,000. In 1941 the regular apportionments will require $270,000, to which must be added the $60,000 formerly received from England. This is a large sum, when all other special demands are considered, but the Church of England has many wealthy and loyal men and women who have always responded cheerfully when special appeals were made. They will do so again.

Vacancies In Legislature

There are several vacancies in the membership of the Ontario legislature. Messrs. Roebuck, a Toronto member, and Kidd, of Kingston, resigned to contest federal seats in the March election. Death called Hon. Mr. Simpson, minister of education, and W. A. Baird, of Toronto. Hon. M. C. Leduc, who has been minister of mines since the formation of the Hepburn government, resigned last week to accept a position under the federal government. Mr. Hepburn announced that by-elections would not be held this year, but he has changed his plans and has fixed the date for the contest in Centre Simcoe. There, it is said, an agreement has been reached under which Dr. McArthur, the newly appointed minister of education, will not be opposed by the Conservatives, because the Liberals had allowed Col. Drew an acclamation in the same county. It is also suggested that the other vacancies will be filled without the cost of by-elections, that the prime minister is again ready to form a coalition government and that Col. Drew would not seriously oppose such a movement. Why Mr. Hepburn should desire a coalition is difficult to understand. He has had the support of the Conservative members of the legislature for every important measure introduced in recent sessions. It is impossible to see in what way Canada's war effort could be improved by a merging of the political parties in this province. From a political standpoint, the Conservatives would be the losers. In his speech following Dunkirk, Prime Minister Churchill told the world that wars are not won by evacuations. Political parties do not justify their existence by sinking their identity in other organizations. Perhaps five or six well contested by-elections would arouse greater interest in the affairs of Ontario. If two parties are necessary because they hold different views on important questions, an opportunity to pronounce upon them should be grasped when occasion arises.

Clothes Make the Man — But

Just when we had made up our mind to make the old "tuxedo", which has done valiant service at dinner parties for a decade, do for at least one more season, along comes a convincing letter from our favourite clothier which completely upsets our well laid plans. This up and doing tailor is all the time impressing his customers that "good clothes pay dividends in personal prestige."

Now he politely hammers home this fact in his letter by making us feel like a rag doll at a hoboes dress carnival. To quote his own words:

"The 'boiled shirt' era has passed. Today, the pre-depression 'tuxedo' looks as out-of-place as a celluloid collar on a Prince Albert coat. Now Dinner Jackets are double-breasted, with generous lapels covered in dull silk. Trousers permit of unrestricted freedom and vests are practically non-existent. The primary use of the Dinner Jacket is for men's dinners, the theatre and entertaining in the home . . . but this year, following the lead of the King and the Royal Dukes, it ranks with the tail coat as correct dress for all evening functions."

Then to completely break down our resistance to his appeal he winds up his letter with this sentence: "Our business is to sustain your successful appearance this season."

Well, we've tossed a coin three times and we're still undecided whether to buy a new "Tux" or lay by the money for the income tax collector.—(Bowmanville Statesman).

Note and Comment

Cost of living has increased about five per cent since the commencement of the war a year ago. We complain of the high cost of living when the trouble is the cost of high living indulged in by too many these trying days.

We have a war-time Prices and Trade Board investigating the rent rates throughout the dominion. Mr. Justice Martin, the administrator, is taking evidence at Barrie today. He will be at Parry Sound on October 7 and Brandon on October 10. Complaints that rents are too high are frequently heard even in peace time. If there has been an unfair increase since war began, the country has a right to seek redress.

Canada is sending 5,600,000 pounds of bacon to England every week and is looking for greatly increased orders. Hon. J. G. Gardner, minister of agriculture, is going overseas to investigate conditions, not only affecting the bacon market but dairy products, fruit and vegetables as well. The price of bacon has been about 28 cents a pound which is considered a remunerative price. Canadian farmers can be depended upon to produce the goods if a steady market is assured.

The granting of slot machine licenses was again before the courts. This time in Cornwall. A by-law had been passed prohibiting slot machines. The matter was taken to the Court of Appeal. Justices Riddell, Henderson and McTague decided that the town was within its rights in passing the by-law. The persistency with which gamblers try to force the use of this device upon the public is the best evidence of the extent of the profits derivable therefrom, and is all the greater reason why municipal councils should prevent licenses being granted.

Following instructions of their parents, a number of children were suspended from the public schools in Hamilton and in Kitchener for refusal to sing the national anthem and to salute the flag. The laws of the province provide that all children must attend school until the age of 16. Efforts were made to induce the parents to change their attitude and to let the children return to school, but they persist in their obstinacy. It was felt when the difficulty arose that the provincial authorities would deal with the matter. This they have refused to do. In the meantime the children will suffer from the lack of training they should be receiving while the parents are being prosecuted.

NEWSPAPER WEEK IN CANADA, OCT. 1st TO 8th

Turn of the Century

A Review of what was happening in Peel County 40 years ago from Conservator Fyles

From The Conservator of Oct. 2 and Oct. 5, 1900

On Sunday Oct. 14, special anniversary services will be held in St. Paul's Sunday School.

Members of the Ministerial Association are in favour of holding a mass meeting of the Sunday schools on the last Sunday in November—the day which is observed as Temperance Sunday.

This week is fair week. There will be, it is stated, better horse racing events and better entries in the general classes. The new hall will be opened. There will be three brass bands and music galore. Four hundred Peel County old boys, now residents of Toronto will be present. The Toronto visitors will arrive by special G.T.R. train. A display of the Peel Historical association such as relics and so forth will be held. Everybody in Brampton should fly his flag and give a carnival appearance to the town.

Rev. Mr. Hartman, a prospective China Missionary, occipied the pulpit of St. Paul's Church on Sunday last.

Fred Burrows, for many years a resident of the community has returned this week. He had charge of the South African war scenes exhibition.

Fall wheat of which there is a large acreage sown in this vicinity is beginning to grow again. Much sown before the recent rain storms had to be sown again.

Mr. E. Kentner of Trafalgar, injured in a railway accident at Parkdale Saturday is still unconscious. He is a brother of Mrs. Wm. Herridge of Brampton.

A reception was held at Woodbridge fair grounds for Capt. Tom Wallace who recently returned from South Africa. Capt. Wallace was a veteran of the war. Five brass bands and a number of veterans greeted him at the fair grounds.

Being Notes of Interest About the Last Great War From the Fyles of The Conservator

From The Conservator of September 30, 1915

"Those who can not go to fight should be only too glad to give to the Red Cross Society," declared speakers at a meeting of the Red Cross here on Monday night. Arrangements were made at the meeting to organize a campaign for collecting $10,000 for Red Cross purposes.

The Right Honorable R. B. Bennett in a speech at Calgary is quoted as follows: "But for you who can't fight—what? Pay, Pay, and then pay. How did you make your great wealth? You made it because the state gave you protection. Now what are you going to do for the state? Pay! We in Calgary have agreed to raise a great fund. How are we going to do it? We are going to permit those who accumulate money to pay some of it back to the state which permitted them to make it. I make no appeal to dead men, but I expect live ones to hear me, and pay. You women who are contemplating a new hat, or a new ball gown, forget it. You men who use tobacco, cut it out, and give, that the dependants of those who die at the front may never have to fall back upon that hateful word charity. Let us make some sacrifice for those who are sacrificing their lives for us."

Entries at Brampton fall fair held this week were exceptional. There were five hundred entries in the poultry classes. Wm. Fendley who had charge of the baking exhibits declared that "We have more bread and baking entries than ever previously. There is twice as much fancy baking and plain cooking.

Pte. George Plant of the 75th battalion who was at Niagara camp for the past two weeks, leaves for England with the first draft which leaves to-day or tomorrow. George came home for his farewell visit on Tuesday night and was accompanied by about twenty Bramptonians, members of the Peel 36th regiment of the 74th Battalion. He left on the early morning train for Toronto. The Brampton men turned out in a body and marched to the train, to the time of the bugle and the drum.

The members of the Brampton ministerial Association have decided to take a religious census of the town. This work will be done the early part of October. The ministers are undertaking this work themselves and will call in pairs in every home in town.

A fine of from $10 to $30 will be imposed on all those who fail to label butter with either "Dairy" of "Creamery" labels.

Letters to the Editor

Air Force Grateful For Magazines Sent Them

L.A.C. J. Noel Gibson,
R.A.F., No. 1, E.F.T.S.,
Malton, Ont.
Oct. 1, 1940.

The Editor,
The Conservator,
Brampton.

Sir:—

I am writing on behalf of the trainee pilots of the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. here at Malton to thank you for the supply of magazines and reading matter which was delivered to us a few days ago and which I understand was collected through the services of your publication.

In a camp such as this where we are not blessed with the amenities of civil life, one appreciates such kindnesses and I can assure you that the literature supplied will be pretty thoroughly "read, marked, learned and inwardly digested".

Again thanking you,

J. NOEL GIBSON,
R.A.F.

Farmer Raps Merchants For Closing Fair Day

Mr. Editor:

I have visited the Brampton fair for the past fifteen years. We always made a practise of doing our shopping at the same time.

This year we were not only disappointed but greatly inconvenienced when we found the stores closed.

The merchants always complained when the fair board held their fair on Saturday. This year when the board tried to please the merchants, the merchants, owing to a foolish by-law, closed their stores in the farmers faces. I hope the merchants in the future will show their appreciation of our trade by trying to serve the public, not inconvenience them.

Pickles add zest to the meal. There are many old stand-bys, but some new combinations and flavours are always interesting. The following recipes have been tested by the Consumer Section, Dominion De-

OTHER OPINIONS

Sensible Advice

"Before giving to charity, investigate," would be a wise slogan at any time, but particularly in these days when the call for funds are many. The Chamber of Commerce can advise you whether your donation will go to a worthy cause or not.—St. Catharines Standard.

May Well Give Up

Well may railway and safety officials be in despair over the frequency of level-crossing accidents Fool car drivers present to train engineers a nerve-wracking problem, but apparently all that can be done to prevent almost daily tragedies is to continue warnings and exhortations; to which, unfortunately, such drivers will not listen.—Globe and Mail.

Money to Burn

We noticed a report of a party where the people gathered and burned a number of war savings stamps. That is not freak entertainment, but a perfectly sound performance. It means the government has secured the money but will not be called upon to pay it back, and when we reach the stage where we start giving something to the government we are undoubtedly advancing toward high ground.—Peterboro Examiner.

Paying Its Debt

Edmonton's floating debt was cut down by upward of a half-million dollars during the first six months of the year. As the city is not adding to its capital debt, reduction of the bank overdraft and other unbonded obligations represents a clear gain. Slowly but surely, and certainly not painlessly, the debt load is being lessened, and this without unduly curtailing public services or ceasing to make a fair amount of permanent street and other improvements each year.—Edmonton Bulletin.

Try This At Home

Do you ever set out for an afternoon's drive on a week-end or holiday and wonder where to go? So often the familiar highways become too familiar. You seek a change, but perhaps have neither the time nor the inclination to travel far. When that mood is upon you, try a drive nearer home. Drive around town; visit those streets you haven't seen for years; try going up and down some of those streets which were always a little bit off your beaten path. You will improve your knowledge of local geography, and will be surprised at the changes which the years have brought.—Halifax Chronicle.

Don't Be A Quitter

It is because of the courage of England's defenders and his own—and may he never forget the fact—that a Canadian non-combatant owes his present comparative ease, his arm chair comfort, and his undisturbed rest o'nights. In secret session with his own conscience he must decide for himself what he is doing to repay his rapidly mounting debt; what part he is playing to end the battle of Britain which must be won if he is to remain free. For whether he knows it or not there is a job he must do, or be forever classed with the quitters.—Ottawa Journal.

Always Welcome

When the time comes for Britishers to migrate to these shores, they will be more welcome than ever before. The heroic way in which they have met the air blitzkrieg, with all its wanton horrors, and have resolutely prepared to meet and destroy the Goliath of aggression has deepened the respect of all Canadians for the men, women and children of Britain. These have shown that they possess in abundence the quality of stamina, so essential a requirement in settlers in a new country. Canada takes off its hat to the British people and will welcome with open arms all those who may desire to start life anew in its far-flung realm.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Grace Y.P.U.

The first indoor meeting of Grace United Young Peoples was held Monday evening with Miss Wilma Snyder and her assistant, Miss Alma Dixon.

It was Mission night for the Young People and Miss Snyder reviewed Couriers of the Cross of China. She had on display a lattice window showing the cross in the centre certainly very attractive. It made the work of the two prominent Chinese Workers, Miss Minnie Shipley and Bill Jang more interesting. Next week October 7th is Citizenship night. Miss Rose Foreman is the convener with Norm Suville as assistant. Judge Cochrane is guest speaker and will speak on Canadianism from the viewpoint of a layman, a most vital subject in these war times. Don't miss this chance to hear Judge Cochrane. Come out at eight and do bring your friends. Everyone welcome.

Dufferin-Peel United Church Presbytery Met

Dr. Charles Endicott Guest Speaker at Bolton Luncheon

Dufferin and Peel Presbytery of the United Church met at Bolton, Tuesday, October first. Rev. G. W. Rivers of Bolton in the chair. At the noon luncheon served by the ladies of the Bolton congregation. Rev. Dr. Charles Endicott, of Toronto, Secretary of the Missionary and Maintenance Fund made a stirring appeal for the support of the missionary work at home and abroad. Rev. H. O. Hutcheson of Shelburne reported on the accomplishments of the recently held General Council of the Church at Winnipeg. Mr. Hutcheson was the Presbytery's official representative at the sessions, and in his report left no doubt as to the loyalty, vision and activity of the Church as a whole.

It was decided to hold a Supper Rally for the Presbytery at Orangeville on Friday November 8th, when Dr. R. B. McClure, on leave from the Chinese Red Cross, which he heads, and Rev. M. C. Macdonald, newly appointed assistant secretary of Home Missions will be the speakers.

The Presbyterial of the W.M.S. also held sessions at Bolton the same day, Mrs. R. J. Brett of Brampton presiding.

Aching Feet

A warm bath, anoint with Dr. Chase's Ointment and the stinging, irritation disappears. Strongly antiseptic and medicinal, soothes and heals.

Dr. Chase's Ointment

ARE YOUR EYES READY FOR THE STRAIN OF MORE WORK

required of them during the longer fall and winter evenings? You use them much more for reading and general close-up work... So better have them examined to be sure, rather than try to carry on in discomfort.

RETAINED IN THE MILLING - NOT ADDED

You Get the Extra Nourishment and Flavour at No Extra Cost

NATURE gives our wonderful Canadian wheat sufficient B vitamins and other essential food elements to make our daily bread truly the staff of life. But for generations, in order to make white flour, millers have had to rob the grist of many of these precious elements. And so much vitamin-robbed white bread is consumed today that there is a serious Vitamin B deficiency in our national diet, medical authorities assert.

No synthetic substitute can improve on the natural B1 and other vitamins of the "B" family provided in the sun-ripened wheat—the very finest Canadian Hard Spring Wheat.

Thanks to the discovery of a new milling process, you now get the natural wheat Vitamin B1, and other essential vitamins of the B family, in Melior Bread. Here is more nourishment than you have ever had from ordinary white bread, and the taste of fine white bread, PLUS—at no extra cost.

Melior Bread is creamy white. It has irresistible white-bread taste. It is golden-crusted, fine textured, velvet-smooth. It makes appetizing sandwiches, extra-delicious, satisfying toast. It has excellent keeping qualities. Melior Bread is the well-nigh perfect loaf. Take every advantage of this triumph of scientific research. Make good your possible lack of the "B" group of vitamins, in a natural way. Give your family the benefits that come from eating Vitamin-rich Melior Bread 3 times a day. Get a loaf or two from the "Wonder" Bread salesman. There's one on your street every day.

QUALITY CONTROLLED BY SCIENTIFIC STANDARDS ESTABLISHED BY THE PAEDIATRIC RESEARCH FOUNDATION OF TORONTO

Paediatric Research Foundation has set the nutritional standard for Melior Bread. It is constantly assayed by Paediatric Research Foundation for its Thiamin (vitamin B1) and Iron content. Every loaf of Melior bread contains 300 units of vitamin B1 and 13 mgs. of Iron.

●BRAMPTON'S streets, generally speaking, are in pretty fine shape. However, in driving about the other day, ran into a little difficulty up on Mill Street. At that point where the C.N.R. crosses this street, we ran into a terrible bump. It appears that the heavy rains have washed away considerable of the gravel around the tracks, and, at the present time, many dangerously used holes make driving across the tracks treacherous.

●THE Red Cross Society in Brampton are very grateful for the co - operation given them by the public in connection with the collection of salvage. Tons of salvageable material has already been collected, and a full-time man is regularly calling from door to door. It takes from 3 to 4 weeks to cover the whole town. So please continue to save your old newspapers, rags, scrap paper of all kinds, old metal and used aluminum. Old bottles can also be turned into cash. Fall housecleaning is now in full swing. Don't throw any of the above materials in the garbage. Save it. The Red Cross collector of salvage will call.

Any Rags, any Paper, any Bottles today. The Red Cross collector is on his way.

●AT the Annual meeting of the Brampton Badminton and Athletic Club, held last Monday evening, it was unanimously decided to carry on in their many activities. The club reported a good year last year, and are rounding out an interesting programme for the coming season. The Board of Directors this year are, M. A. Peck, E. L. Vokes, J. R. Melhuish, C. Fairles, D. Dixon, W. G. Sanderson, and Bert Paterson. Anyone interested in Badminton or the social activities of this organization should get in touch with any of the above gentlemen.

●ARTICLES, that we see from time to time, quote statistics that there is a big increase in marriages since the war started. Different people have different opinions opinions about this. Here is a poem that we ran across a day or so ago that expresses the writer's view on the subject.

The gang has got me nearly daft
With talk about the army draft.
They count on wives and kids to save
Them being called, and so feel brave.
They all say, isn't it too bad—
That I am such a likely lad
To be a target for some bomb,
I try to take it all real calm:
Not think of single girls feeling round
While I lie wounded on the ground.

They talk of death and then advise
That getting married would be wise—
That with my beauty, charm and wit,
Quite likely I could make a hit
With some late woman, who would not
Let me be drafted and get shot.

Old Timer John says I should tell
Them big mouth eyes to go to h . .
It seems he served for quite a spell
In uniform and said he found
That war was mostly standing round;
And army life is pretty tame
Compared to handling with some dame.

—squint—

●Most of us have many personal and public activities; all these demand meetings. Meetings should mean action. It's hard, however, to obtain action if meetings and gatherings generally do not start on time. Articles and Editorials have been written on the subject and some people still persist in coming to meetings late. All we have to say on the subject is this—

I like a man to keep his word
And never miss a date;
I likewise like to be on time
And not a moment late.

The golden rule thus works out fine,
As you can plainly see;
For while it expedites his tasks,
It does the same for me.

I like to eat on scheduled time—
My wife does well her part;
But if I'm late for dinner,
It almost breaks her heart.

Once more the golden rule applies
Betwixt us and between;
For then like Mr. Spratt and wife
We lick the platter clean.

If we all kept our dates on time,
To promises were true;
This world would be a happier place,

May Hold Sessions In Hospital Room In Shooting Case

Crown Attorney A. G. Davis declared in court Monday that no other way existed at the present time to gather evidence in the Markowski-Brown shooting affair but to hold court in the hospital where Brown is recuperating. Accordingly a special session of court may be held in the very near future in the hospital in Toronto. Daniel Markowski, 26, of Toronto is charged with criminal negligence, as a result of the shooting which occurred in Eldorado Park early in September.

Crown Attorney Davis ordered bail cancelled for Markowski, when it was learned that Brown was paralyzed below the waist as a result of the bullet wound. According to medical adviser Dr. H. H. Hetherington, the bullet entered the spine.

NO TIME FOR CLOTHES PINS

The Nazi bomber who caused this destruction in suburban Kent had little time for clothespins when his "egg" did nothing but blow the bedclothes from an empty house to the surrounding roof-tops. This little prank is but one of many that English men and women are submitting to in their daily life. Nothing can be as terrifying as a bomb whistling down over the heads of innocent people while they are in bed.

The following letter was received this week by Bro. McQueen and we pass it on as witness of the good work your donations through the Cigarette Fund are doing:

England, Aug. 28, 1940.

Mr. J. McQueen,
Brampton, Ont.
Dear Sir:

I wish to thank you and your organization for the generous donations of cigarettes I have received. It really does give one a great feeling to know how the folks at home are right behind us.

Even though so far, we have done little, when our turn does come, it will give us that extra bit of inspiration.

We are and have been treated very well by the people of England, and after being here a while it is very easy to see why this small island is the heart of an Empire. Their coolness and morale is simply wonderful, whether things are good or bad. They all, rich or poor, have but one thought and that is the winning of this war.

I hope to have the opportunity some day of meeting you, Mr. McQueen, and hope it is not too far distant. A Colonel McQueen is one of our Ordnance Officers, I would like to know if he is any relation to you.

So I will close and kindly ask you to excuse this effort.

I would like to wish the "Sons of England" luck and good fellowship and again thank you one and all.

Sincerely,
A. F. BEDFORD.

With the Juniors

The floor baseball game, following the meeting Tuesday, started out with Burrows scoring for the Haines' team for the only run of the 1st two innings. In the 1st of the third Burrows scored again to make it 2 to 0. In their half of the third Bill Bean and Bob Bean both scored homers and M. Griffith also scored to make the score 3 to 2 for the Bean family. A hit by Bob Bean followed by a homer by M. Griffith in the 4th and another homer by Bill Bean in the 5th finished their scoring at 12 hits for 6 runs. A run by C. Anderson for the other team left them 3 runs behind with 8 hits for three runs. The winning team received candy as prizes. Which ward did the three players come from who didn't hit? Three guesses, and the first two don't count.

The officers are again asked to remember the judging is on November 5 and a last minute rush to learn their parts won't help them much. Do your part.

Bob Bean has been moved to First Guide and M. Griffith elected Second Guide, owing to the resignation of the First Guide because of work.

Red Cross Salvage Committee Handles Three Tons of Waste

Well over 6,000 pounds of salvage has been collected by the Salvage Committee of the Red Cross, a member of that committee stated this week. Included in the salvage has been scrap paper of all kinds, newspapers, kraft paper, corrugated boxes, magazines, old books, old rubber, old batteries, lead, clean rags, old rags, bottles, aluminum, old iron and old steel.

If you have anything listed above, you are asked to kindly save it for the committee. Aluminum is particularly valuable in time of war. Rags are very profitable, and all kinds of paper help to swell the funds of the Red Cross.

As announced recently, a truck has been secured, through the kindness of Morrison Motors, and a full time man is now employed collecting the salvage. It has been found that it takes about three weeks to completely cover the town, so if you are awaiting his call, you are asked to be patient for a little while until he reaches your street.

The Salvage Committee wishes to express its sincere appreciation of the generous and co-operative support accorded this campaign. It is the concentrated effort of every citizen in the community which will help Canada and the Empire win through in this great struggle.

CHRIST CHURCH A.Y.P.A.

The meeting of Monday night opened with the installation of the newly-elected officers for the coming season (and I really do mean newly-elected) for they only came into office the week previous!! For this service, we were fortunate in having the choir give their support and lead in the singing. From this inspiring service we retired to the regular meeting room, and there spent a busy hour discussing this and that. For example, the matter of this branch's contribution towards the Dominion A.Y.P.A. ambulance fund was discussed, and members who have not yet contributed will be given another chance to do so between now and October 15th. Every little helps, and we especially urge you to put "your might" in the hat, once, if not twice!

Four members were appointed to form a programme committee for the year, and upon their shoulders will rest the responsibility of providing programmes for all the meetings. Next week's programme, we were informed, will be a "hilarious meeting", so we'll be laughing at you!

We were introduced to our Dominion Past President, Charles Bellass, who gave us a very helpful talk on the activities of some of our governing bodies in the A.Y.P.A.

Florrie Clifford reported on the local council activities and reminded members of the Corporate Communion and breakfast being held at our branch on Thanksgiving morning, October 14, at 8.30. A band of willing workers will be required by the convener, Rena Giles, so we urge you to give her a hand if she calls on you for help.

N.B.: After many years as writer of these notes, "the old scribe" turns the job over to the secretary of the branch, Mary Clifford, whose notes on the A.Y. doings we know you will read religiously from week to week.

Address

September 26th, 1940.

Dear Dorothy and Gordon:

we, your friends, and neighbours,

It is with much pleasure that have gathered here to-night to offer you our heartiest congratulations and our sincere wishes that your lives may be endowed with happiness, health and prosperity.

Most of us present have known you, Gordon, from early school days, and we are glad that your pleasant smile will continue to cheer our paths. Your services in the community have always been greatly appreciated, chiefly, we think, because they have been given in such a spirit of helpfulness and ready co-operation.

It has been the privilege as well as pleasure of many of us present to have met you, Dorothy. In fact you have always made many friends amongst us, and we are looking forward to your presence on many happy occasions.

Will you kindly accept this gift as a token of our esteem and good will, and in the years to come, may it remind you both of the valued place that you share in the affections of your friends and neighbours.

SIGNED: Alex Graham, Ivan Gray, Clue Cation, William Shields, C. Campbell, Nelson Downey, William McCollum.

The church was crowded to capacity at both services, and special music was presented by the church choir under the leadership of Mr. Bruce Donaldson, with Mrs. Donaldson at the organ. At the morning service the Misses Helen and Phyllis McCannell rendered vocal selections, while in the evening Miss Marian Metcalfe added to the success of the service with a pleasing vocal rendition. Rev. Dr. MacVicar preached very appropriate sermons in harmony with the occasion, and expressed his pleasure at being present at the anniversary services in the same church where he preached many years ago. The church was artistically decorated for the occasion.

The Issue — Our Happiness

There is no doubt whatever that the issue being fought out by the British people with such immortal heroism is not only decency, and safety, but the daily bread and ordinary everyday happiness of Canadians and Americans in every province, every state, and every class—Matthew Halton in "Let's Face the Facts" series.

Excelsiors Avert Elimination In Fourth Play-Off Game

Referee Pelted With Tomatoes For Unpopular Decision

Brampton Excelsiors defeated St. Catharine's Athletics to the tune of 13-11 in the play-offs of the Senior O.L.A. in the Rose Bowl here last Monday. The game was fairly loosely played, with neither team able to hang on to the ball for any length of time. The crowd was small, and it tended to be rough. The players took up the cry and began to mix it up among themselves.

The fifth game of the play-offs was played last night in St. Catharine's. Highlight of Monday's game was the third period, when Coles and Banting bit the dust in a very good wrestling match. St. Catharine's doctor declared that Coles suffered a very bad bite to his nose. The doctor said that it could not be stitched.

In the fourth quarter, there was another mix up which drew major penalties for Bill Mullis and Myers. Brampton drew a minute penalty for having too many men on the field.

Tomatoes, pelted at Referee Peart and the St. Catharine's team when Teather scored a goal in the third quarter, drew a warning from Max, that if the deluge continued, he would forfeit the game.

Excelsiors Are Eliminated By St. Catharines

Season Ends For Brampton Team As Athletics Take Title

St. Catharines Athletics defeated Brampton Excelsiors Wednesday night in the fifth game of the Ontario finals, to take the Provincial title and to qualify for the Mann Cup finals with the winners of the Vancouver-Montreal series. A crowd of 1500 fans saw the game, and saw Brampton go down to a 22 to 3 defeat. Brampton failed to keep up with the fast stepping Athletics after the first period, and the result never seemed to be in doubt. Brampton had three scattered tallies in the first, second and fourth periods. And thus comes to a close one of the most freakish seasons for the famed Maroons. In the early part of the season the Excelsiors seemed unable to click, and for a while held cellar position in the league. As the schedule drew toward its conclusion, however, Brampton staged an amazing comeback and confounded the experts by landing in the finals, where they were expected to be easy prey for the Mimico Mountaineers. Mountaineers took the first game in the local Rosebowl, with the Excelsiors again amazing the fans by taking the next two on Mimico's own floor. Going into the finals with the Athletics they dropped the first three games and then won the fourth here on Monday. There never was any doubt however as to the final outcome of the championship series. Athletics were admittedly the superior team.

The current season seems to have marked the end of the long slump into which the Excelsiors had fallen. Apparently the bottom of the depression was reached last year, and the Excelsiors started their long upward climb to the Mann Cup this year. The fans will be out there rooting harder than ever next year, when the Excelsiors will likely take another step forward on the comeback trail.

GOLF NOTES

On Tuesday, September 24, the ladies met for golf as usual and for the first time this year they were obliged by the weather to stay off the course and confine their interests to bridge. Mrs. C. B. Magee proved herself champion at this indoor sport.

A mixed two-ball foursome was enjoyed on Wednesday of last week by members of the club with Mrs. L. Steacy and Mr. Reg Wilson turning in the low score. A cool evening made the corn roast which followed the playing particularly enjoyable. Bingo completed the evening's program. On Tuesday of this week a "hidden hole" competition was held at which Mrs. T. A. Robinson proved victor.

The last regular activity for the ladies will be the closing tea to be held on Tuesday, October 8, at which golf will be followed by a tea and the presentation of trophies.

Fatal traffic accidents are fewer in rainy and snowy weather when drivers are alert, proving that careful driving lessens the number of motor accidents.

Lacrosse Round Up

Cornwall, winner of the Quebec Senior Lacrosse title, will meet Vancouver Burrard in two games in Montreal Forum, Thursday and Friday evening, in the Mann Cup semi-final round. The winner of the Brampton-St. Catharines feud will meet either one of these teams on Monday in Toronto for the Mann Cup.

Christ Church Tennis Club

Presentations of cups for the men's and women's singles championships of Christ Church Tennis Club were made at a supper meeting of the club in the Sunday school rooms on Saturday. There was a good attendance at the gathering over which President Reg. Richards presided.

Don Cox repeated his success of 1939 and took the singles honours for men while Ivy Paterson also repeated and was once again ladies' singles champion. Past President, Fred Bacon, made the presentation to Miss Paterson, while President Reg. Richards made the presentation to Don Cox. The mixed doubles title has yet to be decided.

A radical departure featured the election of officers when all the principal offices went to ladies. This was done in view of the possibility of many of the men enlisting for service during the coming year.

Bea Cox was elected president. Other officers elected were vice-president, Maidie Cook; secretary, Doris Henshaw; treasurer, Megan Merrick; executive committee, Fred Bacon, Don Cox, Bert Mortlock, Ruth Elston.

The splendid supper was served by a committee headed by Ruth Elston. Rev. Canon Allen was present and congratulated the club on its excellent season. Following the supper the annual table tennis tournament was held when Dox Cox and Maidie Cook won the cup for the club championship.

Gave Their Holiday Money

A nine-year-old Peterborough, England, boy and his sister, who saved five shillings as an ice cream fund for their holiday, which had to be abandoned, sent the money to Lord Beaverbrook "to help build a plane."

CAPITOL NOTES

The whole, lovable Hardy Family return to the Capitol screen this Friday and Saturday in their latest hit "Andy Hardy Meets a Debutante." In this, Andy falls for a photo of a New York debutante and when the Hardy family goes to New York where the Judge has a case, Andy is forced to make good his boasts to his Carvel friends. While in New York, the Judge almost loses his case until "Ma" Hardy provides him with the right idea and Andy gets into some hilarious situations trying to meet the debutante. The original Hardy Family are all in the cast: Mickey Rooney, Lewis Stone, Fay Holden and Cecilia Parker. The guest stars include Judy Garland and Ann Rutherford.

The great Walt Disney Cartoon Festival comes to the Capitol for a two-day run, Monday and Tuesday. Headlining the program is the full-length feature cartoon in technicolour "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." The short cartoons include four of Disney's outstanding productions, namely: "Ferdinand The Bull," "The Ugly Duckling," "The Practical Pig" and Donald's Lucky Day."

The exciting drama "Way of All Flesh", starring Akim Tamiroff shows at the Capitol Wednesday and Thursday. Tamiroff, a trusted cashier in a bank, succumbs to temptation and is responsible for the loss of a fortune in securities trusted to him by the bank. Believed to be dead, he determines to become a nameless outcast rather than subject his family to disgrace. The large cast includes Muriel Angelus, and William Henry.

The newest release in the series of "Canada Carries On", "Squadron 992", will be seen with "Andy Hardy" this Friday and Saturday.

Shows will start at 6, 8 and 10 D.S.T., this Saturday night. For the "Disney Cartoon Festival" on Monday and Tuesday, matinees will be held Monday at 4.15 and Tuesday at 2.30.

STOP U.K. CREAM SALES

After October 1, 1940, the sale of all kinds of cream in Great Britain is prohibited, the object being to conserve liquid milk supplies and use them for the manufacture of essential dairy products.

United States Department of agriculture planes have captured thousands of crop pests three miles off the ground. The habits of the high-flying insects are charted to check their spread.

'Be Prepared'

BOY SCOUT and WOLF CUB NEWS

The troop meeting was held at Bovaird's gravel pits along the first line where thirty of us, including our Scout Master and two Assistant Scout Masters, enjoyed a feed of corn on the cob and hot dogs. Usually there are about twenty-five boys at the meeting. You can probably guess why the others showed up. It surely wasn't because the weather was nice because the boys seem to come out the best in the winter The weather, however, was nice.

Each patrol had to put on a skit. The Eagle's put on a skit which contained about seven words and took about the same number of seconds to perform.

Among the other sidelines was a game of chase, but it became dark so fast that there was not time to finish. We also had a sing song around the campfire.

Our booth between the A and P and Beamish stores brought in more money for the $15,000 drive than the preceding week because most of the necessities had been bought. Our booth may be in the fair. Don't think that you never can win in our game because we had to buy another one hundred box of cigars and another box of chocolate bars.

CAMPUS COMMENT

Our dance Friday night was a great success and everybody, nearly everybody, seemed to be having a good time. We owe a vote of thanks to the refreshment committee for the splendid work they did. It was nice to see so many ex-pupils present and I'm sure we have all helped the good cause in a small way. Just remember folks, "There'll Always Be An England". Rugby

B.H.S

Our first game takes place this Friday in the stronghold of our old rivals, dear ole Etobicoke. Our team have not wasted this extra week's practice, and I'm sure they will give a very good account of themselves. Etobicoke seem to be the team to watch this year since they blanked Mimico last week. Our team needs some supporters for this game to get started on the right foot. So its up to you School! Extra

B.H.S

Lo and behold, what was that red, black and yellow streak that passed by the school last Tuesday? Please forgive my oversight, but my eyes are a little weak and couldn't stand the glare. But they tell me it was "Tessie" in her new fall wardrobe. The boys are certainly proud of her, and all that's worrying them now is how to keep her running. They always claimed they would never have to push her, but I notice they do to get her started. Tish, tish.

Glee Club

The executive of the Glee Club has been chosen and we wish them every success this year. Leroy Bailey is president; Mary Jo Dale, vice-president; Peggy Davis, secretary, and the treasurer is to be decided between Marion Charters and Marg. Bryans.

Any day now, I expect Jack Bryans to bring a bed to school. I don't know how he sleeps so comfortably in these desks.

After a certain party Saturday night, I believe "Flash" was seen with Lois H.

It appeared that the sailors made a hit with a few of the school lassies. Just remember gals, Brampton isn't a port.

So Jack Garbutt had a flat tire on Friday night, and I do mean on the car!

Now we know why Charlie A. spends so much time out of town. I believe her name is Lulu, wow!

Did I not see George G. escorting Marian C. to the show, Saturday night?

Poem!

There's a lad who sits in fifth form,
He's really of great length,
But since his hair's been shorn,
It seems he's lost his strength.

I shan't be rude and call him lopt,
For rugby he promised to play,
But since then we have just found out,
That home he'd rather stay.

I do believe he's trying to be,
A scholar, eh, I must be wrong,
For that's a thing I cannot see,
'Cause he can't live that long.

Now for the name of this poor guy,
This boy with the hairy lip,
I see no reason why I should lie,
It's only John Bertram, pip, pip!

Conservator Marks Newspaper Week With Prestige Highest Ever

Fifty of Sixty-Seven Years of Existence Under Samuel Charters

The Conservator joins with newspapers throughout Canada and the United States this week in observing Newspaper Week. Never in its nearly 67 years of eventful history has the prestige of The Conservator been higher than at this time.

This newspaper was founded in 1874 by A. P. Campbell. The first issue was published on December 4th of that year and beneath its unusual title, "The Conservator", appeared the legend, "Conserve the Right—Reform the Wrong." Despite the fact that this newspaper has long been a supporter of the Conservative party policies, its name really has no connection whatever with the party it upholds, as the motto on the original copy reveals.

The first home of The Conservator was a four-page paper, containing a very liberal amount of advertising and plenty of news. Its columns were 14 ems wide, or two ems wider than the present columns. The length of the paper was 22 inches, or one inch longer than the present length. There were seven columns instead of the present eight.

The Conservator seems to have enjoyed fair prosperity for the next sixteen years under the ownership of Mr. Campbell. On August 1st, 1890, Mr. Samuel Charters, now President of Charters Publishing Company and Editor of The Conservator, purchased the newspaper from Mr. Campbell. In his own story, told when he recently celebrated his Golden Jubilee as publisher, Mr. Charters tells of the difficulties encountered. He had served his apprenticeship with Mr. Campbell on The Conservator, starting in at the munificent sum of $40 per year, which was paid in store goods. He started his newspaper career just two years after The Conservator came into being.

Mr. Charters paid $4,000 cash for The Conservator, and it was by an accumulation of means that he managed to raise the funds. For some years he had been foreman on the Woodstock Sentinel-Review. The opportunity was presented for the purchase of The Conservator and he returned to Brampton and assumed control. At that time there were two other papers in Brampton, The Peel Banner and The Brampton Times. The Banner & Times was later absorbed by The Conservator.

Despite setbacks and difficulties, the newspaper continued to prosper, although, as Mr. Charters explained, it was rather difficult at times to find sufficient cash to pay the staff.

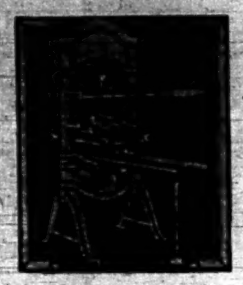
With the aid of a loyal staff and a devoted wife, The Conservator under Mr. Charters soon became Peel County's outstanding newspaper, a position of prestige never relinquished since.

The Conservator has staunchly supported Conservative party policies, but has never been so politically blind as to fail to offer criticism to that party when the need arose. The Conservator was always a bulwark for the temperance movement, and down through the fifty years of Charters ownership it has remained loyal to this cause.

The Conservator has rendered invaluable service to the community, a service which has often been commented upon by men high in government and business circles throughout the nation. Mr. Charters himself, for many years a member of the House of Commons and the Ontario Legislature, was a man who was beloved by men of all political faiths. He retired in 1935 after having served for eighteen years at Ottawa as Peel's representative. For the last several years he was Conservative whip in the house.

The policy of Mr. Charters, his sons and his associates has ever been to give the utmost in newspaper value to readers of The Conservator. Recognition of this effort came this year when The Conservator was awarded the Mason Trophy, emblematic of Canada's best all round weekly newspaper, and also the Williams Trophy for the best editorial page of any weekly newspaper in Canada.

The company, which started with Mr. Charters as owner, editor and publisher, has expanded and today employs one hundred people. It has erected additions to the original plant, has purchased a new modern plant, and maintains an office in downtown Toronto. The single newspaper has grown into a chain of five newspapers, The Conservator, The Weston Times and Guide, The West Toronto Weekly, The New Toronto Advertiser and The St. Clair Weekly Times.



C.W.N.A. President Sends A Message

I am pleased to note the increasingly active part taken by the weekly newspapers of Canada, in lending their influence in the extension of services which have to do with the active prosecution of Canada's part in the grim European struggle. Tributes to the solidarity of our effort, have been given by eminent public men.

It is not our wish or desire however, to be content with encomiums from influential sources. The weekly newspaper has a definite place in the economic and social life of the country, and its united service to Canada in time of war is a tribute to the singleness of purpose with which Canadians are meeting the crisis. The influence of the weeklies is at last recognized, and fortunately, the publishers themselves are, through well-directed effort, meriting much of this recognition.

The part being played in the national emergency, by weekly newspapers, is worthy of their high place as auxiliary agencies in promoting public service. Governments are quick to recognize the influence exerted by the weeklies, and are ready to recognize their efforts in a manner not heretofore apparent. It is our responsibility to justify such recognition through unrelenting earnestness of purpose, and continued acknowledgment of our obligation in safeguarding the national welfare.

May I, in conclusion, renew the appeal of our Association to every weekly publisher and every citizen in Canada, to permit no lagging in our support of the national war effort, nor to falter in the task of meeting in full measure, the community interests committed to our care. The prestige of the weekly newspaper has grown to new through loyal and disinterested service to home and country.

I hope "Newspaper Week" may be instrumental in further emphasizing the need of enlarging our contact with each other, and improving our Association service and the service of our respective newspapers.

H. E. RICE,
President C.W.N.A.

NO NEWSPAPERS IN THE WASTE BASKET

Not long ago a business man was standing in the lobby of the local postoffice, says the Listowel "Banner." He noticed a man remove his mail from his box and glance through it. Without taking half a look at a brightly colored circular he tossed it unopened into the large waste basket. We are doubtful if he even knew what company was sending him the advertising.

Another local business man noticed the fate of the brightly colored circular and the two men got talking about the affair. They investigated the waste basket and found several of the circulars. The curious part of the whole thing was that not one of them had been opened. It cost money to print them and it cost money in postage to mail them to the local boxholders, but yet their message did not strike home.

The odd part of the whole transaction was the fact that the men in their search through the waste basket did not find a single newspaper. Not one. You can draw your own conclusions.

THE INVENTOR OF PRINTING

JOHANN GUTENBURG

PROCLAMATION

In this era of fast moving and conflicting local, national and world events, it is fitting that we should recognize and pay tribute to the weekly press of Canada for the valuable service it constantly renders to the people in presenting the true facts of news happenings to the great reading public.

In this critical time when the very foundations of democracy are threatened from within and without, it is vitally important that we demonstrate our full support of those agencies and institutions such as the weekly press whose aims and efforts are indispensable to an enlightened public opinion.

Since October 1 to 8 has been set aside as Newspaper Week in Canada, and since it is fitting that the people of our community join in this Dominion observance, I deem it a privilege to proclaim the same period as Newspaper Week in Brampton and do hereby urge that all citizens give serious thought to the benefits they themselves derive from the weekly press which is free to publish all the facts and which is rendering an invaluable community service.

R. P. WORTHY,
Mayor.

Your Newspaper

(An Editorial)

This is Newspaper Week! Throughout Canada and the United States the week of October 1 to 8, has been set apart for the purpose of placing before the reading public the importance of their newspapers as guardians of their liberties and builders of community spirit. There is not much that can be said in a short editorial about the place and the influence of the newspaper in the community, but it would be quite safe to say that just so long as the liberty of the press survives, and the newspapers continue to serve their communities as they have done in the past, there is not much chance of this country being overcome by totalitarian systems. Hitlerism, Fascism, Communism, and the other isms to which so great a part of the world has succumbed, cannot make progress where a free and alert press is on the job.

Your newspaper serves so many useful purposes in the community that we can refer only briefly to them here. As the chronicler of the history of the present, and as the archives of the past, the local newspaper is doing an extremely valuable work. But apart entirely from its historical value, your newspaper is wielding a tremendous influence for good in the territory it serves. A splendid illustration is available right at this time. Brampton has just concluded its most ambitious charity campaign in its long and eventful history. The campaign was successful to a degree undreamed of by the committee in charge. Never before has the community rallied to a cause so valiantly as it did to this cause. There can be no doubt that the publicity afforded the campaign by the local press, played a very large part in that success. During the past few weeks, columns of valuable support have been given freely by the newspapers. The public has been fully informed of all that the campaign meant to Brampton's war effort. Every phase of the campaign has been explained, so that there could be no reason for any citizen, young or old, not knowing all the vital factors connected with this appeal. A well informed public usually responds generously when the need is made fully known.

Your newspaper is the guarantee of the Canadian way of life, the way of liberty, the way of equal opportunity, the way of free enterprise, the divine and the true way for national well being and upward advancement.

Weekly it comes into your home, in winter, summer, spring and fall. It chronicles your birth, your marriage, your death, and the intervening events which mean for joy and sorrow, depression and exaltation, health and pestilence, poverty and wealth, weakness and strength.

It is not the subservient carrier of propaganda which enabled a Hitler to become the master of Germany, nor is it the complacent press which contributed to France's downfall. It is a friendly visitor, constantly at your right hand. It has character and even when it hurts, we know our readers would not have us spineless.

It provides special civic service. It supports to the last drop of ink, your charities, community drives, Red Cross campaigns, schools, churches, clubs, and other community groups. Yes—it assists in building community character. Through advertising it promotes trade, moves commodities, and helps to advance living standards.

Above all, your weekly newspaper is your friend, and without it, many and perhaps all of your liberties would vanish. We say this because the people served by the weekly press elect more members of the House of Commons and more members of legislatures than do urban residents. The rural press is the voice of Canada. Its readers are strong supporters of constitutional government. The mass hysterias which sway and excite and mislead city people, tend to fade into mildness before the calm, good, common sense of the countryside. This good common sense is typical of the weekly newspaper which seeks to serve you every week of every year.

Newspapers

The first countries that are known to have carried on the manufacture of paper are Egypt, China and Japan, and according to the Chinese the fabrication of paper from cotton and other vegetable fibres was invented by them in the second century B.C. Papyrus, the so-called paper of ancient Egypt, was made from a plant of that name, and was used extensively in early times. The knowledge and use of paper of the kind known to the Chinese was passed from the east to the west, and was introduced into Europe by the Arabs, and Spain is believed to have been the first European country in which paper from cotton was made, probably in the eleventh century. Its manufacture spread to Italy, France, Germany and many other countries in a very short time, the earliest known manufactory in England having been set up in 1495. The first paper mill in America was established in 1690 by William Rittenhouse, near Germantown, Pennsylvania.

First Newspapers—

It is generally believed that the Chinese founded the first newspaper that was ever printed, but the exact date of its establishment is unknown. The Acta Diurna, a daily sheet, was issued by the Romans before the Christian era, but it was in manuscript form, not printed. Another manuscript newspaper, the Gazetta, was issued in Venice as early as the year 1536. There is a tradition that a printed newspaper was published in Nuremberg in 1457, but no copy of it is extant. It is known that the Germans printed the first newspaper published in Europe, the date being about 1612. The first one printed in England was in 1622, and in France, 1631. The first journal, a pamphlet rather than a newspaper, to be printed in America appeared on September 25, 1690. This was under the name of Public Occurrences, and was soon suppressed by the authorities. The in 1704 and continued until 1776. The Boston Gazette made its appearance December 21, 1719, The American Weekly Mercury of Philadelphia appearing one day later. The New England Courant, upon which Benjamin Franklin began his career as a printer, and which was edited and printed by his brother, James Franklin, was established in 1721. The Pennsulpania Gazette of Philadelphia was started by Samuel Keimer in 1728, and was bought by Benjamin Franklin about one year later. It took the name of The Saturday Evening Post in 1821, and is still issued under this title, being the oldest existing journal in America.

THE PRINTING PRESS

What light is yon, that shines so bright,
And rivals all the stars of Night?
Is it a meteor from the North?
That our astonished eyes draw forth!
Did th' West its sparks puff into blaze?
Or did the South first gild its rays?
From none of these its birth it drew.
Through life i' the East it rose to view;
There Sun and Moon began to rise;
Likewise those beams that streak our skies,
Though all these twinklers burn so bright,
It is the Press affords us Light.

A Message From Prime Minister King

The celebration by the members of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association of the first week in October as a Newspaper Week affords me a welcome opportunity to extend to the weekly newspapers of our towns and villages a word of sincere appreciation on the service they are rendering Canada at this critical time in the history of our country. As one of the great channels for the expression of public opinion and a powerful influence in the life of our people, they have an especially great responsibility. To this responsibility they have responded spendidly in the manner in which they have maintained the high standards of a free press. There is no surer foundation of the democratic way of life.

I extend to the members of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, my best of wishes for the success of Newspaper Week.

Ottawa, Sept., 16, 1940.

W. L. MACKENZIE KING.

Premier Hepburn Praises Weeklies

During my fourteen years in public life I have come to regard Ontario's weekly newspapers as one of our chief assets—as accurate interpreters and consistent moulders of that type of thought and opinion which, while always valuable, is most needed and best appreciated in testing times like the present.

They give unselfishly of their support to every worthy enterprise. To everyday problems, large and small, they bring a dispassionate appreciation and a quietly effective treatment that are much to be envied. They are irreplaceable links with the homelife that must be re-established solidly here if our post-war future is to mean anything to us. Generally, they provide a steadying influence that extends far beyond their own immediate field of operation.

With "Newspaper Week" about to be celebrated let me congratulate the Ontario Weeklies on their achievements of the past and wish them every success in the days ahead.

Contrast this composing room in an early printing plant with the modern composing rooms of today. The Printing Industry Mother of Civilization Marks 500th Birthday

Johann Gutenburg is Reputed Inventor of Modern Type Printing

The invention of printing from movable metal types is associated, according to the best available evidence, with the name of Johann Gutenberg, who lived in the cities of Mainz and Strasbourg, on the Rhine, during the first half of the fifteenth century. Other claims for the credit of the invention have been made, such as that on behalf of Laurens Janszoon Coster, of Harlem, in the Netherlands, but for which the evidence seems, in the most part, spurious. Block printing, that is printing from symbols carved in wood blocks, was known and practised much earlier, perhaps as early as the eighth century, in China.

Movable types of porcelain, wood and metal were used in China from 1041 onwards, but knowledge of their use does not seem to have spread beyond the Orient. The Chinese, too, discovered how to make paper in the second century—and knowledge of this process was carried eastward at intervals through the centuries, till it reached Western Europe about a thousand years later. By the fifteenth century the Europeans, too, were printing from wooden blocks, large blocks on which a picture with a legend, or perhaps the words of a much-used manuscript were cut in high relief, then inked and an impression taken on a sheet of vellum or paper. A number of these sheets printed on one or both sides and fastened together, was called a block book. Block books were just coming into use, when suddenly (for a decade is but an instant of time in the cultural history of man) between 1438 and 1445, some one invented and perfected a process for making individual letters of metal. These letters could be "composed" into words, printed, then "distributed" for further composition.

Prior to the invention of printing, books had to be written by hand. For this laborious task, scribes were engaged by families, business firms, schools or court officials. To own a book was a mark of distinction, and there would be few families who would own more than one book. The education of children from books was exceedingly limited, since even the essential Latin grammar and any other texts would have to be written by hand. The researches of scholars had to be copied and re-copied, with errors creeping into every copy. News was conveyed by word of mouth or by written message, and sometimes, with hazards of travel, it arrived garbled and late, perhaps too late. The enormous volume of printed material which we now use in the ordinary and extraordinary occupations of every day should scarcely be taken for granted without a thought of how it has come to us. It is the product of the inventive genius and painstaking industry of man, of the minerals, timber and power derived from our earth. An accomplishment of a relatively short period in the history of mankind, it is our inheritance to be cherished in further experimentation and development, and in use, to extend knowledge, the perception of beauty, and enjoyment of the comforts of modern life.

Johann Gutenberg, born about 1400, was a member of a patrician family in Mainz connected with the metal-working trade. A serious conflict with certain Craft Guilds (the Trades' Unions of those days) drove the family from Mainz, and in 1434 or earlier, Gutenberg was working in the neighbouring city of Strasbourg. He occupied himself with mechanical inventions, and from 1436 onward he was preoccupied with their application to printing. He experimented with metals of different kinds for making type, cut the metal patterns of type bodies with individual letter faces on the end. From the patterns he struck matrices, and constructed a mould in which to cast accurate reproductions of the types in large quantities. The principle of the press had long been known and applied in the making of wine and cheese, then adapted to making impressions from wood blocks. Now Gutenberg further adapted it to printing from movable metal types. Probably associated with Gutenberg in some way was one, Andrew Dritzehn, in whose house in Strasbourg the press was erected and the tools and equipment kept. That the invention was regarded as potentially of great commercial value is shown by the fact that the processes were guarded carefully, and by the further fact that on the death of Dritzehn, his brothers, in 1539, brought suit to claim rights in Gutenberg's outfit—without success. It is one of the curious ironies of history that the records of this trial "foundation stones in the edifice of fame erected to one of Germany's national heroes" should have been destroyed when the Prussians took Strasbourg in 1870.

The inventor continued improving his technique, and from time to time through the 1440's, produced a few printed pieces. These were a Latin grammar, commonly called Donatus, a long poem and a calendar for the year 1448. Only fragments, the odd page of these early productions have survived to the present time. Towards the end of this experimental period Gutenberg cast a complete new font of type. But as his talents turned to mechanical rather than financial achievement, he was obliged to pledge his possessions for a loan of cash to Johann Fust, a man of capital in Mainz, whither Gutenberg returned about 1448. With Fust was associated a young technician named Peter Schoeffer, who later became his son-in-law and partner. Fust and Schoeffer were commercially minded and with the benefit of Gutenberg's inventive genius they produced the first great monument to the invention of typography, a Bible. This, the "Gutenberg" or 42-line Bible," was printed on 1282 large folio pages of two columns each, and with 42 lines to the column. It bore no printer's name nor date, but the work was completed some time before August, 1456, and by that time Fust & Schoeffer had eased Gutenberg out of the enterprise, keeping his equipment, which had secured the loan.

Gutenberg retained his earlier types and from these about 1460, was printed another Bible, 36 lines to the page. Fust & Schoeffer in the meantime had prepared an edition of the Psalter, the most beautiful work, it is said, ever printed—large pages of text in black and red, with decorative capitals of intricate design, in three glowing colors and perfect impression. This book bore the date 1457, with the printers' name and trade-mark. Their mark of crossed shields has been perpetuated as the symbol of the International Association of Printing House Craftsmen.

Gutenberg's name never appeared upon any book printed from his types and he died an obscure figure in 1468. But the brilliant achievements of typography in subsequent years have been the most gratifying eulogium an inventor would desire. And, now five hundreds years later, almost every country in the world acclaims him as one of the greatest modern benefactors of mankind.

It has been stated that of all the world's inventors, two stand out preeminently in the advancement of literature and education—Ts'ai Lun, the inventor of paper (China, A.D. 105), and Gutenberg, the originator of movable types (1440).

From Mainz, printing spread into Italy, France and the Netherlands. In 1474-76, William Caxton, an English merchant, resident in the Low Countries, learned how to print and produced in his own English translation, the first book ever printed in English: Recuyell of the Hystoryes of Troye, a popular classic tale of the fall of Troy. Soon afterwards he returned to England with printing types and set up shop near Westminster Abbey. So the story of printing in the English-speaking world begins with Caxton. The year after Caxton died, Columbus discovered a new continent across the Atlantic Ocean, and the first governor there, the Viceroy of New Spain, had a printing press brought to Mexico City about 1535, the first in America.

The next one came from England to New England in 1638, to be set up by Stephen Daye and his two sons at Cambridge, Massachusetts, under direction of Harvard College just then opening its doors. Daye's first substantial work appeared in 1640. It was a book certain of sale among the Puritan settlers in the Colony of Massachusetts Bay, The Whole Books of Psalmes, or as it is is generally known, "The Bay Psalm Book". Daye printed 1700 copies of this book and not more than a dozen are known today. It is called the most valuable book ever printed on paper. Daye's successor was Samuel Green and Samuel's grandson, Bartholemew, brought a press to Halifax in 1751. Bartholemew's associate, John Bushell, carried on the work following the former's sudden death, and became Canada's first printer and the founder of its first newspaper, the Halifax Gazette.

So far as can be determined with any certainty there was no printing shop in Quebec, or Nouvelle France as it was called, during the French regime. On at least three occasions however, requests were made of persons in authority for the privilege of establishing a press. Jesuit missionaries in Quebec applied for a printing press in 1665; the Sulpicians in Montreal made the same request of the Superior of their order in Paris, 1683. In 1749, M. de la Galissonnière asked the Minister of Marine and Colonies for the same privilege, but his request like the others was denied.

After Nouvelle France became the British colony of Quebec in 1763, two young printers employed in the office of William Dunlap, Benjamin Franklin's brother-in-law in Philadelphia, ventured into Quebec and announced the publication of a weekly newspaper. The Quebec Gazette, published in English and French in parallel columns, appeared first on June 21, 1764, and continued with but two brief interruptions until 1874 — a remarkable record for a pioneer publishing firm. Brown and Gilmore printed many books in English or French or both. In both they printed all the laws and government publications. One of the most interesting of their productions is a Canadian edition of the Stamp Act, dated Quebec, 1766. In the meantime Montreal had got its first printer, Fleury Mesplet, who arrived, also from Philadelphia, in 1776, and twelve years later launched the Montreal Gazette.

The first printing done in Upper Canada was at Newark, now Niagara-on-the-lake, where in 1793 Lieutenant-Colonel John Graves Simcoe, the Lieutenant Governor, set up a French Canadian, Louis Roy, whom he had brought with him from Quebec. Two pamphlets, one entitled The Speech of His Excellency John Graves Simcoe, and the other The Acts of the Legislature of Upper Canada, were printed by Roy early in the year. The first newspaper was the Upper Canada Gazette which appeared on April 18, 1793. The first publishing house in the modern sense of the word, that is, an organization which assumes the risk of publishing manuscripts, and sets up a sales organization to distribute them, was probably the Ryerson Press, which developed from the printing office which Egerton Ryerson founded to print that famous old Methodist paper, the Christian Guardian.

The first press west of Ontario was constructed at Norway House, in Manitoba, about one hundred years ago—one of the most ingenious ever made. James Evans, a missionary to the Indians, wanted a printing outfit to further his religious and educational work. He couldn't import one, for the Hudson Bay Co., which controlled the area, declined to undertake its transportation. So he made what he required: type, of lead from tea boxes, cast in wooden moulds which he cut for the purpose; ink, from chimney soot; for paper, birch-bark. His press was the old fur press used in the Company's trading post. His type is very interesting, for the face shows not letters of our alphabet, but Cree syllabics which Evans himself invented, symbols by which he represented the sounds of the Cree dialect, and in which he printed spelling and hymn books for the Indians.

Local printing appeared on the West Coast in 1858 when the rush for gold was on. Four newspapers were started in Victoria within six months, of which one, The Colonist, still appears.

The invention of modern printing machinery is a story in itself which cannot be told here. One rather astonishing fact is that no substantial changes in the original mechanical operations were made during the first four hundred years after its invention. The manufacture of printing machinery is comparatively recent in its history. It has now reached the stage of a large-scale industry and printing machines are known to be both as precise and as complicated as almost any modern industrial machinery.

But, prior to 1865, printing was largely a hand craft. There were rather crude power presses for newspapers, but all type had to be set by hand. Presses for the production of commercial work developed in the second quarter of the nineteenth century. The first rotary press appeared in America in 1865. The linotype machine for casting and setting type was invented by Ottmar Mergenthaler in Baltimore, 1885, and put into use the following year by the New York Tribune. The Monotype machine, also for type casting and setting, was invented by Tolbert Lanston, in Washington, 1887. From the primitive large thread screw press, operated by hand, there was made a faster screw press. Then operating levers replaced the screw, and iron frames replaced the wooden frames. Horse power was added to man power; then mechanical power replaced the horse. Stereotyping began as early as 1812, with David Bruce, and lithographing, a process discovered by young Alois Senefelder, about 1800. Photoengraving (1880), and modern lithographic processes however, are quite recent developments.

The printing and publishing industry has so extended its services in the community that it occupies a place of primary importance in the economic life of the country. In Canada, in 1938 (latest figures available), 2,273 printing, publishing and book-binding plants, representing an investment of $118,243,293, employed 37,459 men and women, on a pay roll of $50,564,938, with a gross value of production, totalling $117,592,784.

FURTHER CREDIT GIVEN

Continued recognition of the value of a progressive weekly newspaper to the citizens of every community has often been given by both civic and industrial leaders throughout Canada. These leaders in state and commercial affairs have not hesitated to give the country papers due credit for the work which they have performed in helping to keep the towns and cities in which they are published in step with modern progress. Recently The Calgary Herald, in welcoming the delegates to the annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, gave further recognition to the weekly newspapers and their editors when it said editorially:

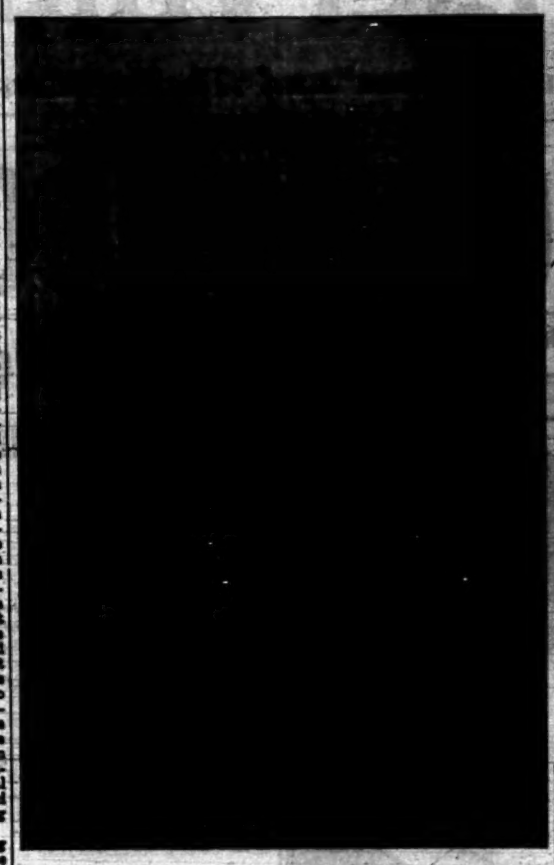
"The people of Alberta are glad to welcome the representatives of the weekly press of Canada to the province, and the city of Calgary feels itself honored in having been chosen as their convention centre for 1940.

"There have been surprising changes in the newspaper world in the past two decades. Newspapers have become subject to mechanization just as have other branches of human activity. New inventions and the speeding up of communications have had a marked effect on newspaper production.

"However, the weekly newspapers have held their own in a highly competitive field. This has been largely owing to the exceptional service rendered to their communities by their alert, aggressive editors. These communities which possess newsy, well-printed and well-edited weekly newspapers should realize the great advantage to them of having such a medium in their midst. As a general rule, the progressiveness of a village or town can be accurately measured by the appearance of the weekly newspaper.

"Admittedly the editor of the weekly newspaper maintains a closer contact with the people he serves than is possible in the daily field. In such a position he has an opportunity to gain the confidence of his readers and give wise and patient leadership in the community. At no other time in Canada's history was such a service more important than at present. Editors of weeklies are now making a real contribution in this respect to the nation."

FROM THE CRUDE HAND OPERATED PR ESS TO THE MODERN HIGH SPEED PRESS



On the left is pictured an old hand-operated press, commonly used in the average newspaper plant when The Conservator was founded back in 1874. A press similar to this was displayed in the printing exhibit sponsored by Charters Publishing Company at Brampton Fair this week. Above is the modern high speed press, capable of producing a 32 page newspaper at a speed of many thousands per hour. There has been a remarkable growth in the use of intricate machinery in the printing industry in the last half century, and today the printing trade is one of the most highly mechanized industries in the world. The above press is the one used to print The Conservator and associated newspapers. It is located in the Queen Street plant. The press is also capable of turning out commercial work in two colours. Over 1560 tons of newsprint passes over the cylinders of this press in the course of each year.

THE COMMUNITY PAPER

Picking up the papers that record the happenings of the little towns around us, one gains renewed faith in life. Here are set forth only that which uplifts a community — the activities of the business men, the church items, the happy social gatherings of the people, the marriages, births and deaths, farmers' items and all the thousand and one daily occurrences that make up the simple annals of the great common people, who are really the foundation of this broad country ours.—Papyrus.

Historical Printing Press Oldest Existing in Canada Is Graphic Arts Feature

A primitive printing press, the oldest existing in Canada, which was acquired by the late John Ross Robertson in 1901, and stored in the Melinda street window of The Evening Telegram for many years, was a feature of the Graphic Arts Display in the General Exhibits Building at the C.N.E. this year.

The old and valued press was a feature of an exhibit sponsored by a special committee of the graphic arts industry, marking the 500th anniversary of printing.

The ancient press dates back to 1780, at least. It was bought by Louis Roy, the King's Printer at Niagara, from Samuel Neilson, the printer of the Quebec Gazette. It was used to print the Upper Canada Gazette or American Oracle, official paper of the Government in 1793-4. The press may next have been owned by Gideon Tiffany, who succeeded Louis Roy in 1796-7. When T. G. Simons became King's Printer, he bought the press and used it at Niagara in 1797-8.

In September of 1798, Simons moved to Toronto and operated the press under the firm name of Waters and Simons. At that time the King's printing office was in a small cottage built by the late Andrew Mercer, on the southeast corner of the present Bay and Wellington streets. In Robertson's landmarks of Toronto this interesting quotation is found: "The office was certainly in that house during the war of 1812-15, for the late Andrew Mercer often spoke of the mischief that the Americans had done to the printing office."

The press was shifted about in the ensuing years from one King's Printer's office to another. In 1844 it was acquired by an old printer named Stephens, who had an office at 25 King St. West. Thomas Hill, a bookbinder, bought it in 1857 and it was in his family's possession until the turn of the century. In 1901 John Ross Robertson purchased the press from Mrs. Foster, a daughter of Hill, and four years later he presented it to the Province of Ontario.

For many years the press stood in a glass case in the Normal School Museum. Recently it was found in the basement of the Parliament Buildings, to where it was removed when the museum was closed.

The exhibit at the C.N.E. included two other presses of unusual interest. The first a replica, made at the Montreal Technical School, of the press used by Gutenberg himself at Strasbourg in 1440. The second, the press used by William Lyon Mackenzie to print his historical Colonial Advocate in Toronto from 1824 to 1835.

Other features of the exhibit were examples of color photography work, the manufacture of printers' ink, bookbinding and many other crafts of the graphic arts industry. A number of old books, handbills and newspapers were also on display. Among them the oldest printed book in Canada, published in Strasbourg in 1468. A wide assortment of old-school readers was also shown.

I'M the advertising man.

I am the oil on the wheels of progress. They might move without me, but they wouldn't move so smoothly or so efficiently.

I am the link between the people who want to sell and the people who want to buy. It is my job to bring people together—to bring people who want jobs to people who want help—to bring people who have lost a treasured possession to people who may have found it—to bring the person who seeks shelter to him who has shelter to offer—to bring buyer and seller together, as a carburetor mixes air and gasoline to produce a mixture latent with power.

I AM an agent of progress. Who has built a better mouse trap? I am the signpost that directs the world to his door. Are there newer and better products, newer and better ways of doing things? Through me the world learns of them. In that way I serve progress.

The little girl who has lost a beloved puppy, the aging man who wants to sell out the business to which he has devoted a lifetime, the innovator with a new machine or a new process, the great merchant with his fairyland of new things to sell—all these I serve, and many more.

I AM alert and aggressive. Opportunity is the goods in which I deal; I am trained to see it and to discover it. From the full-page display ad with its compelling message, to the tiniest liner with its whispered suggestion, I am ready to serve, and untold millions have found me useful.

They seldom credit me with being an educator. But I am. I teach new and better ways of doing things. I am a gadfly constantly buzzing to prevent people from getting set in their ways.

In a business civilization, I am the sparkplug of business. In a world where people grow farther and farther apart, I bring them together.

National Fire Prevention Week

A Message From The Mayor —

THROUGHOUT CANADA THE WEEK OF OCTOBER 6TH TO 12TH WILL BE OBSERVED AS FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

The week of October 6th to 12th has been set apart as Fire Prevention Week in Canada and United States with a view to bringing before the minds of all people the great good which can be accomplished by care when fire might be a hazard.

At this time of year especially, I would ask that all citizens, before starting the home heating plant, whether it be a stove or furnace, carefully inspect their chimney, the pipes and the fire box itself, and make any needed repairs. Disastrous fires sometimes arise from the most insignificant cause. Nothing was ever more true in connection with fire than that old saying "Prevention is Better Than Cure". Will you help?

ROBT. P. WORTHY,
Mayor.

GRAHAMSVILLE

Corn cutting in this district is fairly well finished, as is stook threshing.

Grahamsville public school held an organization meeting Monday for the Junior Red Cross. President, McClure Cheyne; secretary, Isabel Davis; treasurer, Ronald Davis; magazine collector, June Maltby.

A scarcity of farm help in the district has necessitated the use of farmers' sons. Several young lads ranging in age from 10-12 years are operating tractors, stooking grain, running the blower and feeding the threshing machines.

Arthur Jackson

The community mourned the passing of Arthur Jackson on Monday morning. Mr. Jackson was in his eightieth year and had farmed in this district for many years, on the Sixth line. He is survived by his wife Nellie Steele, one daughter, Mrs. Harold Shaw, and one grandchild. He had been an active member of Grahamsville United church for many years.

FEEDER LAMBS SALE

The annual movement of feeder lambs and ewe stock from Western ranges to Eastern feed and finishing lots, while starting earlier in 1940 than in previous years, is not as great in volume as in the corresponding period of 1939.

It is interesting to note, however, that a large entry of both feeder lambs, ewe lambs and range breeding ewes will be on hand for the sale at the Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, Feeder Show and Sale on Thursday, October 10th, says the Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture. This annual event has been a mecca for Eastern feeders for a number of years and those who have facilities for feeding and finishing lambs should find this year's Moose Jaw Sale an excellent source for purchasing feeding and breeding stock.

CASTLEMORE

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Craig, Mrs. Lucie Adams and Miss Edna Richardson visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Kersey and family.

Miss Bertha Carberry was also the recipient of a miscellaneous shower held at Meadowvale recently, at the home of Mrs. Wilton McKeikaie.

Will the Castlemore Institute ladies kindly note change of home for the October meeting. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. Hugill, instead of Mrs. Wm. Kersey, who has been confined to her bed. Meeting will be the eighth of October, the topic of the month being, "Legislation", and the roll call, "A law I would like to see enforced".

The regular meeting of the W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. John Phillips. The president opened the meeting after the hymn 370 followed by the prayers and litany. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and the business dealt with. Remainder of the afternoon was spent in sewing quilt patches. The president closed the meeting with prayer and the National Anthem was sung. Mrs. Temple assisted Mrs. Phillips with the lunch.

On Thursday evening a shower was given to Miss Bertha Carberry in Claireville Hall. During the course of the evening a mock wedding was staged and after the shower a dance was enjoyed by all. Music was supplied by Mr. Harry Keyes, Mr. Albert Wiley and Miss Margaret Dalziel. The bride received many beautiful and useful gifts. Miss Dorothy Wiley read the address as follows:

Castlemore, Thursday
Sept. 26, 1940.

Dear Bertha and Russ:

May every plan and every scheme
And every hope and every dream
You two are sharing — all come true
In future happy days for you!

This little verse expresses the wishes we all feel for you in your new life together.

Our one regret, Bertha, is that you are leaving our midst, but we feel some consolation in knowing that your sunny smile will brighten a close community and that you are not going so far away that you cannot return often.

With our very best wishes, we ask you to accept these gifts which we hope will serve as a reminder of your friends "up home".

St. John's Church and Community. (Signed) Aileen Kersey, Ruth Izard, Eva Lindsay.

Both Bertha and Russell responded in a very pleasing manner.

Sons of England Victory Drive Success

paid a glowing tribute to the splendid work being done by the Brampton Lodge, largest in the Dominion of Canada.

The Beauty Contest proved to be one of the highlights of the program. Five contestants were entered, and the judges, Mrs. M. G. Chantler, Mrs. M. Vanderlip, and Mrs. Dr. McLean, had considerable difficulty arriving at a decision. However, they finally selected Miss Pauline Carr, pretty Toronto brunette, as the main prize winner, with Marion Sproule of Brampton as second and Peggy Farr of Brampton as third. Also in the beauty contest was George Devonshire, one of the Navy League Cadets, who entered just for fun, and made a really presentable lady.

Highlighting the program were Al and Bob Harvey, widely acclaimed radio stars who have just returned rom a long term engagement in England. A lot has been said about Al and Bob Harvey, but the press agents were not too generous in their praise. They put on a program which earned them the enthusiastic applause of an audience of more than a thousand. As comedians, as vocalists, and instrumentalists, and as accomplished raconteurs, they were tops. A Brampton audience would welcome Al and Bob Harvey back here at any time and would turn out in great numbers to hear them.

Gertrude Cain of Glen Williams, a youthful but very clever tap dancer, got a big hand, as did all those who appeared on the program; the Golden Star Quartette, the Hawaiian Harmony Trio, and Ed Capps, who led in some of the most spirited community singing heard in these parts for some time.

The lucky number draw was another feature. Prize winners in the lucky ticket draw were: W. W. Paskall, Mrs. B. Cook, Mrs. McQueen, Mrs. Clarridge, J. Little, F. Cramp, J. Dunkley, J. Algie, and R. Ingram.

Holders of lucky program numbers were: Mrs. A. Mercer, Mrs. H. Olding and G. Maltby.

It would be a sad error were not a word of tribute paid the members of the Lodge who, backed by their ladies of the Daughters of England, did such a fine job on this victory drive. Of course, it would be impossible to mention them all, but to the general committee goes the major part of the credit for the success of the affair. This committee was composed of: General Chairman, George R. Farr; Secretary, J. Little; Treasurer, B. Ross; Parade, Chas. Campkin; Advertising, F. Battershell; Midway, A. Cooper; Refreshments, Mrs. Ross; Programme, S. Dunkley; Sports, Carman Core.

Not all BUSINESS IS BIG BUSINESS

A LITTLE steam lifts the lid of your tea-kettle. A lot of steam drives trains, machinery. Your bank deposit may be little, but it combines with millions of others to make a lot of "steam". It helps to run the nation's machinery of production, marketing, employment, business. It is important indeed to the country's war financing and war-time effort. The money is yours yet it helps provide the credit necessary to move the goods and services of the nation. Canada's chartered banks thus perform functions of great usefulness. They receive the deposits of millions of Canadians, and extend credit to individuals, governments, businessmen and marketing organizations. The small depositor is important to the banks. The "little fellow", popularly so-called, is welcomed by any bank, as a customer.

[In war, as in peace, Canada's Chartered Banks maintain, uninterrupted, their useful services — safeguarding depositors' funds; facilitating the nation's business — looking forward to peace with freedom as the only sure basis of enduring prosperity.]

A miscellaneous shower was held on Monday evening of this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Bland, Castlemore, in honour of Mr. and Mrs. Garf Cotton (nee Lou Bland). It was attended by members of St. John's church, Castlemore, and by friends and neighbours.

Cotton: We, your friends and neighbours, are gathered here to congratulate you upon your recent marriage and to wish you many happy years of married life. Scrap of Paper, Maybe Japan has agreed to aid the Axis powers against Britain if the U.S. enters the war.

The U.S. will enter the war before next spring. Japan may seize Hong-Kong and may take a crack at British Borneo, Singapore, and Australia. They may get the Philippines, too.

With Japan occupied with two wars, this will give Russia a chance to even up scores with Nippon. If the British appear to be winning in Europe, Russia may take a hand there too, and grab off the rest of Poland and a few Balkan states.

The line-up next fall, then: Britain, America, China, Russia, versus Germany, Italy, Japan.

Local Stuff

How many Brampton street names can you pick out of the following tale? There are at least nine.

Satan had a stomach ache, and told his wife, the Queen of Hades, about it. He said he'd just eaten have known better than that. And she told him so. "I Guess right when I told you you'd overstuff yourself," she said. "Listen," he said, "I'm the Main bugaboo around here, and I do what I like, and if you don't like it, you can leave, and don't slam the door." "Oh no," she lisped. (She lisped a little, you know. She always did. Some defect in her vocal organs, I reckon. "Elisabeth plathe I've found yet. I used to live in Germany. Human Byngs up there are worth off than down here."

Anyhow he Centre over to the Hotstuff Department Store by the old Mill. (All mills you read about are old, I don't know why. There don't seem to be any "new mills" around. Maybe people aren't building mills any more). Anyway, she went there to get him some genuine bicarbonate of soda (with the red and white label on the box). She asked the floor walker where it was, he said: "That Chapel show you." So she asked the guy he had pointed out, but it turned out to be Trotsky, and he said, "I'm a stranger here myself, just moved in, don't know where anything is, looking around for Marx and Lenin." "Who?" "Lenin, you know, strawberry, raspberry, cherry, orange, Lenin—Lenin!"

But she finally got the bicarb and brought it home, and gave it to her hubby, and he took it, without Water (naturally).

BOLTON

BOLTON.—Christ church, Bolton, was the scene of a pretty wedding, Friday, Sept. 20, when Margaret Alfreda, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Henderson, of Bolton, became the bride of Verner Carr, second son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Carr, of King. The church was prettily decorated with gladioli and ferns. Rev. J. J. Robbins, of Bolton, officiated, and Miss Mary Baguley, of Albion, played the wedding music. During the signing of the register, Miss Merle Downey, of Bolton, sang "Because". Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of turquoise blue satin in princess line with matching bolero and wore her late grandmother's gold broach and fingertip veil of sheer net, caught with white velvet roses and carried Butterfly roses and cornflowers. Miss Jean Henderson, sister of the bride was bridesmaid and wore a gown of rose taffeta and shoulder length veil of rose net and carried Joanna Hill roses and cornflowers. Little Hilda Henderson attended her sister as flower girl wearing a frock of pale yallow and a wreath of orange blossoms and carried a nosegay pom pom zinnias. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Stephen Carr of King, and Mr. James Henderson, of Bolton, brother of the bride, and Mr. Charles Hume, of King, acted as ushers. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where Mrs. Henderson received, assisted by Mrs. Riddell, of Nobleton, grandmother of the groom. The happy couple left on a short motor trip and on their return will reside in Brampton.

Abundance of Beef

Alberta goes in more for the production of beef cattle than any other province in Western Canada. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics in its survey last December indicated the number of cattle, other than milch cows, in Alberta to be 863,000. This was 267,000 more than the number in Saskatchewan, and 427,000 more than the beef cattle in Manitoba on the same date. This gives a fair idea of the progress that has been made in cattle raising in Alberta.—Calgary Herald.

Port Credit And Weston Battle To Tie on Friday

Opening Game of T.D.I.A.A. Season Loosely Played

(By Ted White)

PORT CREDIT—The Port Credit High School campus was the scene of a closely fought rugby game last Friday afternoon, when Weston High School battled the local juniors to a 6-all tie in the first game of the T.D.I.A.A.

The game was played under ideal conditions but both teams played loosely as may be expected in all early season games. Fumbles and poor tackling proved costly to both teams.

Weston fumbled in the first minute of play and Roy Smith recovered his own kick-off on the Weston 40-yard line. A Coles to Mettrick to Beatty end-run moved play to the 20. From there Miller made eight yards through the centre and Mettrick skirted the end for a touchdown. The convert failed.

In the second quarter the heavy "Blue and Gold" line broke through to break up their opponents' kick formation, and when the loose ball bounded over the goal line the Weston half-back was rouged.

That ended the scoring for the Ports and their "blue and white" rivals rallied in the second half to make the game very interesting. In the third quarter Ross McKelvie, brilliant Weston half, electrified the crowd with a 58-yard run through the whole Credit team for an unconverted major score. McKelvie tallied the tying point in the last quarter when one of his long boots was good for a single.

Don. Miller, smooth running half and captain of the local squad, was the best man on the field. His smashes at the Weston line were consistently good for from five to eight yards and on numerous occasions his deadly open field tackling stopped his opponents for no gain. Coles, Mettrick and Roy Smith also went well in the Port Credit backfield, while Thompson, Reeves and Costello were the pick of the front wall.

Ross McKelvie was the whole Weston team. His long, steady kicking, passing and broken field running were spectacular. Fortune, Reeves and MacDonald were the best of his teammates.

This week the local squad tangle with Etobicoke on the Islington field, while Weston play hosts to Mimico. Etobicoke defeated Mimico on Friday by a 7-5 score.

The line-ups:

Weston H.S.: Flying wing, Fortune; halves, McKelvie, Reeves and Morgan; quarter, Swift; snap, MacDonald; insides, Utsck and Summers; middles, Seabrook and Phillips; outside wings, Weech and Campbell; subs, Boddington, Beach, Leach and Harris.

Port Credit H.S.: Flying wing, Beattty; halves, Miller, Mettrick and R. Smith; quarter, Coles; snap, Wood; insides, Stock and Pickett; middles, Reeves and Thompson; outside wings, Costello and J. Gray; subs, Ditchoff, Whaley, L. Smith, D. Gray, Munroe, Dickinson, Martin, Schrieber, Hansen and Thomson.

Referee: Jack Paisley, Toronto.
Head linesman: Fred Hamilton, Port Credit.

Introduce Cadet Training Into H.S. Curriculum

PORT CREDIT—Cadet training will be introduced into the school curriculum for Middle and Upper School students at Port Credit High School this term.

All students of the two forms will take the course along with their Physical training exercises, but any student whose parents object to the military drill will be excused on producing a written note setting out their objections.

The training, it was learned, will be optional with the students of the Lower School form and any boy of this class may take the drill if he so desires.

The time schedule of the school is being arranged so that at least one period of training per day will be had instead of the two or three per week as in the past for physical training.

The annual field day, usually held in the fall, has been postpond indefinitely and may be cancelled for the duration of the war. The change in school schedules may also eliminate any basketball teams beings formed this term.

The cadet training will be in charge of Victor Harshaw of the teaching staff, who is a captain with the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry of the non-permanent militia. F. W. Bunt and W. J. Wood, instructors for physical training, will assist.

Land Army Girls Do Valuable Work For Farmers in South Peel Area

Find City Girls No Harder to Train Than Men on Farm

Mrs. D. Walcot performed a great service to our country when she organized the land army, known as the Canadian Women's Service Force. She started with five girls and in two weeks increased the number to sixty. Mrs. Walcot starts out from Toronto with a moving van around 7 o'clock, taking the girls to the farms where help is required and she calls for the girls again at 5 p.m. and returns them to the city. These girls are serving farmers in Cooksville, Dixie, Erindale, and Clarkson.

The farmers are more than satisfied with the work of these willing young ladies. Mrs. Frank Tyers of Cooksville stated that a large part of their crops would have been wasted because male help is very scarce.

Another farmer, Mr. Eric Chudleigh, of Dixie, said "I'd rather have them than men. They're more reliable." On a check-up at various farms no owner criticised or was disappointed in hiring part of the recently formed army. Instead their parting remarks to the officer commanding, Mrs. Walcot, were proof of satisfaction. "Can you send me more girls to-morrow? They'll be needed."

Mr. Harry Byries, of Marigold farm, Clarkson, have loaned a house on their property for the duration of the war to accommodate girls working on their own and neighboring farms.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Langton are in charge of the girls and well pleased with the results. The abundant apple orchard makes an excellent training ground and the new farmhands are taught everything from the proper way to pick the fruit without bruising it, grading the apples into best, domestic and waste classes, and choosing the better of fallen fruit.

Mr. Langton honestly reported that many of the girls could not even tell one kind from another but they are no more difficult than men to train.

Eighteen girls are living in the house on Marigold farm and all the equipment taken with them was bedding. Earning anywhere from ten to thirty cents an hour, the workers pay no rent and at present the only expense is a dollar a week for food.

Other farms where the land army lives in small numbers or visits daily are owned by Mr. W. J. McIntyre, Flowerdown, Dixie; Mr. Don Pallett, Pleasant View Farm, Dixie; Mr. L. H. Pallett, Dixie Fruit Stand; Mr. E. R. Chudleigh, Dixie; Mr. Frank Tyers, Cooksville; Mrs. G. W. Laver, Cooksville; Mrs. J. O'Neil, Erindale; Mrs. Icenson and Mr. W. Lightfoot, Clarkson.

Port Credit Fire Brigade Stress Fire Prevention

PORT CREDIT.—Next week Port Credit Volunteer Fire Brigade will, with many other provincial village firefighting units, observe National Fire Protection Week throughout the country. This local brigade is one to be very proud of as it has given fine service in the past twelve years. Therefore, at a time when residents are being asked to aid the nation's firemen by recognising the importance of fire protection and all that the expression conveys, it is fitting that district residents acclaim the men who accept the responsibility entailed in protecting the village homes.

Organized in 1928, the Port Credit brigade is now entering upon its twelfth year of continuous service. Prior to the brigade's organization, Fred Selman, a local garage operator, provided protection to the area with a small truck of the "flivver" variety, which was equipped with small chemical tanks.

Realizing the need for more extensive apparatus, Hilton C. Thompson, then village reeve, brought the matter to council's attention. In March of 1928, William Newman was appointed village fire chief, with Mr. Thompson as his lieutenant, and a modern firetruck was purchased for the village. A few months later, the volunteer brigade, which now lists 20 members, was organized, and, after weeks of regular drill, rapidly established a name for itself through the district.

Enthusiastic in their work, which has developed from the standpoint of efficiency with the years, members of the brigade are ready for almost any emergency. Brigade heads have noted conditions which might be met in fighting fires at all the village's chief buildings and many larger residences, with the result that methods of coping with fires which might break out in these structures are planned in advance, ensuring the greatest possible speed and the minimum in confusion in extinguishing the blaze. Residents at this time join The Conservator in extending hearty congratulations to a capable group of men whose public spiritedness has given Port Credit a sense of security where fire protection is concerned.

Increase Savings Certificates

Red Cross Drive In Toronto Twp. In Full Swing

Canvassers Seek To Raise Sum of $6,200 in District

PORT CREDIT.—The drive for $5,000,000 by the Canadian Red Cross is still under way. The Toronto Township quota is $6,200 and many individuals are voluntarily canvassing the district in order to raise this amount. It is your business as much as theirs to see that the effort succeeds. Since hostilities began, not a week, not a day has passed without its lesson in the vital necessity of preparedness and the Red Cross cannot wait for moments of obvious urgency in which to appeal for aid. It must be ready beforehand and be able to act with centainly, with speed, in meeting every emergency.

Since the first war drive last September, $200,000 was given to the British Red Cross in cash; $100,000 to the British Navy League; $100,000 to the French Red Cross; $100,000 for food and other commodities purchased here for use by the British Red Cross; $150,000 for supplies from Canadian ports for the men of the navy; $750,000 for equipping a 600-bed hospital in England; $2,000,000 for material for making of all types of supplies; $725,000 for peace time work besides allocation of funds for services to prisoners of war and soldiers' and sailors' comforts, etc.

When you stop to consider the tremendous sacrifices which the people of the Motherland are making, apart from the great suffering, is a contribution to the Red Cross a very great hardship? Give generously and give now—tomorrow may be too late to save some hero's life. If you have not been canvassed, telephone Port Credit 2331, F. Taylor, or W. Leonard, Royal Bank, Cooksville, and someone will immediately call on you.

Golf, Bridge and Euchre Planned For Red Cross Benefit

ERINDALE — Mrs. Sweet is once again assisting the Erindale Branch of the Red Cross Society in planning a Red Cross Day at the Credit Valley Golf Club on Friday, October 11th. A golf tournament and bridge and euchre will be held in the afternoon, followed by tea. There will be square dancing in the evening and a lucky draw, the prize being a membership to the Club for next year. The music in the evening will be provided by Nick Georgs and his orchestra who are giving their services free. It is sincerely hoped by the Red Cross Branch that the attendance will be large.

Letters From Overseas

Iceland.

War Service Cheerio
Club Secretary,
Mrs. Bradley,
Port Credit.

Dear Mrs. Bradley:

Your welcome letter and parcel to hand. I am very thankful indeed for everything, it arrived safe and intact. I am sure I will have lots of use for the woollen goods up here in Iceland as we find the weather conditions much different from Canada. All we seem to get is rain, rain and more rain.

I will try and give you a general description of the country. There are no trees and there are miles and mile of lava rock from the volcanoes (which are now extinct), and very few paved roads. Most of the people live by fishing, and the language they speak is a nightmare to most of us.

We have several boys from Mimico, Lakeview, and vicinity in this district, but we have no means of entertainment so if you have any old mouth organs or concertinas or any thing that will make a noise, please send them along and we will pay the postage. We haven't heard a radio since we left Canada.

We are all very busy with our duties and we get good food and most of the boys are in the best of health, and spirits, but Iceland will never be a Canada.

I must close now so here's thanking you and all for your very useful parcel.

I am your faithfully,
SGT. T. NETTLETON.

Tuesday, Sept. 3, 1940.
ENGLAND.

Port Credit
War Service Cheerio Club.

Dear Friends:

Your grand parcel has arrived from Canada safe and sound. May I take this opportunity of thanking you from the bottom of my heart. It was so good of you to send it to me.

The socks were grand. It was good to put on a decent pair of socks that are not army issue. You can't imagine how I enjoyed that gum. It was heavenly to have a really honest Canuck "chew".

You folks back home are doing such a lot for the lads over here. All over Canada ladies are sending gifts to the Canucks here. Every day I meet Canadian troops from Halifax to Vancouver who are always talking of the parcels they get from home. It is a big day in our lives when the Canuck mail comes in.

I hope you got my last letter O.K. You folks in the Cheerio Club have been so grand to me. Thank you again very much.

Darn another raid. More later.
Same date.
Hello again.

Well that was very short and sweet, only 15 minutes. The raids are so frequent that they hardly ever bother to sound the sirens any more. Every day and nearly every night they come over. The longest raid I have ever been in was for 7 hours and was it ever cold that night. We nearly froze.

Anyway sleep is the most needed thing on the program.

Thanking you again.

I remain,
sincerely
NOBLE SPROULE, Lepl.

Mrs. Hewett asked for the yearly contribution of apples and other fruit to be sent to Christie Street Hospital for the Hallowe'en party. Mrs. Radsell reported an excellent response to the call for clothing to be sent to England. There were 271 articles, including 12 men's overcoats, 9 men's suits, 20 coats and vests, 60 sweaters, 23 ladies' coats, 22 knitted and cloth suits, 12 dresses, as well as jackets, scarves, bathing suits, gaiters and shoes. He said she expected free transportation from here to Montreal and reduced ocean rates.

Mrs. D. Terry and Miss Dickson were appointed delegates to the Toronto Area Convention in November. The president and secretary will attend the meeting for officers on Tuesday, November 5th, leaving the vice-president and assistant secretary in charge of the regular branch meeting on the same day.

It was regretable that a larger attendance was not present to hear Mrs. H Hunter, of Erindale, speak on the "Aliens in our midst". She was pleased with the good response there was to the roll call which had a bearing on the subject. Her talk was comprehensive though somewhat shortened for lack of time. She pointed out that the brotherhood of man as taught by the various religions was also supported by science; that the main divisions of color were an outcome of the effect of climatic conditions and that there was really no completely pure race, the Eskimo nearest approaching purity. Hence, the German claim of purity and superiority of race was ridiculous and it was that idea with its consequent cruelty and enslavement that we were fighting. So we must guard against considering ourselves superior to other races and color, but treat the foreigner as one of ourselves, with kindness and consideration. We must recognise their skill and their contributions to our civilization. It lies with us either to alienate foreigners into enemies or turn them into good citizens.

Air Training Plan — An Opinion

"I want to tell you the wonderful story of the part Canada is playing in the creation of this vast Air Training Plan, which is one of the greatest things that has ever happened in the British Empire . . . The British Commonwealth Air Training Plan . . . is the biggest single enterprise that Canada has ever undertaken". — Sir Evelyn Wrench, B.B.C. Broadcast, September 23.

Fire Prevention Week

The week of October 6th to October 12th has been set apart as Fire Prevention Week in Canada and the United States with a view to bringing before the minds of all people the great good which can be accomplished by care when fire might be a hazard. At this time of year especially, I would ask that all citizens, before starting the home heating plant, whether it be a stove or furnace, carefully inspect their chimney, the pipes and the fire box itself, and make any needed repair. Disastrous fires sometimes arise from the most insignificant cause. Nothing was ever more true in connection with fire than that old saying "Prevention is better than cure." Will you help?

M. H. THOMPSON,
Reeve.

Weddings

was decorated with pink gladioli. Miss Millie Jefferies played the wedding music. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin with sweetheart neckline and train. Her long white veil was caught with orange blossoms, and she carried deep red roses. The bride's attendants were Miss Dorothy Dilkes and Miss Edna Robbins, both wearing turquoise blue sheer over taffeta, with sweetheart necklines tied with pink bows. The attendants' hats were of pink and blue feathers. They carried colonial bouquets. Alfred Bayliss was the best man and John and Thomas Bayliss were ushers. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, with the bride's mother receiving in a gown of midnight blue sheer, with Briarcliffe roses. The groom's mother wore dusky rose crepe and the same flowers. For travelling the bride wore a dress and accessories of soldier blue, with a silver gray coat. After the wedding trip to Canadian cities the couple will live in Port Credit.

Symmes—Piddington

Rev. J. B. Paulin Saturday solemnized the marriage of Audrey Lorraine Piddington and Lieut. George Symmes, at Rosedale Presbyterian church, which was adorned with picardy gladioli, ferns and palms. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Piddington, Greenview Blvd., The Kingsway. Lieutenant Symmes, who is stationed at Camp Borden, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. L. Symmes. Carl Tapscott was at the organ. Mr. and Mrs. Symmes are summer residents of the Stavebank Road. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore gold ivory brocade, the gown having a draped bodice, long leg o' mutton sleeves, bouffant skirt and slight train. She wore a long veil which her mother wore at her wedding. It was fastened to the head with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of roses and bouvardia. Four attendants, Betty and Barbara Piddington, Patricia Symmes and Phillis Poynts, preceded the bride down the aisle to the altar. The maid of honor was in dusky coral and the bridesmaids were crystal blue silk jersey. The gowns had draped bodices, corsetted midriffs and full-draped skirts. All wore hats of shirred jersey with tulle bows. They carried bouquets of pink gladioli petals intertwined with blue delphinium. Stanley Bond attended the groom and ushering the guests were Bowden McLean, Hugh Neilson and Lieut. H. A. Fauquier. At a reception in the bride's home the bride's mother received the guests in tropical blue velvet gown with matching velvet hat and accessories with corsage of roses. The groom's mother, who also received, chose a velvet gown of garnet shade with corsage of rubrum lilies. Following a wedding trip to Northern Ontario the bridal couple will live in Barrie. For travelling, the bride donned a soldier blue wool dress, made on princess lines, brown mouton jacket and fur-trimmed soldier blue hat.

Fenwick—Derrington

Standards of pink and white gladioli interspersed with ferns formed the background in St. John's Anglican Church, West Toronto, for an early fall wedding on Saturday when Frances Rosetta Dorrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Dorrington, Toronto, became the bride of William Thomas Fenwick, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Fenwick of Burnhamthorpe. Rev. H. R. Hunt officiated. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white georgette, a long tulle veil caught in place with a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of Talisman roses, lilies-of-the-valley and fern. Miss Donna Dorrington, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore mauve taffeta, and the bridesmaids, Miss Betty Cox of Clarkson and Mrs. W. Cawdry, Toronto, sister of the bride, were gowned in pink lace. All wore matching heart-shaped hats and carried nosegays. Little Evelyn Reeves, Burnhamthorpe, cousin of the bride, in a dainty frock of pale green net over mauve taffeta, a matching heart-shaped hat and carrying a nosegay, made a charming flower girl. Russell Gill, Burnhamthorpe, was best man and the ushers were Fred Stanfield, Burnhamthorpe, and Walter Prewett, Elmbank. The wedding music was played by Mr. McDonald, Toronto, and during the signing of the register, Miss Glory Fenwick, sister of the groom, sang "Because". Miss Fenwick wore a becoming gown of pink sheer over taffeta with matching hat. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Dorrington received wearing a black flowered crepe dress with black hat and accessories and was assisted by the groom's mother who was attired in black lace over turquoise blue with black accessories. Both wore corsages of red roses. The young couple left later on a trip through Eastern Canada, the bride travelling in a wine crepe dress, wine hat and black accessories. On their return they will live in Clarkson.

SANDHILL

Miss Lolomi Bartlett, of Toronto, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Bartlett.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, who have been engaged at the Thomas McKee farm for several months are leaving the village to take a position elsewhere.

William Wilson Injured

Mr. William Wilson is confined to his home in a serious condition as the result of an accident which he met with Friday. While on a load of hay the horses started unexpectedly and threw Mr. Wilson to the ground. When medical aid was summoned it was discovered that he was suffering from several fractured ribs and other serious injuries. Owing to Mr. Wilson's advanced age it will be several days before he will be able to resume his duties about the farm.

Tested Recipes

The Fall Fruits

If the shelves in the fruit cupboard still seem rather empty, do not despair, for the store of home-made jams and jellies can yet be appreciably augmented. However, no time should be wasted in checking the supply on hand to decide what should still be made, for the season of fresh Canadian fruits, with apples the exception, will soon be over. The Consumer Section, Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, recommends the following tested recipes, which call for using fruits now on the market.

Cantaloupe and Peach Conserve

2 cups diced peaches
3 cups sugar
2 cups diced cantaloupe
2 oranges, juice and grated rind
½ cup blanched shredded almonds

Mix all the ingredients and cook until the mixture is thick and clear. Pour into sterilized glasses. When cold cover with hot paraffin.

Citron Preserve

Cut citron in ¼-inch slices—peel, remove seeds and cut in cubes. Cover with weak brine, allowing 1 teaspoon of salt to 1 quart of water and stand overnight. In the morning drain thoroughly, place over a very low fire and cook until tender. Allow 2 cups sugar and juice and rind of lemon to 6 cups of citron. Bring to a boil slowly. Cook until clear and seal in sterilized jars.

Grape Jelly

Use slightly under-ripe grapes, wash, place a layer in saucepan and mash well, then add more grapes and mash and set saucepan over hot water to draw out juices. Strain juice through double cheesecloth. Boil 10 minutes and add an equal proportion of heated sugar. Continue boiling until it reaches the jelly stage. Pour into hot sterilized glasses, cool, and seal.

Canned Tomato Juice

24 ripe tomatoes
2 tablespoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Wash and cut tomatoes, but do not peel. Cook very slowly for one-half hour in a covered pot. Press through a coarse sieve, extracting all pulp. Then through a fine sieve to remove seeds. Boil 5 minutes, covered. Seal in sterilized jars and process 5 minutes in a hot water bath or oven at 275° F.

With the object of providing an adequate supply of apples, plums and small fruits for home use, so far as possible within the farm unit, the development of small home orchards is a feature of the comprehensive work of the Illustration Stations Division of the Dominion Experimental Farms Service.

War Charities Fund Heading To $23,000 Committee At Work

Will Assist In Furnishing Long Branch And Malton Centres

Brampton's War the War Charities Fund last night reached a grand total of $22,222.27, with still further amount to come in to swell the total to over $23,000. During the past week donations totalling $266.50 have been received. The Sons of England Victory Drive proceeds have yet to be turned over to the committee, and as these are expected to be around $650.00, a total of $23,500 is practically assured.

At its meeting last night, the chairman, Mr. T. H. Moorehead, and the campaign chairman, J. H. C. Waite, released a statement of appreciation to the press, which is published elsewhere.

The committee decided to cooperate with the Legion War Services in furnishing the recreation hut at the Long Branch camp. Mr. Moorehead reported that he had been requested by R. C. Smith, in charge of recreation at the centre, to provide furnishings and that on Wednesday 32 chairs, 11 card tables, a rug, piano, radio, ping-pong table, chesterfield, couch and games had been sent to the camp through the courtesy of Mr. W. H. Calvert who provided a truck for that purpose.

Mr. and Mrs. Horwood, who have been interesting themselves in the recreational activities of the Malton Flying School, sought the assistance of the committee. The committee authorized the Salvation Army to continue with the work with the assurance of the committee's aid. The local Red Cross will be appealed to for all available sleeves and socks, and there is also a need for two footballs. Anyone wishing to help may phone Mrs. Horwood at 262. Darning and mending socks, and the provision of washing and ironing will also be gladly accepted. The recreation hut at Malton has been partially furnished by the government, and the committee will help in completing the furnishing.

The donations received during the past week are as follows:

Brampton Mayor Proud of Result

Citizens Have Right To Be Proud of Achievement He Says

As Mayor of Brampton I feel it my duty, and also my privilege to express, through the kindness of the press, my pride as Chief Magistrate of the town, in the magnificent response by the citizens of Brampton to the recent Consolidated War Charities Appeal. That the town should raise fully 50% more than the objective of $15,000 speaks volumes for the solidarity of the people of the town with the rest of Canada in the war effort.

Our citizens have every reason to be proud of the splendid accomplishment of that campaign, which will be an inspiration to communities throughout this part of Canada to go out and do their share.

The office of Mayor of Brampton is an office of which those who occupy it are very proud. Personally in my two years in office, I have never felt so proud of the town and of being its mayor, as in the achievement in this War Charities Campaign. I feel it incumbent upon me to thank every citizen of Brampton for the part they played in giving Brampton a high place among those towns, cities and communities who have done their bit in a noble cause.

If I might transpose on a little more space I would like also to tender my congratulations to the War the War Committee, the Campaign Committee and all who helped to make the drive such a distinguished success.

Yours very truly,
R. F. WORTHY,
Mayor.

Lead In Campaign

At 11.15 this morning Principal Martin of Brampton High School announced the standing of the leading salesgirls in the War Savings Certificate campaign, for the second period of the contest. The six leaders are Margaret Armstrong, Peggy Davis, June Hiscox, Eleanor Steen, Beth Wilkinson, and Muriel Yarranton. All have sold well over $200 worth of certificates. Other information on the contest appears on this page.

Brampton Public School pupils had a half holiday last Wednesday so that they might attend Brampton Fair.

APPOINTED PADRE

REV. T. W. F. G. ANDREWS

Pastor of St. Paul's United Church, Brampton, who was honoured by the Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon on Monday, on his appointment as a chaplain at the Military Training School at Newmarket. Mr. Andrews was presented with a travelling kit. He was also honoured by ministers of Brampton at a luncheon at the Golf Club. Mr. Andrews commences his new duties on Friday. Supply ministers will occupy St. Paul's pulpit for the time being.

War Committee Express Thanks

Says Appeal Result Reflects Great Credit On Brampton Citizens

The 1940 War Charities Appeal in Brampton has come to an end, and those of us charged with the responsibility of inaugurating the campaign, and seeing it through to a conclusion, are more than grateful for what the citizens of Brampton have done in sending the appeal over the top by more than 50%. The members of the War the War Committee, and of the Campaign Committee in particular, had every confidence from the outset that Brampton would face the difficult task placed before it, and would meet the objective despite the fact that the amount asked was greater than ever asked before.

They did not however, even in their most optimistic moments, believe that what has been achieved was possible of achievement. We believe that it proves one great fact about the people of Brampton, that they are overwhelmingly behind the nation's war effort, and completely in sympathy with those great organizations which seek to alleviate the suffering caused by the war.

To every citizen who subscribed to the fund, the War the War Committee and the Campaign Committee extend their grateful and sincere appreciations. Without the active co-operation of all citizens, the magnificent results achieved would not have been possible. To those who canvassed on behalf of the committee, to all groups who assisted in the campaign, and to the local press, is extended the committees' warmest thanks for their assistance and support.

The citizens of Brampton have responded in a manner which reflects tremendous credit upon them, and the committee expected [illegible] that they would indeed be remiss were they not to publicly express their gratitude and pay tribute to the spirit of patriotism and devotion which made possible the results attained.

T. H. MOOREHEAD,
Chairman, War the War Committe.

J. H. C. WAITE,
Campaign Committee, Chairman.

Canadians Terribly In Earnest In War Effort Financial Post Writer Finds On Inspection Trip

Kenneth Wilson Tells Lions Club of Way in Which Challenge Faced

The British Empire Air Training Scheme is the only part of Canada's war effort that may have a major influence on the outcome of the present war, Kenneth Wilson, associate editor of The Financial Post told a Lions Club audience at the Royal Hotel on Monday. Mr. Wilson's statement was taken from an article in the New York Times by Hanson Baldwin, perhaps the most penetrating war commentator in the United States. Mr. Baldwin was one of 25 American newspapermen who recently made a tour of Canada to see the war effort in action.

Through the eyes of these 25 men Mr. Wilson said, tens of millions of people will read and learn the facts and information on Canada's war effort. One newspaper represented, the New York News, has a weekly circulation of 2,000,000, and a Sunday circulation of 3,500,000.

Mr. Wilson represented the Financial Post on this same press trip, and he gave an unusually fine analysis of all that he saw. Joining the party at Ottawa Mr. Wilson had conferences with key men, cabinet ministers, and others engaged in Canada's wartime program. At Valcartier they saw the arsenal, the test pits for ammunition and the French Canadian soldiers in training. The tour took them to the century old citadel at Quebec, to Moncton, N.B., to Halifax and elsewhere, where the visiting newspapermen were given an opportunity to see first hand what Canada was doing as its share in the war.

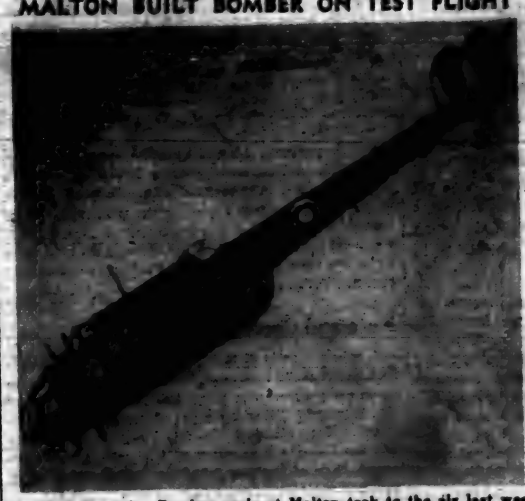
MALTON BUILT BOMBER ON TEST FLIGHT



The first Hampden Bomber made at Malton took to the air last week for test flights. The tests greatly exceeded expectations. The range of the machine, pictured on its test flight, is about three times the distance between London and Berlin—which sounds like business. It is supposed to do 265 miles an hour, with a four man crew and a ton of bombs. It did all of that—and better. The test was carried out by the famous Canadian test pilot, Red Lymburner.

Penny Bank Supplies Expense Irks School Board Chairman

War Time Nutrition Classes For Mothers To Start Shortly

Chairman O. T. Walker of the Public school board last night objected to the expenditure of money on supplies for the penny bank when pupils apparently received no benefit from it. "The school board spends between forty and fifty dollars a year on supplies for the bank, and the pupils don't even receive interest on their deposits," he declared. "I would rather see the pupils spending their money on War Savings Stamps."

Principal W. L. Bell of McHugh School explained that students first got interest on their money when one of the books was filled. "It encourages them to make regular deposits this way," he stated. "If the teachers handled the war savings stamps we might be able to distribute them better. As it is they can easily get them at the bank or the post office."

Chairman Walker suggested that an official of the penny bank scheduled to speak to the children yesterday morning, consult him before speaking to the children.

Trustee A. H. Milner urged the board to vote a small sum of money for prizes for the best essays or posters on Fire Prevention in observance of Fire Prevention Week. "Fires are usually due to the carelessness of parents in mislaying cigarette butts or in not cleaning furnace or stove pipes. One of the commonest causes of fires at this time of year is the burning of green wood. Getting the children to notice these habits and prevent them is one of the better ways to stop them. This is one of the most effective ways of getting the message across to the parents of the danger of fires."

Classes in War Time Nutrition will soon begin in the household science room of Central public school for mothers in the town of Brampton. "The classes will run as a series for eight weeks," explained Trustee Mrs. W. J. Hood. Miss Frances Dale and Mrs. Rena Mosley, who studied in Guelph this spring, will conduct the classes. "It is an opportunity for the parents to use the room built for the benefit of the town," declared Chairman O. T. Walker.

Principal H. F. Loughin of Central Public school showed the attractively bound loose leaf folders that students were buying for their own use. "The books are being bought at quite a reduction, and should be in the hands of all the pupils," he stated.

The health report showed that 171 children had undergone tests for diphtheria.

D. McLean Wins Colouring Test

Prize Winners Are Announced in Contest Held By Conservator

Dick McLean, 47 John Street, was the winner of The Conservator's colouring contest, conducted in connection with its exhibit at Brampton Fair last week. Dick is 12 years of age and is a pupil at McHugh Public School. He is fond of art. Dick wins the $2.50 first prize offered by The Conservator in the contest.

In second place came Harley Gowland, 7 Oak Road, who wins $1.50. Harley will shortly be 12, and attends Central Public School. Third place and a $1.00 prize goes to Bobby Steen of Meadowvale, who is aged 11 and attends S.S. No. 15 School in Toronto Township.

The judges, Miss Gladys Peacock of the Agricultural Office and Miss Irene Peacock, a Brampton public school teacher, pointed out that the three main prize-winners won out because of their attention to detail. They recognized, as few of the contestants did, that the press was constructed of both wood and iron, and their colouring showed the difference.

Twenty other children were awarded consolation prizes of passes to the Capitol Theatre. These prize-winners are: Robert Leslie, R.R. 4, Georgetown, Harvey Cooper, Brampton; Jean Cole, Brampton; Frances Armistead, R.R. 2, Norval; Ben Morens, no address; Ralph Gowland, Brampton; Helen Binsell, no address given; Betty Zimmer, Brampton; Shirley Hostrawser, R.R. 1, Malton; Bob Wedgewood, R.R. 1, Meadowvale; Dorothy Troyer, Huttonville; Bernice Hostrawser, R.R. 1, Malton; Mildred Jollymore, no address given; Stuart Puckering, Terra Cotta; George Greig, Brampton; Tommy Armistead, R.R. 2, Norval; Betty Savage, Brampton; Bruce Fraser, R.R. 2, Port Credit; Shirley Robertson, Brampton; Barry Cooper, no address given.

To the winners, The Conservator extends congratulations. Prizes may be secured by calling at The Conservator Office. To all those who entered, but did not win prizes, our congratulations on their fine efforts. The two judges had a difficult time going through the numerous entries and making their selections. The Conservator also wishes to express appreciation to the Misses Peacock for acting so ably as judges in the contest. For those who are not acquainted with the details, the contest was for colouring a picture of an early printing office. A display of some of the winning entries will be in The Conservator windows this week.

Local Students Sell Certificates Valued at $3,500

Local Girls Make Remarkable Showing In Past Three Weeks

Students of Brampton school have raised $3500 during the past three weeks of the War Savings certificates campaign. "Last week the pupils had $2000 and they have raised $500 during the past week," declared Principal T. W. Martin of Brampton High School.

The campaign has taken the form of a contest among high school girls throughout the country. Those standing first at the end of the periods which run for ten days are awarded prizes. Competition is keen and everyone awaits with anxiety the final decision of Ryland New of Oakville, district, chairman of the War Savings Certificates Committee. The contest is not limited to the individual girls of a high school but the girls compete with other students throughout the county.

Cheltenham Lad Has Appendix and Heart Wrong Side

Air Training School Finds Bill Watts Otherwise All O.K.

Bill Watts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Watts, Cheltenham, made the grade even if his "innards" are wrong way to. Bill appeared before the medical examiners at the Galt Aircraft School recently for examination. When they began to test his heart, something seemed to be wrong, and so they made a special examination, and this was what they found. First his heart was on the right side instead of the left. In fact they found everything inside, sort of inside out. Even his appendix, which we understand is some sort of a human oilcan located on the right side, was found to be on the left.

Despite these rather disquieting discoveries, the doctors found that Bill was sound in limb and body, and they've accepted him and he's now in training. It came as a bit of a surprise to his mother and dad at Cheltenham to know about Bill's peculiar insides, but they're not the least bit worried, because Bill has been accepted as absolutely O.K. physically and that should be sufficient assurance in itself. Bill at one time worked for the Charters Publishing Company, as did his brother Alvin, who is now employed at Malton.

St. Paul's Pastor Named Padre At Newmarket Camp

Rev. T. W. F. G. Andrews Honoured By Fellow Rotarians and Ministers

Chaplain during the last war at training camps at Niagara and Toronto, Rev. T. W. F. G. Andrews was appointed chaplain at the government training school at Newmarket. He will commence his new duties on Friday. He was given leave of absence from Brampton for a year and during his absence supply ministers will conduct the services.

On Monday at the weekly Rotary club luncheon, Rev. Andrews was honored by his fellow members who presented him with a travelling kit. A ministerial dinner attended by all the ministers and their wives was tendered him at the golf club this week. The dinner was to welcome Major and Mrs. W. E. Sanford of the Salvation Army and Rev. Father Thomas McCabe, pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, and also to bid good-bye to Rev. Andrews.

Lieut. G. R. Corkett Arrests Four Enemy Airmen in London

A Brampton boy, Lieut. George R. Corkett, son of Col. and Mrs. C. M. Corkett of Brampton, had the exciting experience recently of arresting four German aviators who had jumped from their planes when shot down over the British Isles. Lieut. Corkett has never mentioned a word of his exploit in letters to his parents, but this week Col. Corkett received a letter from an officer in England, with whom he served in the last war, giving some brief details of the affair. Lieut. Corkett was visiting this officer in London and calmly remarked, "I have to come to London to get some excitement. I've just got through arresting four German pilots who came down by parachute from their wrecked planes."

Mr. and Mrs. William Davidson, Mill Street, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Raine.

Former Ontario Hydro Secretary Died Friday At Streetsville Home

Major W. W. Pope Had Been Personal Friend Of Sir Adam Beck

Secretary of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario for 27 years, Major William Walter Pope, age 91, died at his home in Streetsville, Friday afternoon.

Connected with the legal department of the Grand Trunk Railway for more than a quarter of a century. He started with the Hydro Electric Commission in 1909 until his retirement in February of 1936. For many years in addition to his duties as secretary, he acted as solicitor and had everything to do with the legal work arising out of the relationship of the commission with the municipalities.

He served against the Fenian Raiders in 1866 with the Cookshire Cavalry of Quebec. He had to his credit a long service medal presented by the Canadian Militia and he also had another decoration—the medal of the Grand Lodge of the Masonic Order in honour of his 50 years' service to the order.

Born in Compton County, Quebec, January 4, 1850, his parents were descended from U.E.L. As a youth he worked with the old Boston, Clinton and Fitchburg railway and then engaged in the lumber business with his brother in Belleville. In this business he was in the west during the expansion of the railways from Lake Superior to Manitoba.

A personal friend and a close business associate of Sir Adam Beck, he had many and valuable recollections of the pioneering in Hydro.

Following his experiences in the West he returned to Belleville and in 1881 joined the legal department of the Grand Trunk Railway and later became assistant to the general counsel for the railway. Soon he was placed in charge of the claims branch of the department. There was much litigation, and Major Pope displayed remarkable astuteness in the preparation and handling of the railway's cases.

This training with the Grand Trunk was recognized by Sir Adam Beck as valuable when he was seeking a secretary and solicitor for the Hydro-Electric Power Commission. In October, 1909, Major Pope accepted the offer to join forces with Sir Adam.

While stationed in Belleville, Major Pope took an interest in municipal affairs, and was elected alderman. He enlisted with the 15th Regiment of militia and saw service in the Fenian Raid, 1866. He retired from the regiment in 1909 and was awarded the long service decoration.

He was an ardent sportsman, fond of fishing and hunting, and scarcely ever missed a fall in the bush, and was able to find time for bowling, curling and golf. He was a member of the Masonic order, and of the Canadian, Victoria and Royal Canadian Yacht clubs, a Conservative and an Anglican. He is survived by one son, Macaulay Pope.

Funeral services were held Monday from Streetsville Anglican Church and interment followed in the family plot at Belleville. Hydro officials present at the funeral were: Osborne S. Mitchell, secretary of the commission; R. T. Jeffery, chairman of the pension board; Fred A. Robertson, secretary of the pension board; W. G. Pierdon, chief accountant, and J. N. Wilson.

Queen Street East Residents Complain of Smoke Nuisance

Sheriff Hutchinson Says Washing Had to Be Done Three Times

A smoke nuisance on Queen Street East was aired at council Monday night, when Sheriff F. S. Hutchinson, on behalf of his neighbours and armed with exhibits, formally complained. The nuisance was created by the Brampton Knitting Mills, the council was informed. It seems that complaints have been registered from time to time with officials of the company, and on one occasion the Sheriff said one official had said "to hell with the neighbours."

Dr. Hutchinson told council that on some occasions his wife had to do the family washing three times in one week because of the dirt thrown out from this chimney. He exhibited a blanket taken from the line that day and covered with soot. In addition to the dirt there was an abnoxious smell, and it is worse now than ever, he complained. He charged that the chimney was not built to standard height, and that if this were done the nuisance would be remedied. Councillor Lawrence will see the head of the firm and an amicable settlement is expected.

Apart from this matter and the Mayor's criticism of a St. Catharines broadcaster, there was not a great deal on the agenda.

Letters were received from the Prime Minister's secretary acknowledging the council's resolution asking for free rides for soldiers, from the Fire Marshall asking for co-operation in Fire Prevention Week, and from the Dominion Tire and Chemical Company in Montreal offering their Brampton site for sale.

The Works Committee will look into a petition of Church St. East residents who want a stop sign placed at the corner of Beech Street.

The auditor's report was presented and a number of accounts passed. Council will give the voters a chance to decide whether the next council shall sit for one or two years. Council also learned that the Board of Education to be formed here next year will consist of seven members, four elected for two years, and three for one year. Future elections will see four and three elected for two-year periods.

Court of Revision was set for October 29th, at 8 p.m., and the Lions Club was given permission to hold its Mile of Pennies Campaign on October 19th.

Constabulary In Peel Given Test

Receive Sudden Call To Bolton to Test Rallying Ability

One hundred members of Peel Special constabulary gathered at Bolton Arena last night in the first mass gathering of the group. Individual centres have been training however for several months in their own communities. The meeting last night was a surprise to all of the members, for Major N. L. Powell, commanding officer, did not notify the members until an hour before the meeting. This was to ascertain how long it took individual groups to reach any part of Peel County.

Following the roll call a drill of the men was held and they were reviewed by Major Powell and Warden A. D. McBride. The Warden addressed the men and praised them for sacrificing their time for this special work. He praised the spirit of the farmers, who were particularly busy at this season of the year with crops and harvesting. He urged all the members to work in close harmony with the regular police officers in their community.

The special constabulary was formed early in the summer when it was not definitely known what steps were being taken to guard against sabotage and subversive activity in the county. The members of the constabulary were sworn in as special police officers by Judge Cochrane and are largely formed from ex-service men and responsible citizens in the community from 35 to 55 years of age.

Newspapermen Are Eyes of Millions Says Journalist

Through the eyes of newspapermen, tens of millions of people are able to read and learn the facts of Canada's war effort, Kenneth Wilson, Associate Editor of the Financial Post, told members of the Lions Club at Newspaper Night meeting on Monday night. Mr. Wilson, in one of the outstanding addresses heard at the club in the current year, gave a penetrating glimpse into Canada's war effort, which is reported elsewhere.

Referring to newspapers, Mr. Wilson said he was not particularly happy at first when Newspaper Week was announced. He did not like to see the newspapers adopt a week as there appeared to be too many special weeks now. But, he added, with the lights going out so tragically and fast, it is a good thing to pay tribute to one of the lights that was started 500 years ago this year, when Gutenburg created movable type.

Brampton, Mr. Wilson said, is to be congratulated on the quality and influence of its community newspapers. An example of this influence is seen in the magnificent results of your recent drive for funds for War Charities. As a weekly newspaperman himself, Mr. Wilson expressed a high regard for the weekly papers.

Today, he said, we have become largely headline readers, and he strongly advised that the habit of sitting down once a week to read the community paper be continued. Paying tribute to the weekly press of Canada, Mr. Wilson said that these newspapers are read by six million people, and that the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, to which both local newspapers belong, was a growing power and influence across Canada.

Referring briefly to the Class A Weeklies of Canada, a group of 39 of the larger newspapers, of which The Conservator is one, the speaker pointed out that they have a combined circulation of 115,000, serve a market of 650,000 people, with annual retail sales of $107,000,000, all in the small towns and rural areas. These figures, he added, are striking and important and show the importance of the weekly newspapers, and reflect the excellent work being done in this field by C. V. Charters, who is managing director of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

Mayor Objects to Statement Of St. Kitts Radiocaster

Brampton Council is somewhat irked by references to the town of Brampton, broadcast over CKTB, St. Catharines, by Rex Stimers, sports commentator. In fact the word "irked" hardly explains just how the council feels about the matter. Mayor Robert P. Worthy, whose son Jack is manager of the Excelsiors, brought the matter up in council Monday night. His Worship literally flayed the St. Kitt's radiocaster whom he charged "brays like an ass". The Mayor was referring to a recent broadcast in which Mr. Stimers spoke of Brampton's "small town" proclivities. I think, the Mayor added, if he knew how Brampton over-subscribed the War the War Fund by several thousand dollars he wouldn't call Brampton a small town.

"There is only one difference between Father Coughlin and that announcer," Reeve Bates acidly commented, "Father Coughlin has some brains."

Mayor Worthy charged that Stimers "blackguarded" the town over the air, and Councillor H. E. Lawrence recalled that at one time the Brampton team was stoned in St. Catharines. Councillor Harper Bull had his little say which went something like this. "I always understood that St. Catharines was a good place to dodge bear bottles."

So, should a copy of this newspaper come into the hands of Mr. Stimers, as it probably will, he'll have a very good idea of what Brampton Town Council thinks about him. Mr. Stimers didn't like the tomato throwing exhibition which took place here at one game, but local fans think he was much more unhappy that Brampton should dare beat St. Kitt's in one game of the finals.

Carry Your Registration Card

Every person in Canada of sixteen years and over is required to carry his or her registration card so as to have it ready for inspection if called upon. Some people are likely to make serious trouble for themselves if they neglect this precaution as failure to produce a certificate when demanded by an authorized official will render a person liable to penalty.

Canadians were called upon to answer in all eighteen questions, and when false or inaccurate information was given are liable to fine or imprisonment. It is learned that the intention is to make these penalties stiff enough to ensure complete enforcement of the act. Any person who was not registered at the time provided will be wise to take the matter up with the proper authorities at the first possible moment and have it corrected. Already the registration has proved useful in some cases in the identification of offenders against other laws.

Let Us Give Thanks

Monday next has been proclaimed the day of national thanksgiving. That it will be widely observed in holidaying there is little doubt. But there will be thousands who will, because of existing world conditions, employ it for the purpose for which it has been specially set apart. They will think of the suffering in Europe and especially in the Mother Land and will return thanks that the dominion has up to the present been spared corresponding suffering and death; they will recall with devout gratitude that the harvest, though delayed, has been a most bountiful one,—that our "garners are full and plenteous with all manner of stores; . . . that there is no leading into captivity and no complaining in our streets", and for those reasons thanks will be offered to the "Giver of every good and perfect gift". Thanks will also be given for the readiness, for the enthusiasm, with which our young men are offering themselves in the defence of their country and of all that Britain and her allies are contending for; they will not forget words of gratitude for the timely assistance being given by the United States. "God Bless America", of course, but especially God bless the men of Britain, whose leadership guarantees the maintenance of civilization and Christianity. We all have much for which to be thankful. Let us give thanks.

To Reorganize Conservatives

Work has begun on the reorganization of the Dominion Conservative Association. Those undertaking the task are John R. Macnicol, M.P., for Toronto-Davenport, the president of the old aggressive association; Frank Leonard, Hamilton, treasurer, and Miss J. E. Denison, of Ottawa, secretary. One of the names mentioned in connection with the permanent secretaryship is that of Gordon Graydon, M.P., Peel. Mr. Macnicol was instrumental in the organization of the Ontario Conservative Association which did splendid service in the campaign that resulted in the return to power of the party under Mr. Ferguson's leadership. He was also active in the formation of the dominion association of which he was, and continues to be, president. It is intended to build up a membership of 20,000 active men and women from the different parts of the dominion, to carry on a campaign that will result in uniting those who are favourable to the policy of the party and to bring it eventually into office. Already the 2,500 delegates who attended the convention at Ottawa in 1938 have been notified of the steps being taken and their co-operation solicited. Meetings are being arranged in the different provinces. The first is that of the New Brunswick Conservative Association at Fredericton, Oct. 8. The Nova Scotia Association meets the following day at Halifax, and the Prince Edward Island Association at Charlottetown, Oct. 19. The Saskatchewan Association plans to meet at Saskatoon, Oct. 22, and meetings in Manitoba and Alberta are expected to take place towards the end of October. The two recent leaders of the party, R. B. Bennett and R. J. Manion, were chosen at conventions held at Winnipeg and Ottawa. Following the last election, Dr. Manion retired. The present house leader is Hon. R. B. Hanson, who was chosen by the elected members. He holds the office temporarily. Already there are those who take the position that he has shown capacity as leader and should be encouraged to continue, but Mr. Macnicol and those associated with him are strong supporters of the policy adopted by both dominion and provincial associations, that of having the leader selected by a convention composed of the rank and file of the party. This course will, no doubt, be followed when the time comes to make a choice.

While the Conservative party is weak in membership in the House of Commons, it still has a strong following in the country. This was shown by the large proportion of the total vote recorded in its favor in the last election. The sentiment of the dominion is in favour of the two party system. It is, therefore, in the general interest of the country that the Conservative party should be restored to its former position of power and usefulness. The effort now under way will assist in bringing that about and should have the assistance of all those who are in sympathy with the policy of the party.

Financial Post Talks of Hogs

Discussing the nation's business, The Financial Post mentions some facts of interest to farmers of Ontario as well as to those of the Western provinces. They have to do with hogs, hog values and hog markets. "The price of hogs," says the writer, "is rapidly replacing the price of wheat as a barometer of farm prosperity in western Canada. Indeed, in the eastern half of the country, hog values have long been more important than wheat". After pointing out that the war has separated Great Britain from her normal markets, the article continues:

"No informed observer expects that hog-raising can completely replace wheat in our western economy. But it can help. And the present war makes such a transformation practical, as well as patriotic. It takes four to five pounds of grain to produce one pound of live, market-weight hog. A bacon hog ready for slaughter represents roughly an acre of grain. At current prices farmers are now making roughly twice as much money by feeding grain to hogs as could be made by marketing the grain direct.

"Britain has guaranteed Canada a market for a minimum of five million six hundred thousand pounds of bacon weekly, equivalent to 50,000 live hogs a week, or at least 50,000 acres of grain. Without considering maintenance of the necessary breeding stock our present export requires at least 2.5 million acres of grain to support it or an area equal to about 10% of our total wheat acreage.

"It is of the utmost importance to Canadian agriculture that the British bacon agreement is renewed. Every effort should be made to step up the volume accepted. We can, if necessary, double or treble the recent rate of exports. In doing so we can turn from two and a half to five million acres of unprofitable wheat into profitable hog feed. Moreover, if we do the job well, we can expect to hold this trade permanently after the war.

"Britain, with the experience of this war and the last, will assuredly endeavour to keep her sources of vital food within the protection of her own navy."

The importance of this question can not be overestimated. Wheat at 50 cents a bushel cannot be a profitable crop. The market is over supplied and the western storehouses are bulging with millions of bushels that cannot reach the seaboard. So, then, if a market for other products is available it would seem to be the most sensible thing to cultivate and supply that market as suggested above.

Note and Comment

A report was in circulation last week to the effect that the premier contemplated an election in Ontario at an early date. The story was promptly denied by Mr. Hepburn. There are eight vacancies in the legislature. They should all be filled before the session, and the Conservative party will be acting in the interest alike of the party and the province in seeing that the contests do not go by default.

Quite a little political talk has been going the rounds the past week. One of the stories heard where two or three Toronto Tories were gathered together was that at the next session of the legislature a redistribution bill will be introduced, that Toronto's thirteen members will be reduced to nine, and that other cities having a Tory majority will also suffer reductions. With the majority he now has it is difficult to see in what way Premier Hepburn would benefit politically by such an act. There are those who believe the present representation in the legislature could be reduced from 90 to 60 with considerable saving, but none of the parties are likely to favor such a drastic change.

An Ottawa despatch to The Telegram contains the statement that James Francis Franceschini, who has been in an internment camp for several weeks, is endeavouring to get out. Justice Hyndman is hearing the argument, and a leading Montreal lawyer is acting for the interned millionaire. "One of the witnesses who appeared in support of Franceschini was Premier Hepburn of Ontario," says the despatch. It has been frequently stated since he was taken into custody that the wealthy Italian had many political friends who would get him out of the prison camp. Few, if any, will believe that Premier Hepburn would do anything to aid in securing the freedom of this individual.

It is announced that Rev. A. J. Irwin, M.A., D.D., has resigned the secretaryship of the Ontario Temperance Federation, and that the office will be taken over by Rev. C. W. DeMille, M.A., who for 35 years has been in the ministry of the Methodist and United churches, and for the past seven years pastor of Parkdale congregation of the United Church. That he will be a worthy successor of a good man and an efficient officer goes without saying. Rev. Mr. Irwin was for 12 years secretary of the Federation. In those years he toiled earnestly in promoting the cause, and was at all times courteous and fair in all his utterances, both verbal and written. At the age of 18 he entered the ministry. That was 52 years ago. He deserves the rest he has so well earned. May he have health to enjoy it for many years.

Hon. W. M. Martin, administrator under the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, gave a warning to landlords during a rent-rate investigation at Barrie. "Tenants who are paying higher rentals than those in force at January 2, 1940, should not continue to do so," he said. During the investigation several reductions were ordered. It included a seven-roomed apartment from $40 to $35 per month; the figure at January 2 was $30; reduction to the January 2 level of the rent of a house which had been raised from $25 to $35; reduction from $30 to $25 per month for a house recently purchased for $2,100 cash. Owners of property declare they cannot make a profit, no matter how small, out of rented property, and renters declare with equal firmness that the rate of wages obtainable is not sufficient to enable them to pay present rates. And it is difficult to dispute the correctness of either contention. The result of the investigations in other places will be followed with interest by both landlords and renters.

Alexander D. McRain, chairman of the Foreign Exchange Board, in an address to the Advertising Sales Club of Toronto, made two important statements. The first: restricting of the travel of Canadians to the United States will save the dominion $75,000,000. The second: "The only persons who will be allowed to spend vacations in the southern states this winter, Mr. McRain said, are those who can produce a medical certificate that it is necessary for them to leave Canada for medical reasons. Under such conditions the Foreign Exchange Control Board will sell U.S. funds sufficient to permit him wintering in a warmer climate." Last year in the city of St. Petersburg alone between six hundred and seven hundred Canadians were registered, many of them for three and four months. Other cities had equal or larger numbers. It is a good guess that $1,000 did not cover the expenses of a majority of those enjoying an extended visit. Better keep the money in Canada, except by those whose health requires the warmer climate.

OTHER OPINIONS

Warning to Tire Fixers

The practice of changing tires on the travelled portion of main highways has become too frequent. That in itself is a highly dangerous practice but it frequently happens that the person changing the tire, or a helper, passes around the back of the vehicle to obliterate the light for a few moments. With oncoming cars travelling 50 miles an hour, all sorts of things can happen in those few moments.—Ottawa Journal.

Keep Credit Good

In these days, when one is called upon to meet so many financial obligations, one of our first objectives should be to maintain friendly relations with our creditors. Quite often, when money is scarce, some people are inclined to pay little or no attention to accounts which they receive from business men with whom they have contracted debts. This is not honest—moreover, it is injuring your credit, which at some future time you may wish to make use of.—Oshawa Times.

Word to Brides

Proposals made by an English vicar that brides be required to prove at least an elementary knowledge of cookery before marriage are not as radical as they seem at first glance. After all, in marriage, each party has certain obligations. The man who undertakes the responsibilities of marriage without the requisite skill or knowledge to make a living for his wife is looked upon as a poor sort. There is just as much of a duty devolving on the bride to be prepared to uphold her end of the bargain.—Windsor Star.

How Did He Do It?

A friend with a flair for juggling figures produced this one the other day: "Put down the number of your living brothers. Multiply it by two. Add three. Multiply the result by five. Add the number of living sisters. Multiply the result by 10. Add the number of dead brothers and sisters. Subtract one hundred and fifty from the result." We did it. "Now," said the friend with a smile, "the right hand figure will be the number of deaths, the middle figure the number of living sisters, and the left hand figure the number of living brothers." And so it was.—Forest Standard.

Try It Here

Do you ever set out for an afternoon's drive on a week-end or holiday and wonder where to go? So often the familiar highways become too familiar. You seek a change, but perhaps have neither the time nor the inclination to travel far. When that mood is upon you, try a drive nearer home. Drive around town; visit those streets you haven't seen for years; try going up and down some of those streets which were always a little bit off your beaten path. You will improve your knowledge of local geography, and will be surprised at the changes which the years have brought. — Halifax Chronicle.

Evacuation Suspended

Evacuation of children to North America under the government-sponsored plan has been abandoned, for the time being at any rate, because of the danger of winter sea travel in submarine-infested waters. According to London, only 2,650 have been sent overseas by the government. The total evacuations to Canada and the United States under both government and private auspices have apparently been in the neighborhood of 9,000, of whom 7,000 came to Canada. Under private auspices children will still come. But the total will indeed be a small proportion of those who are in peril in Britain, where, in the United Kingdom and Northern Ireland, there are about 10,500,000 of 15 years and under. —The Star.

Turn of the Century

A Review of what was happening in Peel County 40 years ago from Conservator Fyles

From The Conservator of Oct. 9 and Oct. 12, 1900.

The date of the Federal elections was set for Nov. 7. Sir Wilfred Laurier who had been in power for four years will go to the polls again with his government. Nominations will be held as usual the week before, Oct. 31.

Charles Shook, proprietor of Credit Roller Mills, at Erindale, suffered an accident last week when his arm became entangled in the machinery. He was on night duty and his cries were not heard over the din of the machinery. He was freed at six o'clock in the morning and rushed to medical aid. Amputation below the elbow was necessary. His coat sleeve caught about the upper part of his arm acting as a tourniquet.

The residence of Councillor David Cook, near Ballinafad, was entered the other night and $55 in cash, a gold watch, two gold chains and a quantity of jewelry taken. The thieves have not been apprehended as yet.

Cooksville fair will be held tomorrow, the 10th.

Mr. Fetherston, Liberal M.P. for Peel, will again contest the seat. He will be opposed by the Conservative, Mr. Blain.

Anniversay services were held in Nortonville's Mt. Olivet Church last Sunday. Guest preacher was Rev. Mr. Cassin, of Toronto.

Mr. Blain will speak at Churchville, Port Credit and Mono Road this week-end. A good attendance is expected.

W. F. Seymour, former teacher of Orangeville High School, shot himself at the home of sister at Madoc, on Wednesday. He was employed lately as a teacher in Toronto.

THANKSGIVING

When the frost has seared the fol'age and the harvest days are gone,
And the autumn winds are tempered with a chill,
When the old corn crib is busting with its load of yellow grain,
And the hay is mowed from rafter down to sill;
When the granary bins are groaning with their heaps of garnered grain,
And the root house wouldn't hold another bit,
When the silo's full of fodder and the straw is cut and stored,
And the winter's wood is hauled and cut and split;
When the cellar's full of apples, and the meat house hangs with meat,
And you have a barrel of cider, too, as well,
And you've ducks and geese and chickens, and fat cattle, sheep and hogs,
And a lot of other things you hope to sell;
Then your heart fills up with gladness and keeps running o'er with joy,
When you think of all these gifts at your command,
And you bow your head in meekness and most gratefully you sing:
"Oh THANKSGIVING FOR THESE BOUNTIES OF THE LORD!"

Weather Affects Attendance At Streetsville Annual Fair

STREETSVILLE.—Less than a thousand exhibitors and spectators took part in the annual fair held here last Wednesday and Thursday by Toronto Township Agricultural Society. The decrease in attendance was largely due to weather conditions which necessitated later threshing.

Fewer entries were registered in the horse classes, although other classes were better filled than other years. An interesting feature of the fair was the auctioning of vegetables from an agricultural float built by students of S.S. 3, Esquesing Township. The funds derived from the auction were handed over to the school's supplementary equipment fund.

Among the prize winners were:

Letters To The Editor

Editor's Note: The Conservator has been in receipt of several anonymous letters lately for publication in The Conservator. This newspaper cannot undertake to publish letters unless the writer's name is divulged to the editor. This is not necessary for publication but as a matter of good faith. A pen name may be used.

Editor The Conservator.

Dear Sir:

I have been reading articles recently in the local papers about the weekly papers supporting every activity in the town it represents. Our papers are to be commended on the splendid way they promoted the War Charities drive. They have, however, failed to support an organization which could have gotten much publicity for Brampton as well as they might have. I mean the lacrosse team. I did not see big writeups when our team won a game, or pictures; in fact it looked to me as if you were trying to make the writeups as brief as possible. If the papers had supported the lacrosse team as they could no doubt we would have gotten larger and more enthusiastic crowds at our games and our lacrosse team would have been again in the limelight. If we have a team next year I would suggest that the papers get right behind it and make it a success.

Yours very truly,
ANONYMOUS.

(Editor's Note: While we do not wish to enter into any controversy with the writer of this letter, in his enthusiasm as a lacrosse fan he has apparently overlooked what The Conservator has done for lacrosse this season. During the current season The Conservator had a total of 48 lacrosse stories in this newspaper, taking up a total of 484 inches of space, or 23 columns. This is more space than has been devoted to any other single interest in the town, and we feel with the multiplicity of interests in a county as large as Peel, The Conservator has more than played the game with the lacrosse team. It is well known that executives of this company and employees have long been identified with lacrosse and have always done their share to promote the game in Brampton. With regard to the question of attendance, we are given to understand that Brampton fans turned out in larger numbers than St. Catharines fans, despite the fact St. Catharines is a city. True, not many pictures have appeared, but our photographer has been on hand many times, but due to the very apparent difficulties of taking action shots with a camera not particularly suited to the purpose, many pictures were taken but were not suitable for reproduction in the newspaper. We hope that these figures, which the writer of the letter may check for himself, will serve to enlighten sports fans generally on this subject of newspaper support.)

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 6, 1940.

Editor The Conservator.

Dear Sir:

It was with considerable annoyance that I read the letter of "Peel Farmer" in last week's issue.

I wonder if that farmer stopped to think that the merchants and their employees work on an average of sixty-five hours every week, from eight o'clock in the morning till six-thirty at night and then Friday and Saturday nights to convenience him.

Did he consider just how much of the sunshine and fresh air that a man gets who works those hours inside? For a farmer who enjoys so much of these things, he shows very little consideration for one who misses them.

For fifty weeks in the year this man can do his shopping on other than a Wednesday afternoon and manage to live, but this particular spirit of the grim earnestness and determination in the Canadian people. Mr. Wilson quoted many phrases used by the U.S. newspapermen on their return to their own country. Among them were the following:

United States Comment

—Terribly in earnest.
—Spirited determination as opposed to enthusiasm.
—A war effort that is solid but not flamboyant.
—Unitedly and aggressively determined.
—Oneness, eagerness, willingness.
—Without emotional appeal a gigantic task is being tackled and with united effort it is being completed cog by cog ahead of schedule.
—Canada is terribly eager despite lack of flagwaving or group enthusiasm.
—An energized nation gaining momentum.
—A throbbing arsenal operated by a united people.
—The multiplying signs of individual sacrifice are the indicators of the national will.

Perhaps the most important comment, Mr. Wilson said, was that by Hanson Baldwin, war correspondent of the New York Times. He emphasized that Canada was terribly lacking in weapons of war, which was partially due to aid being sent to the United Kingdom, and partially due to the time lag in preparing for mechanized warfare.

Mr. Hanson also stressed the point that Canada was eight to twelve months short of being a major factor in the war. He thought the air training plan the only part of our effort that may have a major influence on the outcome of the war. He believed it terribly important that it be speeded up even further, and expressed disappointment that it would not reach its peak by spring, when he expected "all hell to break loose" in Europe.

The Training Plan

Several commentators had little use for the military training plan. One wrote that it looked too much like 1918, and not enough like 1940, while another described the draft as "conscription sabotaged by political expediency."

From the comments of these experts and journalists, two urgent needs emerge for Canadians to study. First there is a need for better planning and co-ordination of our war effort at the top, and second a need for more inspirational leadership, the speaker contended.

As examples, Mr. Wilson said that it was unthinkable that the air training plan and aircraft production should be hampered by a secondary program such as the 30 day draft. He expressed the thought that there was a definite need for an inner war cabinet, relieved of departmental duties, and that Canadians must be prepared to make much greater personal sacrifices in the near future.

The speaker expressed the conviction that labour control, consumer spending control, and the abolition of new models of cars, refrigerators and radios for the duration of the war were forthcoming. These changes will be accomplished more easily and effectively if our grim determination is supported and strengthened by what has so far been largely lacking—the Churchill touch.

I for one, Mr. Wilson said, have confidence that an answer will be found to these and other, war problems, because our newspapers despite war censorship, still practice and hold to courage, truth, and community service. Mr. Wilson concluded his exceptionally informative address with a quotation from Wendell Willkie, U.S. Republican presidential candidate: "News, accurate and unbiased, is the daily bread upon which democracy feeds. Freedom of the press is the staff of life for an vital democracy. So long as it remains true that our press is free so long will our democracy survive."

Mr. Wilson was introduced by Lion Bert Mortlock, and Lion Bert Hiscox expressed the club's appreciation. Among the guests were Joe Paul and Paul L. Fox of The Conservator staff, J. O. Adams and Miss Edith Stockdale of The Gazette staff, Fred Wilcox, Mr. G. R. Bartlett who rendered two splendid vocal numbers and Miss Dorothy Elston who accompanied her.

President Ed Cappe presided, and the club decided to hold its annual mile of pennies campaign on October 19th, in aid of the child welfare fund.

HARRISON'S

The young people of Harrison United church held their first meeting of the season at the parsonage, when the president and other officers were elected. Miss Beatrice Sanderson was elected president, and Miss Vera Gibbs and Miss Mildred Sullivan, vice-president and secretary-treasurer respectively. The group decided to hold a weiner roast on Monday, October 14, at the home of Miss Harold Nixon.

Next week we will have a regular meeting, but on Monday, Oct. 21, the Union has been given W. A. Robinson's cottage at Forks of the Credit. An outdoor weiner roast is being planned for that night. Noted Preacher At Presbyterian Church Sunday

Diamond Jubilee Services Will Reach Climax This Week-End

The diamond jubilee anniversary services in Brampton Presbyterian church are being held on thanksgiving Sunday, October 13. It is expected that the holiday week-end will enable many former members who live at a distance to attend these special services. The anniversary preacher will be the Rev. Alfred T. Barr, Ph.D., of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Peterborough, one of the foremost young people's preachers in the Presbyterian church. Dr. Barr's morning subject will be "The Church and the War" and in the evening, "The Divine Fire in War-time".

Miss Nellie Smith, L.R.A.M., contralto, of Toronto, will be the guest soloist at the evening service. Miss Smith recently appeared on the program at the dedicatory recital of the memorial organ and greatly delighted the audience with her singing. On that occasion steps were immediately taken to secure her services for the anniversary evening service.

The choir under Mr. John Hodgins will sing the introit, "To Thee O Lord" by Rachmaninoff at the morning service, and the anthem, "Hymn to the Trinity" by Tchaikovsky. Soloist at the morning service, Mr. G. R. Copeland, will sing, "The Lord Is My Shepherd" by Liddle. At the evening service the double trio will sing "Dearest Lord Jesu" by Bach, and the choir will sing "Brother James Air" (Marosa). Miss Nellie Smith will sing two solos.

On Tuesday evening, October 15, the Women's Association will serve a chicken dinner at the church hall from 6 to 8.30. Following the supper, at 8.30, a program will be presented at which former ministers and others will speak and the presentation of special leather-bound copies of the church history to senior members will be made to the senior members and the former ministers of the church.

Executive Members Of Peel and Dufferin Presbyterial Meet

The Prebyterial Executive of the United Church for Dufferin and Peel met on Tuesday October 1st at the home of Mrs. Snyder, Bolton Ontario.

Mrs. Brett of Brampton presided over the meeting in a very efficient manner. The new nominating committee appointed were: Mrs. A. Grigg, Orangeville; Mrs. Graham Kearns, Orangeville; Mrs. George Mountford, Camilla; Mrs. R. J. Cranston, Caledon East; Mrs. Wm. Langtree, Laurel; Mrs. Jas. Bruce, Grand Valley; Mrs. Wm. Duke, Mono Mills.

It was with regret that the Executive accepted the resignation of Mrs. McArthur of Brampton, who is ill. Suggestions were made for a leader to take her place as Secretary of Mission Circles and it is expected that one will be found in the near future.

It was decided to withdraw the sectional meetings this fall and to secure a missionary speaker in the spring to go around through the district.

Mention was made in regard to the packing of the bales and appreciation was felt for those who have done it for so many years as in the case of Grace Church, Brampton. This work has now been taken over by St. Paul's Church, Brampton, and all the societies are asked to send their bales there.

In the afternoon, Mrs. Wanless of Inglewood led in the worship service, which was on prayer.

Mrs. Graham Kearns of Orangeville, gave a splendid report on the Toronto Conference Branch meeting, which was held in the spring. One of the important messages that she brought back was the seven capital P's which make a successful meeting: 1, Prayer; 2, Preparation; 3, Promptness; 4, Patience; 5, Politeness; 6, Perseverance; 7, Pep.

The leaders sincerely hope that the members keep up the good work. This is no time to retrench, but rather go forward, so let each one of us try to do just a little bit more than we have been doing.

Grace United church, through its war-time service committee were hosts to twenty-five pilots in training at the elementary flying school, Malton, for seven o'clock dinner, Tuesday evening in the church rooms.

A group of ladies convened by Mrs. J. E. Houck left nothing to be desired in the way of a repast which brought numerous expressions of approval from the "boys". W. E. Capps led in a hearty sing-song. A feature of the evening proved to be coloured motion pictures produced and shown by Roy Jordison. Dr. O. T. Walker headed the transportation committee and Mrs. D. M. Dickson, program arrangements. The Grace war-time service committee was organized last December with Judge Cochrane as chairman. Mrs. Gordon Graydon is the active secretary of the committee.

CHRIST CHURCH
Young Men's BIBLE CLASS
Meets Each Sunday At 2 P.M.

Last Sunday's session was unique in some respects, and was probably the first time that the class has ever sung hymns to music provided by a piano accordeon. Due to the power being off, it was not possible to use the church organ, so Earl Bunton kindly filled the role of accompanist with his accordeon.

Very shortly the class will be drawn up into teams and a competition in attendance started. The losing team will banquet the remaining teams at the end of the season.

President Fred Bacon has suggested that a box be placed in the church where members may drop their odd coppers on Sunday afternoons. The money raised in this way will be used to send cigarettes and other comforts to members of the class now in the C.A.S.F.

The class was glad to welcome on Sunday another member now on active service, Pte. Gordon Reid of the Royal Regiment, Montreal. Gordon was a regular and loyal attendant before enlistment. Another guest was Ted Conover's classmate at O.A.C., Guelph.

The address on Sunday was on the topic, "Making the best of a Bad Mess". The service followed the form for Harvest Festival and special harvest hymns were sung, and harvest psalm and scripture lesson read.

With the approach of winter, the class is looking forward to a steadily increasing attendance each Sunday. The peak for the pre-summer season hasn't been touched so far this fall.

Peel Deanery Young People's Corporate Communion Monday

Young People of the Deanery of Peel, of the Church of England are to gather in Brampton on Thanksgiving morning for their annual Deanery corporate communion. The service, scheduled for 8.30 a.m. will be conducted by Rev. Canon R. W. Allen, rector of Christ Church, who will be assisted by other clergy of the Deanery. The service will be followed by a breakfast in the church hall, when one of the outstanding preachers in the Anglican church, Rev. G. N. Luxton of Grace Church on the Hill, Toronto, will be guest speaker. It is expected that about 125 will attend the service and breakfast.

Next Tuesday the annual rally of men of the Deanery is to be held in St. Margaret's Church, New Toronto at 8 p.m. Notices to this effect have been sent out by Rev. T. J. Dew, rural dean, and Rev. E. S. Ottley, secretary. The guest speaker will be Rev. Principal Ramsay Armitage of Wycliffe College. The election of officers will be another feature of the gathering, and instead of the usual banquet, refreshments will be served at the close of the program.

CHRIST CHURCH
A.Y.P.A.

Monday evening was the first regular meeting of the group and opened in the usual way with hymn and prayer and a short devotional period conducted by the convener, Ethel Bacon.

Norm. Hollies and Rena Giles are calling for volunteer workers to help in connection with the corporate communion and breakfast being served afterwards by the members of our A.Y.P.A. As many members as possible are asked to meet in the schoolroom on Sunday evening after church, to do the bidding of convener Rena. There is no need to remind you that to feed 125 hungry young people on thanksgiving morn is a mighty big job, and that many hands will make the work that much lighter. Please call Rena at once and offer your services.

Suggestions for a Hallows'en program were asked for and requested to be brought on the 21st. The branch's objective towards the Dominion A.Y.P.A. ambulance fund was reached, and it is with satisfaction and pride that the cheque is despatched to the A.Y. office in Toronto. Mention was made of the provincial conference being held at Ottawa on October 17-20, and possible delegates from Brampton will be Florrie Clifford, Mrs. Mary Clifford, Norm Hollies, Charles Guy (if he can get 'leave') and Fred Clifford.

The new program committee presented its first program in the form of a treasure hunt, dividing the attendance into two groups. Where they didn't go around the town wasn't worth going to! Over stepping stones, under fences and through fields they went, finally winding up at the schoolroom where the first group "home" was named winner and presented with a basket of apples. Group two returned eventually to find a few cores as their reward! However, a few extras were unearthed for them, and they all had a walking, munching good time!

See you all Sunday evening!

GRACE W. M. S.

The October meeting of Grace United church W.M.S. was held Thursday, Oct. 3. During the business period, Mrs. R. J. Brett gave a report of the executive meeting of the Peel and Dufferin Presbyterial.

Mrs. J. E. Cooper presided over the remainder of the meeting and led in a thanksgiving worship service. Miss Emma McClure presented the Stewardship message and Mrs. Roy Ferguson rendered a piano solo. "Comrades In The World Church", the new study book, was introduced, and the first two chapters covered by Mrs. F. W. Richardson. Mrs. W. A. Nelson moved a vote of appreciation to those who helped make the meeting so enjoyable.

Harvest Festival Services Sunday At Christ Church

Toronto Preachers Occupy Pulpit For Special Services

Splendid congregations, inspiring sermons, and appropriate music by the choir, combined on Sunday to make the annual Harvest Festival services at Christ Church a fine success. The church was beautifully decorated with products of the field, garden and orchard, which had been tastefully arranged by the ladies of the Chancel Guild.

At the morning service the guest preacher was Rev. Canon Leonard A. Dixon, Secretary of the Missionary Society of the Church in Canada. Dr. Dixon delivered a splendid sermon from the text "O give thanks unto the Lord for he is good. His mercy endureth for ever."

Last spring, during Rogation Days, Dr. Dixon said, we prayed for the success of the seed time, and today we are giving thanks for God's gracious goodness in answering our prayers. The decorations in the church should remind us of several things, he added.

First, they should remind us of all God's goodness to us. We need to remind ourselves that we in Canada are very fortunate. But there are other blessings to remind ourselves of besids those displayed in the church. There are also the crops of the rivers, the lakes and the seas, the amazing resources in water power, the healthy invigorating, and stimulating climate, the forests and the mines. We need to remind ourselves of the civil liberties we enjoy, and of all the wider gifts that He has showered upon us in this Dominion.

Secondly, these products of the land should remind us of our utter dependence upon God. The farmer may select the grain with the greatest care, but he has to stand back and let God do the work. And this is true, Dr. Dixon added, all the way through life. The dean of St. Paul's Cathedral in London recently used a slogan which is being widely accepted in England. "It all depends on me, and I depend on God."

The third thing to remember, the speaker said, was that all good things in life come from God, and the fourth thing is to remember that all we have we have as gifts from God, and that therefore we are stewards and responsible for the right use of what is given to us.

At the evening service the guest speaker was Rev. R. L. Seaborn, curate at St. James' Cathedral, Toronto, who spoke from the text, "And thou shalt rejoice before the Lord thy God."

Thanksgiving, Mr. Seaborn said, was featured throughout the bible. The theme recurring through the Christian year, is that of thanksgiving. At Christmas there is thanksgiving for the birth of Christ, on Good Friday for his sacrifice, on Easter for his Resurrection, and on Whitsunday for the gift of the Holy Spirit. It is no accident, he added, that the central feature of Christian worship is the Holy Communion service, which is a service of thanksgiving. Christians must learn to habitually look about them and thank God for every good thing, the speaker said. At harvest time we recognise God's work in the production of our food, but we should remember every day that God is providing for us. We can never earn the right to all this goodness, but we can give thanks for it.

Rev. Canon Allen conducted the services, while the choir was under the direction of M. A. Peck, with Mrs. W. E. Glenney at the organ. At the morning service the choir rendered the anthem, "Sing to the Lord of Harvest" while the evening selection was, "Ye shall dwell in the Land."

Red Cross Notes

At the present time refugee sewing and knitting is most important. Thursday and Friday afternoons have now been given over to this work by the ladies of the Red Cross. A quota for Brampton has been sent from headquarters, and this is to be turned in by December 1st. The ladies would be glad to have more help on these afternoons.

Some of the younger ladies undertook during the summer to serve tea, cookies and cold drinks at the work rooms for a minimum price of 5 cents. After taking out the cost the balance was for Red Cross work. So far, The Conservator is informed, these ladies have turned in $13.57 from this source.

A donation received some time ago, but for some unknown reason not previously acknowledged, was one of $5.00 from Mrs. J. T. Townrow.

On Saturday a group of youngsters held a very successful circus in Donald Charters' backyard on Peel Avenue. There was a large attendance and the proceeds, which were turned in to the Red Cross, amounted to $11.22. The youngsters had all sorts of ingenious ways of raising money, and they had lots of fun into the bargain. They want to thank all the other children who attended and made possible the success of the affair. The "P. T. Barnums" who staged the circus were John Wilson, Dick Boyle, T. D. Melhuish, Ted Andrews, Tom McGonigle, Bill Lawrence and Donald Charters.

Bride and Groom Meet Trouble But Wedding Goes On

Dan Cupid will not be deterred by a chapter of accidents. Bertha Carberry, of Coleraine, and Russell McKechnie, of Malton, were married last Saturday afternoon in St. John's Anglican church, Castlemore, although the bride appeared with her arm in a sling.

It all happened this way. The other day while rushing about making preparations for a trousseau tea, the bride-elect fell on the stairs in her own home and broke her arm, but that was only the beginning of a series of mishaps. The father of Mrs. Wilson, who was to be organist at the wedding, fell from the top of a loaded farm wagon near his home in Macville, and was severely injured, and for a while it was thought that Mrs. Wilson would not able to attend the wedding. Even this was not enough for a persistent little demon which seems to be making things difficult. On the day of a community shower in honor of the bridal couple at Clairsville hall, the groom-elect fell while at work and it was feared he had suffered broken ribs. In spite of all the mishaps the wedding proceeded as [illegible]

Manufacturing Facial Tissues 100% Canadian

Plant of National Cellulose Company Running 24 Hous Daily

The National Cellulose Co. of Canada Limited, located on Weston Road on the boundary between Weston and Mount Dennis, are the only manufacturers of Facial Tissues from the raw materials to the finished product, in the British Empire. All raw materials used are 100 per cent Canadian. The plant has a large output and is one of the assets of the community.

To understand exactly the amount of tissue turned out each day at the National Cellulose plant, consider this—If you were to stand steadily pulling on a ten-foot wide roll of this tissue as it comes off the rollers and started walking, at the end of 24 hours you would be seven miles west of the city of Brantford. In other words, National Cellulose turns out 70 miles of facial tissue, 10 feet wide, daily.

Mr. W. S. Gibson has surrounded himself with a capable staff and he, with his product, is 100 per cent Canadian, and doing all in his power to carry on as one of the Empire's manufacturers supplying the needs of our people in a great crisis.

● JIM BURROWS, Queen street cent tobacconist, a broom and a large rat provided homeward bound workers with a brief period of excitement yesterday afternoon. Just where the rat came from we wouldn't know as squint arrived in time to see its sudden demise. Especially thrilled (?) were two young ladies who were forced to stop and dismount from their bicycles to give Jim room to swing his broom. From the energetic way in which Jim disposed of the rodent you would almost think that its name was Adolph. Still it was pretty good practise with the hunting season so near at hand.

A rat scurried up Queen street east,
And the caught a glimpse of the beast;
To be grabbed by a broom,
And the rat met his doom,
And somebody's cat had a feast.

—squint—

● CARS may come and cars may go—Will some go on forever? This question is being asked particularly since "Tessy" came to town. Now "Tessy" is a car, named after considerable thought and discussion by her proud owners. Owners, yes, there are many. In fact its one of the largest and most complete combines ever formed. Well, who owns "Tessy"? That's the question. As near as we are able to ascertain the owners are Messrs. Lent, Moorehead, McClure, McArter, Carter, Randle and McCracken, plus anyone, who at anytime liquidates sufficient cash to buy gas, 'cause "Tessy" won't go unless properly primed. If you should have your hand on the steering gear at sundown it would be your duty to call for all members of the combine and pick them up in time to be delivered to Brampton high school by 9 a.m. the next morning. Many of the girls are very fond of "Tessy" and as a matter of fact have waxed poetic on the many fine qualities of this piece of mechanism. There has been no title given the poem, but it has been suggested that "Tessy the Terrific" would be suitable. The "pome" below was written by the two Bees and is published by permission of the copyright owners. If you wish to use it any time you may do so by writing "The Two Bees", care of the "Four Bees", care of this paper.

"TESSIE THE TERRIFIC"

The boys have a car,
They call her Tess;
She's much to look at Unless
On the high school crest
Upon her side
While the boys' hearts
With the greatest pride.

For the first few days,
Tessy was green,
But red, black and yellow
Soon were seen.
She needs now three
Front and rear,
The horn won't speak
To the steering gear.

When the boys stop Tessie,
They have her on a hill.
So when they start her
She won't stand still.
But when they get her started
She goes pretty well,
Right up to fifty,
And the boys think its swell.

The fenders rattle
And the doors all squeak,
But she can climb a mountain
To its highest peak.
She ain't worth a nickel,
As you plainly see,
But they get ten dollars
To the gallon, by gee!!

The boys say Tessie
Is a darn good friend,
All they need to give her
Is a twist and a bend.
She's a little top-heavy,
And the lamps won't light,
But outside of that
Well, Tessie's alright.

To Stop Constipation Get at Its Cause!

If constipation's got you down on your feet, hurry, Bud, and fetch . . . it's time for something that is positively guaranteed to relieve it, thereby. You should get to the cause of the trouble.

If you eat only the things most people do, the chances are that a very simple fact causes your constipation. You don't get enough "bulk". And bulk doesn't mean hearty food. It means a kind of food that after the digestive process leaves a soft "bulky" mass which helps a bowel movement.

If constipation is due to lack of "bulk" in your diet, eat Kellogg's All-Bran, a tasteful ready-to-eat cereal, for breakfast every day and drink plenty of water. All-Bran supplies "bulk". Ask your doctor about this. Made by Kellogg in London, Canada. Sold by every grocer.

HER LOAF OF WHITE BREAD Wins First Prize

AT THE CANADIAN NATIONAL EXHIBITION

MRS. W. C. ANDREW, STREETSVILLE, ONT.

"When I took my prizewinning loaf out of the oven," says Mrs. Andrew, "I thought it was the nicest loaf of bread I had ever made. But I did not dream it would get first prize."

Yet, in face of stiff competition, Mrs. Andrew did win the highest prize. And now—what does this champion say about her baking methods? Has she any secrets? Here are her own words: "I measured the ingredients for my prize loaf very carefully and of course I used Robin Hood Flour. For six years I have used this flour right along and I bake bread every week. When I first began baking with Robin Hood I noticed an improvement in my bread immediately, not only in the ease with which it kneads up, but in the flavour and texture of my bread and rolls. After kneading dough carefully, I try to make each loaf a nice balanced shape, so that it will ba out as a well-proportioned l with an even, golden colo I enjoy baking for local fa but this is the first time I h won first prize at the big ex bition. And I certainly thi Robin Hood Flour should h a lot of the credit, for hi quality flour makes high qua bread every time."

Why not follow the exam of this champion bread ba and use Robin Hood Fl yourself. Order it the very n time you need flour! The fi second, third and fourth pri for white bread at the Canad National Exhibition were won with Robin Hood Flo so it must be good! Every b contains a money-back-plus-per-cent guarantee certific

Larry Bridle Is New Manager Of Alleys Recently Renovated

Renovation of the Bowling Alleys at the north end of Billingsley's has been completed and the alley is now open every evening. Harry Bridle is the new manager of the alleys and he extends a courteous invitation to all the clubs and societies in town to pick their evenings for bowling.

The alleys have been sanded and refinished and the floor approaching the alleys has all been varnished. New paint and retouching here and there have made it doubly attractive and pleasing.

The management hopes in the very near future to inaugurate a ladies' league in addition to the town leagues. An innovation of the club are the new chrome finished scoring stands which have just been recently installed in some of the later clubs in Toronto. The stands will not show cigarette burns and give a clean, styled appearance to the club.

Open from noon till midnight it is hoped that bowling will become as popular this winter as it did several winters ago.

Mrs. Frank Sarles Wins Mrs. Farr Cup In Singles Tourney

The Brampton Ladies' Lawn Bowlers held their Singles tournament for the Mrs. Geo. Farr Trophy on Saturday, Oct. 5. Four ten end games were played. Everyone received a prize, many of which were donated by members of the men's club.

The trophy and high prize went to Mrs. F. Sarles, with 4 wins and score of 51.

The winners of three games were Mrs. T. Wilson, 3 wins and score of 41; Miss G. Armstrong, 3 wins and score of 35; Mrs. O. T. Walker, 3 wins and score of 31.

The high winner of 2 games: Mrs. J. A. McLaughlin, 2 wins and score of 40.

The Garden's Keyhole

Rex Stimers, the "Voice of St. Catharines" who thinks Brampton is a small town, was just hearing the Gardens down before the game, looking for a few bets at 3 to 1 on his St. Catharines' Pets, and standing close by was "Silent" Andy Lytle of The Star who is an ex-son of Vancouver, so one does not have to guess whom Andrew was personally pulling for, but not saying a word about it, but at the end of the game Andy was wearing a smile as big as Smythe's hat and heading for the press room, but I had beat him to it and if you think the Johnstown Flood was a disaster you should have seen the Gardens pumps getting into action to clear the pressroom from utter destruction as Stimers and his gang were really turning the wasps on, and in between sniffles were trying to tell every person within hearing distance to wait 'till Wednesday's game, so, gentleman that he is, Andy couldn't bear it, so he hied himself home without even letting Stimers share in his ear-to-ear smile.

But enough of this Indian game, let's talk about the greatest game in sport, namely, "HOCKEY". The Leafs are not promising anything in the way of championships, but they are promising a young battling team that will take a lot of licking for the title, and if they produce such a team no person will have a kick coming.

I have not seen many of them on skates as yet, but a few have been limbering up at Lee Beazers Ravina Gardens and the big surprise is the condition this Hankus-Pankus Goldup is showing. Despite all the criticism this boy received last year and many of his pet peeves have started on him this year, I predict this boy will have his best year in hockey and in fact he will be one of the stars of the N.H.L., and my reason for making this statement is I had a long talk with Hank and you would never know he was the same fellow. He had settled right down to serious business and has placed an objective for himself that only injuries will stop him from reaching, and whatever caused the change you can figure out, but my guess is that his marriage to a very lovely girl this summer is the reason, and apparently she has been able to handle him in a manner which hockey coaches failed to figure out.

CAMPUS COMMENT

There was very nearly a riot between the two school columns this week, but a certain columnist called it off. (Guess who?) Any way, I think the news was a little too hot for the press, so we'll let it go for now.

Volleyball:

Names of the girls on the winning team are Ruth Moorehead, Ann Paul, Reta Paul, Agnes Lowe, Marian Nixon, Gloria Orr, Mary Marshall, Teresa Sheridan, Mary Lilly, Shirley Jones, Florence Reisberry and Betty Sherwood. In the inter-form schedule, this mentioned first form team was just nosed out by third form by a score of 21-20. Also fourth form defeated commercial by a score of 32-11.

Rugby

The team dropped their first game Friday with the score 11-1, but it doesn't indicate the play in the least. The game was hard fought all the way and it was only Etobicoke's heavier line that paved the way for their scoring. Brampton's backfield was superior to theirs when comparing the distance gained in running back kicks. Tackling on both teams was very deadly, making the play close and exciting.

Garbutt and Holmes tackled exceptionally well, and held Etobicoke backfield to short gains. Watt and Anderson played nobly considering it's their first rugby game. Lent was a tower of strength on the defence and Carter proved very dangerous offensively.

Etobicoke's first score was from a plunge by Futterer and their second by a pass from McCauley to Jones. Etobicoke's team is evenly balanced and strong in every department. The return game will be one well worth seeing, so don't miss it.

This Friday our red team travels to Mimico's backyard. Considering previous scores, the two teams are about equal, and our team is out to win.

CAPITOL NOTES

Watch for these coming attractions at the Capitol: "Foreign Correspondent", "Boom Town", "I Love You Again", "The Westerner" and "Pinnochio".

Fast action, ending in a thrilling race between two stage coaches, characterises the latest adventure of the popular cowboy star Hopalong Cassidy, in "Stage Coach War", at the Capitol, Friday and Saturday. William Boyd again plays the leading role, supported by Russell Hayden, Britt Wood and J. Farrell Macdonald. "Golden Gloves", the second feature, stars Richard Denning, Jean Cagney, J. Carroll Naish and Robert Paige, and is a fast-moving story of a young amateur boxer, who for the sheer love of the sport, battles his way to the championship in the face of the opposition of his sweetheart and the scheming of petty fight racketeers.

"His Girl Friday", the year's wildest, wittiest comedy, plays Monday and Tuesday at the Capitol Theatre and stars Cary Grant, Rosalind Russell, Ralph Bellamy, Gene Lockhart and Helen Mack. Grant is seen as the maddest man who ever ran a newspaper, Miss Russell is his captivating star reporter, and Bellamy, the fretting, fuming insurance agent, to whom she is engaged. A special holiday matinee will be held Monday at 2.30.

Thundering hoofs of racing thoroughbreds, the burning of stables, horses running wild and the thrills and excitement of the race-track, are seen in "Sporting Blood", at the Capitol, Wednesday and Thursday. The film stars Robert Young and Maureen O'Sullivan and features Lewis Stone as the head of a Southern racing family.

Edward G. Robinson starring in "The Last Gangster", which is showing in Brampton for the first time, is the feature attraction for the midnight show to be held this Monday morning at 12.10 a.m. D.S.T. The shorts include: "Rhapsody in Zoo", a musical comedy, a cartoon and a novelty reel.

The shorts with "His Girl Friday" on Monday and Tuesday include a cartoon, Unusual Occupations and a Floyd Gibbons Adventure.

Port Credit Business Men Plan War Savings Stamp Campaign

C. H. Burgess Gives Enlightening Address At Meeting Tuesday

PORT CREDIT.—On Tuesday night Port Credit Business Men's Association held a meeting at Clarke Hall for the purpose of considering ways of furthering the sale of war savings stamps, with C. H. Burgess as speaker for the evening.

R. A. McCartney, who presided, first conducted a short business session when the treasurer's report was read and which showed a balance on hand of $31.31. It was unanimously agreed that the Council should be written and requested to provide wastepaper receptacles in the business block. By motion it was decided that the association supply caps to the members of the High School Band, the estimate cost being $16.00.

C. H. Burgess then addressed the meeting on the need and the organization of a War Savings Campaign, also the need of a federation of community service to prevent duplication of many things now being subscribed for. The address was for the purpose of getting people into the habit of saving money in small amounts through the purchasing of War Savings Stamps. Mr. Burgess asked the association for assistance in organizing a definite system to help further this plan. The members responded with a deluge of suggestions which resulted in a well-formulated plan being put into motion.

In part, Mr. Burgess said:

The Savings Stamp Campaign by the Dominion Government is based upon the experience of the last war. It is expected that there will be great industrial activities, that people who for a number of years had not been earning reasonable salaries or nothing at all will likely be employed full time and over time. The tendency will be to spend these earnings if the money is easily at hand on things that are really not essential.

During the Great War men earned a lot of money and they then spent more, then the wages went up and their expenses went up just the same. People who were in 1912 or 1914 earning not more than $3 or $4 a day were in some cases getting $15 and $20 a day, and many of them would only work part of the time because they were getting enough to lay off about three days a week. Then all of a sudden the war ended and this business stopped and many found themselves with nothing but pleasant memories and no money.

Many people cannot participate in war loans when they come along as they are not issued in less than $100 denomination. Therefore the Government offered to the people small amounts so that they could invest as little as $4 at a time and in seven and a half years this would be worth $5. The money is therefore working for the Government (or for the people) and putting them into the position where they will have something from their big earnings during the war to take care of them when industrial activity stops again.

It is not likely that the situation will get out of hand as it did after the last war. When people came home from the war and war industry stopped turning, there was no employment for the people and the sign went up, "No help wanted", and they were handed a dole to keep them quiet.

The great development in the airplane business has only started. It is at the point where the railway business was forty or fifty years ago. The railways are gradually being superseded by the airplane and motor and where we have planes that will carry 20 passengers we will find planes in the future which will carry 100-150 or more, but this will require money to develop it.

One can see if they are able to put away $20 a month in War Savings Stamps for seven and a half years that they will be able to draw out $25 a month for the next seven and a half years.

If a person, every time they buy a 25c package of cigarettes, would buy a 25c War Stamp, they would be amazed at the amount of money which they have saved in a number of years. This can be applied not only to cigarettes, but to all those unnecessary things that people buy which take a tremendous amount of money in the aggregate.

If you have your money on deposit with the bank, that is very good, but it does not yield very much and besides, the bank has to hold a lot of that money in case a person wants it immediately, whereas if they have it in War Savings Stamps it does not have to be paid back immediately, but after six months or so the person who put his money into War Savings Certificates can get it out if he really needs it. There is nothing like consistent saving to bring prosperity to the people of any country.

It is the desire to get this idea going in the Township of Toronto and Port Credit. If you are giving a bridge or euchre prize make it War Savings Stamps. If it is a bet make it in War Savings Stamps—a bowling tournament—War Savings Stamps, etc.

The Port Credit High School girls have been selling War Savings Certificates for a few weeks, and the amount is surprising, running between $2,000 and $3,000.

Eighty Attend Softball League Annual Banquet

Trophies Presented At Enjoyable Event Saturday Evening

PORT CREDIT—About eighty guests attended the third annual banquet in connection with the St. Lawrence Softball League which was held in the Legion hall on Saturday evening. A very enjoyable supper was provided by the ladies of the Cheerio Club and they are certainly to be congratulated on the success of their first catering adventure. Nothing was overlooked by the ladies and their efforts lent great aid to the pleasure of the evening.

The proceedings were presided over by Reg. Hamilton. A fine and varied program of entertainment followed the eats and it consisted of community singing led by John Drummond and Harry Dunlop, baritone solo by Ellis Turner, ventriloquial acts by Ted Rust and his dummy Jerry, short stories by Harry Dunlop, songs and dance by Harold Hibbert and topical numbers by the St. Lawrence quartette comprising Charles Falardeau, John Drummond, Alec Prudle and B. Smith. The numbers were specially written for the occasion by the last named. Toasts were given to the champions of the League (Rangers), by Bruce Osborne and to "Our League" by the St. Lawrence quartette who departed from the usual method of speech and gave the toast in song. It was responded to by Freddy Hamilton.

Trophies consisting of statues and cups were presented to the winners by Chas. Kingsbury. H. C. Smith was presented with a fine woollen sweater coat from the boys of the League in appreciation of his services as secretary. The presentation was made by Ezio Pellipini.

During the evening a lucky draw for a table lamp was conducted by the ladies which brought in the sum of $15.00 which will be sent to the London Refugee Fund conducted by the Evening Telegram. Bob Woods was the lucky winner.

Richard Armes proposed a vote of thanks to all concerned in making the evening a real enjoyable evening.

Port Credit War Veteran Missing Since Saturday

PORT CREDIT. — Leaving his home on Saturday morning for Toronto, Mr. Llewellyn Loftus Lloyd, Port Credit, has not been seen since by his family.

Mr. Lloyd, who is a 52-year-old war veteran, left Saturday morning to catch a train for Toronto, where he works for the Ontario Hydro Commission. Later it was reported to police he had been seen at the clover leaf on the Centre Rd. and Queen Elizabeth Way, but since that time no word of his whereabouts has been reported.

Provincial Officer Ray Hodgson, of Brampton, stated he believed Lloyd was suffering from amnesia. Lloyd suffered a disappointment recently when he was refused by the army. He had tried to get into almost every branch of the service, police said.

Lloyd served four and a half years during the last war as a warrant officer. He is described as five feet six inches tall, weight 141 pounds, gray hair and ruddy complexion, and was wearing a gray gabardine topcoat, pin stripe blue suit, green fedora, green shirt, brown tie and black oxfords.

St. Nicholas Congregation Bids Sad Farewell to Beloved Rector

Rev. R. K. Perdue Is Presented With Fine Floor Lamp Friday

LAKEVIEW—St. Nicholas' parish hall was packed to capacity last Friday evening when a farewell dinner was held on the occasion of departure of Rev. and Mrs. R. K. Perdue from St. Nicholas' Church, Lakeview, to take up new duties as rector of Trinity Church, Aurora.

So great was the crowd that a large number of the people could not be accommodated and were forced to wait for a second sitting. At the conclusion of the splendid meal served under the direction of the ladies of the church, the chairman, Mr. Mansel Ketchen, called on Rector's Warden, Mr. J. H. Whaley, who voiced the regret of the congregation at the departure of Rev. Perdue. Mr. Thos. Irwin, Peoples' Warden, on behalf of the congregation, presented to Rev. and Mrs. Perdue as a farewell gift, a lovely floor lamp. Mr. Perdue in reply stated he had hoped that the people would not do anything like this but at the same time he thanked them from the bottom of his heart. He had enjoyed his stay in Lakeview for the past four years and had made many friends whom he would be sorry to leave. Mrs. Perdue also spoke briefly thanking the people for the gift which would prove most useful in their new rectory.

The chairman spoke of the work done by a former Peoples' Warden, Mr. Sid Standley, who had been forced to resign his position upon enlisting in the Canadian Active Service Force. In the absence of Mr. Standley who was unable to be present, a gift of a Ronson lighter and cigarette case, was presented to Mrs. Standley.

The balance of the evening was given over to a programme presented under the direction of Mrs. Bessie Hill. Numbers were given by Mrs. Norman Caven, Mrs. Frank Caven, Mrs. Albert Peters, a pageant by the boys' choir, and a side splitting farce by the boys of the Bible Class.

At 10.30 p.m. the evening was brought to a conclusion and it can safely be said it was one of the finest nights ever presented in the parish hall. Mrs. T. Irwin acted as convener of the affair and to her and the large number of ladies who assisted in the tremendous amount of work, goes the credit of the huge success of the dinner.

Township Gets Many Offers For Building Lots

Recommend Speed Limit of 30 Miles For Meadowvale

COOKSVILLE.—Offers were made for nearly a dozen lots which had been possessed by the township when their original owners failed to pay the taxes on them by prospective buyers at the Toronto Township Council meeting held on Monday of this week. One parcel of land for which an offer was made had been in the hands of the township for the past eight years.

Much of Monday's meeting of the council was spent in receiving and placing to the credit of the township miscellaneous receipts.

Nearly $1,300 was received in dog license fees, $56 of it coming from court actions brought on behalf of the municipality when owners refused to pay for their pets.

Another $800 was forwarded for township licensed slot-machines.

The financial statement presented at this meeting was most gratifying. This favorable financial situation had been achieved during the past three months by the prompt payment of current taxes, reduction in relief costs and other savings.

A by-law was passed officially ratifying the installation of water mains on the Centre road, south of the Queen Elizabeth Way, and two additional by-laws for minor extensions of the township's water supply system were passed.

At this meeting the customary one dollar was paid for a year's rental on land on the lake where from the Dominion Government. A recommendation that a speed limit of 30 miles per hour be enforced in the village of Meadowvale was forwarded to the Peel County Council.

Police Find Safe Stolen In Toronto

COOKSVILLE.—The finding of a safe on the Burnhamthorpe Road, west of the Centre Road, Cooksville, last Saturday morning caused a great deal of excitement in the community. All ideas of a "big holdup" faded with the arrival of Chief Constable S. M. Belford and Constable Albert Russell, of the Toronto Township police. The safe had been stolen from a service station on Queen west, Toronto.

I endeavor to subdue circumstances to myself, and not myself to circumstances.—Horace.

Citizenship Group Provides Program

COOKSVILLE— "Canadianism" was the theme around which the Citizenship committee built their program for the weekly meeting of Cooksville United Young People's Union on Monday evening.

The program commenced with the patriotic hymn, "Lord of the Lands," written by the late Albert Durant Watson, of Dixie. An appropriate passage of scripture was read by Everett Heptin after which Les Riva led in prayer, asking for tolerance and kindness toward "the strangers within our gates".

George Claridge, convener of the Citizenship committee, gave an interesting talk on the subject "Canadianism". He stressed the contributions made by the French and Indian races to our life and literature. Miss Doris McKee favoured with a piano solo.

During the business part of the meeting, presided over by Norman Sanderson, $10.00 was voted to buy additional hymn books for the church. Les Riva was elected vice-president of the Union. Bill Somerville read the minutes of the last meeting and a treasurer's report was given by Miss Louise Gunnerson. Bill Watson took up the offering.

Next week the program will be presented by the Missionary committee of which Miss Helen Brunskill is the convener. The speaker will be Mr. H. W. Becking.

Letters From Overseas

England.

Dear Mrs. Woodall—

Ever so many thanks for the parcel. The cigarettes are greatly appreciated.

Many things are happening in this great city now but you may be sure that we will come out on top. The boys are all in good shape and anxious to take a crack at the square heads, which no doubt will come soon. You need have no fear of the ultimate outcome because it takes more than these air raids to break the spirit of the English people. They are determined that the Jerrys are going to get more than they expect. The murder of women and children is indeed horrible but is typical of German brutality.

Again many thanks and I hope that you and your family are enjoying good health.

Sincerely,
E. DUNN.

England,
13 Sept., 1940.

Dear Mrs. Woodall:

I wish to thank you and your organization, the War Service Cheerio Club, for your kindness and thoughtfulness in sending me cigarettes.

I have no need to tell you how much they were appreciated. I'm sure you realize how much they mean to us, especially now that English tobacco has gone up in price.

I have also received your various parcels and papers. They, like the cigarettes, were also greatly appreciated.

And so, thanking you again and hoping that your club may continue this work of helping others, I am

Yours respectfully,
K. R. EVANS.

Members of Bethesda United Young People's Union enjoyed a fine corn roast on Monday night. The attendance was large and all enjoyed a sing-song led by Rev. Mr. Oke, after which corn, buns, cake, etc., were served.

The first regular meeting of the Men's Club of St. John the Baptist Church will be held on Thursday, October 17th, in the church hall at 8 p.m. when the speaker will be Rev. Arthur Pickering of Toronto who will speak on the general subject of "Work Among the Blind". Mr. Pickering can speak with authority on this subject for he himself has been blind for many years. He has a very interesting story and it is hoped that all members will take advantage of this opportunity of hearing it.

Mrs. W. T. Pallett entertained the members of Dixie Women's Institute on Tuesday, October 1st, when they held their regular monthly meeting at her home. Mrs. H. M. Pallett read a splendid paper on "Home Economics", and the roll call, "Uses of Common Salt", was well responded to. During the afternoon more wool was distributed to the members for Red Cross knitting and before refreshments were served, a lucky draw was held. Mrs. W. R. Watson was asked to select the lucky ticket and the winner of the first prize, a bedspread, proved to be Mrs. Geo. Reeves, while Mrs. May Clarke was the winner of the second prize, a lovely cushion.

The Willing Workers of St. John the Baptist Church, Dixie, held its opening meeting on Tuesday of this week at the home of Mrs. Harold Pallett. There was a good attendance and Mrs. R. K. Grimshaw presided. The main business centred around the fortheoming bazaar and sale of work to be held in the church hall, Saturday, October 26th. After other items of business were discussed, Bruce Pallett, who is spending a few days' leave at his home, entertained the meeting with a brief talk on his experiences at the Trenton air base. Bruce has been posted to the flying school at St. Catharines and the rector, in the name of all present, wished him good luck. The meeting closed with refreshments served by the hostess.

Church At Dixie Dedicates Organ At Anniversary

Rev. Dr. McNamara Of Toronto Guest Preacher Sunday

DIXIE. — Commemorating the 61st anniversary of Dixie Presbyterian Church, special services were held on Sunday last. Both the morning and evening services were well attended and were much enjoyed. Rev. Dr. McNamara, Toronto, preached very fine sermons and at the evening service dedicated the new organ. The choir, under the leadership of Mr. C. E. Easterbrook, presented the music for the day in a very capable manner. In the morning the anthem "Seek Ye The Lord", by Roberts, was sung with Miss Marion Isaac singing the soprano obligato. Miss Helen Allison also sang a lovely solo. In the evening the choir again sang an anthem, "Thy Temple", and Miss Isaac was soloist for this service.

The present edifice was erected in 1910, the cornerstone being laid by His Honor Lieut.-Governor Gibson, on July 28th of that year. The first service was held in the new church on October 7th. Prior to that time the services were held in the Old Stone Church, serving the congregation from 1878.

On Tuesday evening of this week a very fine anniversary supper was held by the ladies of the Woman's Association under the convenership of the president, Mrs. A. Mitchie. It was very well attended and thoroughly enjoyed. After the supper, the sound film entitled "On Guard For Thee", produced by the Film Board and sponsored by the Toronto Daily Star, was shown, the equipment being loaned by the Eastman Photographic Stores, Toronto. This film was very much enjoyed as was the organ recital presented by Mrs. Jack McClelland. A quartette consisting of Miss Jean Malpass, Miss R. Morrison, Miss Helen Allison, and Mr. Jack McClelland, contributed to the programme and Miss Glory Fenwick sang two lovely solos.

In the unavoidable absence of the minister, Rev. Ross Thomson, Mr. Hector Death welcomed the guests and at the conclusion of the programme, Mr. Walter Duck extended a hearty vote of thanks to all those who assisted in any way to make this event so successful.

Bethesda Church Harvest Services

DIXIE.—Harvest Thanksgiving services observed in Bethesda United Church on Sunday last were very successful. Both the morning and evening services were largely attended. Inspiring sermons were preached by Dr. L. Barber, librarian of Victoria University, in the morning and by Prof. H. A. Johnston, formerly Professor of Preaching at Immanual College, in the evening. The choir sang special anthems at both services. Never was the church so artistically decorated. There was an abundance of flowers, fruits, vegetables, etc., and had been arranged by the young people of the church under the direction of Miss Elsie Dinwoody and the president of the society, Ross Watton.

St. Patrick's Parish Help In Campaign

DIXIE. — Members of St. Patrick's Parish, Dixie, are canvassing this week to raise their allocation for the Federation of Catholic Charities. The objective of the Federation is $119,000 and this amount covers the expenses of its 14 dependent institutions for the coming year.

Father Moss urges all citizens to aid the Catholic drive by giving generously. They are assured the money will be used to the best possible advantage. Welfare institutions have pared their budgets to the minimum this year because of war conditions, although the same conditions have increased their work.

Dixie parish has been divided into districts. The canvassers are Misses Catharine Bralt and Mary del Col, Cooksville Brickyard; Mrs. Joe Copeland and Miss Christine Crowley, Cooksville proper; Mrs. John Shean and Miss Gertrude Buckley, Dixie North; Misses Isabelle McSherney and Eileen Pashak, Dixie South; and Mrs. A. O'Hearn and Mrs. P. A. Jackman, Islington.

Sodality Meets At Dixie Parish Hall

DIXIE—The Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary met for its regular monthly meeting in St. Patrick's parish hall, Dixie, with Miss Mary McDevitt presiding. Fifteen members were present.

Plans for the reception of members on December 8th were discussed and application cards were distributed. Miss Rosamund McGillion conducted a Quiz contest and Miss Monica Pashak, elocutionist, entertained.

LAKEVIEW

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Robinson, of Stratford, visited Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Lisle over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Norcross and son, have moved from Kirkland Lake to Toronto. Mr. Norcross has enlisted with the air force.

Lakeview Alliance Tabernacle Juniors met on Tuesday with Miss E. Harkness in charge. Mrs. E. Holt read a short story and the pastor, Rev. E. Holt, gave an object talk on "Good and Bad Soil".

Rev. R. K. Perdue preached his farewell sermons at St. Nicholas' Church, Lakeview, on Sunday last. The congregations were large at both services and after the evening service, a fireside hour was held. The programme was in charge of the choir and consisted chiefly of hymn singing.

The Young People of the Lakeview Alliance Tabernacle met on Tuesday night under the leadership of their president, Mr. Arthur Leaver. The meeting was opened with a hymn and prayer by Merle Lee followed by some of their favourite choruses. Miss Audrey Scaife then read the Scripture, followed by the sword drill which was won by Miss Dorothy Scaife. The president asked questions on the Scripture reading, the winner to be announced next week. The meeting was closed in the usual manner.

Silver Wedding Marked

Between twenty-five and thirty guests from Lakeview and Toronto gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alf Nelson on Saturday evening last in honour of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. A very pleasant evening was spent playing cards and at the conclusion, delightful refreshments were served by the hostess. During the course of the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson received a large number of gifts together with the congratulations and best wishes of all present. Mr. Nelson thanked all their friends and hoped that they would live to enjoy a further twenty-five years of happily married life.

Bible Class Meets

St. Nicholas Bible Class met for the first time this season on Sunday morning last. Attendance numbered 46, and this promises to increase greatly as time goes along. This first session took the form of an open meeting with one of the leaders, Mansel Ketchen, addressing the young people on the subject, "A Christian's duty in time of War". It was announced with much regret that the leader of the Junior Girl's group, Miss Betty Arlett, would not be able to carry on with her group this year, making it necessary to obtain another leader for one of the largest groups in the Class. Next Sunday will be devoted to the Annual Election of Officers and a re-organization of the Class and all former members and any newcomers will be made welcome.

LORNE PARK

Little June Evans has been ill but is improving.

Pte. Jack Millaham and Pte. Charlie Mills, of Camp Borden, visited Mrs. A. Guest over the week-end.

The Senior B.Y.P.U. met on Monday night and attendance was good. A fine programme was presented by members of the Lorne Park College.

The dance held by the Lorne Park Community Club on Friday night was quite successful and well attended. Everyone had a good time.

Lorne Park Girl Guides are asked to attend the meeting on Friday night in full uniform. Plans are being made to entertain the Lakeview Company at a Hallowe'en masquerade on Friday, November 1st.

When you are in need of your next shower gift visit the Port Credit News China Store in the Hearn Block opposite Port Credit Post Office. We have an attractive display of china and glassware and we also carry shower gift cards, ribbons, fancy papers, and seals.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Jarvis, Toronto, spent the week-end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Jarvis. After the Sunday evening service of Lorne Park Baptist Church, some of the members gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis and presented his wife with an anniversary gift. A sing song was enjoyed and refreshments served concluded a very enjoyable evening.

On Sunday evening next, the Young People will conduct the regular service at Lorne Park Baptist Church and will be in the nature of a Thanksgiving service. There will be special music. On Sunday, October 27th, a male quartette from the Peoples' Church, Toronto, will provide special music for the morning service.

Damage to Church

Telephone lines, trees and fences in the district of Sandhill suffered considerably Sunday night during the serious wind and electric storm. The vestibule at the Sandhill United Church was completely blown down just as the members of the congregation were leaving the building after a successful communion service. The pastor, Rev. A. Laycock, and the Recording Steward, Mr. Ainsley Sherman, were the last two in the building and were compelled to remain inside as the vestibule was blown down just as they were ready to leave. Two windows on the inside of the church building were blown out, and though Rev. Mr. Laycock was struck by the glass, he was not injured.

Charles Henry Porter

A life-long resident of Sandhill passed away at the Peel Memorial Hospital Sunday night in the person of Charles Henry Porter. He had been ailing for a period of thirteen years, and despite all that kind hands could offer he passed away, the news of his death being heard of in the district of Sandhill with keen regret. The late Mr. Porter was born at Sandhill fifty-one years ago, a son of the late John and Martha Porter, two of the early settlers in Peel County, and all his life carried on the occupation as carpenter. In religion he was of the United faith. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. B. Fallis, of Sandhill. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon from his late home in Sandhill, where a private service was conducted by Rev. A. Laycock, after which a public service was held at the Providence Church. Interment took place in the Providence Cemetery.

MURDER TRIAL NOW IN PROGRESS HERE

Teach Democracy By Example Minister Of Education Advises

Dr. Duncan McArthur Addresses Teachers of Peel Inspectorate

"This war will last until the curse of Hitler is wiped from the face of the earth," declared Honorable Dr. Duncan MacArthur, minister of education, at the annual teachers' convention for Peel county held in Central public school here this afternoon.

"Whether it be short or long it behooves those of us who are in the field of education to give attention to the problems which will confront us when peace is restored. We will be compelled to undertake a most careful stocktaking of the resources of our civilization. Before we reach this stage we in this country may have to endure great sacrificing. We on this continent never yet have been subjected to the imminent threat of invasion. We have been continually lulled into a feeling of false security. Four years ago a possible entry to this country was thought of through Iceland and Greenland by the European powers. If the time ever approaches when the British navy will be incapable of protecting our shores we will have to fall on our own resources which are hopelessly inadequate at the present time. We as Canadians do not as yet realize that there is a war on," declared Dr. MacArthur.

Dr. MacArthur urged that all Canadians have faith in and determination to uphold democracy. "Democracy will not be destroyed in our time if the teachers uphold democracy in our schools," he said.

"One of the greatest evils of our day is the fact that people judge one another in terms of dollars rather than in their acceptance of responsibility. In the words of the late President Wilson to make the country 'safe for democracy' it will be necessary to instill in the minds of the people a true standard of values. Citizens should first give to the wants of the spiritual and then to the wants of the material. Dr. MacArthur explained that it is on the spiritual basis that the foundation of democracy is laid.

"Many people have urged that citizenship and democracy classes

Boy Scouts Raise $75 On Apple Day Here On Saturday

Brampton Boy Scouts held their annual Apple Day on Saturday and netted $75 for their organization funds. This represented a sizable increase over last year. Neatly uniformed Cubs and Scouts were on the streets bright and early and found a ready response to their appeal to "Buy an Apple Please." The boys also canvassed places of business and industrial plants with good results. This appeal is the only major appeal made by the boys during the year. Part of the proceeds will be used to repair toys in the Christmas Toy Shop. The boys are in need of old toys, and would appreciate donations of toys to be repaired and painted for distribution to poor children at Christmas.

Territorials To Be Formed Here In November

Brampton Women Will Have Opportunity To Serve in Unit

Announcement of the formation of a Canadian Auxiliary Territorial Service Unit in Brampton next month is announced in this issue by Mrs. Irene May. Miss L. Maison, commandant of the service, will be in Brampton on Wednesday, November 22, to arrange for the inauguration of the Brampton Unit. Women aged 20 to 45 are eligible for enrollment in the service, but preference will be given, Mrs. May says, to women who have their motor transport certificates. Those willing to be trained in that type of work will also be accepted. Of course those applying must be healthy and strong.

Auxiliary Territorial Service Units are being formed all over the Dominion of Canada. Those affiliating are not only taught motor mechanics and related trades, but are trained also in ambulance work and stretcher drill. The Brampton class will be limited to forty, it is understood. Those wishing to become identified with the unit should call Mrs. May at telephone 441 for fuller particulars. Princess Alice, wife of Canada's Governor General, the Earl of Athlone, is the Colonel in Chief of the Auxiliary Territorial Service.

The Brampton Win the War Committee has promised to assist in the furnishing, and Mrs. Horwood heads the committee in charge. Mrs. Horwood reports a need for a piano, a radio, card tables, chairs, a chesterfield, and all kinds of magazines. Citizens having any of the above to offer may phone Mrs. Horwood at 307, or T. H. Moorehead, Chairman of the Win the War Committee at 375. Arrangements will be made to transport the goods to Malton.

The Girls' Service League held their draw for the nine-piece luncheon set in the Capitol Theatre last night. The lucky number holder was Mrs. H. Peacock. The president of the league, Miss Irene Peacock, introduced Alger Jenkins of Montclair, N.J., of the R.C.A.F. stationed at Malton, who made the draw.

Bartley Bull and their sister, Mrs. Gibson, opened their lovely home last Wednesday for a delightful party for the Lorne Scots Women's Auxiliary, in aid of the funds of that organization. Some 250 guests attended, including a number of officers and pilots from the air training centre at Malton. Mrs. R. V. Conover, Mrs. L. Keene and Mrs. R. Lent received the guests as they arrived. The evening was given over to bridge, bingo and other games, which were thoroughly enjoyed until a late hour. A delicious lunch rounded out one of the most enjoyable social events of the fall. The proceeds from the party totalled $105.00, which will go into the auxiliary's fund for providing comforts and extras for the Lorne Scots serving overseas.

Find Toronto Man Guilty When Case Held In Hospital

Daniel Markowski Gets 18 Months For Negligent Shooting

Daniel Markowski was sentenced to eighteen months at hard labour by Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe in police court here Tuesday. He was tried in a Toronto Hospital and found guilty of the charge on Saturday morning. Sentence was deferred until Tuesday.

"It is difficult to conceive of anyone being so careless with a loaded gun as you were," said Magistrate Woodliffe passing sentence. "Brown cautioned you that the gun was loaded."

"Can I get a parole?" Markowski asked the magistrate.

"Yes, but I don't see fit to," answered Magistrate Woodliffe.

The charge arose out of a shooting accident on Sept. 15, at Eldorado Park, four miles south of Brampton, when John Brown, 26, of Toronto, was injured seriously. The bullet struck Brown in the right shoulder and breast and penetrated to the spinal cord, and he has been paralyzed from the waist down ever since.

Testifying from his bed, Brown said that Markowski picked up the gun while he was placing a bottle on a post for target shooting, and the rifle was discharged accidentally. Before the accident, Brown stated, he warned Markowski that the gun was loaded and pleaded with him not to point it in his direction.

Both men are unemployed. Markowski was a member of the MacKenzie-Papineau unit which fought in the Spanish civil war.

Miss Doris Henshaw, bride-elect, was presented with a beautiful crystal relish dish on a pierced silver tray at the regular meeting of the Primary Teachers of Christ Church Sunday School on Wednesday evening of this week. Miss Rena Giles made the presentation on behalf of the teachers. Lunch was served with Mrs. James Norton pouring tea, assisted by Miss Lillian Clarke.

Gordon R. Matthews Faces Murder Count In Brampton Court

Body of Wife Was Found in Erindale Pond on July 11th

The fall assizes of the Supreme Court opened here Tuesday morning with one criminal case, four civil cases, two jury and two non-jury on the lists. The Grand Jury under the foremanship of Mr. Walter E. Calvert returned a true bill in the murder trial of Gordon Matthews. The right to investigate public institutions and buildings where public moneys was expended was waived by the jury on advice of Mr. Justice Hope. "Time and money are precious in such a time of stress," cautioned His Lordship. "Since there has been an investigation within the past year, I think that the jury should waive that right."

When the jury reported that they had not dealt with that matter he commended them in their interest on the expenditures of public moneys. The Peel County Grand Jury was then dismissed by His Lordship and a petty jury was impanelled for the murder trial.

On Tuesday afternoon the murder trial of Rex vs. Gordon Rees Matthew was opened. Walter Martin of the Attorney General's department was assisted by A. Grenville Davis for the prosecution and Matthew was represented by Spencer Pitt.

Matthew is charged with the murder of his wife, Ethel Matthew, whose body was discovered in Erindale Pond early on the morning of July 11th by a fisherman, Robert W. Hunt of Toronto.

The body was floating in the water about ten or twelve feet from shore and was pulled in by Chief Sydney Belford, assisted by Hunt and William Selmes, and W. H. Selmes.

According to evidence given by Chief Belford, the body was practically naked when it was pulled from the water. "The clothes were about her neck forming a sort of Brampton Badminton Club held their annual election of officers last Tuesday night. The following officers were elected: President, W. T. Sanderson; Vice-president, M. A. Peck; Secretary, A. L. Ferguson; Treasurer, C. E. Fairles; Directors, E. L. Vokes, I. R. Malhuish, D. Dickson.

Says Privy Council Rules C.T.A. Still Operates In Peel

"Members of the Privy Council condemn the Ontario Government" for failing to enforce the Canada Temperance Act, Rev. Dr. A. J. Irwin, retiring general secretary of the Ontario Temperance Federation, says in the current issue of the Temperance Advocate.

This statement appeared over a summary of comments of the Privy Council on the application of the Ontario Government to have the hearing of its appeal postponed until after the war. The Supreme Court of Canada had held that the C.T.A. is operative in Peel, Perth, Huron and Manitoulin Island, making the sale of intoxicating liquors a criminal offense in those areas.

After reciting the legal axiom voiced by members of the privy council that the ruling of the Supreme Court of Canada is in force, Dr. Irwin pointed to the policy followed by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn and Attorney-General Gordon Conant.

Won't Enforce Act

"Premier Hepburn stated on one occasion to a large deptuation that even if the privy council sustained the Canada Temperance Act, his government would not enforce it but he would withdraw his officers and leave the areas without any liquor law enforcement whatever," said Dr. Irwin. "The present attorney-general did not originate the trouble. In coming into office he accepted the existing situation and instead of bringing his judicial intelligence to bear on the matter he has simply acted in harmony with the spirit and understanding of his chief."

Dr. Irwin asks "Is Ontario's Attorney-General committing a criminal offence?" and cites the comments of the Privy Council on this phase of the application for appeal. After Frank Gahan, counsel for the Canadian Temperance Federation, argued that the establishment of beer taverns in Canada Temperance Act territory, Viscount Maugham made this comment:

"If this is unlawful, if he is acting unlawfully, there are means of

Lovely Clarkson Girl Now Understudy For Miss Hepburn

Dora Sayers, slim, brown-eyed, beautiful Clarkson girl is an understudy in the Hepburn troupe now playing at the Royal Alexandra in Toronto. The girl is not seen very much except as a maid; but she understudies three other roles in "Philadelphia Story."

One of the more important roles she understudies is that of Katherine Hepburn herself as Tracy Lord. Modest as well as beautiful, Miss Sayers thinks that it is far reached to even suggest that she might be called to pinch hit for La Hepburn.

"This play just has to have Miss Hepburn," says Miss Sayers, "and I think they'd cancel the performance if she fell ill, rather than go on with an understudy. She's never offered to let me play it, and if she did, I wouldn't accept, because the play needs her."

Miss Sayers has turned down several chances of screen tests because, as she puts it, "I'd rather keep on working up the stage ladder, rung by rung, than hop to Hollywood on an itsy-bitsy contract that might lead to stardom, but more likely to the ashcan, after a false start. I intend to wait until I am important enough for them to want me."

"Incidentally, I hope the plan of making Toronto a Theatre Guild City goes ahead," said Miss Sayers, "and with the terrific revival of theatre interest here in the last few months, which has Broadway talking, I think it should."

Showers Affect Attendance At Woodbridge Annual Fall Fair

Record Entry Listed In Livestock Section At 93rd Fall Fair

Heavy showers considerably affected the attendance at the 93rd annual Woodbridge Fair over the holiday week-end. A record entry in the livestock section was, however, reported by officials. Rain failed to interfere with the general operation of the fair, and except for the trials of speed every part of the program went off as scheduled. Of the three heats scheduled, it was possible only to run one. The winner of this heat was Sun Yen, owned by G. T. Payette of Penetang which took the $100 purse.

In the horse performances, most of the main events were captured by Harry Price's two famous jumpers, Cherri and Brownie, ridden by Miss Peggy Price and Alex Herbinson, of Thornhill, and taking honors in the open performance, knock-down-and-out and the pair of jumpers. The road hack event was won by "B. B.," owned by Pegnes Riding Academy.

Keen competition was experienced in the heavy horse class for no one competitor won two events in the various classes.

Winning one first and a number of seconds and thirds in the poultry classes, Mr. J. J. Pearson, of Dixie, deserves honorable mention, for he has been exhibiting poultry at the Woodbridge Fair for the past 69 years.

Horses—John Torrance, Markham; T. R. Hall, Oshawa; W. Hewson, Malton; W. L. Stephens, Woodbridge; Hugh Rodney & Son, Milton; T. M. Reid, Oshawa; W. Clarkson & Son, Weston; W. B. Reid, Brampton; T. PEEL COUNTY MAN HEADS PLOWING MATCH EXECUTIVE

One of the biggest agricultural events in Ontario, the International Plowing Match is now under way at St. Thomas with thousands of farmers from Canada and the United States in attendance. Head of the Ontario Plowman's Association, which sponsors the match, is Alex. McKinney Jr. of Brampton. Mr. McKinney is seen above inspecting a plow at the match at St. Thomas. A picture of modern farming is drawn from the fact that tractors now outnumber horses in the match which is being held at Premier Mitchell Hepburn's farm near St. Thomas.

Attendance Hits New High Peak At 77th Renewal Of Erin Fall Fair

Lorne Scots Company Stages Manoeuvres Before Large Crowd

Erin Fall Fair, with attendance hitting a new high for recent years, and exhibits reaching an all time record, proved an outstanding success during the past week. One of the major attractions was the parade of C Company of the Lorne Scots headed by the brass band. The company did manoeuvres before a huge crowd and Lt.-Col. R. V. Conover of Brampton, officer commanding the regiment, took the salute.

The fair was officially opened by Warden D. S. Leitch, Reeve of Erin Village. George McAllister of Shelburne, who first attended the Erin Fair 77 years ago, was present, and was among those who cleared the original fair grounds.

All classes in the horse, cattle, sheep and swine were crowded, and the directors were forced to use searchlights to finish the judging. Mrs. R. M. Barden, of Hillsburg, was adjudged the best woman driver. Jean Gowland, of Brampton took honors as best woman rider. Vivian Clark, of Norval, had the best saddle horse. F. Gowland, of Brampton, was judged winner in the pony team class. William Morrison placed first in the hurdle contest.

Winners in the various classes were:—

Single express—O. B. Brown ridge, Georgetown, and Henr Wheeler, Hillsburg. In the roadste division—R. M. Barden, Hillsburg W. S. Munroe and C. C. Shant Plattsville, were the winners.

In the large show hall the displa of potatoes was large and, despit adverse conditions in many local ties, were an excellent sample. T display of ladies' work and fine ar was well above the average. La night, President John Robb a directorate were heartily congrat lated on their success by Ross M Ewenings, M.P.P., and R. W. Gla stone, M.P. for Wellington, at a di ner held by the directors.

Council Takes the Right Step

Brampton town council has decided to submit the question of two year terms to the electors of the municipality at the forthcoming elections. The council has adopted, as was expected, the democratic way of settling this question by appealing to the good common sense of the people. By ignoring the issue altogether, the onus could have been left with the electors to demand such a vote, but this was not necessary.

the voters favour two year terms for council. Mr. Hepburn placed the legislation on the statute books as a war measure, but we fail to see where the war effort or the nation as a whole will benefit by taking away the privilege of voting annually for members of the council. The cost is negligible. Last year the election cost the citizens of Brampton $338 or about six cents per capita.

The principal issue involved is the long established right to select a council each year. It has proven satisfactory, and it gives the voter a chance to approve or disapprove of a council's work each year. Two year terms could easily become dangerous to the financial stability of a town if a spendthrift council happened to be elected. The Conservator believes that there is no good reason for changing the present system. There is nothing to gain by doing so, but there is something to lose should two year terms become effective. We believe that the average voter feels the same way about it, and will say so very definitely when the opportunity is presented next election day.

People With A Will To Work

Travelling around the province, one finds few municipalities of Brampton's size so seriously undertaking the war work as this town. That the citizens of the town are in earnest was demonstrated in notable fashion in the recent charities campaign, but over and above the financial campaign the citizens of the community are working away each day in the interests of the war.

In a local Red Cross report recently it was shown that 463 Brampton women are engaged in knitting and sewing for the Red Cross. This is a very high percentage of the total female population available for such work, and the number of articles turned out by these women have reached a most impressive total. In addition to the regular workers, there is a junior group at work, and also a service league composed of young women in business and in the teaching profession who are doing their share. In addition to this there is the huge volume of private work being done by those people who have a personal interest in some soldier overseas.

We doubt very much if another Ontario community can boast a more serious or a more genuine war effort than that undertaken by the women of Brampton. And from reports sent in from other sections of Peel county it would seem that the ladies are just as busily engaged. In several municipalities in which we have made enquiries recently we have failed to find any doing a more valuable work than is being done here in Peel. It is to the credit of the citizens of Peel that they should so wholeheartedly undertake this work on behalf of the fighting forces, the wounded and stricken and the refugees who have lost their homes and their belongings due to the ambitions of one German moron who has the grandiose idea that he was sent into this world to become a second Napoleon.

Canada's Youth In Training

In a radio address recently a cabinet minister made reference to the young men of Canada who are now undergoing a period of 30 days compulsory training. He laid particular stress on the fact that these young men were not conscripts. It is well that this stress should have been made, for there is a tendency among some people to label these young men in that way. To do so is not a step in the direction of national unity. Thousands of these young men had tried to enlist many times before they were called for training. Many more were engaged in essential war industries, and had been urged by the government to carry on. There was no dearth of applicants for recruiting. On the other hand hundreds had been turned down. The country for many months was in no way prepared to accept recruits in large numbers. Equipment was at a premium and military clothing was not ready for them.

The term conscript still has an odorous atmosphere from the last war. To apply it to these thousands of young men who are undergoing training is not only unfair, but insulting. To get the best out of these young men, it will do no good to call them unsavoury names. We believe they are just as loyal and just as courageous as many thousands of other young men who have identified themselves with the C.A.S.F. or the militia. They are just ordinary young citizens, taking special training in keeping with the law enacted by parliament and they should be regarded as such.

Canada's Book of Knowledge

The 1940 Canada Year Book is off the press. To those who must have a wealth of information at their finger tips all the time, this is important news, for the Year Book contains some 1,300 pages of the very latest information about Canada. This encyclopedia of Canadian lore is published annually by the bureau of statistics at Ottawa, and it finds a place in practically every newspaper office in Canada. As a matter of fact this is one of the principal sources from which a newspaper gets its information to answer the hundreds of questions telephoned in during the year.

The Year Book is invaluable to teachers and to any other profession where an up-to-date knowledge of the nation is essential. The 1940 book has many special features in addition to the scores of features on population, trade and commerce, vital statistics, customs and excise and every other topic with which the government of Canada is concerned. In the special articles there appears one relating to Canada's forest resources and their relation to the war. There is also a treatment of Canada's mineral resources as they relate to the war effort. There is also a special war chronology from the beginning of the war up until July 8th, 1940.

Complete data on the dominion election earlier this year is given as well as a summary of the Rowell-Sirois dominion-provincial relations report. The number of copies available is limited. School boards should secure one for every school in the district, for there is no surer fund of correct information anywhere than is to be found in this year book. Application should be made to the King's Printer, Ottawa, and the cost is $1.50 which merely covers the cost of paper, printing and binding.

Typical British Exploits

H.M.S. Ajax is in the news again. The Ajax was one of these ships which fought the mighty Graf Spee to a standstill in the Plate River some months ago, and now it is reported to have scared the Italian fleet after sinking a couple of destroyers, and giving chase to several others in the squadron. It is not the amount of damage wrought by the Ajax which counts for so much, but rather the spirit in which its commander and crew have met mighty odds with typical British courage and resourcefulness.

When France so ingloriously ended its part in the war, and the Empire was left to fight against terrific odds, the United States became very apprehensive. At least half of the people in the friendly country to the south thought that Britain and its fellow members in the great commonwealth had at last met their match, and that it was only a matter of time before the great company of nations forming the Empire would be broken up. But Britishers the world over thought otherwise. It was a hard matter to convince the United States that British optimism was warranted, but soon the exploits of the Royal Air Force, and the British Navy convinced the United States that Britain was far from beaten.

It was such glorious epics as the Graf Spee incident, the Ajax battle in the Mediterranean, and the morale of the British people as they faced the blitzkreig in Britain, that gave the United States new hope. Its people, always admirers of courage, soon changed their opinion about the possibility of British defeat. Today the United States is giving every possible assistance in the fight the empire is waging. It is to be hoped that she will not be drawn into this war for a long time to come, and at least until her war industries get into full production, and able to both maintain the U.S. forces on land, sea and in the air, besides giving Britain the industrial aid which is so vital in beating back the lawless hordes which are trying to put the world back centuries into another era of dark ages.

Note and Comment

American baseball enthusiasts paid a million dollars to witness the world series which was won by Cincinnati defeating Detroit. Americans can now give attention to presidential election prospects and world war possibilities.

Canada is to have an alloy plant at a cost of $3,500,000 according to an announcement by Munitions Minister Howe. With the completion of this plant the dominion will have committments for plant construction to the amount of $235,000,000, a great "public works" program that is doing so much to relieve unemployment as well as aiding in winning the war.

The baseball and lacrosse seasons having ended and the football struggles approaching completion, hockey again enters the limelight. On Tuesday this week the Toronto Maple Leafs, 30 strong, were given a cheering send-off as they left for St. Catharines where practice will be continued until the opening of the series a few weeks hence. In spite of war and its ever increasing demands "sports as usual" is the motto of Canadians.

Announcement was recently made that the people of Britain will soon be called upon for another four billions for war purposes. Here is an example of one of the ways taxes are imposed in the Old Land: Scheduled to go into effect on Monday next is a purchase tax, similar to our sales tax. The rate on such common items as books, newspapers, shoes, kitchen utensils and clothing will be 18 per cent. On "luxury" goods, such as silk stockings, furs and jewellery, the rate will be 24 per cent. Compare those rates with the Canadian sales tax of eight per cent., and cease complaining.

Complaint is heard in some quarters that the cost of buildings erected for military purposes is altogether too high. R. A. Farquharson, a Globe and Mail staff writer, concludes a despatch from Ottawa with these surprising statements: "There were plenty of cases where civilian workers made four or five times the pay of army sappers on the same jobs. Carpenters are said to have received considerably more than army architects directing the work. Carpenters in some districts are reported to have made $100 a week by the time overtime and double time were added. Carpenters' wage scales have been drawn up over a period of years to encourage employers to spread work around and are not meant for a situation such as has prevailed throughout the last few months."

The fall fair season is over for 1940. The Brampton and Streetsville fair boards were favored with excellent weather but in neither place was the annual show up to those of former years. Cooksville was not rewarded with fine days which is one way to account for the lack of attendance. Woodbridge and Erin, long noted for great crowds and exhibits of high quality, were not highly favored by the weather man on Monday and the shows suffered somewhat in consequence. This year, too, Brampton was denied the usual grant by the Federal Department of Agriculture. Another handicap. Again the question is asked "why so many small fairs in one county or district when one good three or four-day exhibition would serve a better purpose?" The answer usually given is that the local community, no matter how small, has pride in its annual event, and they believe anything interfering with its continuance seeks to create a monopoly in the interest of the larger municipality. We would be glad to have the views of some of our farmer friends, on this question, especially those who from year to year have given their time and money in the promotion of that which is designed to benefit agriculturists.

$172,000,000 for Booze

The war situation has apparently stirred the temperance advocates to new activity, and it is understood they plan to release, in the early fall, a vigorous Canada-wide campaign for war-time abstinence. Such a campaign would be timely and in the national interest. No nation, it has been declared, is fit to serve in the present cause, if it continues to put $172,000,000 of booze under its belt every year.—St. Catharines Standard.

They Like the Place

Port Arthur News-Chronicle: An occasional robin is to be seen around the city. Some weather prophets might interpret this as meaning a mild winter to come, crediting the robins with having inside information to the effect that it would not be cold enough to necessitate a trip south. This, however, gives no consideration to the fact that most of the robins have already moved. Why those still here failed to obey the impulse along with the others would be more interesting, if explainable, than the weather predictions which are merely guesses.

Seems Reasonable

Midland Free Press-Herald: When a soldier in Britain gets leave he gets free rail transportation to his home as a matter of course. Why should that not be the rule in Canada? Of course, our distances are much greater, but then Canada owns one of its railways and the trains run anyway. There should naturally be some limit to the number of railway passes a man might be entitled to in a year. Certainly, when it comes time to go home for the last time before proceeding overseas our soldiers should be provided with transportation.

The Bride's Duty

Proposals made by an English vicar that brides be required to prove at least an elementary knowledge of cookery before marriage are not as radical as they seem at first glance. After all, in marriage, each party has certain obligations. The man who undertakes the responsibilities of marriage without the requisite skill or knowledge to make a living for his wife is looked on as a poor sort. There is just as much of a duty devolving on the bride to be prepared to uphold her end of the bargain.—Windsor Star.

Wolf Week Helped

Sault Ste. Marie Star: The sale of "Sweet Adeline" gives Harry Armstrong, who composed its words, an income of $3,000 a year. The sale of the song was practically dead when the Soo's Wolf Week was held in 1932. So the composer wrote this column when permission was asked to make it the week's theme song. Subsequently he wrote that the demand had induced him to issue it again. On the Saturday of the Soo's event, the New York Broadcasters' Club used it in their evening's program and the radio took it up. Thus it seems that the newspaper publicity across the continent concerning the Lamp Post Troubadours' singing contest may have put a song writer on Easy Street.

Ousting German Traders

Canada became South Africa's third best customer last year, replacing Germany, which had occupied that place in 1938, and, as a result of the war and the trend of events in Europe, she should do more than hold her place in the future. The United Kingdom and the United States, with 41.1 per cent and 20.6 per cent of the Union's business, respectively, occupied the first and second positions. Canada's exports to South Africa last year were valued at £3,626,025, and represented 4.3 per cent of the Union's imports. The figures mean an increase of nearly 1 per cent over the statistics for 1938, when South Africa imported goods from this Dominion having a total value of £3,011,328, and this represented 3.5 per cent of the Union's trade of this type.—Quebec Telegraph.

What Is Learned

One hears a good deal of speculation as to the value of 30 days' training in relation to national defense. It is just about enough time to give squad drill and teach men how to handle a rifle, with maybe a little field work toward the end. Men will be able to pile their blankets in a neat row and recognize the cookhouse call, and before the term is up it can be positively guaranteed that there will be a ceremonial march-past with the district commander taking the salute. But the whole thing comes under the head of what is termed "recruit training." Of instruction in how to fight an enemy with the weapons of 1940 there is little or none—and on that point we should be glad to accept correction from any authorized source. — Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

checking it. I suppose the constitution of Canada and the courts of Canada are still in operation."

"Not Before Us"

Mr. Gahan pointed out that under the British North America Act, enforcement of law, including Dominion law, is under the jurisdiction of the attorney-generals of the provinces.

To this, Lord Wright added—"We cannot believe that the attorney-general would deliberately defy it."

"We are in a peculiar position," said Viscount Maugham. "That matter (the attorney-general's action) is not before us. It sounds to me rather surprising that he should disobey the law if that is what he is doing."

The privy council committee allowed the appeal to stand over with both parties given liberty to apply for resumption.

From The Conservator of
Oct. 7th, 1915

The catechism of the Red Cross is given in detail in this issue. One of the interesting questions on the catechism is: Why cannot the society foretell its need of goods?

A. Because the society can not tell where the battles will be fought until the battle is on. To-morrow or next week a great attack may be made on one part or another of the front and thousands of Canadians may be wounded, poisoned with gas, or taken prisoners.

Branches of the Peel War Auxiliary are being formed in all parts of the county. The Streetsville and Harris Corners branch was formed Monday.

Dr. J. L. Gordon, the famous orator will open one of his citizenship campaigns in St. Paul's Church here on Sunday, Oct. 10.

Lieut. C. R. Duggan, of the Q.O.R., has been loaned to the Aviation Department, and is at work at the Island.

The barber shop, pool rooms and hotel sheds were completely destroyed in a devastating fire Monday. The fire was discovered in the back room of the pool hall.

People from all sections of Ontario attended Brampton fair this week.

The Brampton Driving Club will hold a fall meet here on Saturday, Oct. 16. Purses total over $1,000.

The officer in command of the 36th Peel Regiment is soliciting recruits which are very badly needed. A. Bartley Bull is filing applications in this district.

Jeffery Bull, Lieut. 75th C.E.F., is at Rockcliffe Park, Ottawa, taking the musketry course. Mr. Bull has command of a company of the Mississauga Horse.

Gunner Jack Dunkley, of Brampton, and a member of the naval forces visited friends in Brampton when he was on a week's leave. He is stationed on His Majesty's Ship Niobe.

Letters From Overseas

Dear Friend:

This is rather a late time to write you this letter, to acknowledge the second parcel of cigarettes I have received from The Sons of England. I am very grateful to yourself and members for their kindness to me in sending the cigarettes. As you may know they are a real treat here in England. Unfortunately I have to say the cigarettes here are not of very good quality and are very expensive being about one shilling and four pence for twenty.

Regards the delay in writing you I must apologize even though I don't have very much time for writing, having been very busy.

Owing to our unit being the only Mechanical Unit from Canada we have had repair work to take care of for not only the 1st Can. Division but those of the 2nd Division and the 7th British Army Corps and our boys have been working day and night and we have been moved around considerable, and Hitler hasn't made things any too pleasant for us either.

Just recently I left the Unit for a fourteen weeks' course at the Military College of Science and so again it meant a move and here we are kept busy at school in the daytime and nights we have notes and study to do, however, if we wish to get along we must attend to these things.

We are not having very pleasant weather where I am at present, raining nearly every day, but before I left the Unit we were having most wonderful weather in that part of England almost like Canadian climate.

There isn't much more that I can say which would be of interest to you other than that those of you in Canada, who are doing your share by helping us with comforts and supplies. May you be spared to carry on, and some day when we have Hitler where he belongs we will be back to thank you properly.

Thanking you once more,
I remain, yours sincerely,

Teach Democracy By Example

be held in the schools throughout Ontario. That may be of a certain limited value, but you are not going to make children democracy conscious by talking about it. Democracy is essentially a matter of the spiritual. The attitude of the teacher in the classroom is of much more importance than what the teacher can say. Unless you who are the example of the younger generation in Ontario respect the individual personalities in the classroom the pupils will not be able to respect the personality of those with whom they come in contact in the outside world. If you succeed in this you will perform the greatest possible service that the school can give the state. Democracy will not be destroyed in our time if the teachers uphold democracy."

Dr. MacArthur explained the system of discipline that should be taught students. "There is that form of discipline which is practiced by European countries commonly known as the continental system or the autocratic system. The interest of the individual is subordinated to that of the state by force. That is not my conception of discipline," continued Dr. MacArthur. The democratic system of discipline represents active energetic attitude under intelligent control, both to the well being of the person and the state."

He rapped the trustees and the parents who judged the teacher by the marks the pupils showed rather than how the teachers influenced the pupils in the manner of their mode of thinking. For, closed Dr. MacArthur, "it is what the teacher does in the classroom, rather than what he says, that will have the greatest effect on the pupils."

Prison For Dutch Workers

Reports from the Netherlands said that a Dutch worker was sentenced to a year and a half in prison by a German court at Utrecht for saying that "the words of the honorable Queen Wilhelmina are to be respected more than what that German paperhanger says." The court ruled that this was an insult to Adolf Hitler and thus, an insult to the whole German people.

YOUR HOSPITAL

Hospitals to-day are looking towards the summit.

Beset by almost insuperable obstacles, the evolution of the hospital is a story of courage and endurance, of dark ages and golden ages, of retrogression and progression.

But to-day, as never before in its history, has the hospital possessed the quality and quantity of scientific care for the sick; never before has its influence been so extensive and so widespread; never before has it played so important a part in the life of the community.

The standardization movement alone, imposed voluntarily upon themselves by the hospitals, has done much to make this what will be recorded as the "hospital betterment period". This movement insists that each hospital have an organized, competent, and ethical medical staff; that the staff hold regular conferences for review of the clinical work; that fee-splitting be barred; that accurate and complete clinical records be kept of all patients treated; and that adequate diagnostic and therapeutic facilities, including a clinical laboratory and an X-ray department, be provided. A survey of the hospitals who have voluntarily placed themselves under this standard proves that in most communities in Canada an efficient hospital can be found near at hand.

A remarkable thing about hospital workers is that they are never satisfied that they have given their best. They are continually striving and working for the ideal hospital, a certain assurance of future progress.

The pinnacle of hospital evolution has not yet been reached, and the efforts being made to-day will result in even greater hospitals of the future.

Yesterday the patient approached the hospital with reluctance, apprehension, and fear of death; to-day he enters willingly, with confidence and with hope of life.

The Old Wooden Bootjack

That hung, years ago, at the back of the stove
In our old farm-home kitchen when I was a boy,
And the memories it brings fills my heart now with joy.

It hung o'er the woodbox that sat on the floor,
Which I filled every night with big armfulls, more,
Of wood from the woodshed, a job all boys hate,
But woe unto me if I missed or was late.

That bootjack had company that hung as its side,
The gridle, the "spider," the dishpan, so wide,
Then nightly my father would take down that jack
And into its vee slip his heels at the back.

Then off'd come his boots with a pull and a jerk,
A sign he had finished another day's work,
And sometimes my father'd use me for a jack,
I'd straddle his leg and he'd push on my back.

With his foot, as the other boot we'd try to doff,
And I'd fall to the floor when the thing would come off.

That bootjack's now gilded and looks, oh, so well,
And hangs in our kitchen, its story to tell
To me, in fond memories of my childhood's joy,
Back there, on the farm, where I lived, when a boy.

CHRIST CHURCH A.Y.P.A.

The annual corporate communion and breakfast, sponsored by Peel Deanery Local Council of the A.Y.P.A., was held in Christ Church, Brampton, on Thanksgiving morning, as part of the Dominion-wide celebration by Anglican young people. Rev. Canon R. W. Allen was assisted at the service by the Rev. Mr. Payton, of Humber Bay, and Rev. Mr. Ottley, of Streetsville, while the Rev. G. N. Luxton, of Grace Church-on-the-Hill, Toronto, was the guest speaker at the breakfast. Over one hundred young Anglicans from various parts of the Deanery were in attendance, many of whom have never missed these inspiring Thanksgiving Day functions. The convener this year was Norm Hollis, who, (though he nearly forfot the peas), made an excellent job of the menu and arrangements generally. He was ably assisted by Rena Giles and most of the members of our branch, who toiled far, far into the day (and night previous) collecting dishes, sorting china and doing all those many tasks which fall to their lot on this busy day. But most of them agree that it is well worth it!

Don't forget to bring in your suggestions for a Hallowe'en programme next Monday. There's not much time left for laying plans.

Congregational History Will Be Sunday Feature

Jubilee Celebration at Presbyterian Church Continues This Week

The Diamond Jubilee Services in the Presbyterian Church continue on Sunday with the "Historical Survey" of the past of the congregation. The evening anthem will be, "Bless Thou the Lord", by Ivanoff, Mr. G. R. Copeland will sing the solo, "Come Unto Me", by Coenen.

On Tuesday evening the Women's Association will present an "Old Time Evening", a general programme and a play, "Strictly Business". The cast of the play is as follows; Mrs. O'Grogan, Mrs. Wm. McClure; Mrs. Peever, Mrs. W. F. McLean; Mrs. Gardwell, Miss Jean Moore; Mrs. Ledger, Mrs. J. McElwain; Miss Jane Goulding, Mrs. Lloyd McGregor; Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. W. J. Hood; Miss Hattie Fuller, Mrs. Leslie Black; Mrs. Bolder, Mrs. Oliver Moore; Mrs. Hustle, Mrs. W. A. Beatty; Mrs. Ogle, Mrs. Fred Gowland; Mrs. Holler, Mrs. A. S. Thomas; Mrs. Marlowe, Mrs. A. N. Miller; The Rev. Benson Marlowe, Mr. Gordon Lowe; Miss Marguerita Anita Ogle, Miss Aileen Alteman; Dorothy Marlowe, Kathleen Dobson. The plot of the play concerns the activities of an old time Ladies' Aid, their interest and curiosity in the affairs of the congregation, and their care of the Manse.

Special Program Of Organ Music For Sunday Night

A special program of organ music designed to appeal to all, rather than to just music lovers, will be given in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening following the service. he church organist, Mr. Hodgins, will be at the console and will comment briefly on each number in order that the program may be of interest to every listener.

Included on the program will be these numbers; Two Corales by Bach; Two Pastorales by Guilmant; a Scherzo by Whitlock; the familiar and beloved "To a Wild Rose" by Macdowell, and the great Toccata and Fugue in D Minor by Bach. This latter piece is perhaps the most thrilling piece of organ music written by the great master, certainly one of the most famous.

Very Much Worse

Adolf Hitler's original cognomen was Adolf Schickelgruber. He has rightly been called worse names than that in recent years, comments the Brantford Expositer.

Thanksgiving

Psalm 107, O Give Thanks unto the Lord for He is Good, for His Mercy endureth forever. Let the Redeemed of the Lord say so, whom He hath redeemed from the hand of the enemy (Satan). Oh that men would praise the Lord for His Goodness and for his wonderful works to the Children of Men, for He Satisfieth the longing Soul, and filleth the hungry Soul with Goodness.

Again it is Thanksgiving and we again turn our eyes and hearts in joyful thanksgiving to our God who has provided crops of abundance, the rain, the sunshine and a bounteous harvest. Oh that men would praise the Lord for His Goodness instead of Blaspheming His Holy Name. Even a dog does not bite the hand that feeds it. But humans curse the hand that feeds them. If God were to withhold the sunshine, rain, snow, etc., probably man would come to his senses. But God's mercy endureth forever. He loves us whether we hate Him or not. But, yes there is a but here. God says my Spirit will not always strive with man. Gen. 6-3. Remember the Flood? We should thank God today that we are not in Europe amid the desolation, destruction, and the scenes of horror. It seems that the whole world is in a state of collapse. Haggai 2-5-6-7. Zeph. 1-14 to 18. Yet we in Canada are at present sheltered from the stormy blast. Are we truly thankful or do we just praise God with our lips, and our hearts are far from Him? Isaiah 29-13 to 16 verses. Isaiah 30-1. Isaiah 59-1-4. Some day we will be called to account for the things done in the flesh and it is impossible to escape. For the Scripture says, we must all come before the bar of judgment. Let us turn our hearts back to God in true repentance, and He will pardon our sins and cleanse us from all unrighteousness. Oh that men would praise the Lord for His Goodness, and for His wonderful work to the Children of Men. God sent Jesus Christ into the world that this world might be saved, that men and women might have eternal life through faith in His finished works. Do we ever thank God for this great wonderful event? We have much to be truly thankful for, more than these lips and hearts can speak. We thank God today for His love, mercy and dynamic power, which has been shown to us, His Children, in this day of chaos and tribulation. May He grant peace to this sin cursed, war torn world, and may Jesus our Lord and Saviour take his place as righteous ruler in His Kingdom which is Eternal, for His name sake. Amen.

Something To Laugh At

The British Government has another problem on its hands. It must decide the vital question whether, under its new budget, ladies' hats are luxurious or necessities. And we had always imagined, looking at them, that they were just innocent jokes.

To find that they have become economic factors, figures in the budget, part of the Government's war calculations, seems to take the fun out of them somehow. You could laugh at an inverted pie plate, a hot-cross bun, a decorated pancake or a green surrealist bird on the top of a pretty lady's curls. But no patriot can even smile at an important feature of the nation's taxation structure.

The British Chancellor of the Exchequer would be wise to go easy on girls' headgear. We need all the laughs we can get these days.—Vancouver Sun.

Must Continue Advance

One curious aspect in the present war is the paradox which even victory presents for Germany. The Nazi machine, geared for attack, must keep going forward or in effect it is going backward. Every day that Germany is not counting a victory, Britain is winning the war.

At this point in his triumphal advance Herr Hitler, and everyone else, knows he would find it most convenient to stop the war now; but Herr Hitler, and everyone else, knows he cannot stop the war now. Yet to carry on the war indefinitely will defeat Germany economically, socially, and finally, by force of arms.

Is Berlin now going more cautiously as this paradox of victory becomes more apparent? There is something about Nazi-ism that is not unlike a toy gas balloon, rising higher and higher, swelling bigger and bigger in false majesty until—.

WHEN you wish to talk to a person, you can walk or travel miles to do it. But, with exceptions, you don't. When you wish to pay bills or make purchases, you can carry around with you a bundle of cash or a sack of coins. But, with exceptions, you don't. ¶ In the one case you use a telephone. In the other, you use a cheque on your bank. In either case you save time and effort by using a convenient modern device. And you use the one as naturally as the other. Canadians do make extensive use of the services of the chartered banks. ¶ Deposits in chartered banks at the time the last return was made to Parliament, totalled $2,530,000,000; cheques issued and debited to individual accounts in August, 1940, the most recent month for which returns are available, totalled $2,457,706,218. These figures show that most Canadian business is done by cheque and illustrate the extent to which the people make use of the banking system. The banks take pride in the modern services they provide for your convenience.

[In war, as in peace, Canada's Chartered Banks maintain, uninterrupted, their useful services — safeguarding depositors' funds; facilitating the nation's business — looking forward to peace with freedom as the only sure basis of enduring prosperity.]

Dislike for Germans is said to be increasing in Italy. At a recent horse show in Rome, when German officers won a cup for jumping, all the applause was for the other teams. While one Nazi was going round, a woman exclaimed, "If only he would fall at the last jump and prevent those dirty Germans from winning!"

There used to be a saying that went something like this: Don't bother running into the alley where your pal just found a pot of gold—instead, go hark up another tree. Well, if the office boys in Hollywood ever read such a quip it wouldn't show in the way they chase each other around town when one of them strikes gold. To glance at the number of serials that run in 1940 style it is plain to see that someone won the jackpot a while ago and a few had struggled now to win another—maybe. All in all it adds up to the swing of a single idea into a swoop for the crowd. The Hardy Family pictures come out and bang go a dozen other family pictures. Nick Carter, detective, puts Walter Pidgeon in crummy roles, fast, light and slightly entertaining and then the follow up. There are the Maisie pictures with glorious Ann Sothern. The flare for Nazi pictures is still on the go. A sea story from one studio brings ten more in its wake. The aftermath of a find.

To-day in Hollywood the style is for Foreign Correspondent pictures. Of course the title is hot and most familiar to newspaper readers at the present time. The idea had a great boom in books some years back but it seems to have blended into the celluloid market. Especially is this true since the first picture of a foreign correspondent has been brought to us by Alfred Hitchcock. Half a dozen studios are playing with the same type of entertainment. And the chances are that more will come as the war moves on toward the end. It isn't so much that audiences consider a life story of men in the roaming news-gathering business so interesting as the backgrounds in the stories. It is a certainty that the speckled life of the late Floyd Gibbons was as fascinating three years ago as it would be to-day were it flickered on the screen. The great difference lies in the shots for stories in the making. And so the foreign correspondent comes to the fore.

In order to make good pictures with real scenery many of the Hollywood studios are gathering the stuff they used to chuck in the waste basket. Newsreels are kept with an eye to the possibilities of using parts for a shot in some future story. One studio has miles of celluloid taken before the attempted air kreig on England. Another, Paramount to be exact, has actual scenery taken before the collapse of France, by their jumper-around, Lloyd Knechtel. The scenes in "Arise My Love" were his, taken in the Compiegne Forest. These pictures were made at a cost of $500, but today they could not be taken at any price. Evidence that Hollywood looks to the future.

Mr. Hill, the president of Amer-Tobac-Corp., the gentlemen who pay for Your Hit Parade, directs the spending of twenty-six, some-odd thousand buckeroos on the one program. It was he who decided that Luckies should play the music people want to hear instead of trying to stuff anything down the throats of listeners. And so with a few changes throughout the five years, the parade still marches on. A hit was made.

Add a chuckle: Among a crowd who watched the removal of a car after an accident were two persons dressed in sporty togs. Said the man to the woman, "Hey, Scatterbrains. Come on." Without batting an eyebrow—Scatterbrains—turned on her heel and, like an obedient dog, obeyed the command thrown to her. She—Number one on his Hit Parade.

Shriner's Circus Aids War Effort

Proceeds for Canadian Defence and Needy Children's Fund

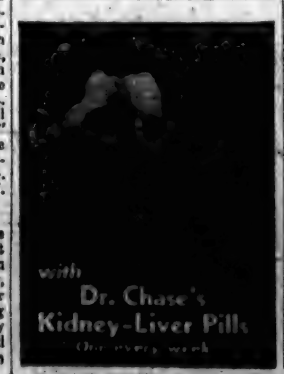
In announcing plans for the eighth annual showing of the Rameses Temple Shrine Charity Circus, to be held again this year in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens twice a day from October 21st to October 26th inclusive, Illustrious Potentate Murdoch L. Martyn and circus impresario Col. Bob Morton revealed that 50 per cent of the Rameses Temple circus profits this year would be handed over to the Minister of National Defence to help Canada win the war. The remaining 50 per cent will go into the special benefit fund for crippled and needy children, a work which the Shrine has carried on successfully for years.

In addition, it was stated, Col. Morton has agreed to give 50 per cent of his profits as well to the Minister of National Defence and will buy Canadian war bonds with his remaining 50 per cent.

When asked what this year's program would include, Col. Morton found it difficult to restrain himself. With the tremendous enthusiasm he invariably displays as ringmaster of the "world's largest professional indoor three-ring circus," he explained: "This year's circus is without doubt the best ever. In fact, it's stupendous. We're going to have 60 new sensations. There will be stellar acts from the Ringling and Barnum galaxy, daring and death defying thrillers, 30 beautiful Broadway girls in a beauteous dancing ballet, the largest Broadway dancing and acrobatic revue ever presented with any circus, daring aerialists, beautiful riding girls, amazing performing elephants, funny clowns, acrobatic tumblers, trained ponies, wild tigers. There'll be thrills galore in this gigantic aggregation that is without doubt the best show on earth."

As a special "after show" or concert feature, Morton announced that the "Lone Ranger," the original motion picture star, would appear in person with "High Ho Silver," his famous horse, and a large company.

Illustrious Potentate Martyn declared the Shrine's motto this year was "Be A Daddy To A Needy Orphan Kiddie," because they want to take every orphan, every crippled and underprivileged child to the circus this year. "This is the only way I know," he said, "in which kind-hearted people can help Canada win the war, bring fun and happiness to kiddies who need and deserve it, and have a lot of fun themselves at the same time."



Chevrolet Offers Two Series In Line For Coming Year's Cars

Master De Luxe and Special De Luxe Models Now in Full Production At General Motors Plants

Generous dimensional increase all around, resulting in greater roominess, stability and riding comfort are among the new feature of the Chevrolet line of passenger cars for 1941, as announced today by General Motors Products of Canada.

Front and rear seat widths, elbow and shoulder room, wheelbase and bumper-to-bumper length, all have been noticeably increased, while lower frame and body-floor complete the impression of low-slung strength and centre of gravity. This trend is further heightened by new and massive bumpers and an entirely re-designed front end, which will make Chevrolet for 1941 one of the most distinctive cars on the road.

Two series—the Master De Luxe and the Special De Luxe—comprise the Chevrolet line for the coming year. The two series are similar in size and general appearance, the difference being mainly a matter of luxury appointments and special accessories. The new models are now in full production at the General Motors plants in Oshawa and Regina, and will shortly be on display at dealers' showrooms across Canada.

Concealing of the running-boards under each door so that their function is preserved while the body contours are enhanced, is one of the features of the new styling. The fenders are larger and heavier, and their low-hanging edges conceal more of the tires, while the valleys in the front fenders are completely eliminated. The slope is increased in windshield and rear windows. The hood is again of the front-opening type, but the safety latching lever is re-located, making it more theft-proof.

Usable trunk space is increased by placing the spare tire in a vertical fore-and-aft position, and also by the provision of greater width between the wheel housings. Interior refinements include, in addition to the wider seats, an entirely new and striking instrument panel, adjustable sun visors, two windshield defroster openings and artistic plastic control knobs.

Such popular Chevrolet features as shockproof steering, power vacuum gear-shift on steering column, and Safe-T hydraulic brakes are continued. The power plant is the famous Chevrolet valve-in-head six cylinder engine, generating 85 horsepower. Smooth riding qualities are imparted by double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers front and rear, ride stabilizer, and semi-elliptic rear springs with tapered leaf ends. Knee action is provided on both series.

The Special De Luxe is available in sport sedan, town sedan, five passenger coupe, business coupe, cabriolet (with automatic vacuum-operated folding top) and station wagon, while the Master De Luxe is offered in the sport sedan, town sedan, five passenger coupe and business coupe. In both series, the following color options are offered: solid colors—Black, Oshawa Blue, Rex Maroon, Pearl Grey, Rifle Green, Loch Green, Indra Blue and Penguin Grey; and the following two-tone combinations — Penguin Grey and Indra Blue; Pearl Grey and Penguin Grey; Sand Beige and Nottingham Grey.

York Bible Class Suspends Services For War Duration

Resignation of Denton Massey as active leader of the York Bible Class has been accepted by the board of directors of the class, it was announced to-day by J. Stanley Whitehead, chairman of the board of directors.

Mr. Whitehead stated that Mr. Massey has accepted the appointment of honorary leader of the class, and that the majority of the class activities will be carried on as formerly during the season of 1940-41.

In his letter of resignation, Mr. Massey pointed out that his military duties made it impossible for him to continue the active leadership of the class.

He stated: "thus my resignation as leader is directed by circumstances which, though beyond my control, have been willingly elected, as I feel more keenly than I can possibly express that that for which York Bible Class stands is worth all, such as it is, which I may have to offer in its defence in these days of uncertainty, struggle and strife."

The class Sunday activities will be temporarily discontinued for an indefinite period, it was announced. However, it is planned to hold one or two special services throughout the class year. The class hopes to continue the distribution of hampers at Christmas. This service they have rendered for 10 years.

Many householders have co-operated to the extent of separating material, which aids in the final sorting. Newspapers have been neatly bundled and magazines have been tied separately. All this helps the committee handling this material. Some peculiar instances have been reported by the driver. At one place he aided an elderly lady in the chopping of wood. This was done by him in appreciation of the three bags of rags she had given the Red Cross.

● A GIRL in one of the government offices arrived at her desk one A.M. with a head that felt like a concrete mixer in action. She dashed up to the nurse's office for relief, but finding the place deserted, snatched a bottle off the desk, and pouring three or four of what looked to be aspirins into her hand, downed them and returned to her typewriter to await relief.

A couple of hours passed without any results, and the girl suddenly remembered, with horror, that she hadn't looked at the label to make sure that the things were aspirin. She immediately thought of poison and ran frantically back to the nurses' hide out.

The place was still as empty as the treasury, and with a cry of anguish the steno caught up the bottle and turned it to read the label. They were not aspirins, but the gal gave a sigh of relief when she saw the mild words "Plant Food". She was about to put the bottle down when the smaller print on the label caught her eye. It read:

Red Cross Supplies

Shipments of Red Cross supplies, such as socks, helmets, mufflers and hospital and surgical materials, which have been forwarded to Iceland from Canadian Red Cross warehouses in England, will be provided direct from Canada in future, it was announced by Mrs. H. P. Plumptre, chairman of War Activities.

Since Canada's first troops arrived on the strategic, northern outpost which Britain assumed after the domination of Denmark by Germany, cases of needed supplies have been forwarded regularly from the Canadian Red Cross stores in England. This work was carried on by the Advisory Committee overseas acting in close co-operation with the Canadian army authorities.

Following discussions with the officials in Canada, and the establishment of arrangements by which shipments could be handled direct from eastern Canadian ports, the London committee has been notified that it no longer needs to release any of its stores, thus avoiding the duplicate shipments from Canada to England to Iceland. First shipment from Canada, it is understood, is already under way for Iceland.

This U.S. Naval Secret for British Only

The intricate mechanism of the gun on one of the over-age U.S. destroyers being turned over to the Royal Navy is here being explained to a Royal Naval rating by one of the American sailors who manned the destroyers during their transit from the United States to Eastern Canadian ports. The mechanism is of a new secret type and the official censor has decided that Herr Hitler should know nothing about it.

Mayfield Church Serves District A Hundred Years

First Services Held In Log School House On Third Line East

In October, 1929, Mayfield United church, formerly Mayfield Presbyterian church entered on the last year in a century of existence and celebrated that event with appropriate services on Oct. 6. In 1830, Rev. Andrew Bell, then associated with Streetsville Presbyterian church, came occasionally to the neighbourhood of Mayfield and preached sometimes in the homes, and sometimes in the barns of the district. A year later when the community began to fill up with pioneer settlers of the Presbyterian faith, Upper Chinguscousy and Caledon Presbyterians, called on the United Presbytery of Upper Canada to furnish them with a regular pastor and called Duncan MacMillan, probationer of that presbytery. Mr. MacMillan was ordained May 31, 1831, and from that time on until the erection of the frame church, services were held in the log schoolhouse at the corner of the Third line east on No. 17 sideroad. November 19, of the same year, the first session was formed, Thomas Robson being accepted on his ordination as an elder in Scotland and William Learmont and John Campbell being ordained by the new minister. The length of Mr. MacMillan's pastorate is not on record, but he was followed by a Mr. Johnston who preached at Mayfield for two years and a Mr. Nichol, whose term of service is not recorded. There was about at this time a movement to join the Kirk of Scotland, but Mayfield was one of the non-curling congregations. Approximately 1840, they applied to the Missionary Associated Presbytery for the succession church of Scotland for a "supply for sermons" as the faded record quaintly expresses the need of the congregation. Mayfield joined this association in October, 1840, and appointed Andrew Buckham to present the petition for a minister to the presbytery. Rev. Mr. Porter was the first appointee, remaining for nearly three years. In March, 1843, the congregation decided to call Rev. David Coutts, who was inducted and twenty-four years. He retired to Brampton and died there, his home being on Rosedale avenue, near Isabella. He was twice married and was survived by his widow, who has since died. In 1848, Rev. R. M. Croull became minister of Mayfield and served the congregation for nearly nine years. He and his predecessor were universally known as "horseback preachers" for they travelled in the service of their charge from Malton to Mono and over a considerable portion of Caledon. For nearly eighty years, Claude Presbyterian church was a sister charge to Mayfield, and the one pastor administered to two charges, in addition to the large territory over which he kept a watchful ministerial eye. It was during Mr. Croull's ministry that the present Claude and Mayfield churches were built, the former a landmark on the Centre road, that can be seen for miles. Mayfield church became part of the United Church and its devoted congregation is carrying out the tenets of that great organization. Two ministers went out from the congregation, James Armstrong and Thomas Jewett. During the Great War, Mayfield church sent fourteen gallant young men to the front.

The Sunday school was always an important feature of the Mayfield activities, a Robert Smith being an outstanding superintendent. Others through the years were John Marshall, Hugh Craig, Hugh McIntyre, Samuel Wiggins, Howard Gray and George Moffatt.

The day existed when Mayfield had a precentor, Robert Dunsmore filling that important office. He was buried by the side of the church, having been connected with Mayfield until his death at the age of 82. From ancient stones in the little cemetery can be gleaned the names of members of the congregation in the earlier days, Smiths, Woods, Dodgson's, Munsey's, Craig's, Speirs, Dunsmore's, Armstrong's, Maxwell's, Campbell's and Duncan's. Far from war and their rumors rests Richard Hartley, a veteran of the battle of Waterloo, one of the early settlers of the Mayfield district.

Toronto Symphony Plans Children's Concerts

The Toronto Symphony Orchestra Association announces that during the coming season four Children's Orchestral Concerts will be given at Massey Hall.

The first of these concerts will take place on Friday, November 1st, and for this occasion Sir Ernest MacMillan, with the co-operation of Miss N. Emily Tedd, has arranged an excellent programme including the Minuet and Trio from Schubert's Symphony No. 5; the "William Tell" Overture by Rossini; Shepherd's Hey by Percy Grainger; and the Saint Saens "Carnival of Animals" for two pianos and orchestra with Alfred and Victor Johnson, two young Toronto high school students, who will play the piano part in this interesting work. The audience song will be "There'll Always Be An England". There will also be the question and answer portion of the programme for which prizes will be awarded for the best answers.

It is felt that children below the third grade should not be permitted to attend the concerts unless accompanied by a grown-up member of the family; also that it would be more satisfactory if the audiences were not disturbed by people leaving their seats during the one-hour programme. We would like to suggest, therefore, that the children be asked before leaving their school not to leave their seats during the concert. This would be a big step in securing perfect attention.

We love ourselves notwithstanding our faults, and we ought to love our friends in like manner.—Cyrus.

Fun For Everyone

● In making electricity just about the cheapest service the householders of Ontario enjoy—in war time as in peace—Hydro is doing its bit to keep your living standard high, your cost of living low. Steadily through the years, the service provided by your own public utility has become thriftier and thriftier. Your average cost per kilowatt-hour today, for instance, is only 1/4 what it was at the start of the last war.

Your Hydro system is "carrying on" on the industrial front, as well. With ten times the system capacity of 1914-18, Hydro is meeting every demand for the vital power needed to speed production of war equipment and materials of all kinds.

You—and everyone in Ontario—can be proud of the efficient war-time job Hydro is doing. Hydro is your utility . . . the co-operation and partnership of all Ontario communities have made it the strong bulwark of home, farm, mine and factory that it is today.

At the close of the meeting a luncheon was convened by Mrs. Harry Gibson and Mrs. M. Walsh.

Sale of water from a coal mine in the Rand is more profitable than that of its coal, according to the company's recent report in Johannesburg. The company has a lease of coal rights from the South African Government and although the mine is no longer working, it continues to pump water, the sale of which is producing revenue.

Mrs. Robert Cooper and Mrs. Fred Holder acted as conveners for the sale, and less than three hours after the sale started, everything was sold, and the sum of $26.00 was realized and will be used for refugee work.

Large numbers gathered at the Mono Road United Church both morning and evening Sunday to assist in celebrating the 75th anniversary of the church. The quaint old plastered building was attractive with a profusion of flowers, the decorations being done by the ladies of the congregation. The morning service was conducted by the regular pastor, Rev. Morley Metcalfe, who preached a very helpful sermon in harmony with the special occasion. In the evening the pulpit was occupied by the Rev. Terrance Hart, of Camilla, his address being enjoyed to the utmost by the large congregation. The church choir under the leadership of Mr. John Cunningham rendered pleasing music, two special anthems being rendered at both services, with the new organist, Mrs. G. A. Porter, presiding at the organ. In the evening a special mixed quartette, composed of Mr. and Mrs. James Cunningham, Miss Jean Cunningham, of Toronto; and Mr. John Cunningham, of Mono Road, presented attractive selections. A large number of faces were seen in the congregation both morning and evening, several being former members, who are now residing elsewhere. Miss Hannah Yarrantan, a former organist of the church, now of Brampton, was present at the services.

Everybody Helped

The warning sounded just as the kitchen staff of a cafe, which feeds workers from one big plant, were starting to shell a bushel of peas. So off they carted their work to the shelter—and more than a dozen people taking shelter there joined in the shelling. Dinner for the workers was served on schedule.

St. Catharines' Athletics Take Burrards To Win The Mann Cup

Athletics Win Three Out of Four Games With Comparative Ease

St. Catharines Athletics breezed to the Canadian lacrosse championship at Maple Leaf Gardens on Monday, walloping Vancouver Burrards 12-5 in the fourth game of the Mann Cup finals before a crowd of 6,848 fans.

The speedy Eastern Canada champions never were seriously threatened and after Billy Fitzgerald, ace of the stars of the series, banged in two goals in little more than two minutes of the start, they patterned the game to suit their needs.

It was the Athletics' third straight triumph after they lost the series opener to Burrards last Monday, 14 to 9. They triumphed 16-5 last Wednesday to deadlock the title round and went ahead by one game on Friday with a 17-10 conquest of the less experienced Burrards.

It was St. Kitts' second Canadian championship year within the space of the last three. They lost last season in the national finals to New Westminster's Adanacs, whom Burrards eliminated this year to earn the right to make the trip east.

Toronto Sports writers seemed to think that Brampton Excelsiors, who were eliminated in the Eastern finals by the Athletics, were plenty good enough to have trimmed the Western champions.

FIVE PIN NOTES

The indoor bowling season got under way during the past week and according to Harry Bridle the opening was very successful. There was plenty of favourable comment on the improved condition and appearance of the alleys.

The town league held a meeting on Tuesday, and elected Mervin Giles as President, Bob Bonners as secretary-treasurer, Jim Algie as official scorer, and Frank Brown as handicapper. There is to be another meeting on Monday at 9 p.m. and all captains are asked to be on hand for framing the rules and drawing the schedule. There will be eight teams in the league. The ladies' league meeting will be held shortly. Five teams have signified their intentions of taking part. Thursday nights will likely be set aside for this league, but suggestions will be welcome.

The men's tournament started on Monday, and the second round gets under way tonight. There has been one big upset so far, with Ernie Swanson edging Ed "Four Pin" Waller in a close finish. The battle of "Gibbs" ended in a win for brother Bruce. The biggest thrill of the week was when Bud "Basker" South downed 180 pins going into his last game, making six straight strikes to go on to win handily from Fred Macon.

The three highest singles last week were: Duke Burrows, 344; Ed Waller, 341, and Frank Davies, 340.

MacKinnon, Minister of Trade and Commerce, is announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The Canada Year Book is the official statistical annual of the country and contains a thoroughly up-to-date account of the natural resources of the Dominion and their development, the history of the country, its institutions, its demography, the different branches of production, trade, transportation, finance, education, etc.—in brief, a comprehensive study within the limits of a single volume of the social and economic condition of the Dominion. "PRIDE AND PREJUDICE" AT THE CAPITOL

Greer Garson and Laurence Olivier in the famous story "Pride and Prejudice" at the Capitol, Monday and Tuesday. A matinee will be held Monday at 2.30.

At the GARDEN'S KEYHOLE with DAVE KAY

Play-off fever was running high at the Maple Leaf dinner on Tuesday and if one was to be guided by the speeches of Red Horner, "Baldy" Cotton and Coach Hap Day, the old mug is now travelling on its way to Maple Leaf Gardens.

Not criticising these gents in any way but I am just pointing this out to show how the Leaf camp feel about the coming campaign, and from what I could gather from the players, Hap Day is in for a full measure of co-operation from the entire squad and that is half the battle.

These annual dinners are one of the bright spots in my winter's travels, as never again during the season do you get the assortment of players, ex-players, press and executives that gather for Conny Smythe's annual October bun feed.

The press fed as usual at the Knife and Fork derby but the champ, Ted Reeve, was missing as he is now convalescing from an operation but his place was ably filled by "Baldy" MacQueen, the ex-Mail and Empire scribe.

The head table was jammed with a line of Canadian industrial executives that would do justice to a board meeting of the New York Stock Exchange, and in looking them over I was struck with the thought that where else in the world would you get a sports organization that could boast of such business leaders as these Maple Leaf master minds.

The players were all centered together directly under the eagle eye of Hap Day and ably chaperoned by Eddie Powers.

Immediately after the "Lunch", the boys struggled from the table and made tracks for St. Catharines where at present they are now buckling down to hard work and if the boss doesn't find some last minute chore for me to do, I will join them on Thursday night—but not at this hard work business.

Many of the younger players at the camp had their first look at some of the old timers who attended the dinner. Prominent among them were George Hainsworth, Ace Bailey, Andy Blair, and the young-old-timers George Parsons and Jimmy Fowler but the Beau Brummel of the crowd was Frank Finnegan, all decked out in his air forces uniform and boasting the stripes of a corporal. At present Frank is stationed in Toronto and hopes to move his family here before the hockey season starts.

Joe Primeau, who has joined the refereeing staff of the N.H.L., certainly came in for a share of good advice from Moose Ecclestone, who claims that Primeau cannot even pass the army eye test and that before the season is over the rinks in the circut that Primeau works in will have to put phosphorus on the blue line to get an even break. This argument will continue all winter so watch for further news.

The usual routine will be followed at St. Kitts, with P.T. in the morning, followed by a round of golf and arguments, then right at it in the afternoon in the Garden City Arena followed with more golf arguments in the evening.

"Red" Horner, who has hung his stick up for the job of Goodwill Ambassador, will more than be missed at the camp. Red, who gained the name for himself of the Bold-Bad-Man of the N.H.L., looked rather homesick when the boys pulled stakes to start for training and I personally would like to go on record as stating that no person will miss him more than myself—Red always went out of his way to look after me any time I was with the club, and he did the same for every person connected in any way with the Maple Leafs, and Red will just go on doing this sort of thing as it is his make-up, so the Leafs are to be congratulated on their choice of a Goodwill Ambassador.

"Hap" Day is stepping into a big job and it may be a little while before he gets things ironed out to his way of doing things, but if the players are perfectly satisfied with his way of coaching a club, the fans should fall in line and give him the same support, as no more popular player ever wore a Maple Leaf uniform and Hap has a big breach to jump to carry on from where Dick Irvin left off, but there is no doubt in my mind that he will do it, but a solid fan support will help a great deal as there is no question of the loyal support he will receive from the players.

I see by the King St. Journal that Andy Lytle is hob-nobbing in Pt. Arthur with "Red" Dutton and his reformed Amerks, and if what Andy says about Dutton and his Madmen is true, Gypsy Smith had better dust off a few pews in his New York Temple for the boys in the Star Studded Sweaters — but maybe they were only giving Andy the come-on so that he would try and give Hap Day a bum steer.

Sitting next to me at the Tuesday "Free Meal" was Jimmy Fowler and he is quieter than the soft pedal on a church organ, but rumour has it that Jim has regained his amateur standing and there is ever possibility that he may be wearing a St. Catharine's uniform in the coming O.H.A. campaign—sounds nuts doesn't it? but don't forget that I told you in the merry month of October.

There are several amateurs with the Leafs that will be dropped back for another season in the NO/PAY ranks and they will line up with the Marlboro-Goodyear franchised club, so if Eddie Powers does not land with a minor pro team since the Buffalo deal has petered out, he will more than likely have the coaching chores to do for this club and with a bunch of seasoned players, the Toronto Senior O.H.A. entry should keep a couple of box offices busy—if they get any opposition.

So until Rex Stimers corners us in the Welland House to relate the story of how St. Catharines copped the Mann Cup, I must go and get fitted with a pair of insulated ear muffs.

Taking No Chances

Should the war reach into the marble palaces of India and the Orient, the East's fabulous wealth in rare gems probably will be far out of reach. The maharajah's and other potentates have prepared for the worst and now carry all their precious rubies and emeralds in little bags—ready to flee with the stones, at a moment's notice, according to Carles Eddy Paskow, gem collector, of New York.

Brampton High School CAMPUS COMMENT

For 364 days we have been waiting for our long Thanksgiving week-end; and what does it do? It rains! Why, all we could do on Monday was to eat. And may you quote us as saying, "We solemnly swear, henceforth, never to look in the eye, or be seated at the table with a brown, lusciously roasted chicken or turkey." Unquote. (Pardon us while we pick our teeth.)

On Monday wet,
We did so fret,
To see the rain come down;
But the very next day,
As is always the way,
The sun just burns me brown.

Rugby

Last Friday our school team broke into the winning column by convincingly defeating the haughty Mimico boys by a score of 7-1. The score could and should have been much greater but the breaks went against us, since two touchdowns were called back. The game was hard and closely fought, with a Mimico player being banished from the game for rough play.

Mimico were first to score, obtaining their only point in the first quarter with a long kick. In the second quarter, Lent kicked two points to put our red team one up at half-time. The third quarter was keenly played, and it wasn't until the last quarter, with five minutes remaining to play, was Lent able to throw a beautiful pass to Carter who was waiting for it over the line. The convert failed, but it was not of great importance.

Lent, McLure and Robson played sound ball for the winners, but on the whole, the team is beginning to function more smoothly each time out.

Next Friday, Brampton will journey to Weston to become acquainted with the winless blue team. Our team need a win to stay in the running, and they are out to get it.

Inglewood Girl Is Bridesmaid At Overseas Wedding

Nursing Sister Drena Birkett, daughter of Mrs. Mabel Birkett and the late Charles Birkett, of Runnymede road, Toronto, was married on September 11, "somewhere in England", to Capt. Carl Aberhart, of Seaforth, Ont., nephew of Premier Wm. Aberhart, of Alberta. A large number of members of the hospital staff and friends of the young couple attended the ceremony which was conducted by Chaplain H. P. Charters of No. 15 General Hospital, R.C.A.M.C., C.A.S.F. Nursing Sister Jean McCannell, of Inglewood, Ont., was bridesmaid and Capt. P. R. Sargent, Toronto, was groomsman. The bride was given in marriage by the Commanding Officer of the hospital, Col. C. A. Rae, Toronto. Before going overseas, Capt. Aberhart was on the staff of the Toronto General Hospital and Miss Birkett was attached to the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children.

CAPITOL NOTES

Coming attractions to the Capitol include, "Boom Town", "Foreign Correspondent", "I Love You Again", "The Westerner" and "Pinnochio".

Joe E. Brown, wide-mouthed comedian returns to the Capitol screen on Friday and Saturday in "Beware, Spooks". It is a thrill-packed comedy which turns a crime wave into waves of laughter. As a policeman, Joe E. Brown is the toast of the mobs as his dim-witted efficiency brings happy days for hold-up men. The cast includes Mary Carlisle as Joe's bewildered bride; Marc Laurence, as the mobster, and Klarence Kolb, as commissioner of police.

Jane Austen's romantic novel, "Pride and Prejudice", has been made into one of the year's brightest comedies, starring Greer Garson as the lovely Elizabeth Bennett and Laurence Olivier as the proud and wealthy Darcy. The story deals with the five willing but unwedded Bennett daughters and two handsome bachelors who comes to town. Although Laurence loves Greer, he can't overcome his dislike for her provincial family. In the end, of course, he overcomes this, but only after an exciting and quarrelsome love affair. The large cast includes Mary Boland, Edna May Oliver, Maureen O'Sullivan, Ann Rutherford and Edmund Given.

"We Who Are Young", at the Capitol Wednesday and Thursday, tells the dramatic story of a young couple who marry and attempt to fight for existence in a large city. When they both lose their jobs, they are forced to go on relief until a lucky break solves the situation. The young couple is portrayed by Lana Turner and John Shelton and the cast includes Gene Lockhart, Grant Mitchell, Henry Armetta and Jonathon Hale.

A special matinee will be held Monday at 2.30 for "Pride and Prejudice".

The shorts for the coming week include: With "Beware, Spooks" on Friday and Saturday, "Young America Flies", Screen Snapshots and a Pete Smith novelty. With "Pride and Prejudice", on Monday and Tuesday, a cartoon and with "We Who Are Young", on Wednesday and Thursday, a colored musical, Popeye cartoon and paramount news.

Rent Control Gives Temporary Relief

Rent control, introduced last month by Ottawa to protect tenants in war industry centres, is regarded as a necessary measure but one which offers no solution to the increasing housing problem, according to officials in the building industry and Canadian housing authorities. The new measure does protect present tenants against increases in living costs, but it does nothing to provide housing accommodation for the thousands of workers and their families in congested areas.

Seriousness of the housing problem is becoming more and more apparent as war industries swing into production. In a large number of communities many skilled workers have been imported and there is no living accommodation available. In one community, for instance, the management of the new factory, constructed for war production purposes, had office employes canvass every single home in the town, asking the owners if they would be prepared to accommodate one or two boarders until new and adequate housing could be provided.

Further difficulties placed in the way of new housing include the growing shortage of labor available for construction work. One Quebec municipality reported last week that more than 300 houses were required to accommodate workers at a local factory and there were less than half a dozen available building workmen in the community. Shipments of lumber has also been delayed, because of shortage of shipping facilities and the homes, urgently needed now, will not be available probably until spring.

Cost and speed of construction are the main subjects under discussion where new housing developments are considered absolutely necessary. In most cases the homes required are not necessarily elaborate, though all builders are opposed to any signs of jerry-building. Where housing developments on a large scale are being undertaken older building methods are being revised to quicken construction and to provide absolute efficiency at low cost.

Within a short distance from one recently constructed war industry plant more than a dozen small homes for office workers and executives have been built and more are being planned. Each home is original in design and is well built, cost being kept down and speed being attained through use of balloon frame construction, insul-brick exterior walls, asphalt shingle roofs and insul-board interiors. For this type of construction only carpenters are required since there are no "water" products used. Individuality of design and appearance is also possible and operating costs are low. Speed of application is an important item and was taken into consideration.

More than 600 homes of a similar type and design are now planned in an Ontario community and in western Canada smaller developments are already in progress. No figures are available on the actual housing shortage, and no figures will be possible for some time because of the shifting population due to industrial demands in some centres. In the main cities the problem may not be acute until next spring, but in the smaller industrial communities where there has never been any surplus of housing the question is being given constant attention by civic authorities.

Europe Churches Will Be Helped

On Sunday, October 27, the Canadian Churches will launch a united appeal for funds to relieve the overseas missions of many European Church now cut off from all support from their home bases.

It is estimated that 4,000 missionaries of European Churches have been deprived of support. The International Missionary Council, which officially represents the Foreign Mission Boards and Societies of all Communions, is the agency through which the Churches are seeking to aid these orphaned missions.

More than 168 missions maintained by the European churches are threatened with extinction owing to the war. Since most of these maintain, or have maintained, hospitals, leper homes, orphanages, schools, clinics and similar institutions, it is clear that their closing must be a major catastrophe for thousands of innocent people, and for the sick and destitute natives dependent upon them.

The missionaries themselves are doing their utmost to carry on their work, in spite of the fact th they have been cut off from normal sources of supply and funds; but since many of them facing actual destitution, th efforts plainly are hopeless.

Norway, Denmark and Finla alone, before the war, support more than one thousand missionaries in India, China and Afri Holland, in the Netherlands E Indies, maintained one of the la est missionary churches in world.

In this emergency, the Inter national Missionary Council w headquarters in London, has b sending help to these distress missions regardless of national or denomination. An appeal broadcast throughout Britain at the of July brought in some thousand dollars within a days. Even in their own extrem the British people responded more than generously to the call f the foreign mission fields.

Much, too, has been done by church of the United States, the need becomes steadily grea and an established income ra than occasional outbursts of ge erosity is essential if the work be carried on even at a redu scale. A total of twenty thous dollars was required for the s month of September.

Peel Holsteins Form Major Part Of Ontario Exhibit At National Dairy Show At Harrisburg, Pa.

Seven of Thirteen Head To Represent Ontario Selected from Peel

Seven head of pure bred Holstein cattle from Peel county left Brampton station Monday afternoon for the National Dairy Show which will be held at Harrisburg, Pa., from Oct. 12-19. Pick of eight Ontario herds the cattle will represent the Holstein-Friesian Association and the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Cattle from the herds of W. J. Fraser and J. M. Fraser of Streetsville and T. O. Dolson of Brampton, were the representatives of Peel.

Other animals included in the thirteen head that was shipped from Ontario came from N. W. McConkey, Peterboro; J. J. R. McCague, Alliston; Dan Murphy, Lindsay; Harold James, Lindsay; G. J. Peckham, Stratford.

The herd from Peel county is the largest herd being selected from any one county in the province to represent Canada in the Dairy Show.

They were selected by a committee which was picked from Ontario Department of Agriculture and the Holstein-Friesian Breeders Association. The men who picked the representatives were: T. R. Dent, president of the Canadian Holstein Association; L. E. O'Neill of the Livestock Branch; J. J. R. McCague, J. M. Fraser and R. M. Holtby of Port Perry.

Before being sent the animals had to undergo severe health tests for Bangs disease and Tuberculosis and required infinite attention during the shipping and loading processes. Gordon Innes of Woodstock, nationally known cattle judge and also Fred Griffin of Burgessville will be in charge of the cattle during the trip and at the fair.

Trouble was experienced concerning the passport regulation for the men accompanying the animals. Final papers allowing Griffin to enter the States were not received until a few minutes before the shipment of the cattle.

The judge of the cattle at the National Dairy Show is Paul Miasset of Maryland. The show was held last year at San Francisco.

Hints On Winter Bee Protection

For the care of bees in the remaining months of 1940, the Dominion Apiarist, C. B. Gooderham, reminds beekeepers that all bee colonies should have at least 40 pounds of wholesome stores as food during the winter. The stores should be in the hives by the first of October in northern localities or by the middle of October in more southern localities where it is likely to remain warm until later. Usually the honey stored in the brood chamber is of poor quality and deficient in quantity; therefore, the bees will have to be fed. Combs of clover or buckwheat honey are excellent for this purpose. A good plan and one that is recommended, is to supplement the stores within the brood chamber with a syrup made of two parts of pure granulated sugar to one part water. One pound of sugar should be allowed for every pound of stores required. Colonies that have stored enough honey in the brood chamber for the winter will also stand a better chance of wintering safely if given ten to fifteen pounds of sugar made into syrup in addition to the honey they already have.

Beekeepers should decide how the bees will be protected during the winter, whether in the cellar or in packing cases outside. The cellar for bees should be fairly dry, dark at all times, well ventilated, well insulated against outside temperatures and maintained at an even temperature of about 48 degrees F. The bees should be brought in as soon as possible after the last good cleansing flight, usually about the first week of November.

For cellar wintering a ten frame Langstroth hive plus its stores and bees, but without its cover, should weigh not less than 70 pounds, and for outside wintering not less than 75 pounds for safety. Miller feeders or ten-pound honey pail feeders are perhaps the best for rapid feeding. Feeding should be done as rapidly and with as little disturbance to the bees as possible. Be very careful not to excite the bees or to leave honey or syrup standing in the yard, as robbing may be started. Feeding in the evening will reduce the possibility of robbing.

In localities where there is a danger of the honey granulating hard in the combs during the winter or where an abundance of a poor grade of honey is stored in the brood chamber, several of the outside combs containing the most honey should be removed and empty combs placed in the centre of the hive and the bees fed sugar syrup.

Stock Cattle Sales

During the first 35 weeks of 1940 ended August 29th, sales of cattle on Canadian stock yards and plants totalled 671,541 head, compared with 643,058 head during the corresponding 35 weeks of 1939. The increase in sales took place largely in July and August principally in Ontario, Quebec, and British Columbia.

Fowl Handbook Issued By Dept.

In keeping with the remarkable advancement of poultry husbandry within recent years, more readily available information on the science of poultry raising became a necessity. This is met by the issue of the Canadian Poultry Handbook which has just been issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture. The handbook contains 123 pages of important information on all phases of poultry raising including housing, incubation, brooding and rearing chickens, feeding, anatomy of the domestic fowl, breeds of poultry, culling, breeding, selecting, and mating, judging poultry, marketing eggs and poultry, keeping accounts and records, poultry health and diseases, and policies for poultry improvement.

The handbook is generously illustrated and was first prepared by the New Brunswick Department of Agriculture under the authorship of Leslie Wood, Poultry Superintendent, for the use of boys and girls of the poultry clubs in that province. The new edition has been revised and considerable new material added by officers of the several services of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. In collaboration with the New Brunswick Department of Agriculture, the handbook is issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, and may be obtained free from the Extension and Publicity Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Wasps Will Raid Food Supplies

Investigations by the Division of Entomology, Science Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, cover many and varied subjects, concerning insects affecting field and garden crops, fruit and greenhouse crops, forest and shade trees, stored products, live stock, and human beings. With regard to man and his foods, the reports of insect damage are sometimes unusual. For example, a package of biscuits left at a summer cottage at Quyon, Que., during the past season was severely damaged by adult wasps. Although the package was enclosed in cellophane, the wasps easily worked their way through it and devoured irregular sections of the biscuits.

Recently a beetle (Monochamus) was brought to the office of the Division in Ottawa by a local supply firm which reported that the specimen in question had damaged a lead content cable by gnawing entirely through the outer lead sheathing of the cable while the cable was wound on the usual wooden drum.

Every summer, complaints are rife regarding insect intruders in the cottages, particularly of the beetle species. On investigation not long ago, some beetles were found to be the adults of the yellow meal worm, and others were woodland roaches which are common especially in wooded districts.

CREAMERY OWNER FINED

Recently, W. Burgess, proprietor of Omemee Creamery, Omemee, Ontario, was fined $10 and $13 costs in the police court at Lindsay, Ont., for having manufactured and sold butter containing more than 16 per cent water and less than 80 per cent of milk fat.

Manufacturing butter of such composition is a violation of both the Dairy Industry Act administered by the Dominion Department of Agriculture and, also Regulations under the Ontario Farm Products, Grades and Sales Act. These Acts state in effect that no person shall manufacture, import into Canada, sell, offer or have in possession for sale any butter containing more than 16 per cent water or less than 80 per cent milk fat. Butter which does not conform to these standards of composition is deemed to be adulterated. The information was laid by a Dominion Inspector of Dairy Products.

FIBRE FLAX SEED EXPORT

According to a report by the Agricultural Supplies Board, negotiations carried on with the Government of Northern Ireland have resulted in an agreement by the Government to take all Canadian surplus fibre flax seed of the 1940 crop at the following prices: Certified No. 1 seed, $5 per bushel; No. 1 seed, $4.25 per bushel; No. 2 seed, $4 per bushel. These prices represent an advance of 50 cents per bushel for Certified No. 1 seed. The prices for the other grades mentioned are the same as those paid for seed of the 1939 crop.

Winter Feed Supplies

While it is still too early to secure reliable estimates of the probable feed supplies for the winter of 1940-41, states the Current Review of Agricultural Conditions in Canada, published by the Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture in conjunction with the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, it appears likely that supplies of coarse grains will be adequate and that those of hay and fodder will be well above average for the country as a whole.

GRAND CHAMPION AT BRAMPTON FAIR

Grand Champion at Brampton Fair last week, and Grand Champion at the C.N.E. this year, was this bull owned by J. E. Hesck of Brampton. Strathmore Sir Hello Kube is a Holstein of exceptional breed.

Freezer Burns Cause Losses In Stored Poultry

The deterioration of stored dressed poultry in the forms of freezer burn, or pockmarking as it is generally called, and loss of bloom is caused by a slow drying of the exposed surfaces of the frozen bird. In preventing this loss in appearance and saleability and the loss due to shrinkage, two points are to be considered: First, the material used for covering the bird whether used as an individual wrap or as a liner for the poultry box must be moisture proof or highly resistant to the passage of moisture, and second, the joints or openings of the material must be closed as effectively as possible, otherwise most of the value of the moisture-resistant liner will be lost. The second requirement is the more difficult to accomplish in commercial practice. Sealing the joints is naturally the ideal plan but it is not always economically feasible.

To aid poultrymen, the Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, has drawn up specifications for lining boxes to reduce freezer burn. These specifications are given with information on paper liners and methods for lining boxes, in a pamphlet "Dressed Poultry" which may be obtained from the Publicity and Extension Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

FEEDER CATTLE SITUATION

The confidence of cattle feeders in the future market situation is fairly well demonstrated by the fact that purchases of stocker and feeder cattle on the Toronto stock yards for shipment to the country for further finishing totalled over 35,000 head for the first 36 weeks of this year, as compared with 23,000 head in the corresponding period of 1939.

The same condition holds true in the case of the Winnipeg stock yards, where shipments to the country were increased from 19,000 head in the first 36 weeks of 1939 to 28,000 in the corresponding period of 1940. This situation also applies to other stock yards in the west, the total inward movement to feedlots in Canada for the period mentioned accounting for 89,000 cattle, as against 64,000 in 1939.

FERTILIZER SALES

According to a preliminary report, sales in Canada of fertilizer materials and of mixed fertilizers, including exports but excluding the export of calcium cyanamide, during the year ended June 30, 1940, totalled 812,936 tons, compared with 803,670 tons sold during the preceding twelve months. Sales consisted of 83,094 tons of fertilizer materials and 239,206 tons of mixtures sold in Canada, a total of 322,300 tons, compared with the Canadian sales of 334,003 tons in the 1938-39 twelve months. For the year ended June 30, 1940, exports of fertilizer mixtures amounted to 37,109 tons and 154,921 tons of fertilizer materials, exclusive of calcium cyanamide.

HARDWOOD FUELS

The best hardwood fuels are beech, yellow birch, rock elm, hickory, hard maple, and oak. The fair hardwood fuels are ash, white birch, black cherry, red and white elm, and red and silver maple. One and one-quarter cords of the best hardwoods are computed to have the same heating value as a ton (2,000 lb.) of anthracite, coal, while one and one-half of the fair hardwoods are required to produce the same amount of heat. In the case of light hardwoods, alder, basswood, butternut, and poplar, two cords are needed to equal a ton of coal.

WHEAT EXPORTS INCREASE

In spite of the loss of markets in Scandinavia and the Low Countries, Canada's exports of wheat and wheat flour during the past crop year totalled 207.9 million bushels, which was the best volume exported since the 1936-36 crop year when 254 million bushels were exported. The Dominion entered the 1940-41 crop year with a carry-over of almost 361 million bushels.

Tested Recipes

Whole Green Tomatoes

1 gallon small green tomatoes
2 cups cider vinegar
4 cups brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon mixed pickle spice
1 teaspoon celery seed
10 whole cloves

Cook tomatoes 13 minutes in boiling water, a few at a time. Remove each tomato carefully, drain thoroughly, and place in jars. Make a syrup of other ingredients. Boil 5 minutes. Strain over tomatoes. Seal tightly.

Uncooked Vegetable Salad Pickle

1 peck ripe tomatoes
2 large sweet red peppers
2 large sweet green peppers
4 cups chopped onions
4 stalks celery
2 cups salt
2 tablespoons cloves
2 tablespoons pepper corns
1 teaspoon mixed pickle spice

Peel and chop tomatoes. Chop peppers, celery and onion coarsely. Mix vegetables, add salt, and let stand over-night. Boil vinegar, sugar and spices 5 minutes. Let stand overnight. Drain vegetables thoroughly. Mix with strained vinegar syrup. Pour into sterilized jars and seal. This makes an excellent salad for winter use if jellied with plain gelatine. If used as a relish, excess juice may be poured off and used as seasoning for tomato cocktail.

Ice Pickles

4 quarts thinly sliced cucumbers
1 cup thinly sliced small onions
1 green pepper cut in small pieces
¼ cup salt

Pickle Mixture

2 cups sugar
½ teaspoon turmeric
1 teaspoon celery seed
1 teaspoon mustard seed
1 stick cinnamon
10 cloves
2½ cups vinegar

Mix vegetables. Arrange in layers, sprinkling each layer with salt and crushed ice or ice cubes. Let stand 3 hours. Drain thoroughly. Boil syrup 5 minutes. Remove cinnamon and cloves. Add vegetables and heat to scalding (do not boil). Fill sterilized jars and seal at once.

Winter Salad

1 cauliflower
½ Cabbage
1 cucumber (large)
1 quart onions
1 quart green tomatoes
2 heads celery
2 quarts vinegar
1 cup flour
⅞ cups brown sugar
1 teaspoon turmeric
1 teaspoon celery seed
¼ cup mustard

Prepare all vegetables by putting them through the food chopper. Allow to stand in salt brine overnight. Then boil for 10 minutes in brine and strain. Boil vinegar, mix flour, brown sugar, mustard, turmeric and celery seed in enough cold vinegar to make a paste. Add to hot vinegar and boil until it begins to thicken. Pour over vegetables. Mix well and bottle.

Canned Fruit Stocks

Stocks of canned fruits and vegetables on hand at canneries, wholesale dealers, and chain store warehouses in Canada on July 1, 1940, according to the final report, totalled 1,029,884 cases of fruits and 1,915,700 cases of vegetables, compared with 640,858 cases of fruits and 3,801,141 cases of vegetables on hand on July 1, 1939. In addition there were over 2,700,000 cases of other products, including fruit juices, jams, jellies, soups, sauces, and tomato products.

Farm Briefs

Licensed Farm Exports

Among the Canadian agricultural products prohibited in war time from export from the Dominion, except under license, are calves' stomachs, for making rennet used for making cheese, fertilizers, fibre flax, fibre flax seed, cheese, leather, hides, skins and wool. Wool includes wool on the skin, tops, rags, waste, and yarn.

Bacon and Ham for U.K.

Exports of bacon and ham from Canada during the seven-month period, January to July, 1940, slightly exceeded 168,000,000 lb. For the corresponding period in 1939, total exports were 94,700,000 lb. The present bacon agreement with the United Kingdom will terminate on October 31, 1940. Negotiations are in progress for a renewal of the agreement or the formation of a new one.

Cheese Production

Production of cheese in Canada for the first seven months of 1940 continued to be well above the production of 1939 with a total of 71,400,000 lb. or an increase of 12.1 per cent. In July the production of cheese was 8.1 per cent above that of July, 1939, the increase being common to all provinces except Manitoba and British Columbia. For the seven-month period an increase was recorded in all provinces except British Columbia.

Increase Exports Value

The value of Canadian agricultural products exported during July, 1940, amounted to 28.6 million dollars compared with 24.7 million dollars in July, 1939. Animals and animal products accounted for 12.8 million dollars, and crop and vegetable products for 15.8 million dollars. From January to July, 1940, there was a notable increase in the value of exports of wheat, wheat flour, bacon, hams, cheese, eggs and potatoes, compared with the corresponding seven months of 1939.

Enemies Of Britain

Arthur Szyk, distinguished Polish artist, who was in Toronto to arrange an exposition of his work, said in an interview he has no patience with those who say Hitler is the only enemy, not the German people.

"We are up against a nation which has gone mad and you don't try to cure a mad dog. You kill him. When I say 'we' it is because I feel that as a Pole I am bound with England, as any Pole must feel."

Mr. Szyk is a veteran of the Russian imperial army who fought against the Bolsheviks and his son now is serving in General de Gaulle's army in England.

Crate Fattening Produces Finest Market Chickens

Greater Profits Are Possible In This Way Say Experts

If proof were needed, which it is not, the recent analysis on finishing chickens for market, based on experiments at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, emphasized the fact that crate fattening of chickens at roasting age produces the best market stock, that pen fattening is a reasonably good substitute where crate fattening may not be easily possible, and that killing birds directly off range should be avoided, if at all possible, except with capons which are usually reasonably fat on range.

It is only the exceptional bird which is sufficiently fat to make top market grades without some fattening treatment, says H. S. Gutteridge, Division of Poultry Husbandry, Dominion Experimental Farm Service. Recent tests show that very few birds at roaster age are sufficiently fat to enter the top grades without some fattening treatment. Birds which were fattened at that stage gained three times as much during a two-week period as did a comparable group left on range. Not only was this the case but the greater gain was made on approximately the same feed consumption (exclusive of the liquid skim milk fed in fattening), indicating that the birds on range used up a much greater proportion of their feed to maintain activity and body temperature, both of which added nothing to their ultimate market value.

While the gain was three times greater for the crate fattened birds, its value was approximately five times greater owing to the fact that the grading of the crate fattened birds was greatly improved bringing a higher price per pound for the weight gained. In the final analysis, the profit due to crate fattening in this experiment was approximately 24 cents per bird, after feed costs had been deducted. The cost of the fattening crates and of additional labour must be deducted from this figure to arrive at an exact assay of crate feeding.

In crate feeding, the birds are confined to simply constructed fattening crates, details of which may be obtained on request from the Poultry Husbandry Division. Best results from crate feeding are obtained from feeding a mixture of finely-ground home-grown grain or finely-ground grains. All feeds are given wet, that is, mixed to a poultice-like batter with buttermilk or skim-milk. The best fattening grains are oat groats, white or yellow corn, buckwheat, wheat, oats, and barley in the order named. The first three are outstanding, with wheat intermediate, and oats and barley least satisfactory.

Fraudulent Assertions

Herr Funk, Germany's Minister of Economics, has quoted with approval Colonel Lindbergh's recent assertion that "when the rich get too rich and the poor too poor, something happens." This explanation of the present war has long been a part of Nazi and Fascist propaganda, but it hardly stands up very well against the facts. It is Japan that is attacking China. Is the average standard of living in Japan below that in China? It is Russia that has successfully forced Poland, Finland and Rumania to surrender territory, and that gobbled up in their entirety Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania. Was this because an already gigantic Russia began with too little territory while those other countries had too much? Was Italy a poorer country than the Ethiopia and the Albania that she invaded and seized? If Germany was a "have-not" country in 1939, were Czecho-Slovakia and Poland "have" countries? The claims of the Nazis to economic "equality" have always been fraudulent; they want to dominate, exploit, pillage and enslave.

If we look for a realistic substitute of the Lindbergh dictum endorsed by Herr Funk, it would have to run something like this:

When a country is unscrupulous, and has less than it thinks it can grab by force, something happens. But this means that it must already be relatively rich in some vital respects. It must have the purchasing power or the industrial equipment to provide itself with supremacy in ships, planes, tanks, guns and other instruments of war to start grabbing from other countries that have either short-sightedly neglected to provide themselves with even more such instruments of war, or have just been too poor to do so.—New York Times.

The Story of Your Newspaper

I Am Your Reporter . . .

This is one of a series telling the story of your newspaper. The Conservator is presenting these articles in connection with National Newspaper Week, Oct. 1-5.

I'M your newspaper reporter.

You know me well, because I am your second self. While your jobs and responsibilities keep you busy, I serve as your eyes and ears. I see and hear for you the many things you have neither the time nor means to see and hear for yourself.

Your bank is robbed at midnight. You are asleep, but I am there for you.

Your council meets. You are at work, but I am there for you.

For you, I am all things to all men. The fat politician, the noisy reformer, the hunted criminal, the executive, the housewife, the guy with the pick on a job—I talk to them all, and they talk to me.

FOR you I walk through the broken doors of tenements and the marble entrances of palaces. I walk the hard, hot asphalt of the streets, and the cool, soft rugs of tycoons' offices. I listen when controversies rage. I hear when self-appointed saviors spout.

I see and hear—and impart to you information upon which you may form your own judgment. Thus I help you to vote wisely, to choose well, to order the way of your democracy.

Because I live in a democracy, I am free to write as I see and hear. No Gestapo agent jogs my elbow when my soft, black pencil writes what I have heard for you. No OGPU spy silences my battered typewriter's keys as they clatter out the story I have witnessed for you. Few men and women own this precious freedom today. I must guard it well.

I write—fearlessly, dispassionately, without prejudice—whatever I see and hear. It isn't quite history, and it isn't quite literature, but it has living blood. I sift the grain of importance from the chaff of unimportant detail in what one man says or another man does—hoping that I will impart to you a true picture of what goes on in this peculiar world of ours.

THAT'S why, at high noon or at bleak midnight, I am ready at the jangle of the telephone bell.

That's why I'm always at the scene when fire engines roll; when mobs can't wait for the law, but turn to knife or gun or bludgeon; when orators debate; when men with power meet to shape destiny.

That's why I am warm hardboiled, cynical, tough when I must, sweet and sentimental when I must, impertinent questions.

It is because you want to see and hear the truth. And I am your reporter.

"Everything he does is 'a la blitzkrieg'"

BILL was a bookkeeper, thin, nervous, excitable. Everything he did was "a la blitzkrieg," talked fast, walked fast, worked fast. He'd hit the office earlier, worked later, than anybody in the department. The boss noticed him, said "Good boy, Bill. Have to keep my eye on him."

But what happened? Bill started to slump . . . after six months he sunk to the bottom of the department. Just couldn't keep up the hot pace he'd been setting. Started to watch the clock, was always tired, had headaches, worked hard and got nowhere. The boss noticed him, said "Good-bye, Bill, you're fired."

There are all kinds of "Bills." Example, look at the Bill that's illustrated in this ad. He, too, is a bookkeeper, works furiously . . . but this Bill knows how to relax. Notice the glass of milk on the desk? It's Rosedale Dairy milk —meaning it tastes good . . . AND it counteracts fatigue, nervousness. It's a mobilization of vitamins, carbohydrates, fat, mineral . . . it's a fortification that keeps you fit, freshens you up. Drink a quart daily.

Pictured here with her bridal attendants is Mrs. William E. Secord who was married in Caledon East United Church recently by Rev. C. E. J. Cragg of Toronto and Rev. Morley Metcalfe. Before her marriage she was Miss Doris McCartney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. McCartney of Caledon East. Her attendants were Miss Blanche Nelson, Caledon East; Miss Phyllis Stecklemer, Toronto, and her sister, Miss Margaret McCartney, also of Toronto. The little flower girl is Miss Beverly Gott of Toronto.

NORVAL

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Early, Brampton, were visitors here Sunday.

Mrs. Chas. Donaldson, Brampton, was a Sunday visitor at the home of Mrs. C. Moreton.

Friends are pleased to hear Mrs. J. N. Morgason is home again from the Private Patients' Pavilion, Toronto, where she has been quite ill.

Building operations are a great improvement to our village. Some of the recent additions are: The residences of Cecil Adams, John Marshall, also the supplement to the Hollywood Inn corner, and the garage on the side street.

We welcome Rev. and Mrs. Holbroke of Grand Valley to our community. Rev. Holbroke will preach at the 11 a.m. service at St. Paul's Anglican Church. At the 7.30 p.m., Rev. W. G. O. Thompson of Georgetown, will be the guest speaker.

Junior Farmers Meet

The October meeting of the Norval Junior Farmers was held on Tuesday evening, October 8th, at the home of Mr. Jack Ruddell, Ashgrove. The roll call was answered by replying to the request, "Why I Vote." The secretary-treasurer then read the minutes of the previous meeting and after being moved and seconded, they were adopted. We are pleased to report the addition of several new members to our club. During the business part of the meeting it was decided that the Norval Club was in favour of holding a Short Course in Norval from Jan. 7th to Jan. 21st. A committee comprising Craig Reid and Claude McLaughlin was appointed to make arrangements for the Fall Dance, to be held sometime in November. After the business part of the meeting was concluded, a true and false Quiz on agricultural topics was enjoyed. A very timely and educational topic was chosen by our capable young speaker, Sam. McClure, Jr., who spoke on "The European Corn Borer." Following lunch a social evening was spent in dancing. The November meeting is to be held at the home of Claude and Richard McLaughlin.

Terra Cotta

The October meeting of the U.F.O. and U.F.W.O. was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Thompson with about fifty (50) members present. The ladies' meeting was opened by singing The Maple Leaf, followed by the Lord's Prayer. The Secretary, Mrs. Albert Dolson, then read the minutes of the September meeting, which on motion, were adopted. A well-prepared paper was given by Mrs. James McKane on the motto, "He who knows how little he knows is on the way to knowledge." A short address was then given by Mrs. Gordon Graydon, her subject being Royalty and Loyalty, in which she paid a beautiful tribute to our King and Queen, pointing out their great loyalty to their people as well as to the King of Kings. The joint meeting with the President, Mr. T. L. Leslie, in the chair, was opened with a well-rendered piano duet by Nora Lyons and Jean Eccles. This was followed by a reading by Jean Dick. A pleasing feature of the program was vocal duets by Ethel and Jean Hyatt, of Norval, accompanied at the piano by Miss Allie Sinclair, who later delighted the audience with a beautifully-rendered piano solo. The speaker of the evening was Gordon Graydon, M.P., who gave us some of the highlights of Parliamentary life and spoke of the serious problems and grave responsibilities before our Government in these days of strain and stress. He also touched on problems facing the farmer of the West as he saw them on his recent visit to the Western Country. After a vote of thanks and appreciation had been tendered to those taking part in the program, the meeting was closed by singing the National Anthem. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Thompson and her helpers and a social half hour spent by all present.

NORVAL RIFLE CLUB

Owing to the holiday and a wet night, the attendance was very slim, only six members attending and the aggregate scores are as follows: M. Atkinson, 100x9; C. C. Meredith, 100x9; A. W. Wilson, 99x9; Chas. Caves, 99x8; Mary J. Crozier, 95x3; C. J. Cantelon, 94x4.

The Ontario Provincial Winter Fair (Guelph Winter Fair), in cooperation with the Ont. Dept. of Agriculture and the Union Stock Yards Co., Toronto, will hold a commercial show and sale of beef cattle, sheep and swine, Nov. 29 and 30, at Union Stock Yards, where a similar show and sale of outstanding success was held last fall. Upwards of $2,000 is being offered in prize money, states L. E. O'Neill, Secretary of the Guelph Winter Fair.

R. F. McWilliams, K.C., of Winnipeg, has been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, effective Nov. 1. Mr. McWilliams was born in Peterborough, Ont., on Oct. 10, 1874, has been living in Winnipeg and practicing law there since 1910. He succeeds Hon. W. J. Tupper who has been Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba since 1934, whose term has been successfully extended pending the appointment of his successor.

Toronto's traffic death toll for 1940 rose to fifty-nine on Friday with the death of two victims in hospital. With over two months and a half before the end of the year, traffic deaths this year are only two short of the total for the whole of 1939.

Mrs. Marion Elizabeth Hutchings, wife of George Edward Hall, publisher of the Clinton News-Record, died last week at her home, Rattenbury Street, Clinton, in her sixty-seventh year.

E. G. Rowebottom, Deputy Minister of Trade and Industry at Victoria, announces that the first shipment of British Columbia eggs is being loaded for transport to Britain, and that efforts are being made to promote such shipments as a regular trade to make up Britain's lost European sources for eggs. A total of 22,000 cases is being loaded at Vancouver for transport to the Atlantic by train for trans-shipment overseas.

A cabled pledge to the British people of "every assistance in our power" flashed across the Atlantic last week from the fifty-third triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States. In the form of a resolution adopted by the church's "House of Bishops", the message deplored the "slaughter of innocent children" and registered "abhorrence of these indiscriminate, wanton and merciless attacks."

Agriculture And Science

Agriculture's debt to science is always increasing. The quality and value of its products are being enhanced in many ways. A problem for livestock men, which has been successfully attacked in the last few years in England and the United States, is that of preserving fodder crops in a fresh green state. This had long been done with corn but not with other forage crops.

Along comes the agricultural chemist, who discovered that one of the differences between corn and grass is the lower sugar content of the latter, which slows up fermentation, allowing a harmful type of bacteria to decompose the protein, producing a disagreeable odor and a strong tendancy to rot.

So then it was found that by chopping up the fodder crops, wet or dry, spraying them with molasses and storing them in a silo, they would keep perfectly. The molasses, we are told, increases the carbohydrate content, and through fermentation in the silo, produces lactic and acetic acids, which preserve the silage without reducing the food value to any appreciable extent.

Thus the success of the fodder crop is no longer at the mercy of the weather and serious loss of value is prevented. Score one for the agricultural chemist.

Used U.S. Planes

Canada has taken over about two dozen second-hand fighting planes which the United States army air corps originally released to France shortly before that country's fall, it was learned.

The planes, which are obsolete as far as the U.S. army air corps is concerned, will be used for advanced training under the Commonwealth air training scheme. They are Northrup attack planes, and will be used temporarily in conjunction with the standard Harvard trainers while there is a shortage of Harvard planes.

Norval Rifle Club Soon Will Mark Sixth Anniversary of Formation

Club Members Have Won Many of Canada's Most Coveted Trophies

Soon celebrating its sixth year of existence the Norval Rifle Club ranks among the better clubs of the province. Formed in 1935 by Eli Gollop of Norval, the club started with ten members and at present has close to twenty-five members. "The present capacity of the indoor range may be limited if our membership increases such as it has been," declared W. R. Hall, president of the Club.

The outdoor range, situated along the banks of the Credit river in a cleared spot, is picturesque and forms an ideal setting for the range. The indoor range on the other side of the river is made from an old Cooper's mill. An ideal clubroom with a big open fireplace is situated at the front of the indoor range.

Numbered among the trophies captured by the club are the Canadian Championship in the small bore class which was won at the Dewar match in Montreal this year by Maurice Atkinson of Streetsville and won the two years previously by Harvey Nurse of Norval. The Boentroeger trophy which is contested for three times a year was won on Labour Day by George and Bill Hall. Norma Hall, one of the three lady members of the club, won the highest score for the individual scoring.

Eli Gollop, founder of the club, was for many years president of various clubs in the Western part of Canada. First interested in shooting in 1888, Mr. Gollop started the Winnipeg club, later he moved to Victoria where he organized three clubs. He organized a civilian club and trained civilians during the world war.

One year he shot in the Dominion Rifle league where he was thirteen points short of the 4,000 score. Another time he was five days on the Vancouver range where a Dominion shoot was held and lost the whole aggregate by one point. "It was all my fault, too," explained Mr. Gollop. "If I had been a little less careless it wouldn't have happened."

W. R. Hall, president of the club, explained that members always use the .22 rifle. "The .303 is too heavy and makes too much noise in the indoor range." Mary Troyer and Mrs. C. Caves are the other two women members of the club.

Davis united in marriage Miss Mona Scrymager, daughter of Mr. John Scrymager, and Mr. Frederick Kennard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Kennard of Huttonville. The bride was attended by Miss Laura Casum as bridesmaid, and little Miss Grace Scrymager as flower girl. Mr. Robert Kennard was groomsman. Mr. and Mrs. Kennard will live in Brampton.

Mrs. Reg. Dyer and her young son, of London, England, visited Sunday with her aunt, Mrs. Alf. McMurchy, on her way to her home at Tilden Lake. The boat they came over on narrowly escaped being torpedoed and there were air raids uncomfortably close. Having lived in that section of London which is very close to large munition plants, it had been under almost constant air raids, so that for weeks they had not been able to go to bed.

Red Cross Society

The Red Cross Society met at the home of Mrs. Chas. McCauley, chairlady of the Unit, on Tuesday evening, with twelve ladies present. Mrs. McCauley reported twenty-eight pairs of socks, one crib quilt, one pair of pyjamas and one refugee dress sent with the bale which was packed in Brampton on Monday. She also reported on the allocation of refugee clothing allotted to the Chinguacousy Red Cross and asked that Huttonville make twenty skirts, size eighteen, as their share. It was decided to have the committee in charge of the cutting hand out the sewing for the ladies to do at home, rather than have the expense of heating the hall during the winter months, also that they meet on the nineteenth of November at the home of Mrs. Stacey to quilt.

Everything Of Value

There are many things you do not know. Who does know them? Those who have lived longer and had more experience. There are such men in every community willing to talk, if you will listen, states the Guelph Mercury. Everything of value goes into conversation and print. Because of its value, it travels. Some one in your community will hear or read it, and repeat it. Finally it becomes common knowledge. The old sayings we quote from day to day represent the wisdom of thousands of years. The old books in your house are now seldom studied; some one has squeezed the good out of them, and is repeating it on the highways.

HERE We Are AGAIN

By John Paul

Aw, shucks, I had a swell poem all ready for a starter and now I can't find it. Maybe I left it—no, I looked there, didn't I? Then it must be—no, it's not there. Wait a minute, I haven't looked in—but I will—right now.

Yep, I've found it. Here it is:

Ahem:

I'm a very quiet fellow
But whenever I'm aroused
I give off a lusty bellow
Like a herd of frightened cows.

Though I'm timid as a mouse is
When things are going fine,
Everybody in the house is Scared when I get out of line.

One of nature's meekest creatures,
As I think I've said before.
But you ought to see my features,
And you ought to hear me roar.

When I see a pretty girlie,
One that perhaps might turn my head,
Whose skin is soft, teeth pearly,
But whose fingernails are red!

Life of Cornelius Crosner

Chapters XIII, XIV, and XV (triple feature): There's gonna be some changes made. Six lessons from Adam Lasonga. I'm a devil in my own home town.

THE END.

Wal I'll Be Switched Dept.:

Fireman who answered an alarm in the business district of Rice Lake, Wisconsin, played four streams of water at a red glow visible through the billows of smoke pouring from the first floor of a store building. A puff of wind cleared away the smoke and revealed that the fire was upstairs. The red glow they had been dousing with water was a Neon tube around a clock.

I could make a crack about "time" and "tide" here, but won't.

Chapter XII.: I'm Sorry For Myself.

Problem

The puzzle of the week, and a very perplexing one now facing not a few semi-broke youngsters as they gaze wistfully at all that remains of last week's allowance is as follows:

Andy Hardy or Snow White?

Roman in the Glomin'

"Hey, Ciano. Come here."

"Okay, Benny. Whata ya want?"

"We gotta stoppa da Englis from maka da beeg fool out us."

"How, father-in-law?"

"Whatsa da matter for our navy huh?"

"She's a good navy. Hardly any ships been lost. Mediterranean still our sea. We know how to find our way around so da British they never finda us."

"Can we find da British?"

"Justa last week, papa-in-law five of our destroyers found British tug near Corsica. Our brave navy give chase. We almost caughta the tug when we had to turn back and head home."

"Oh? Why?"

"Another English tug had come to join the first."

bandoleer," said the chief.

Mrs. Mary Greene, mother of the slain woman, declared that the [illegible] had roomed at her house. "[illegible] daughter was pregnant for nine months."

William Selmes Jr. of Erindale testified that he was coming home from work when he noticed someone on the highway fixing a flat tire. He slowed up and asked if there was any help needed. The answer was "No". He declared that the car was a 1931 Frontenac of a bluish shade. The incident occurred on number five highway fifty yards west of the exit of the Credit Valley Golf Club.

The prosecution established that Matthew had recently purchased a 1931 Frontenac sedan of a blue shade in Toronto.

Miss Florence May Wood, a friend of Matthew, testified that Matthew was "unhappy at home". "He said that he would marry me if he got a divorce." Every night when he came home the bedclothes were the same as when he got up in the morning," she said.

Provincial Officer Ray Hodgson testified that he arrested Matthew in Toronto to bring him to the County Gaol. He had already been arrested by Toronto police. Officer Hodgson explained that the car had been drained, "partially to obtain evidence for this case."

He stated that he had the fingernail filings from Matthew's hands of mud and lint.

The second day of the assizes closed on Wednesday evening with still a number of crown witnesses to be heard and the defence not yet presented. It is believed that the case may last until Friday or Saturday.

Ten Grandmothers Have Charge Of Malton Institute Meeting

Will Honour Malton Boy Now With Royal Air Force Overseas

MALTON.—Here's to Grandmothers everywhere seemed to be the spirit in which the members of Malton Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. H. Murray on Oct. 9, 1940. After the customary opening exercises and reading of correspondence, delegates were appointed to attend the Area Convention held in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, Nov. 5, 6, 7, as follows: Mrs. F. Scarlett, Mrs. W. Patterson and Mrs. G. Price.

Report of Brampton Fair Institute Exhibit showed Malton stood highest in points in a group of five branches. Some of the exhibits were on display as well as many articles made for Red Cross. A full report of Trinity and Malton Red Cross units was given. The Trinity group asked for quilt blocks eighteen inches square. Much credit is due these groups that are doing such splendid work turning out quilts, cot quilts, pyjama suits, shirts, socks, skirts and bloomers. Mrs. Speers kindly donated funds to supply wood for Malton Hall. Donations of apple jelly were collected also.

A Malton boy, Frank Kitely, went to England seven years ago to train as a pilot and has now become Sergeant Pilot in the Royal Air Force. He is in active service and has made several bombing raids over Berlin. It was the unanimous wish of the members to send a Christmas box to Sergeant Pilot F. C. N. Kitely as his mother, the late Mrs. F. Kitely, was an esteemed member of this branch.

It was also decided to purchase fifty boxes of Christmas cards to be disposed of by the members.

Mrs. Fred Lawrence thanked the Institute kindly for the use of the hospital bed by her son, Leslie, who has almost recovered from his accident.

Roll call, "My favourite Autograph Verse", proved appropriate for Grandmothers's Day. Mrs. Murray gave the Historical Preview of the home.

The entertainment part of the afternoon was given over to the Grandmothers, ten in number. The President called upon Mrs. M. A. Leuty to take the chair. Mrs. S. Graham favored with piano solos. The motto, "The older friendship grows the stronger it becomes", was taken by Mrs. McBride. The love of long-tried friends surrounds us like the air—warm, soft and golden. Make new friends but keep the old. Those are silver, these are gold." An original poem by Mrs. J. H. Price, a great grandmother, was enjoyed with increasing zest. A reading by Mrs. Speers on "True Life" was full of inspiring morals. A solo by Mrs. Wm. Garbutt, "My Ain Folks", was very fitting. "What's done in Granddad's day" proved a very humorous number by Mrs. See. Another original poem was read by Mrs. Hutchinson, comparing to-day with Grandmother's day. A reading by Mrs. W. Patterson entitled "Great Grandmother Anne" told of the true worth of Grandmothers long ago. A reading, "Keep summer in the heart", given by Mrs. Leuty, was full of life's philosophy.

A dainty lunch was served by the social hostesses, Mrs. E. Bryans, Mrs. R. Grafton and Mrs. G. Price, assisting Mrs. Murray.

Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. Patterson when "Fruits for Food and Flavor" will be demonstrated by the local leaders.

Trinity Junior Farmers sponsored a very enjoyable evening at Elmbank Hall recently in honour of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Allison, who were recently married. Mrs. Allison was Gwen Lawrence. The young couple were presented with a beautiful electric clock.

The Red Cross workers of Malton staged a euchre and dance on Tuesday in aid of their work funds. These ladies meet each Thursday in the Hall for Red Cross sewing and other work. The event was most successful and a neat sum was realised for war work. Prizes were won by: Ladies, Nora Sythes, Mrs. Clarkson, and consolation, Miss Middlebrook; men's, Mr. Middlebrook, Frank Smith, and consolation, Norman Hurl.

Neighbours are glad to see Mr. Middlebrook around again after his recent illness.

Mrs. Harvey Weech is convalescing after her recent illness with her sister in Toronto. It is expected she will return home next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith French, Toronto, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McBride.

Mrs. Sythes and Miss Nora Sythes left today for a visit with friends near Barrie.

The ladies of Malton United Church are busy making preparations for the annual fowl supper to be held early in November. Turkey will be the principal item on the menu this year.

The Story of Your Newspaper

I Am the Mechanic . . .

This is one of a series telling the story of your newspaper. The Conservator is presenting these articles in connection with National Newspaper Week, Oct. 1-8.

I'M the newspaper mechanic.

I make the wheels go round. I print the paper.

My skilled fingers operate the machines which turn typewritten pages into metallic type; they "make up" that type into the pages of your newspaper. My well-trained hands pour the molten metal that transfers the impression of that page into a cylindrical plate. Amid the clatter of the press-room I guide the flying paper through the intricate cylinders of the presses. My keen eye and long training produce the zinc plates from which pictures are printed.

MY trade, be it printer or stereotyper or engraver or pressman, is a skilled and honest one with venerable tradition behind it. I went through a long apprenticeship before I was admitted to full standing in my craft. Not only skill, but character, were considered before I was admitted to fellowship with men who for 500 years have been printing the written word.

I am solid, dependable. My neighbors know me as a good citizen and a good neighbor. I bear responsibility, and I bear it steadily. I have never forgotten the days when printer and editor were one, the days of old Ben Franklin. Though my work is now all mechanical, I still have an eye for a good story.

I HAVE pride in my work. A poor bit of makeup, a smudged cut, a misplaced line, or a blurred letter—such things worry me. Sometimes the editors think I am fussy. But I know good work, and I get a kick out of producing it.

The clatter of linotypes, the crunch of a mat roller, the whirr of arc lights on the engraving camera, the roar of the presses—these are kind of like music to me.

And finally, there is the paper, clean and crisp. I don't often say much about it, but I'm proud of that evidence of a job well done.

First United Church To Celebrate 115th Anniversary Next Friday

First Building of Former Methodist Church Built in 1825

PORT CREDIT.—First United Church, Port Credit, will on Sunday, October 20th, commemorate its 115th anniversary, when special services will be held morning and evening.

At 11 o'clock, Rev. J. P. MacFarlane, minister of Parkdale United Church, Toronto, will preach. Mr. MacFarlane has just come from a very successful pastorate in Chatham and was formerly from Montreal. In the evening the preacher will be Rev. C. A. McLaren, associate minister at St. George's United Church, Toronto. Both these men are outstanding ministers and fine speakers. Both the junior and senior choir will present special music for the day under the leadership of S. D. Webb, organist and choirmaster.

Rev. J. Elwood Mitchell, who is serving his seventh year of his pastorate here, ministers to a congregation which is justly proud of its record of Christian service as Port Credit's oldest church. Founded in 1825, after small groups of devout Methodists had met for several months in the farm home of Wesley Watson, the first church building was erected that year. Rebuilt and renovated through the years, that original structure still stands, and is now the lodge hall of Mississauga Lodge A.F. & A.M. Expansion necessitated the building of a new church in 1894, when members of the congregation contributed much of the work and materials which went to the erection of the present edifice.

Prior to 1912, the church formed part of the Cooksville circuit, administered to over the years by many outstanding clerics, including Edgerton Ryerson. In that year, however, the Boundaries Committee of the Conference granted the petition of the congregation to declare the church an independent station, and Rev. F. H. Nourse became the first minister of the separate church.

Mr. Mitchell who succeeded Rev. J. D. Richardson, is the 57th minister to administer to spiritual needs of the congregation. Many descendants of pioneer members are still associated with the work of the church. Just a week ago a new group of the C.G.I.T. was organized under the leadership of Mrs. Stanley Lawrence and Miss Muriel Harris, and this year a new furnace is being installed.

First United Church extends to all its friends and adherents a cordial invitation to join with its membership in the celebration of its anniversary. As has been the custom in past years, the evening service of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church has been cancelled in order that members may attend the anniversary service.

In Memoriam

CHRISTIE—In loving memory of our dear daughter, Isa Watt Christie, who passed away suddenly October 21st, 1937.
Come to my heavenly garden,
And see in perfect bloom,
The flower you loved so dearly,
And thought that I plucked too soon,
Then you will know my reason,
Though you will know it not to-day,
Why in her promising womanhood
I took your dear daughter away.
—Sadly missed by mother, dad, and Elizabeth.

Mrs. David Terry Hostess To Group

CLARKSON.—Mrs. David Terry entertained the members of Clarkson United Church W.A., on Tuesday afternoon when they held their October meeting at her home. The vice-president, Mrs. F. Atkinson, was in the chair and the theme of the meeting was "Thanks".

Mrs. P. W. Hodgetts read an excellent Thanksgiving paper which had been prepared by Mrs. Goldie and who was unable to be present and it proved most interesting. Mrs. Harold Sanders also gave a fine paper on "War Threatens Disaster of Foreign Missions," which was splendid. The devotional period was led by Mrs. J. H. Diers and Mrs. A. S. Cook, delegate to the Official Board, read the minutes of the last meeting and gave a report on Dr. McClure's address. Among other business discussions, plans were made for the social Sunday evening service to be taken by the Society in November, an announcement of the date to be made later. Before concluding the business sessions, Mrs. P. W. Hodgetts asked the members to save their wire coat hangers and they were also requested to save their Crisco labels and Cameo soap wrappers and the money raised from these articles will be voted to the local active service men. The ladies were quite pleased to have Rev. Harold Sanders attend their meeting. Refreshments served by the hostess closed an interesting afternoon.

Income Taxes

Advance payments of income tax on 1940 income will be gladly received by income tax inspectors of the national revenue department, it was disclosed.

Although payment of income tax is not due until April 30 next year, advance payments in part or in whole will provide the government with additional tax-free money with which to carry on the war.

The department also is urging taxpayers to put a little away each week or month so that when the tax comes due they will be in a position to pay.

"The tax payment to be made on or before the 30th of April next year and each year thereafter will be so heavy that it may come as a surprise to those who have to pay it and have not provided for it," the department says in a pamphlet.

The department prepared a table, showing weekly or monthly savings that must be made out of weekly or monthly earnings in order to have the money on hand to pay the tax.

For instance, a married person without dependents with an income of $2,000 and taxable to the extent of $35, should put away 67 cents a week or $2.92 a month; a person earning $3,000 should put away $2.60 a week or $11.25 a month, to pay his tax of $135.

Young People At Cooksville Hear Fine Address On China

Former Principal of Chinese School Was Guest Speaker

COOKSVILLE.—China will be a stronger nation after this Japanese invasion than ever in her history is the opinion of H. W. Becking, Queen Elisabeth Way, who addressed a gathering of members of Cooksville United Young People's Union on Monday evening of this week. Mr. Becking spent 10 years in South China as principal of a native boys' school and is familiar with that district, its people and its customs.

"I am not at all worried about Japan taking China," he said. "They may drive the Chinese back. The Chinese will open up the interior which is the richest part of the country."

The position of women in that country was touched on by Mr. Becking. "Women are just chattels," he said. He told of how it was a common sight to see a father walking down a street followed by his eldest son, his second son, and the others in order of age, then his wife and daughters if he took them out at all. In the section in which he lived Mr. Becking said that women were so little thought of that it wasn't safe for a native to walk down the street with his wife. Now in that particular district, due to education women receive more respect.

Mr. Becking told something of the work that was attempted and what was accomplished in the school in which he held the principalship. Seventy-two Chinese boys between the ages of 12 and 18 years were in residence.

The day started at 6 in the morning with P.T. at 6.15. There was no chance of escaping this unless the boy could prove he was really sick. Following breakfast at 8, regular classes started at 9 with ten minutes' recess in every hour. In the afternoon school was dismissed at 4 to allow every boy to participate in a sports program which included softball, cricket, basketball, soccer and volleyball. The boys showed a preference for soccer.

Meals cost very little. The noon meal for each boy cost about 1/6 of a cent in our money and the evening meal about 4 cents. Following the evening meal there was a rest period of 15 minutes. Study period lasted from 7.30-8.30. "After listening to those boys studying out loud a different lesson at the same time, I can stand any noise in Canada," said Mr. Becking. Evening prayers lasted for fifteen minutes.

So enthusiastic were the young people that Mr. Becking promised to speak to them later on in the season about China.

Les Riva, vice-president, had charge in the absence of Norman Sanderson who is taking military training. The Scripture lesson was read by Miss Beulah Tommey, who also took the meditation. She compared the sayings of such Chinese philosophers as Confucius, Mencius and Laotse with the teachings of Christ. Miss Gladys Cook led in prayer.

Miss Helen Brumskill, convener of the missionary committee, presided for the presentation of the program. Miss Marjorie Harris favored with a vocal solo, accompanied by Miss Doris McKee at the piano. During the business part of the meeting, Bill Somerville read the minutes of the last meeting and the offering was taken up by Ross Tommey. Bill Pickett pronounced the benediction.

Canada Calls Up Physically Fit Youth For Military Training

Canada's Fur Industry

Canada is one of the leading sources of world supply for raw furs, states Agricultural and Industrial Progress in Canada, a monthly review published by the Canadian Pacific Railway. The Dominion occupies this position primarily by the possession of one of the great preserves of wild fur bearers, but an important contribution is made by the fur farm industry.

The leading area in fur production in the Dominion, as measured by value, is the Province of Ontario with Quebec second. The value of the pelts taken in Ontario in the fur trading season 1938-39 was $2,527,700, while in Quebec it was $2,230,000. The value reported for Prince Edward Island was $1,299,300, Nova Scotia $601,800; New Brunswick $1,361,200; Manitoba, $1,267,700; Saskatchewan, $983,400; Alberta, $1,345,100; and British Columbia, $1,117,000. In the Yukon territory the value of the pelts taken was $267,700 and in the Northwest Territories $1,205,600. Both wild life and fur farms contribute to the takings of pelts in all provinces and the Yukon. Prince Edward Island is the original home of the fur farm.

Easy On Clothes

It is a pity, now that we are expected to make our clothes last longer, that we cannot look for a tip or two from Tennyson, for the poet seems to have been remarkably successful in such matters. He wore one favorite cloak nearly all his life, and even knew how to make shoes last almost indefinitely.

William Allingham told how, when he and Browning dined with him one evening, the Poet Laureate talked of boots and how to preserve them, and, by way of illustration, exhibited a pair of shoes which he had had in wear for 40 year. "We examined them," said Allingham, "and agreed that they afforded evidence of the immortality of the sole."—Manchester Guardian.

Have Everything Planned

When Hitler seized control in Germany seven years ago, and at once began to build up a formidable air force, it was noted that the civilian pilots, flying German Lufthansa machines to Croydon, were being changed with suspicious frequency. The astute observers who called attention to this sinister fact were then derided, says an English writer in the Ottawa Journal. It is interesting now to find how correct were these so-called alarmists. Of the German bomber pilots who took part in the raid on Croydon—all of whom were shot down—no fewer than two, now prisoners, prove to be well-known former Berlin - Croydon Lufthansa pilots. They were immediately identified by the Croydon staff after being captured on bailing out. It is clear, therefore, that long before our politicians awoke to Germany's real aims, Hitler was training as many German pilots as possible as future bombers of London.

THREE MEN DROWNED IN HUMBER AT BOLTON

Award Brampton Accident Victim $2,800 Damages

Supreme Court Jury Gives Judgement In Accident Case

Dennis Smith of Brampton was awarded damages of $2,800 and costs from William Taylor, driver of a Provincial Highways Department truck, in a lengthy civil action in Supreme Court here this week. Action was dismissed against R. A. Scott, who operated the snowplow attached to the Taylor truck. Disposition of the costs in this second action will be decided by Mr. Justice Hope today.

The action arose from an accident in February when Smith, a member of the Lorne Scots, stationed at Exhibition Camp was coming home on leave, and was proceeding north on his motorcycle on No. 10 highway at the southern limits of the town. As he passed the snowplow there was a collision which Smith claimed was due to negligent driving on the part of the operators of the truck and snowplow. Smith suffered injuries to his leg which caused his discharge from the army and has resulted in a permanent disability. The case was tried before a jury.

The jury further found that the defendants were guilty of negligence, that the driver of the truck did not use proper precaution in that he did not look to the right or left before turning the truck. They found that the plaintiff was guilty in not using care when passing the snowplow, and that he did not slow up. They found that the defendants were 70% in the wrong and the plaintiff 30%. Smith had claimed $10,000.

Mr. Justice Hope explained to the jury in his charge that the onus of proof was on the plaintiff in the beginning and that until the plaintiff established a prima facie case, then the onus shifted to the defendant. He explained that the onus may shift back and forth throughout the case.

A Little Mixed Up

We kind of got our McMurchy's mixed up last week. Miss Isabel McMurchy, the Huttonville teacher who was elected President of the Peel Teachers' Institute, was listed under her picture as Miss Helen McMurchy. In the story her right name appeared, but the same mistake occurred in the heading. We want to assure our readers that the writer was not out on a binge the night before. It was just one of those mistakes that happen.

Local Holstein Claims World's Milking Record

Three Year Old Cow Owned By A. McKinney Jr. Completes Test

Pioneer Lodge Aggie Pontiac, a three year old purebred Holstein owned by Alex McKinney Jr., of Brampton claims the world's milking record for twice-a-day milking over 305 days. The approximate figures are 26,000 pounds of milk and 900 pounds of butterfat. Last year the same animal held the two year record. This means that there are two records held by this cow for its total lactation period.

The tests were carried out by the Record of Performance Division of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. The animal, Mr. McKinney said, comes of a long line of high producers. Her dam was a former Canadian record heifer with 70,000 pounds of milk in her first four lactation periods, with an average test of 3.55. Her dam was Pioneer Lodge Pontiac Aggie, while her sire was Major Korndyke, owned by Senator Hardy of Brockville.

Three Men Die In Icy Humber River Waters As Car Leaps Over Bolton Bridge on Monday

Toronto, Long Branch And Mimico Men Perish In Midnight Tragedy

Two brothers and a companion died in the icy waters of the Humber river in the village of Bolton early Monday morning. Passengers in a car which made a death leap over the footpath of the bridge on the main street, they had no chance to save themselves as their car hurtled upside down into the river a few minutes after midnight. Three soldiers in the back seat of the car, one of them another brother of the two tragically killed, managed to free themselves from the tangled wreckage of the battered car and make their way to the surface of the water, where they were rescued by villagers summoned by the loud crash.

Those who were killed were:

John Howard Scaife, a brother, Long Branch.

Arthur Irvine, Symons Ave., Mimico.

These three were civilians.

The three soldiers saved were:

Fred Scaife, of the Irish Regiment, Westmount Ave., Toronto. He was a brother to the two killed.

Gordon Green, of the Irish Regiment, Haig Blvd., Lakeview.

Douglas Harper, of the Irish Regiment, Clovelley Ave., North York.

All the soldiers are stationed at Camp Borden. According to police who investigated the accident, the car was proceeding northwards on highway fifty to Camp Borden, when it came into collision with the steel girder separating the pedestrians' walk from the roadway. Riding up the forty-five degree incline the car cleared the passenger rail of the bridge and hurtled into a somersault and fell into the murky waters of the river.

The soldiers struggled from the car and floundered on the surface of the water, hampered by their greatcoats. Their cries and the noise of the crash attracted citizens who hurried to their aid.

Bill "Dutchie" Timmermans, 66 Rosemount Ave., Weston, told the Conservator that he was at his girl friend's only a few hundred yards from the scene of the accident. "We heard the crash and rushed to the bridge. I saw a soldier in the water and I took off all my clothes except my shorts and jumped into the water. I helped him to the bank where my chum, Ted Paynter (Weston), helped pull him out of the water. I do not know which one it was but he had a lot of water inside him.

Verner Downey of Bolton was standing in a drug store a short way south of the bridge when he heard the noise of a fastly approaching automobile with its horn blowing. Then I heard the crash," he said. "Tom Lockwood and I ran to the water and waded in to get the two we saw floundering in their greatcoats. I was in up to my knees but Tom went in to his waist." Downey referred to Timmerman's action of saving the soldier as heroic. "He deserves a medal for that," he said.

The soldiers were rushed to the office of Dr. W. A. Wylie in Bolton, where they were treated for head injuries and body lacerations. Dazed for a while by the shock of the accident they were unable to give a coherent account of the accident.

Three rowboats manned by members of the fire brigade and citizens of Bolton, began to probe beneath the dark waters of the Humber as soon as the car went under in an effort to definitely locate it. A block and tackle with heavy chains and several tow trucks were needed to help raise the car from the river. After several hours the car was dragged to the bank and a body of one of the men was freed from the wreckage. The other body was not released until the car was at the top of the bank. The third body was not recovered until nearly daylight. A section of the dam a few hundred feet below the site of the fatality was released to lower the water in the river to a depth where firemen and policemen would be able to identify it.

Audrey Peacock, one of the girls who accompanied Dutchy Timmermans to the scene, declared that there was two men moaning and groaning on the bank when she arrived. "They were gasping for breath," she said. She spoke to the one Timmermans brought to shore and asked if there were any more in the car. "All he would say was that he wanted to go back into the water and rescue those who were left."

Betty Barry, a companion of Audrey's, declared that as soon as she saw what had happened, she ran to the phone office and asked the operator to summon a doctor and police. Provincial Officer John MacLean and Constable Arthur Stubbs of Bolton directed the rescue operations. Coroner Dr. William H. Brydon of Brampton ordered an inquest.

WHERE THREE MEN DIED AT BOLTON

Pictured above is the bridge over the Humber River at Bolton where three men died early Monday morning when the car in which they were riding struck the bridge rail and fell into the water below. Three soldiers in the car escaped death. The arrow shows how the car struck the bridge and hurtled over the rail. John Howard Scaife, his brother Herbert Scaife and Arthur Irvine were the men killed. Another picture appears on Page 11.

SENTENCED TO DIE

GORDON ROSS MATTHEW

Twenty-one year old Toronto baker who was sentenced to death for the murder of his wife Ethel, in Supreme Court at Brampton on Saturday. Mrs. Matthew's body was found in the Erindale Pond. Matthew will be hanged in Brampton on January 23 unless a successful appeal is launched meanwhile or executive clemency is exercised.

Young Trainees Liable To Pay Local Poll Tax

Members of Militia Are Exempted Council Learns

Just whether young men doing compulsory training will be relieved of the necessity of paying poll tax this year will apparently rest with Town Clerk A. L. Paterson. Mr. Paterson reported to Town Council on Monday that instructions from the Ontario Government were to the effect that they could find no ruling where these men would be exempted. Members of the N.P.A.M., however, are not eligible for the tax. They are considered as voluntary members of the militia, while the groups now under 30 days' training are not considered in the voluntary class. One or two members of council appeared to think that these men should be given the same privilege, but the onus was put on the clerk to make the decision.

Monday's council session was a short affair. Council went into voluntary exile in the committee room to discuss some undisclosed matter with ex-Mayor W. F. Wegenast.

Gordon Stratton, president of the local post of the Legion, asked for council's co-operation in the annual Remembrance Day Service on November 11th, and Councillors Lawrence and Bull and Deputy Reeve Core were appointed as a committee for this purpose.

Councillor Dennis is apparently thinking of installing a hockey cushion at Rosalea Park, as he announced that prices on the work were not yet available.

Councillor Lawrence reported on the smoke nuisance of which Sheriff F. S. Hutchinson complained at a previous meeting. Mr. Lawrence interviewed Mr. Asiz, who had suggested that the railway would be as much to blame as his factory. He could not see that raising the chimney 20 feet would assist in solving the problem.

Reeve Bates, Deputy Reeve Core and Councillors Dennis and Bartlett were appointed to study the matter of a sign being erected in town for the War Savings Certificate Committee.

Charters Publishing Company was awarded the contract for printing the Brampton Voters' List. The list was printed out of town last year, and Councillor Bull, in moving that the contract be awarded to the local firm, said he felt it was only fair to give the work to a local concern which was employing local labour and doing the work in the town.

Last Hanging At Brampton Jail February 1909

Stefan Swyryda Paid Supreme Penalty For Erindale Murder

The possibility of a hanging in Brampton Jail in January recalls to mind the last time this gruesome ceremony was carried on in Brampton. The Conservator of February 11th, 1909, tells the story. By a strange coincidence, the murder of 31 years ago was also committed in the Erindale district.

On the morning of February 11, 1909, Stefan Swyryda died on the scaffold in the courtyard of Brampton Jail for the murder of Olaszek Leutik, close to Erindale, in the Township of Toronto, on Good Friday, April 16 of the previous year. Sentenced by Mr. Justice Riddell, Swyryda continually expressed his innocence until his death. Leaving his cell he turned to the night watchman and said, "Jim, you are young man, will live long. You will know yet who killed that boy."

During the last hours that he spent in the jail he was attended by Father Jasnik, a Polish priest from Toronto. He was brave up to the last and bore his sentence with amazing calm, although he was slightly unnerved the day before the execution when he was told that the lawyer had failed to obtain a commutation. He said he was not sorry to die, but that he felt sorry for his wife and children.

At precisely eight o'clock in the morning the lever was drawn and Swyryda dropped to his death. Twelve minutes later Jail Surgeon Heggie pronounced him dead. A formal inquest required by law was conducted by Coroner Dr. John A. Lawson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McQueen and John were recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Griffin, Enniskillen.

Youngsters Stage Red Cross Party

Eight Brampton youngsters staged a special event last week in aid of the Red Cross and as a result Treasurer J. A. Constantine received $3.00 in cash for the Red Cross early this week. The youngsters sold candy, staged dart games, bingo and a copper throwing game to raise the funds. The boys responsible for this fine piece of work were Keith McCulloch, Gwilyn Evans, Roy Snell, Bud Reid, Edwin Rowans, William Bignell, Alan Evans and William Reid, to whom the Red Cross Society extends its thanks.

Peel Memorial Hospital Auxiliary Reports Successful Year's Work

Mrs. C. V. Charters Re-Elected President At Annual Meeting

Another very successful year of activity for the Peel Memorial Hospital Women's Auxiliary concluded with the annual meeting held on Saturday, when reports from the secretary and the treasurer were presented, and officers elected for the ensuing year.

Mrs. C. V. Charters was re-elected President, and other officers for the year are: 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Harry Willis; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. J. E. Houck; Secretary, Mrs. A. W. Thompson; Asst. Secretary, Mrs. W. E. Glenney; Treasurer, Mrs. R. V. Conover; Ward Conveners, South, Mrs. R. J. Brett; West, Mrs. J. E. Cooper; North, Mrs. W. J. Hood; East, Mrs. H. C. Snyder.

The Secretary's report was presented by Miss R. E. Ward. In part it read:

There are 31 active members and 16 representative members on roll call and four honourary members. There have been 10 regular meetings of the Auxiliary, three meetings of the executive, and two meetings of the committee in charge of election of officers, and three meetings of the refreshment committees. Forty-six letters have been sent out. The February bridge, March euchre, White Elephant sale, and Florence Nightingale tea were the big affairs during the year.

The Auxiliary gave clerical and financial assistance to the Voluntary Registration of Canadian Women.

Assistance by members was also given to the National Registration and the Win the War drive for funds. The Auxiliary is again indebted to the public for the generous response to the many calls throughout the year.

Railway Police Are Investigating Lamp Switch Tampering

The Canadian National Railway police have been in Brampton investigating complaints about persons tampering with the switch lamps on the railway, it is understood that three or four attempts have been made to break the locks. The boxes controlling the wig wags at the level crossings have also been tampered with innumerable times.

Both these are serious offences and may be punished by severe penalties under the Railway Act. Local police have been notified and any person in the future found guilty of this offence will be prosecuted.

Need Furnishings For Recreation Hall At Malton

There is still a great need for furnishings for the recreation hall at the Malton Air Training School, Mrs. Horwood, told The Conservator yesterday. Mrs. Horwood is looking after the furnishing of the hall for the local Win the War Committee. During the past week, Mrs. Horwood has sent to the school a large number of magazines, eight packages of home baking from Brampton citizens, and one dozen pairs of sox, ten scarfs, and two pullovers, from the Salvation Army centre in Toronto. The Brampton Branch of the Canadian Legion supplied a football. The principal need at this time is furnishings, Mrs. Horwood said, and any who have chairs, or comfortable furniture to donate to the recreation centre should get in touch with Mrs. Horwood who will see they are shipped to Malton.

Roast Chicken Sold Out In Thanksgiving Day Rush In Town

We have always contended that The Conservator had a pulling power second to none in Peel as an advertising medium, and quite often we get adequate proof to back up our contention. In the issue before Thanksgiving Day, Ed. Waller of Waller's Coffee Shop inserted an advertisement inviting the general public to Thanksgiving Dinner at his popular eating place. Of course he expected to get value for his advertisement, but he wasn't prepared for what actually happened. He was literally overwhelmed with results.

Ed., who is an optimist, decided that 14 large fowl should be enough to take care of all the customers he would likely have. But this number fell far short of the needs. The advertisement attracted sufficient customers to eat up all 14 fowl, and give Ed. the unhappy job of telling many more that he was completely out of roast fowl. Mr. Waller paid a tribute to the pulling power of Conservator advertising and expressed himself as more than pleased with the splendid results from so small an outlay. And whether it is display advertising or classified advertising the same good results will come of it. There's a reason, and that reason is that The Conservator has a far greater circulation than any other Peel newspaper.

Matthew Found Guilty Sentenced to Hang In Brampton January 23

Jury Returns Verdict After 3½ Hours of Deliberation Saturday

Unless a successful appeal is made, Gordon Ross Matthew, 21 year old Toronto man, will hang in the courtyard of Brampton Jail on January 23rd for the murder of his wife, whose bruised body was found in Erindale Pond on July 10th. A Supreme Court jury returned a verdict of guilty late on Saturday evening, and sentence was immediately passed on Matthews by Mr. Justice Hope who presided for the trial.

Only a scattered audience was present in the court room when the jury filed in after a three and a half hour consideration of the lengthy evidence.

"Gentlemen, have you reached a verdict?" asked Clerk of the Court A. H. Milner. Foreman George Gill replied "Guilty". Matthews displayed no emotions as his fate was sealed.

Turning to Matthew His Lordship asked, "Have you anything to say?"

"No," replied the accused. A few seconds later however he added, "I have something to say Your Honor, but it is not for the court to hear. I will maintain my silence."

In an atmosphere tense with feeling that a man's life was in the balance, Mr. Justice Hope once again turned to the accused man, and pronounced the death sentence, which ended with the ominous words, "On January 23rd, you will be taken to the place of execution and there hanged by the neck until you are dead, and may the Lord have mercy on your soul."

As sentence was passed, the stillness of the courtroom was broken by the sobs of Matthew's sister who rushed from the courtroom and followed her brother to the adjoining jail.

"I think your verdict was fully justified," his Lordship told the jury. "It was an extremely unpleasant task. You have had a heavy week in court."

Mrs. Green, mother of the dead girl, showed no sign of emotion when the verdict of guilty was returned. Saturday afternoon she sobbed openly when Mr. Justice Hope was reviewing the movements of Matthew and his wife.

Port Credit Woman Sues Village For Fall on Sidewalk

A civil suit instituted by Eliza Sexton against the corporation of the village of Port Credit began Wednesday at the fall assizes of the Peel County Supreme court of Ontario. The non-jury session is the last case on the list to be heard at the fall assizes before Mr. Justice Hope.

Mrs. Sexton according to evidence fell on a sidewalk on the corner of Front St. and Highway number 2 on Feburary 27 of this year. "The sidewalk was like glass," she told the court. "My feet fell from under me and I fell on my back on the sidewalk. I was lying on the sidewalk for about an hour."

She sustained a broken rib, an injured wrist and a hurt knee as a result of the fall. The amount of damages in the suit has not yet been stated.

Excellent Records

English War Guests Think Canada Grand

Three youthful Englishmen, at present guests of Canada in the Brampton neighbourhood, are very much impressed with their adopted country. In fact, they are really thrilled by the ever-changing scene, and are getting what we in Canada would call "a big kick" out of their stay here.

Russell Crompton, aged twelve and a half, to quote the young gentleman, is a guest of his aunt, Mrs. J. W. Hewetson, in Brampton. Russell's full name is Henry James Russell Crompton, but he prefers to be known just as Russell. He is an exceedingly bright little chap, with a fine head of red hair, and a smile that would disarm the most hard-boiled reporter. He's just brimming over with personality, and even to the Englishman (15 years a Canadian) who interviewed him, his fine English accent was a delight to hear.

He's From Stockport

We nearly got into an argument with Russell right at the start. He told us he came from Stockport and we immediately said, "Lancashire?"

"No", said Russell, "Cheshire".

"But," we remonstrated, "we thought Stockport was in Lancashire".

"So it is," the young gentleman replied, "but it's in Cheshire too. It is on both sides of the Mersey river, and I live on the Cheshire side".

Russell's dad is an insurance man, and he has three sisters, two married, and one brother still in England. He came to Canada about nine weeks ago, after what he termed "ten days on the water with no excitement."

Finds People Interested

He thinks Canada is a swell place, although of course he didn't say swell, because that is not a typical English description. It was just like he pictured it to be, except for one thing. That was that he found the people vastly more interested in the war than he thought they could be, this far from the actual field of battle.

The Canadian autumn proved a little surprising, Russell said, because the leaves fall so quickly. In England, autumn is a gradual season, and heavy frosts do not rob the trees of their leaves in so short a time. He likes Canada too because it has so many trees, and he thinks the countryside is really magnificent.

Russell was perhaps most impressed by Canada's highways. There's nothing in the old country just like them, he says. The Queen Elisabeth Way proved particularly impressive. Then, too, he went to the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto and he expressed himself this way about Canada's great annual show: "I've never seen anything like it. It was grand." Of course Russell was not born when the great British Empire Exhibition was held in Wembley in 1924 and 1925, and we saw that and thought it the world's greatest, but on second thoughts, the Toronto show has a lot of things even that great Empire show didn't have.

Finds Schools Different

Russell finds the schools a little different here. Nearly forgot to mention, he's attending High School, and remember, he's only twelve and a half. He finds that English schools teach French a lot earlier than we do in Canada, but on the whole he likes the Canadian system and thinks that it is easier to learn here in many things. In England he attended a private grammar school.

Russell used to attend the Congregational Church in the old land, but as there isn't one here, he goes to Grace United Church. He learned to skate during England's hard winter last year, and this year he intends to become more proficient, and also to learn skiing.

Sunday was a big day for him. He received a cable from his mother in England. He is allowed to receive one free cable a month, through the courtesy of the Pacific Cable Board and the Canadian Marconi Company, and naturally

Win The War Fund Now $23,005.87

Per Capita Giving Believed to Be Ontario Record

Brampton's Win the War charity fund has now exceeded $23,000, the latest figures released by Treasurer M. A. Peck reveal. During the past week nearly $300 more has been received to boost the fund over the $23,000 mark. This gives Brampton a record probably unique in Ontario. As far as can be ascertained, no other municipality has exceeded its objective by more than 50%. Brampton is now prepared to give adequate support for any emergency which might arise. This gives the town a per capita subscription of $4.00 which is extremely high. Members of the Win the War committee feel that even should some emergency arise and the Red Cross or other war charity require a large sum of money before the next regular drive, Brampton will be in a position to meet such an appeal without a further appeal for funds from citizens.

This week's list of donations is as follows:

Grace United Church to Celebrate 72nd Anniversary on Sunday Next

First Church Opened On Present Site By Egerton Ryerson in 1868

The congregation of Grace United Church are looking forward to their 72nd Anniversary celebration this coming Sunday, October 27th, to be followed by the Anniversary Supper on Monday night.

Two outstanding ministers will visit the Church in the persons of Rev. Dr. A. S. Orton, S.T.M., formerly of Chatham and Saskatoon and now of Emmanuel College, Toronto, at the morning service, and Rev. Dr. Charles Endicott, virile church leader in Western Canada for thirty years, and brother of Rev. Dr. James Endicott, ex-Moderator, at the evening service. The praise services will be led by the choir at full strength, directed by W. E. Capps, with Miss Jennie Milner at the organ. St. Paul's congregation will unite with Grace for the evening service, following a custom of many years. The Presbyterian Church, through the courtesy of Rev. Neil Miller, Minister and the Session of the Church, are withdrawing their service that night.

The Anniversary Supper will be served on Monday evening from 6-8 p.m. by the ladies of the Woman's Association. Entertainment following will include colored movies of Western Canada shown by Roy Jordison, Grace Male Chorus, and a popular address, "Making Your Dreams Come True," by Rev. Dr. Charles Endicott, who will return for the Monday evening gathering.

Peel Men in the Limelight

In four days some 195,000 persons attended the International Plowing Match at St. Thomas, a matter of 75,000 more than was expected. The attendance this year was the largest in the history of the match. To handle a crowd of this size, even when it is divided into four days, means that the arrangements must be handled by executives with more than usual ability. We in Peel should be quite proud because two Peel men had as much to do with the success of the plowing match as anyone in the Province. J. A. Carroll, of Brampton, Director fo Agricultural Societies for Ontario, is the man upon whose broad shoulders much of the responsibility rested, and much of the credit for the success of the match must go to Mr. Carroll. Of course his ability is fairly widely known but it is well to make special mention of the fact when he accomplishes such a splendid feat as that of operating the International Plowing Match. Perhaps some of the success of this year's match was also due to the fact that Alex McKinney Jr. was president of the Association. Mr. McKinney likewise has plenty of ability and the combination of these two men no doubt played a very large part in the outstanding success of the match at St. Thomas last week.

An Injustice To Peel County

It seems to us that some fairer methods of assessing administration of justice costs could be found than that which at present exists. Last week a murder trial was completed in Brampton at the county court house. The principles in the case were not residents of Peel. The man convicted of murder is a Toronto resident, and the murdered woman was also a Toronto resident. A supreme court trial is an expensive undertaking, and one member of the county council told The Conservator this week that before the case is finally concluded the county of Peel will be assessed approximately $2,500 for justice costs.

It hardly seems fair that the residents of Peel should have to bear the cost of a crime over which it had not control, and which was not committed by residents of the county. It was just unfortunate that this county happened to be close to Toronto, and a certain spot in this county proved the right place for committing the crime. It is equally unfortunate that the county of Peel should be burdened with the costs.

In the past few years Peel has been saddled with similar heavy costs in a number of important criminal cases. It seems to us that it would be a much fairer system for the provincial attorney general's department, which has the task of carrying out the provisions of the law, to bear the full costs. This would then be more evenly distributed among the people of Ontario, rather than saddling the costs on to one county which happens to be considered a logical spot for a murder or robbery.

Better Understanding Coming

Even from the most distasteful things in life there seems to come some good and the current war is no exception. Due to the ferocity of the German aerial attack on Great Britain, hundreds of young Britishers have left the mother country to find new war-time homes in Canada and the United States. After the war these young ambassadors will return to their homes in the old land with an entirely new outlook on life. They will have lived in Canada or the United States. They will have learned something of how we on this side of the Atlantic live. They will have learned the viewpoint of the Canadian and the American people, and understanding between peoples is always possible when the other fellow's viewpoint is fully understood.

Before the war is over perhaps a quarter of a million war guests will have spent varying periods of time on this continent. They will return to their homes prepared to give England a true picture of Canada and the United States. They will be able to tell the people of the mother country that Canada put every bit of strength at its command into this war against evil forces. They will be able to relate how the American people are just as keen for the preservation of democracy as the British and from these explanations will grow a better understanding between the two hemispheres and with this understanding a guarantee for a better world.

No Betrayal of Trust

Mr. Mackenzie King and some of his cabinet colleagues, who still seem to think that this war is a purely Liberal party affair, were terribly shocked some days ago when Hon. R. B. Hanson, house leader of the Conservative party made a statement about 10,000 United Kingdom pilots being trained in Canada. Mr. Hanson seems to have made a statement about something which most people were well aware of. At least those thousands of people who live adjacent to Canada's many air training centres were well aware of the fact, and while Mr. Hanson may have given the information wider circulation, we fail to see where Hitler or Mussolini are going to benefit one iota from what Mr. Hanson has divulged.

As a matter of fact Mr. Hanson was simply repeating news which had been published weeks before. In The Financial Post of September 21, 1940, there was a full comment on the self same subject, and neither the censors nor Mr. Mackenzie King and his easily shocked ministers seemed to worry about the information appearing in the public print. The Financial Post article happened to be a completely independent report, while Mr. Hanson hapens to be a Conservative, which in the partisan thinking of the present government makes him ineligible to voice an opinion on anything. The Financial Post comment read:

"One of the empire war problems which Canada has gladly taken in her stride has been the handling of 10,000 young pilots which the United Kingdom suddenly shot out to Canada to finish their air training. Ten thousand may not seem a very large number these days. But when ordnance supply officials are suddenly faced with the job of supplying topcoats, blankets and other items for this many men on a few days' notice it required much ingenuity to shift and revise our own Canadian schedules so as to meet this new need. Needless to say the young British fliers got everything they wanted—and more".

We may not be experts in the matter of what is good and what is not good for the public to hear, but we do feel that neither the British or Canadian governments have been hurt or the war effort endangered by the information given to the public by The Financial Post, and three weeks later by Mr. Hanson. It simply means this, that Mr. King is still obsessed with the idea that only Liberals are capable of handling Canada's war effort, and that any comment by Conservatives is not only out of place but entirely resented. It is a pity that with the great issues at stake, Mr. King should see fit to make political capital out of a harmless statement made by the opposition leader, and which had been published three weeks earlier by The Financial Post without interference by the government and also without a charge that that newspaper had contravened the defence of Canada regulations.

Farmers Should Co-operate

On the farm page of this issue appears a story of the soil fertility survey programme which is being undertaken in Peel county this year. The year is fast drawing to a close and the opportunity to take advantage of this special service will soon be gone. The county council early this year made a special grant to assist in the work, and farmers of Peel should not hesitate to avail themselves of the splendid service that the survey will render.

Agricultural representative, C. D. Graham, reports that quite a number of Peel farmers have sent in their soil samples and are extremely pleased with the reports they have received from Guelph. It is not so much that they now know the fertility content of their own farm soil, but they are given helpful advice in making their own particular land give the utmost in production.

The government of Ontario, the county of Peel and the O.A.C. at Guelph, have placed at the disposal of Peel farmers the finest services in the world for this survey and every farmer in the county should be sufficiently interested in the fertility of his own property to send for the necessary boxes and have his personal survey completed this year. The agricultural representative will be glad to give every assistance.

No Reversal Here

Commenting on the recent magnificent special edition of The Financial Post, titled "Canada's Industrial Front", picturing Canada's war effort in action, the Fergus News-Record gives The Post a gentle slap on the wrist. Says The News-Record, "There's one rather humorous feature about this special edition, which we suppose the editors would pass unnoticed. The Financial Post has been trying for months to impress upon its readers that Canada's war effort wasn't what it should have been."

The News-Record's comment is hardly fair. True, The Financial Post did try for months to impress upon its readers that Canada's war effort wasn't what it should be. But it was largely due to the amazing disclosures made by The Financial Post, and some of the splendid suggestions made to the government by that same newspaper, that Canada's war effort is as large as it is today. Anyone who has read The Financial Post regularly will have seen that many of the more adequate methods adopted by the government in recent months came from The Financial Post. It was that newspaper's effort to impress its readers with the laxity in the war effort that led to the nationwide demand that the King government do something in keeping with the important position Canada holds in the British Empire.

The special edition of The Post is in no way an admission that it was wrong, but rather a very timely proof that its fine independent campaign has borne the results it deserved.

War In Europe Comes First

The seriousness with which the people of the United States are viewing the war situation is most encouraging to their peaceful neighbours of more than one hundred years in Canada. At the present time the presidential election campaign is in full swing, and strangely enough there is little of the enthusiasm which has marked campaigns in the past few years. The United States is not letting domestic politics blind their eyes to the greater world issues that are at stake.

To those of us who pride ourselves in our empire citizenship, and who are busily engaged in waging this war, the attitude of both candidates for the U.S. presidency is most refreshing. It matters little who gets in as far as Great Britain is concerned, for both the president and candidate, Wendell Willkie, have pledged themselves to give Britain every aid short of war. And that short of war proviso is as important to the empire as it is to the United States. There isn't any doubt that the longer the United States can keep free from military engagements, the better condition its industries will be in both to supply the needs of the empire and to build up its own defence against probable invaders.

Canadians should be grateful that their neighbours across the border are taking this war seriously. They have come to realize in the past eight or nine months that Britain holds the fort for all democracies in this struggle, and besides acknowledging the fact, the United States is prepared to give tangible evidence of its sympathy.

Note and Comment

Did you know that the purchase of a $5.00 war savings certificate will provide 100 rounds of ammunition to let a Canadian soldier fight for you?

One of the ways the money of Canadian taxpayers is expended by the government is in payments to soldiers' dependents. Last month about $6,000,000 was forwarded to 117,000 such dependents, and since the beginning of the war $45,000,000. It's a lot of money but no one will complain because it is well deserved by the various recipients.

OTHER OPINIONS

Surely Not

How transitory is fame! A news item in the Hamilton Spectator states that Hon. Robert Laurier, new Minister of Mines for Ontario, was formerly associated in legal practice with "Harley George, who later became Leader of the Liberal Party in Ontario." Evidently the allusion is to the late Hartley Dewart.—Woodstock Sentinel Review.

All Doing Well

Whether he is elected for a third term or not, President Roosevelt and his family have certainly made great contributions to United States history. The part and place that Mrs. Roosevelt has taken in recent years is really remarkable. The sons, occupying, in the public eye, places almost equivalent to princes in the Old World, have not done too badly, either.—St. Catharines Standard.

A Good Suggestion

From the frequency of attacks on the carriers of money through the streets, there seems likely to come some good result, or rather two—the change from cash to cheque payments by a large number of employers, with a consequent reduction of opportunities by which the hold-up men can profit, and the opening of checking accounts by many people who now know little or nothing about banks except those for the more or less permanent deposit of small savings.—Guelph Mercury.

"Wheeling" Coming Back

One of the most remarkable developments has been the return of the bicycle. The United States census bureau reports that bicycles produced in the United States last year numbered 1,252,029, or more than the previously recorded peak of 1,182,691 in 1899. The intervening low was 225,000 in 1921. The revival in Canada has been about on the same basis. The bulk of the bicycle riders today are boys and girls; in the gay nineties cycling (or wheeling) was every one's sport. — Stratford Beacon-Herald.

The Queen Elizabeth Way

We trust this fine way of travel will be used sanely and not converted into a speedway by drivers of high-powered autos who are intoxicated by the thrill of long, straight runs with no chance of head-on smashes. There are other dangers of fast driving, and there is almost as much reason for safe driving on the Queen Elizabeth Way as on other highways. If it is to be treated as a speedway it will defeat its own object. The highway traffic rules should not be abrogated in the case of this road.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Bad People Costly

People who lead decent lives and who make numerous sacrifices so that their children may live still better lives are taxed every year an enormous sum to maintain the machinery of law, made necessary by the behavior of bad people. Is it not time an inquiry were made into the methods employed by schools and universities to teach the simple lessons of morality? We believe it would astonish the country to discover how really very little is done to teach conduct. This is a vitally important subject. We cannot afford to maintain a host of people who refuse to keep the rules.—Guelph Mercury.

New "Pronunciations"

A Torontonian is what he calls "buffaloed" by many pronunciations he hears over the radio. Why stay with the radio? One can find these "new-fangled" pronunciations almost anywhere on our public platforms, and used by speakers who carry a certain amount of authority. The latest we have heard used extensively is the word "isolation". The new pronunciation is "ise"-olation, and not "ice"-olation, as preferred by every reputable dictionary. Radio announcers who were meticulous about the pronunciation of Montevideo at the time the Graf Spee was sunk fell down on pronouncing simple words in their own language.—Durham Chronicle.

A Peril To Be Met

The battle to control hog cholera in Western Ontario is one of the most urgent crises ever met by the farmers of this part of Canada. When cholera sweeps through a district it destroys the hogs. Once an animal is infected, the only recourse is to slaughter it and bury it in a deep pit. Cholera strikes hogs in epidemic proportions, and unless the disease is tackled at the first and drastic measures taken it gains the upper hand. City folk may not appreciate the urgency of fighting the cholera, but any one who has raised hogs knows that it is one of the worst scourges that can hit the farms of a community.—Windsor Star.

Norwegian Ships

Many Norwegian ships now in east coast Canadian ports and in the West Indies are being armed for coast patrol and convoy duty, Dr. Leiv Kreyberg, chief medical officer of the Royal Norwegian overseas forces, said at Halifax.

Arming of the fleet was part of Norway's continued war against Germany, Dr. Greyberg said. Another part of the Norwegian overseas war effort was establishment in Toronto of an air training camp where already about 300 men were in training. One hundred bombing and pursuit planes have been ordered.

"These activities are being paid for and totally supported by the Norwegian government," he said.

The Terrible Warrior

Seventh Century Prophecy Seems to Have Special Significance in the Present Day

The prophecy of Saint Odile, dating back to the seventh century, is being related by many people to the present war, because it contains much which seems to be most applicable to the frightful conflict now being waged in Europe.

The prophecy, which was originally written in Latin, is a description of a vision of St. Odile which she committed in writing in a letter to her brother. The prophecy refers to a "terrible warrior who will come out of the bosom of Germany and spread war over the earth." It speaks of "winged warriors, carrying torches of fire to throw on the cities."

The text of the prophecy, which was published in the 1917 volume of the Almanac of the People of the Publisher Beauchemin, reads as follows:

"Listen, listen, oh my brother, for I have seen the terror of the forests and of the mountains.

"Fear has seized the people because never in any region of the universe has one given testimony of such trouble.

"The time has come when Germany will be called the most belligerent nation of the world. The period has arrived when out of her bosom will come the terrible warrior who will undertake to spread war in the world. The men in arms will call him the Antichrist. He will be cursed by mothers by thousands who will lament like Rachel over the fate of their children, and who will refuse consolation because they will no longer be of this world and all will be devastated in their homes.

War History's Worst

"The conquerer will come from the banks of the Danube. He will be a remarkable chief among men. The war that he will make will be the most terrifying that men have ever undertaken.

"His arm will be flamboyant and the helmets of his soldiers will bear points darting flashlights, while their hands will carry lighted torches. It will be impossible to calculate the number of cruelties committed.

"He will be victorious on land, sea, and even in the air because one will see winged warriors, in these unbelievable attacks, mounting to the heavens to seize the stars and throw them on the cities from one end of the universe to the other in order to start gigantic fires.

"The nations will be astonished and will say: 'Whence comes this force?' 'How is he able to undertake such a war?'

"The earth will tremble at the shock of the fighting. The rivers will run red with blood and sea monsters will disperse with terror to the top of the oceans, while black storms will spread desolation everywhere.

"Future generations will be astonished to see that his powerful and numerous enemies will not have been capable of stopping the march of his victories.

"And the war will be long.

"The conqueror will have attained the apogee of his triumphs towards the middle of the sixth month of the second year of hostilities. This will be the end of the first period of bloody victories. He will say 'Accept the yoke of my domination,' while continuing his victories. But his enemies will not submit and the war will continue and he will cry out: 'Misfortune will make them fall because I am the conqueror.'

Twenty Nations To Clash

"The second part of the war will be equal in length to half of the first part. They will call it the period of 'dimunition'. It will be full of surprises which will make the earth tremble when 20 belligerent nations will clash. Towards the middle of this period the little nations submissive to the conqueror will cry out: 'Give us peace. Give us peace.'

"But there will not be peace for these nations.

"This will not be the end of these wars but the beginning of the end and the combats of body against body will take place in the citadel of citadels. Then will see a revolt among the women of his own country who will wish to stone him. But one will see also prodigies in the Orient.

"The third period will be the shortest of all and the conqueror will have lost confidence in his warriors. This period will be called the period of invasion because by just retribution the soil of the conqueror by reason of his injustice and his atheism will be invaded in all parts and pillaged.

"Around the mountains torrents of blood will flow. This will be then the last battle.

"The nations will sing hymns of gratitude in the temples of God and will thank the Most High for their deliverance because then will have appeared the warrior who will disperse the troops of the conqueror, the armies of which will be annihilated by an unknown and frightful illness. This evil will discourage his soldiers, while the nations will say: 'The finger of God is there. It is a just chastisement'."

Being Notes of Interest About the Last Great War From the Fyles of The Conservator

From Conservator Fyles of October 14, 1915

A patriotic mass meeting will be held on Monday, Trafalgar day, to arrange a Red Cross collection for next Thursday. Canvassers will visit every home on Thursday and the citizens are asked to give as much as possible towards this worthy cause.

A well attended and very important meeting was held in Meadowvale church last week to arrange the formation of a local Peel County War Auxiliary and also a local branch of the Red Cross.

The agricultural society voted $50 for the Red Cross fund last week. The Rev. J. Riddell, principal and president of a Methodist College, in Edmonton.

Over 20,000 people attended the annual Woodbridge fair early this week. A fine number of exhibits and spectators attended.

Peel county teachers' convention held their annual meeting and election of officers in Brampton with a record attendance of 97 Thursday and Friday of last week.

Inspection of Peel county gaol was made last Saturday by assistant inspector Helen McMurchy. There are no inmates in the jail at the present time. The general condition of the buildings was judged as fairly good with several recommendations for improvements. The county buildings were erected some fifty years ago. A good many improvements have been made to the buildings during the past year especially to the furnishing of them.

An unknown man was killed by a Grand Trunk train near Malton. The man was leaning on the fence alanting from the cattle guard when he was sucked in the suction created by the railway cars.

The following speakers will take part: the Lord Bishop of the diocese; Canon Powell, editor of the S.S. publications; Rev. B. Brown, secretary of the S.S. Commission; Mr. D. M. Letters From Overseas

Editor, The Conservator:

It is with many strange emotions I write this short note, and to whom to thank I do not know, but the Brampton Conservator always manages to find its way into my hands and now I look forward to it each and every mail. There were times, when I was with the base workshop (2 A.F.W.-R.C.O.C.) that I received it either from R.S.M. Charlie Donaldson or Sgt. Marsden, but since I have been attached to this regiment I don't know whom it comes from, but this I must say, it gives me great pleasure in reading of the doings of Brampton and its surrounding villages. I was, previous to my enlistment, employed by A. A. Giffen, 3rd line west, and got to know a great deal of the people I read about in your papers. My brother at present is still employed by W. J. McClure of the same line. I wish all connected with the paper continuous success year after year, and I am sure that is the wish of all Brampton boys over here. By the way, if you could have seen the boys in this room, each with a page, devouring the news, you would have certainly swelled with pride to think that with all the papers over here yours ranks among the first.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Sirs:

I received a copy of The Conservator, Aug. 29, and I was very grateful to you for it. I hope that you will be kind enough to send me a copy every week as I like to know what is going on in Brampton and The Conservator is a very good newspaper for news from there.

Hoping you will oblige, I remain,
Yours truly,

MORE NAZI TRICKERY

The Germans apparently don't like to attract too much attention in removing food from conquered Norway. The British Broadcasting Corporation in a broadcast heard at New York reported that a load of coffins which fell on a quay and broke open, revealed their contents to be not the bodies of German soldiers but hams, sausages and other foodstuffs.

Some of the recruits feel they should have joined the navy, as there is a limit to how far you can walk on a boat.

SUICIDE SQUAD

The Editor
The Conservator

Long ago the poet wrote these lines:

"And how can man die better
Than facing fearful odds,
For the honour of his country
And the glory of the gods"?

To-day we as an Empire, and all civilized nations of the world as well, are in the throes of the most hideous struggle the world has ever seen or ever will see because out of this terrible conflict will come a real lasting peace. The indelible imprint of the ghastly horror of the war will be our greatest help when peace is being consummated. It will mean that a lasting peace will materialize and all the gangsters responsible for this misery will be eliminated, and their ideologies with them. Great Britain has always been and always will be a name without a parallel and which never can have a parallel. Her history on and in the sea, on land and in the air will never have an equal.

Many long horrible months are ahead, however, before the "Cease Fire" is sounded. It will be sounded at the gates of Berlin by our own buglers when our commanders give the word and not before.

In this war much suicide work will have to be done. Cases where small detachments go out with the odds a thousand to one against them. Such cases naturally appeal to the younger generation, the challenge to their daring is always accepted promptly and so the cream of our manhood is sacrificed in cases where the "skimmed milk" would do just as well.

I have talked with many fathers who have agreed with me when I say, "I have a son twenty-four years old; I would ten times rather be killed than have him killed." It would be much better for Canada, or any other country or nation if the cream of the country's young men were preserved for this new and lasting peace rather than ruthlessly slaughtered in the forefront of the battle. I am well aware that many of us past the half century mark could not be the matchless pilots that our younger men are, but most of us are quite fitted for the most dangerous work outside of the skywork.

There are in every province of the Dominion men who in years gone by have lived very differently to what their circumstances force them to live now. They are, many of them, on the point of suicide. Suicide by their own hands is a lasting disgrace to themselves and those near and dear to them, but suicide "where the dead are lying thickest" would cover them with real glory. These men could be recruited into special squads and sent to the places where the odds are a thousand to one against them and I venture to say that they would stand up against the awful unknown odds as bravely as any squad of younger men. I would be the first to volunteer for such work anywhere, anytime. I am past the half century mark, my hearing is affected though not badly, and the loss of my life would be much less to the Dominion than the loss of my twenty-four-year-old son.

I venture to predict that if the Department of National Defence were to offer to have recruited a number of "Suicide Squads", say one in each province of the Dominion, that the squads would soon become battalions. Inside the next six months the war will be at its height and the slaughter wholesale and then is the time that squads such as these will be most needed. A start now on this recruiting would not only mean that we would be "Ready Aye Ready" when the peak of the conflict is reached, but it might even mean that the peak will be reached much easier and sooner.

The enemy have now plenty of compulsory suicide squads, driven there by every conceivable device of the devil. To die at the point of a bayonet held in your back is not a glorious end. The British Army, if it dies, will die "with its face turned toward the foe, its navy will go down in battle with the good old Jack still flying at the mast" as always in history.

"For he cried, Fight on, Fight on.
Though his vessel was all but a wreck."

That is the spirit of England and her Empire.

After the war, with the cessation of the vast war manufacturing who can predict the conditions? If they are repeated in history, as they will be unless we start now to plan, there will be ten times the privation and suffering that followed the last war, and ten times the suicides among the older men, the younger men will have a chance, the older men will not.

Let us older men, those who can not get employment because, under the rusty rules of so many firms "ages between 18 and 45" is the governing factor, brains and the ability to do are secondary, show what we are made of and it will be found that we are "brave and true", loyal sons of a loyal Empire.

Turn of the Century

From The Conservator Fyles of October 23-October 26

As the day of the Dominion election grows closer feeling is rising between the Liberals and Conservatives in Peel.

Mrs. Thornton of Hillsburg charged with horsewhipping her husband on the Main street and thereby causing a disturbance, took a dose of Belladona in mistake for some medicine. Her life was saved and she said she was so unnerved by the trial that she did not realize she was taking it.

Three services were held at St. Paul's church on Sunday in connection with the regular anniversary services of the Sunday School.

Several merchants in Orangeville have disposed of their businesses and left for Dawson City for the Klondike gold rush.

Anniversary services were held at Trinity church, Campbell's Cross, on Sunday.

Rev. E. J. Stobo one of the first pastors of the Brampton Baptist church preached at both services here Sunday. He is at present residing in Quebec.

George Birch had his leg broken in two places in an alleged brawl in the barroom of the Royal hotel. George Matson is said to be his assailant. The case will be aired in police court in the very near future.

Fetherston, the Liberal candidate for Peel, has refused a joint meeting with Mr. Blain, the Conservative candidate. The Conservator declares that the action was unprecedented.

The annual convention of Peel school teachers is being held in the concert hall Thursday and Friday of this week.

A review of the progress of Brampton Presbyterian Church along with the growth of Peel County, formed part of the Sunday service when Rev. A. Neil Miller, the rector, cited instances when the church played a major part in the growth of the town. This formed the fifth of six anniversary celebrations of the Diamond Jubilee celebrations. Following the evening service, Mr. John Hodgins, A.D.C.M., organist of the church, gave a popular organ recital. The series of special services conclude on Sunday with a jubilee thanksgiving.

The class is extremely proud that a large number of its members are now with the C.A.S.F. English War Guest Think Canada Grand he thinks these companies are grand to do that for the English guests in Canada.

He saw eight air raids over Stockport before coming to Canada, but no bombs dropped near his home. There was no feeling of fear among English people during the raids, he said, and the women and the girls particularly were marvellous in the way they met the Hitler challenge. He agrees whole-heartedly with the Canadian soldier who said that British women all deserve the Victoria Cross.

Guests of Col. Bertram

Having bade adieu to Russell, we motored out to Snelgrove to see three more of Canada's war guests. They were Mrs. John Wort and her sons, John and Andrew. John is six and a half, and Andrew four and a half. Mr. Wort, who is still in England, is a cousin of Mrs. Bertram who invited the children and their mother to come to Canada as guests of Col. Bertram and herself.

Andrew was out riding on a wagon load of luscious spy apples when we arrived. He wasn't at all impressed at having his picture taken for The Conservator. He was far more interested in when the tractor was going to get under way again and give him another ride. Andrew's family live in the famous Cathedral City of Salisbury, which is a legitimate target for German bombers because of the great military camps in the neighbourhood. With John and his mother, Andrew came to Canada in July after eight days on the water. It is the first time the children have been on a farm, and they are getting a great kick out of it. In Col. Bertram's farm they are seeing one of the finest in Peel County.

John arrived home from nearby Snelgrove School by the time we had Andrew's picture safely taken. John was no more impressed than his younger brother with the fact that a reporter and a photographer had come out to see him, which rather surprised us because we like to think we newspapermen create a bit of a stir now and again.

Having secured a picture of John on the seat of the tractor we started to interview him. He liked Canada. He liked the school. He liked the farm. Then the tractor started up and John was away, probably thinking there isn't a newspaperman in the world worth talking to when there's a tractor ride in the offing.

Mrs. Wort proved to be a lot more communicative. Asked what impressed her most about Canada she replied: "It's the wonderful hospitality of the people. Everyone is so kind and friendly, and I think the climate is just grand."

And so that's what some of our war guests think about us and our country. We'll tell you what some others have to think another time.

Pitt, defense counsel, as to the presentation of the case to the jury by Mr. Justice Hope. "You have presented the Crown's case to the jury better than the Crown has itself," said Mr. Pitt at the conclusion of the charge. "It seems to me that you have riddled the defense with bullets and did not tend to give as fair a presentation as might be possible." Mr. Pitt listed several points that he objected to, and Mr. Justice Hope recalled the jury to rectify the points.

In his charge, which took nearly two hours, Mr. Justice Hope reviewed the actions of the accused man on the evening of July 10. He suggested that if the car door had sprung open, as Matthews claimed, the velocity of the wind would tend to keep it closed. "You must remember that the car was travelling at about forty-five miles an hour."

Cautioning the jury, Mr. Justice Hope declared: "It will be a sad day, indeed, when sentiment, sympathy or vindictiveness may influence a jury. Should that day ever come, the silver thread in the system of British jurisprudence will forever be broken," he declared. "If you have a reasonable doubt, very well. But by a reasonable doubt I do not mean something conjured up in your mind, a foolish schoolgirl sentimentality that will tend to make you try and avoid the issue.

"Evidence in a murder trial is largely circumstantial, because the deed is usually committed in secret. The evidence to be accepted must be cogent and convincible. Circumstantial evidence is sometimes the best kind of evidence. It sometimes has the accuracy of mathematics. But it must always be received with the greatest of caution." Looking over the statement signed by Matthew, his Lordship pointed out that all the questions were asked by Detective Hazelton except one, which read: "Can you find out whether she was dead or not when I put her in the water?"

"The police replied that the doctor would be able to tell them. What significance is to be attached to that question is for you gentlemen to decide," declared his Lordship.

Walter Martin, Crown prosecutor, declared that the couple could not have been getting along at home. "Six months after they were married he was going around with another woman. It was he and he alone who told of his movements on the evening of July 10. Would a man who wanted his wife back tell the police who are trying to locate her to 'find out for themselves?'

"A man so madly in love with his wife as he claims he was would not have treated her the way he did."

Summing up the defense case Saturday morning, Mr. Pitt rapped the evidence of Dr. W. L. Robinson, pathologist of the University of Toronto. "His theory that the woman died from drowning without water in her lungs is revolutionary. It was unheard-of before yesterday. Before it should be admissable there should be more evidence on that point."

from the very early days and a little Wesleyan Methodist meeting house. In 1866 the site of the present Church was purchased, a church building erected and opened in 1868 by Dr. Egerton Ryerson of ecclesiastical and educational fame.

Extensive alterations were made to the building and the rebuilt church was opened in 1888, fifty-two years ago. The fine plant for "Church School" purposes was erected in 1924 and the auditorium refurnished in 1926.

Grace Church has always been Missionary. Since it became a congregation of the United Church of Canada in 1925, it has continued to give generously to the Missionary Work of the Church at large.

Present activities among the Young People include Week-night Activities for Teen Age Girls and Teen Age Boys on Monday and Friday nights respectively, an active Young People's Union, Tennis and Badminton Clubs. A War-Time Service Committee was organized in December last.

The chief lay position in the congregation is that of Recording Steward, now held by Mr. A. G. Davis, who succeeded the late T. W. Duggan, after his long and honored tenure of that office. Mr. B. Gammell is Clerk of Session.

The financial affairs of the church are taken care of by a Committee of Stewards of which R. W. Lowry is chairman, with D. W. Duggan, chairman of the Finance Committee. The church treasurer is Mrs. B. E. Jackson.

The church has been well served by its ministers throughout the years. During the first years of Union, Rev. G. R. Turk, Rev. Malcolm McArthur, and Rev. Stanley Elliott, ministered to a greatly enlarged membership. Since then, the ministers have been Dr. A. Lloyd Smith, Rev. J. D. Parks, Rev. C. E. J. Cragg, and Rev. E. A. Chester, the present pastor.

Strength of the R.C.A.F. on Oct. 8 was 30,050, Hon C. G. Power, minister of defence for air, announced Thursday. There were on that date 2218 officers, an increase of 41 in the first week of October; 22,960 airmen, an increase of 159, and 3872, an increase of 132. Heat, water and roads account for the chief difficulties which arise in the speedup of the British commonwealth air training plan, Mr. Power said.

ALL FOR TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

CHRIST CHURCH A.Y.P.A.

Monday's meeting opened in the usual manner, with Ethel Bacon leading the devotional part of the programme.

An invitation from the Hornby A.Y.P.A. to join them for a Hallowe'en social next Monday evening was accepted, and members are urged to take in this function, and come in costume. Anyone who has a car to offer is asked to phone Ed Miller at 675-M. Let's all go along and give the old witch a push on her broom!

Reports on the Ottawa provincial conference held last week-end were given, and unless all signs fail, the representatives from Christ Church branch had a very good time! Norm Hollis, Charlie Guy, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clifford and Florrie Clifford were Brampton's delegates. The only other representatives from Peel Deanery were from Islington.

The question of new members was up for discussion, and it was suggested that members knowing of anyone in town who might like to join advise Secretary Mary Clifford or Alan Barr, and they will see that these prospective members are made welcome. Incidently, anyone seeing this notice, and who may not be contacted, is asked to come on down to the meetings anyway. A warm welcome awaits you. We meet every Monday evening at 8 p.m. in Christ Church schoolroom.

Grace United Ladies' Bible Class

The Ladies' Bible Class of Grace United Church held their monthly meeting in the Ladies' Parlour last Thursday evening, Oct. 17. Mrs. E. South presiding. The meeting opened by singing Hymn 577. Mrs. J. Bates read the Scriptures and offered a very nice prayer. The Secretary read the minutes and Miss Elston sang a lovely solo, accompanied at the piano by her sister, Miss D. Elston. Mrs. Duggan gave a very impressive reading, which gave us much to think about. Mrs. Wm. Nelson, our speaker for the evening, gave a very interesting talk on "Keeping beautiful pictures in our memories." Hymn 579 was sang, followed by the National Anthem. A contest was conducted by Mrs. C. E. Ferguson, after which refreshments were served and a social time was enjoyed by all.

Special Children's Service on Sunday At Christ Church

Special children's services were held on Sunday in Christ Church in keeping with Children's Day throughout the church of England. A service was held in the church instead of the regular school session. The junior choir led in the singing of the hymns and Miss Dorothy Elston presided at the organ. Rev. Canon R. W. Allen conducted the service, and the guest speaker was Thomas M. Dustan B.A. of Trinity College who gave a splendid message on "The Light of the World." Ken Firman and Dave Sutton read the scripture passages as they were introduced during the sermon. Mr. Bert Mortlock read the lesson.

Mr. Dustan also preached the sermon at the evening service when he spoke of the Christian's duty in time of war.

CHRIST CHURCH Young Men's BIBLE CLASS

Meets Each Sunday At 3 P.M.

Attendance at class meeting on Sunday took an upward swing. We don't know whether it was the season's first snowfall that was responsible but it was certainly encouraging.

The leader's address was on the subject "Yielding to Temptation". The class was glad to welcome as a guest Tom Dustan of Trinity College who read the lesson. Tom

FASHION MODEL

MISS LENORE McCLURE

When the Robt. Simpson Company wanted a really attractive young lady to model one of the new campus fashions for fall, they selected Miss McClure, daughter fo Mr. and Mrs. Arnott McClure of Brampton. Miss McClure's picture in this fall fashion appeared in the fashion section of Saturday Night. To describe her outfit it is something like this: "A putty colored pinafore style jumper dress of covert cloth. An underblouse of Indian earth matches her belt, hat and shoes."

"United and Resolved"

"The British Empire stands invincible .... Our people are united and resolved as they have never been before .... with the conviction of final victory burning unquenchable in our hearts." In these ringing words of confidence, Prime Minister Winston Churchill has expressed the fighting spirit of the British people—their grim determination to prosecute this war until tyranny is ended and freedom finally triumphs. "United and resolved" symbolizes the spirit of nearly four million Canadians banded together for mutual protection through the great co-operative enterprise of life insurance. These good citizens know that life insurance has weathered every storm in the past 100 years—and that it promotes national security and stability. It is good citizenship to own Life Insurance

●EACH English mail brings letters to this office from our Brampton soldiers now in England. Each letter expresses sincere appreciation for the receipt regularly of the Conservator. "It's like a letter from home", expresses one lad and another expresses it this way, "It gives me a thrill to get the paper each week. I devour every item and live with the folks back home for a while." Among the letters this week was one from Bernard Dunkley and one from Murray Wilson, of Huttonville. The boys overseas enjoy the paper and if you are not a regular reader, you can have the same enjoyment by becoming a regular subscriber, phone 144 and we will do the rest.

●MANY war stories come to our ears these days. One of the best is told by a member of a London bomb-disposal squad. He was lowered carefully into the crater of an unexploded German bomb, sat down calmly on the bomb and began removing its fuse. Suddenly he yelled: "Get me out of here! Pull me up!" His collegues hauled him up in record time and ran for shelter. The man, however, remained at the edge of the crater, pointed down and exclaimed, "Look at that big rat down there!"

There will be one more giant bomber to teach Hitler the folly of his madness when Canadian Pacific Railway employes from coast to coast reach the objective of $100,000 of their Golden Bomber Fund. Nearly 60,000 Canadian Pacific men and women are ransacking their homes for old gold for this patriotic purpose. And it is amazing what they are finding, what sacrifices they are making to help save the world from Hitlerism. While broken and out-moded jewellery forms the bulk of the contributions which have been received so far, there are not a few wedding rings and family heirlooms.

Capt. R. M. Field, C.F.

C.A.B.F. Z Force,
Base P.O., Canada
Tuesday, Oct. 1, 1940.

Mr. J. McQueen, S.O.E.B.S.
Brampton, Ont.
Dear Sir:—

This will acknowledge with grateful thanks, 300 cigarettes just received from you. My card must have won, surely! Did you hear me shout "Bingo!" all the way from Iceland? I shall enjoy a smoke myself and share them with the boys when I know they are short, between mails or pay. I know they too will appreciate them.

Although I used to be a member of Lodge Memorial in Toronto some years ago, I presume you must have got my name from my nephew, Eddie Turner, who manages Loblaw's butcher department in your town.

For ten years prior to being called up, I was rector of St. Patrick's Anglican Church, Guelph, and also Chaplain to the Ontario Reformatory, Guelph, at the same time.

Kindest regards and thanks again.

Sincerely yours,
Reginald M. Field, Capt.
Chaplain to the Canadian Forces in Iceland.

Do you know this draw fund has over seventy names on its list—not counting our own lodge members. They, with the help of the S.O.E. bingo, have sent over 80,000 cigarettes overseas. Let's make it a 100,000 before Christmas—only by your help can we make it.

Brampton From The Air

This is the first of a series of aerial views of the Town of Brampton, which will appear from week to week in The Conservator. The photographs were taken by Cecil Chinn, well known Brampton photographer, who has done a great deal of important aerial photography. In this first view the Hewetson Shoe factory may be seen against the background, with the Copeland-Chatterson and Williams Shoe factories also clearly depicted. Another in this series will appear next week.

All her family have predeceased her. Mrs. Craven before her marriage was Miss Elizabeth Splan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Splan, who were pioneers in the township of Toronto Gore.

'Be Prepared'

BOY SCOUT and WOLF CUB NEWS

The Scouts of Brampton had the best 'apple day' that Brampton has seen. Scabs were found on many of the fruit but this seemed to make no difference. We cleared somewhere around ninety dollars. This money will be added to the Scout funds. We have two bushels left for ourselves.

The troop now consists of five patrols, the Wolves, the Bulldogs, the Eagles, the Beavers and the Coyotes. The new patrol leader is Harold Mara who was once C.L. of Beavers, but left because of his work on a farm.

A few weeks ago we had a 'church parade' to the Baptist church. The marching, we thought, was excellent. Maybe it was because only a few Cubs showed up to trail behind.

Last week each patrol was asked to put on a skit. The Wolves were presented with three points for having the best show. These points are needed in the patrol competition which will end at Christmas.

A number of boys were invested last week. Jim Conn of the Wolf patrol; Bill Clapham, of the Eagles patrol, and Vern Pope, of the Beavers. This week John Mifsud and Bill Russell will be invested, if they come.

Each of the patrols are receiving a patrol record book. The patrol leader will then have a better idea of how the fellows in his patrol are advancing.

Old Resident Passes

Alexander Campbell of Cheltenham, passed away on Monday, October 21, at Peel Memorial Hospital, Brampton, in his 86th year. In 1932 he suffered a severe stroke of paralysis, and from that time until his death he was confined to his home. On Friday last his condition suddenly became worse and he was removed to the hospital where the end came peacefully. The late Mr. Campbell's parents, emigrated to Chinguacousy township from Islay, Scotland, and he was born on lot 29, 2nd concession west, Chinguacousy, in the year 1855, and operated his farm there until 1926, when he retired to reside in the village of Cheltenham. He was one of the oldest men in the Cheltenham district, and his memory could range back to pre-confederation days, and to the hard, stirring but cheerful life of the time. The late Mr. Campbell was an active energetic man of quiet but kind disposition, and bore his long trying period of invalidism with steady courage and resignation. His wife the late Sarah Ann Lyons, of Norval, predeceased him in 1916. He is survived by three children, John James Campbell and Miss Elizabeth Campbell, of Cheltenham; Wilmot Campbell, of Toronto, and a granddaughter, Miss Mary Campbell, of Cheltenham. The funeral service is being held this afternoon (Thursday) with a service at the Cheltenham United Church following a brief service at the home. Interment is taking place in the Boston Mills cemetery.

C.N.E. WINNER GIVES HER RECIPE FOR Rolls
MRS. W. NORRIS, BOLTON, ONT.

The first prize for the best plate of rolls (8 in assorted shapes) at the 1940 Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, went to Mrs. Wardlaw Norris, R.R. 3, Bolton, Ontario. And every woman will want to know how she made her rolls. Here's her advice and recipe:

"One secret of making good rolls or bread is to keep the temperature right while the dough is rising. Then to regulate the oven so they bake to an even golden colour. Another important point is to use Robin Hood Flour. I have used Robin Hood for four years and I find it is always of the same high quality. Robin Hood Flour makes the dough very elastic and easy to shape into fancy designs. It also makes the rolls very white and fine of texture. Tempting to look at and delicious to eat. Another great advantage of using Robin Hood Flour is that you are always delighted with all the baking you turn out."

PRIZEWINNING RECIPE
USED BY MRS. NORRIS

1½ cups milk, scalded and cooled to 90° F.
1 tbsp. sugar
1 yeast cake broken into milk (Compressed or Quick yeast)
Make into sponge, and set away until risen to double its bulk.
Add ¼ cup granulated sugar
1 tbsp. salt
4 tbsps. shortening
1 egg white and ¼ cup luke warm water
Mix thoroughly and add to sponge
Work in enough Robin Hood Flour to handle easily; knead well
Let rise to double in bulk
Shape into buns and let rise until light
Bake in a moderate oven 350°

If you haven't been using Robin Hood Flour here's your chance to try it with this prize-winning recipe. You will realize right from the start that Robin Hood is away ahead of ordinary flours. Everything you bake will look nicer, taste better and your Robin Hood Flour will go farther too!

NEWS OF STREETSVILLE AND DISTRICT

by ARTHUR ARCH

Joint Service

The United Church is to close next Sunday evening, Oct. 27, to worship with their fellow Christians of Trinity, it being the occasion of their anniversary.

Mid-week Services

Don't forget the inter-church mid-week services held each Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. This is a 45-minute service for special meditation and prayer. During October the services have been held in the United Church, November in Trinity church and December in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, and back to the United Church again for January and so on until the cycle is again completed.

Will Elect Officers

The Young People's Society of the United Church held their first meeting of the season on Monday evening in the church basement. The vice-president, Gordon Steen, was in charge. After a short business period, the Rev. T. D. Jones showed lantern slides on Wales and gave a very interesting talk on the country. The meeting closed by singing the national anthem. It is expected that the election of officers will be held at the next meeting, it is customary not to have the election until the new year, but as many of the present officers have gone away, it is necessary to hold it now.

Hear Dr. Pinkney

The Junior Farmers and Junior Institute held their regular meeting on Tuesday evening of this week at the home of Miss Edna Stephens. Dr. Pinkney, of Cooksville was the guest speaker in the boys' group and Miss Dorothy Shaw an ex-president of the Peel Juniors, spoke to the girls. Business was conducted and a social time enjoyed. This Thursday evening, the Streetsville Juniors are holding a court-whist party and social evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Duris to which all the young people of the district are invited.

Scouts Do Good Work

The Scouts and Cubs met for work at the old cemetery by the Presbyterian church on Monday after school and in such numbers that much was done. Mr. Wilson came over to say that he was delighted with the boys for he had wanted to have something done to the cemetery for some years. That was encouraging to the boys. Brush was removed, broken down railing which cluttered the ground and prevented grass and weed cutting, was removed, stones crooked were made straight and it now begins to appear as though another bee will complete this part of the task. The levelling of the ground would then remain. If this could be done, the grass could be cut with lawn mowers and the whole place made a lovely spot by the addition of a few trees, walks and arbours. The boys mean to do their best with it.

Brampton High School
CAMPUS COMMENT

On reaching school Monday morning, I was severely shocked. I blinked my eyes, pinched myself, and swore I'd never stay out after ten o'clock again. What do you think I saw? Cowsll Five of them, walking about the campus as though they owned it. But I blamed it unto my glasses, dismissed it from my mind, and entered school with a smile upon my face, to resume our studies for another pleasant week. Grrr!

B.H.S.

Rugby

It hurts having to write about our loss on Friday. Brampton was never able to play the rugby they are capable of, the reason, doubtlessly being the condition of the Weston field. For those that have not seen it, it is simply a sand-pit. But enough of excuses, the final score was Weston 9, Brampton 5.

B.H.S.

Weston opened the scoring in the first period with a long kick that Brampton couldn't get out of safety. Shortly after, our red team were caught napping when a Weston forward pass was not covered, earning them a touchdown which was not converted. The score stood 6-0 for the home team. Brampton settled down and for two periods there was no scoring. In the last quarter, the Redmen marched down the field, and Lent plunged for a major scores which Garbutt narrowly missed converting. With the score 6-5 and 12 minutes remaining to play, Brampton's defence collapsed and Weston completed the scoring with a beautifully kicked placement, and one minute later the game ended with the score 9-5 in favor of Weston.

B.H.S.

Poole did some brilliant kicking for Weston and set up all their scoring plays, receiving excellent protection from a strong line Brampton's three-star players were McGuire, McLean and Charters.

B.H.S.

Our first home game is this coming Friday when we entertain the undefeated Etobicoke lads. If you will mark our words, we're calling Brampton to win, and with lots of support from the school they can do it.

B.H.S.

Volleyball

The finals of the girls' volleyball have been reached and the winner to be decided sometime this week. Third form defeated fourth by score of 26-18, and second subdued fifth by a 23-21 count. The winning team between third and second will be announced next week.

B.H.S.

Hallowe'en

Yes, peoples, Hallowe'en will soon be here with our school party being held a week from Friday, I believe. Now that everyone knows (taking for granted someone reads this column) you may all start digging up a costume. We also noticed Mr. Patterson has already started his skit. Who's going to stop that man?

B.H.S.

Things You Should Know

After the game Friday, Charlie A. and his gal Lulu, Bob C. and Nora P. and John B. and Betty R. journeyed to the city to take in the sights. I'm sure an enjoyable evening was had by all.

B.H.S.

Carter, Sloski and Lent, accompanied, of course, by the Bettys and Beat, set off to the city Saturday night to take in a certain rugby picture. Not discouraged after Friday I hope boys?

After all their driving about on Friday night, we noticed Flash and Jack G. finally made their connections.

B.H.S.

We hear the English air force lads have been transferred from Malton. There's bound to be more of them Ruth, so don't get worried about it.

B.H.S.

Ross Picht was home over the week-end looking very fit in his army garb. What do you think of it, Grace?

B.H.S.

A certain lad whose initials are McArter, did some celebrating over the week-end. Of course he was accompanied by Ursula, while Hud and Marg B. made up the foursome. They spent an enjoyable Saturday in the city.

B.H.S.

Poetry?

(Really, I've got to fill up space somehow!)
Every Friday the team does go
Away to play, rain or snow,
So you can see we must have cars
To carry there our many stars.
One Friday we began to scream,
We had no cars to take the team,
But there's McLean who just drove past,
"Ah," we sighed, "saved at last."
"I can't take players," quoth our Flash,
Oh how our hopes did take a splash,
"I have a load, I'm sorry pals,
For all my passengers are gals."
My friends, we'll leave it all to you,
For there's a guy we thought we knew,
But now I see I have been wrong,
Oh, to think that I'd live so long.

Jake

McArter: Where can I get a hold of you?
Ursula: I don't know, I'm awful ticklish.

FIVE PIN NOTES

"Who is going to win the tournament?" That's the big question at the local alleys this week. Several of the so-called big leaguers have been eliminated and the quarter finals have now been reached.

Alley gossip suggests that names of Tom Gumby and Bob Patterson as leading contenders. It is hoped to run off the final on Saturday night, so give the railbirds a chance to be there to witness what promises to be a really keen duel. The tournament has aroused sufficient interest to provide frequent demands for another in the near future.

The town league held its second meeting on Monday at which Scorer Jim Algie Sr. pleaded pressure of business, and asked to be relieved of the job he has filled so capably for several years. Members of the league are sorry to see Jim give up the job, and extend a very cordial vote of thanks to a good sport.

Frank Brown of Double Blues fame has kindly volunteered to fill the position. Frank is also official handicapper so he will be a busy man this winter. The Town League gets under way next Tuesday with Baptists meeting Alphamettes, and West End meeting Calverts.

A ladies' meeting is scheduled for tonight (Thursday). Six teams have entered this league. Thursday night has also been set apart for the fair sex, with October 31st as the opening night.

Miss Olive Moore Wins Col. Forsyth Golf Club Prize

The girls' section of the Brampton Golf Club had its closing event of the season on Tuesday night and it proved a most happy affair. Miss Betty Fleury was runner-up and Miss Catharine Johnston was awarded the consolation prize. The Ringer score prize went to Miss Norma Alteman. During the evening bridge was played and coffee and doughnuts were served. Mrs. Bob Meyers won the bridge prize.

Mrs. Waite Heads Ladies Golf Club Executive Group

The ladies' golf club held its annual meeting on Tuesday at the club house. Following the usual business, an election of officers was held. The executive for 1940-41 includes the following: Hon. Pres., Mrs. R. O. MacKay; Hon. Vice-Pres., Mrs. R. I. Blain; Pres., Mrs. J. H. C. Waite; Vice-Pres., Mrs. W. W. Gibson; Sec.-Treas., Mrs. H. A. Willis; Captain, Mrs. J. A. Bartlett; Asst. Captain and Handicap Manager, Miss Mary Wilson; House Convener, Mrs. N. L. Stacey.

MAYFIELD

Mayfield Young People

The opening meeting of the Y.P.U. was held last Tuesday evening in the Sunday School room. The young people served supper and had as their guests the congregation of the church. The service opened with Hymn 511, "Lord of the Lands, Beneath Thy Bending Skies." The Worship Period was in charge of Mrs. Henry Downey. The scripture was read by Edna Oliff and prayer by John Armstrong. Ortus Maltby rendered a very pleasing solo. Mary Speirs and Muriel Pawley favoured with a piano duet, and Luella Harper with a reading. Mrs. W. Watson also favoured with a piano selection. The guest speaker of the evening was Mr. Dyer of New Toronto, a former minister of Mayfield church. The meeting was closed by prayer by Mr. Brown.

Busy Bees Mission Band

The Busy Bees Mission Band which was organized 2 years ago, and now has a paid up membership of thirty-nine, held their Thank Offering meeting on Saturday October the nineteenth, with the President, Miss Mary Black in the chair. A special invitation had been sent to the mothers and friends of the members and the response was very gratifying. After the usual devotional and business periods had been disposed of, Mrs. Brown introduced the guest speaker Mrs. Partridge, who brought a helpful message to the children illustrated by two stories. Mrs. Noble and Miss Winnie Davies gave readings, Miss Frances Armistead sang, accompanied by Miss Shirley Wedgewood. This part of the programme was brought to a close by singing, "Can a Little Child Like Me", followed by the National Anthem and repeating the Lord's Prayer. The candles on a three storey birthday cake were then lit by Donald Leslie while the guests sang "Happy Birthday" to the Mission Band. Betty Burrows blew out the candles, after which the cake was cut by Mrs. Leece and Mrs. Ingram and a dainty lunch was served by members of the Mission Band. Mrs. Chas. Brown, who is leader of this energetic band, deserves a great deal of credit for her untiring devotion to the development of this little society.

W.M.S. Take Service

The service on Sunday evening, which was in charge of the Women's Missionary Society was well attended. Mrs. Clarke gave a most interesting talk on: "Why I Believe in Missions", the origin of the Women's Missionary Society, and the one great reason why all women should believe, and not only believe, but out of love and gratitude, pass on the good news to others, Jesus having done so much to raise the standard and dignity of womanhood. Miss Isaiacs sang a very lovely solo, which was much appreciated.

To Hear Mr. McBride

When the official board and the circuit Ladies Aid of Huttonville the circuit of the United church meet on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hutton, Mr. Albert McBride of Toronto and Churchville will give a talk on what he considered the "Highlights" of the General Council held in Winnipeg to which he was sent as a representative from the Toronto conference.

Miss Elizabeth Startup

The funeral of the late Miss Elizabeth Startup was held from the home of her sister, Mrs. John Hamilton, 21 Browning Ave., Toronto, on Saturday, October 22nd, to Richmond Hill cemetery. Miss Startup had for some years spent the summer with her sister, Mrs. John Hamilton, at their cottage at Huttonville, and during that time had made many friends who deeply mourn her passing. Another sister, Mrs. F. Chamberlain, is a resident of Huttonville district.

GRAHAMSVILLE

Mrs. Elizabeth Orser

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. (Rev.) F. Sullivan, of Grahamsville, in the death of her mother, Elizabeth Orser, at Capreol on Tuesday, October 15. The family believes that her death was caused by the shock she received when her second eldest son, Leon, died two weeks ago. The deceased, who was born in the Huntsville district, was in her 90th year. She was the oldest resident of Capreol and the oldest member of the United Church there. In her younger days she was superintendent of a Sunday school in the district for 15 years. She often told of how to light her way home of a night she would fire a pine knot. She is survived by two sons, Louis and George, of Capreol, and two daughters, Mrs. (Rev.) F. Sullivan, of Grahamsville, and Miss Margaret, near Chatham. Her husband predeceased her two years ago at the age of 91. Funeral services were held on Thursday and were conducted by Rev. McBrien, former pastor of Orangeville United church . . . Rev. F. Dancing was then enjoyed until a late hour, the music being supplied by local musicians under the leadership of Mr. Harry Gibson.

Ants Work for Farmer

Harvesting of seed on the farm, particularly of grasses, has always been a matter of hard labour, but, according to a report of a Soil Conservation officer of the United States Department of Agriculture, farmers in Texas have reduced the work to the status of an ordinary chore. One farmer obtained 200 pounds of clean seed in two days from ant hills in a pasture of native buffalo-grass. Soil Conservation men, who noticed that red ants collect buffalo-grass seeds and pile them around the ant hills, were able to tell farmers how to get seed for planting. The seed was swept together with a stiff broom and then run through a commercial cleaner to separate the seed from soil, trash, and weed seeds. In two days one man collected nearly 800 pounds of sweepings, from which the farmer obtained about 200 pounds of good clean grass seed.

CAPITOL NOTES

Commencing Monday evening, Nov. 4th, evening shows will commence at 7 and 9 D.S.T., during the week. On Saturday evenings, shows will be run at 6-8-10 D.S.T., unless advertised differently.

If you like the down-to-earth comedy of Bob Burns, if you like the rowdy going's on that you might find at a hillbilly hoe-down, and if your ear is tuned to mountain music, you will have a grand time when you see "Comin' Round the Mountain" at the Capitol, Friday and Saturday. The large cast of radio and screen stars include Bob Burns, Una Merkel, Jerry Colonna, Uncle Ezra, Mayor Gildersleeve and Don Wilson. "The Girl in 313," second feature on the week-end bill, is a lively drama of New York's Broadway, in which a smart young lady matches wits with a band of jewel thieves. In the cast are Florence Rice, Kent Taylor, Lionel Atwill and Katharine Aldridge.

The new comedy, "The Doctor Takes a Wife," plays at the Capitol on Monday and Tuesday. It stars Loretta Young and Ray Milland, and gives a hilarious account of a young authoress who finds herself "married" to a doctor who hates all women, especially writers. Although the marriage is false, the couple are forced to bill and coo in public and fight in private. The large cast includes Reginald Gardiner, Gail Patrick, Edmund Given and Georges Metaxa.

"Torchy" come to the Capitol screen again. This time the quick-witted reporter is played by Jane Wyman, and her police friend Steve, by Allen Jenkins. "Torchy Plays with Dynamite," deals with a transcontinental chase after a desperate gangster, and his capture after several dumb plays by Gahagan, played as usual by Tom Kennedy. "And One Was Beautiful," showing on the same bill, gives a vivid glimpse into the social intrigues of the "smart set." Its cast includes Robert Cummings, Laraine Day, and Jean Muir.

November attractions at the Capitol will include "Boom Town," "The Westerner," "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," "Foreign Correspondent" and "I Love You Again."

Burn Weed Seeds After Threshing

Safe Methods Are Outlined in Disposing Of All Weed Seeds

The main objective in the control of noxious weeds should be to prevent reinfestation, states John D. MacLeod, Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch, Ont. Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto.

Immediately after the threshing operation has been completed all refuse containing weed seeds should be placed in tightly woven sacks and disposed of in such a manner as will destroy the germinating power of all seed. This may be accomplished by rotting, burning or chopping. A hole may be dug in the ground and all refuse buried deeply. A pit may be dug from 3 to 4 feet deep with a board enclosure around it 3 to 4 feet high. Weed seeds may be dumped into this pit which should be covered with chicken wire or screen to prevent birds from gaining an entrance. Weed seeds will be thoroughly soaked by fall rains and the heating and rotting process which will take place will destroy all weed seeds.

A well built box, large tile or other container with a screen over the top will also prove a satisfactory method. An open fire is not recommended, as it is dangerous to property. Certain weed seeds such as mustard, ragweed, etc., will burn slowly and the fire may smoulder for several days during which time weed seeds may be scattered over a large area.

A home made incinerator may be constructed by removing the top from an oil drum and providing a draught door and grate at the bottom. Waste oil poured on weed seeds and light bulky refuse will permit air to enter and help the burning process. A large tile, part of a smoke stack or any container which will stand lots of heat could also be used.

All weed seeds which will pass through a wood screen with a perforation of one-fourteenth of an inch in diameter should be removed from the grain with the threshing and fanning mill before the grain is chopped, rolled or fed whole. Many of these small weed seeds are harmful to livestock and difficult to chop and should be destroyed by a rotting or burning process as has been previously outlined. Weed seeds included in this group are Wild Mustard, Warn Seed Mustard, Small Seeded False Flax, Pigweed, Plantain, Lamb Quarters, Bladder Campion, Cakcey, White Cockle, Catch Fly, Cinquefoil, Ribgrass and Ox-eye Daisy.

Some of the larger weed seeds such as Wild Buckwheat, Wild Oats and Wild Vetches have a certain amount of feed value and may be used for the feeding of livestock providing they are chopped fine. The plates of the chopper should be in good condition and set close. Choppers of the hammer mill type will make a more thorough job when chopping grains containing weed seeds.

The person who is careless about the disposal of weed seeds and refuse containing weed seeds is his own worst enemy and is a menace to the entire community, Mr. MacLeod states.

Consumption Of Pork and Veal Shows Increase

Consumption of meats in Canada in 1939 per head of population is officially estimated at 118.9 lb., an increase of more than two lb. per head over the 1938 consumption. With reference to individual commodities, more pork, veal and lard and less beef were consumed in 1939 than in 1938. The consumption of mutton and lamb remained unchanged. The consumption of pork per head of population in 1939 is placed at 52 lb., an increase of 4.2 lb. on the previous year; veal consumption rose from 11.8 lb. in 1938 to 12.1 lb. per head in 1939, and lard at 5.8 lb. per head showed an increase of nearly 1½ lb. over 1938.

Beef consumption declined from 51.6 lb. per head of population in 1938 to 49 lb. per head in 1939. Although the total output of cattle in Canada in 1939 showed an increase over that of 1938, exports of cattle during 1939 were almost double those of 1938. The consumption of mutton and lamb at 5.8 lb. per head of population was the same as in 1938, which in turn was one lb. less than in 1937. It is expected, says the official report, that during the next three or four years consumption of beef will continue to decline. While the numbers of cattle are continuing to increase on Canadian farms, the present tendency is to withhold stock from market for the purpose of building up herds. Pork consumption during 1940 will probably be even greater than in 1939. A very considerable increase in production over 1939 has taken place, and, although exports to the United Kingdom have increased, there will be a large supply of pork available for Canadian consumers.

Exports Increase

Seed potatoes, wheat flour, fertilizers, animal fats and oils, hides, malt and other Canadian agricultural products figured in the increased imports to Cuba in 1939 which rose from $1,185,924 in value in 1938 to $1,497,382 in 1939, a net increase of $311,413, or slightly over 25 per cent.

Soil Fertility Program In Peel Is Progressing

Still Opportunity For Peel Farmers To Have Survey Made

The Soil Fertility Survey Programme which was announced some time ago has been progressing quite favourably. A number of farmers have received their reports on samples sent forward, and many have expressed their appreciation and satisfaction of the very helpful information received. Such a programme should and will be of real assistance in planning a soil and crop improvement programme for the individual farm, and now is the time to take soil samples for analysis in preparation for next year's crop.

The various phases of farming trace directly or indirectly to the soil, which means that the soil is really the foundation of our agriculture. This makes such a programme of major importance and particularly so under present wartime conditions. Each farmer in Peel County is offered the opportunity to have samples of soil from his own fields analysed at the Soils Division of the Ontario Agricultural College. THERE IS NO CHARGE FOR THIS SERVICE. Each farmer is asked to take his own samples and fill out a soil and crop history sheet according to instructions provided. Sample boxes and report forms will be supplied for this purpose through the Agricultural Office, Brampton. When the analysis is completed, individual reports with recommendations will be forwarded to the Department of Agriculture, Brampton, and from there they will be sent direct to the farmer.

These samples may be taken anytime from now until winter sets in, but it is better not to leave it too late. If you have mislaid your letter containing the questionnaire on which to give the necessary information regarding the number of boxes required, you may secure one at the Agricultural Office, Brampton.

Where soil is modsrately uniform, 5 samples should be sufficient to give a good picture of the fertility levels of your soil. If the soil is quite irregular it may be better to take 8 or 10 samples. It should not be necessary in any case to take more than 10 samples unless you have several farms in different locations.

Peel County farmers have the opportunity to have this work done this year. For further particulars see or write the Agricultural Representative, Dept. of Agriculture, Brampton.

Uniform Standards Of Wiltshire Sides Outlined By Board

As a guide in maitaining uniform standards in all Canadian plants exporting Wiltshire sides and export cuts of bacon, the publication "Canadian Standards for the Preparation of Wiltshire Sides and Cuts" has been issued by the Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture. The instructions contained in the publication have been prepared by a subcommittee of the Bacon Standards Committee set up in conjunction with the administration of the Bacon Grading Regulations and the Bacon Board. The instructions embody the best practices followed as a result of long experience by exporters, and the requirements for the preparation of export meats are itemized under various sections, such as, type and quality and handling of live hogs from farm to killing floor, killing floor operations, chilling methods and conditions, cutting operations, freezing, defrosting, curing operations, grading and selecting, packing operations, shipping arrangements, and sanitary necessities in general from killing floor to steamship.

The publication is set up in two sections, (1) Bacon Board requirements which include those items known as good practice and capable of accomplishment by all Canadian exporters, and (2) Bacon Board recommendations which comprise items regarded as good practice, but for various reasons, physical or otherwise may not be capable of accomplishment to the full extent by all exporters. Several illustrations in the publication emphasize certain points explained in the text, for example, export cuts, wrapping, sewing, and roping. It is a complete guide.

Linseed Oil Increase

Flaxseed comprises the most important material used by the Linseed and Soybean Oil Industry in Canada, and during 1939 accounted for almost 94 per cent of the total value of materials used. Linseed oil is the principal item of production, the output in 1939 amounting to 4,384,013 gallons, valued at $2,841,437. Oilcake meal was the next principal product with an output of 26,283 tons and a value of $909,019.

Compared with the previous year, there was an increase in 1939 of $475,863 in the gross value of production and of $174,295 in value added by manufacture. With regard to the output of raw linseed oil there was an increase of 440,477 gallons and an increase of $118,974 in its selling value. In 1939, there were nine plants in operation in Canada, located by provinces as follows: Quebec, 4; Ontario, 2; Manitoba, 2, and Alberta, 1.

WIN MEDALS AND FREE TRIP

JOHN LISTER HAROLD PICKET

An outstanding feature at the International Plowing Match, held at St. Thomas this year, was the event sponsored by Salada Tea Company.

The big "Salada" Special class, open to all plowmen who had qualified at branch matches and to all winners of first prizes in the open jointer classes at International Matches from and including 1927, brought together the top rank plowmen of the Province and attracted wide attention. The first and second prizes are gold and silver medals and an extensive trip to include areas of agricultural interest. Twelve cash prizes ranging from $25.00 to $5.00 were also awarded for this event. Top honours went to John Lister and Harold Picket, both from Hornby, Ontario.

Food Supplies In Canada Ample For All Demands

Stocks of Nearly All Foodstuffs is Larger Than in 1939

The problem of adequate food supplies is a subject widely discussed; but Canada has plenty of food. A review of the storage stocks of food in Canada by the Economics Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, shows that for all important foodstuffs, except cheese, the supplies in September, 1940, were well above those of the same month of 1939. Stocks of all products except cheese and eggs are reported to be higher than the ten year average for the same month.

The most important foodstuff held in large volume is wheat and the stocks of wheat in store were reported on September 20, 1940, at 358 million bushels compared with 235 million bushels for the corresponding date of 1939. In addition to these stocks in store, there is a large part of the 1940 wheat crop remaining on farms.

In meat products stocks of both beef and pork on September 1, 1940, were above those of the similar date of 1939. The increase in beef stocks was slight but in the case of pork there were 13 million pounds more on hand than a year ago. However, the stocks of pork in Canada have been declining since the peak was reached in June of this year.

Normally stocks of butter, cheese and eggs are built up during the summer months of high production. In 1940 the accumulation of stocks of cheese and eggs has been offset to some extent by heavy exports to the United Kingdom with the result that stocks on September 1, 1940, were somewhat below the usual amounts at that date.

Storage stocks of foodstuffs are accumulated during periods of heavy production—than come on the market when production is low. The stock position may have a decided effect on prices if holdings become abnormally high or abnormally low at any time.

Standard Sizes In Potato Bags Now Effective

Use of Old 80 And 90 lb. Bags Is Now Forbidden

Now that the height of the season for potato grading, packing, and shipping is here, the Fruit and Vegetable Division of the Dominion Department of Agriculture offers the reminder that a change in standard potato bag sizes became effective last season. It became illegal to use the old 80 and 90 pound potato sacks.

Standard potato bag weights are now 100 pounds, 75 pounds, 50 pounds, 25 pounds, and 15 pounds. When potatoes are packed in paper bags in retail stores for sale convenience, they should be packed in multiples of 5 pounds, that is to say, 5, 10, or 15 pounds. All potato bags must be properly marked to indicate the name and address of the packer, the proper designation of the grade, and the net weight when packed.

The Marking Regulations contain a new stipulation to the effect that tags attached to potato bags, or to branded potato bags, must include the words "Table Potatoes". This procedure was found necessary in order to prevent the sale of table potatoes as seed potatoes, and to establish the fact that potatoes grown and packed as table stock must not be sold as certified seed potatoes.

The 1939 regulations also include a standard potato crate. This crate is commonly called the Argentine Crate and was standardized with the dimensions 28 inches x 14 and a half inches x 14 and a half inches with a centre partition three-quarters of an inch thick for the export trade of certified seed potatoes, principally to the Argentine. However, this package has become popular and is now used in other channels of trade.

Junior Farmers' Judging Contest On October 26

Many Fine Trophies Will Be Awarded At Annual Event

Arrangements have been completed for the annual Junior Farmer's judging contest which will be held on Saturday, Oct. 26. Judging will be held on farms in the Brampton vicinity. The contest is open to all Junior Farmers under thirty years of age, residents of Peel county who have not attended an agricultural or veterinary college or school more than two years.

Among the prizes that will be awarded are those to the coach of the winning team and the championship class. The special prizes are: the Chicago trip, the C.N.E. novice special, the J. A. Carroll special, the Credholme Farm Dairy special, Oakland Farm Beef Cattle Trophy, the Pinegrove Farm Swine Trophy, the Wreford Hewson Horse Trophy, the Silver Creek Farms Sheep Trophy.

The agenda for Saturday includes registration at the agricultural office at Brampton, judging of the livestock classes, lunch, oral reasons on all classes and the official placings on all classes and the judges' reasons. At 4.30 p.m., a banquet will be held in the Baptist church, Brampton, at which awards and presentations will be made. J. E. Houck, of Brampton, will be the guest speaker.

Clearing N.S. Orchards

Nearly 25,000 old and undesirable apple trees have been pulled in the commercial apple growing districts of Nova Scotia up to the first week of October, 1940, since the inauguration in the fall of 1939 of the policy of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, in co-operation with the Provincial Highways Department, of providing tractors. The service is free to orchardists in order to give them an opportunity to clear out unprofitable trees.

Storage of Apples

In view of the fact that war still curtails the export of apples, considerable quantities will be stored in the home. Experts in fruit storage strongly advise that apples be stored in well-ventilated rooms or cellars. These storage places should be equipped with plenty of openings, at least in the ratio of one square foot to every 50 barrels. The openings should be kept open at night and closed during the day, care being taken to avoid dead-end spaces in the corners of the store.

Six Nephews Are Pallbearers at Funeral Service

CALEDON EAST—Caledon East lost one of its well known and respected residents in the passing of Mrs. George Atkinson at her home on Thursday, last. She was born near Mono Mills, seventy-two years ago and before her marriage was Miss Margaret Rawn. For the past twenty-five years she has made her home in Caledon East. Rev. Mosley Metcalfe, assisted by Rev. J. A. Laycock, conducted the service held at Caledon East United Church. Six nephews, Peter Rawn, George Rawn, Russell Rawn, Angus Rawn, George Bible and Henry Bible, acted as pallbearers. Left to mourn her loss are her husband and one son, Gordon. Four brothers, George, Wilson, Sam, and William, and one sister, Mrs. Moss, also survive.

Miss Judge Buried

On Monday afternoon, October 21st, largely attended services were held for the late Miss Margaret Jane Judge, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Judge, Caledon East. The Rev. G. S. Despard conducted the service in Toronto and the Rev. N. H. Noble officiated at the burial service in St. James Church, Caledon East. Interment took place at St. James Cemetery. Miss Judge was in her seventy-fourth year, and Mr. Noble referred to her as "a precious link in the human chain uniting the present members with those who worshipped in the old St. James Church." Her life was made beautifully by her Christian devotion and service, and many persons benefitted by her kindly deeds. She leaves three brothers, William R., Charlie, and Jack Judge; also three sisters, Mrs. Isaac Taylor, Mrs. Thomas Peters and Mrs. Albert Rose. The pallbearers, James Harris, William Harris, George Rose, Clifford Judge, George Judge and Thomas Judge, were all nephews of the late Miss Judge.

Anniversary Services

Knox Presbyterian Church, Caledon East, beautifully decorated with flowers donated by Mr. W. E. Calvert, was filled to capacity both morning and evening on Sunday last on the occasion of its eighty-seventh anniversary. Very inspiring and appropriate addresses were delivered at both services by Rev. T. De Courcy Reyner, recently inducted into the pastoral charge at Markham. Special music was provided by the Fuller Sisters, of Toronto, and each member of the choir was presented with a rose through the generosity of Mr. L. Swinton. The celebration of this anniversary will terminate on Tuesday evening with a fowl supper and concert.

Its body a wreck, and its roof torn off, the car may be seen to have suffered heavily as it careened over the bridge and into the water, which is said to be 15 feet deep at this spot.

SALEM

Neighbours Respond

Neighbours from near and far responded to the call for when the General Alarm came in on Friday afternoon. The house at Everett Shaw's was on fire and only the immediate response saved it. The fire was quickly controlled as pail after pail of water was handed up, but one side of the roof was badly burned. The fire was noticed by one of the men at the barn, who immediately gave the alarm. It is believed that the fire started from a spark from the chimney.

MEMBERS OF CBC STAFF ON ACTIVE SERVICE

At the outbreak of war thousands of Canadians relinquished their civilian posts and went on active service with their various units. Among those to leave in the early months of the war were several members of the CBC staff, now serving in Canada and overseas. These young men have been granted leave of absence for the duration, and with CBC staff members now attached to the Overseas Programme Unit, form the vanguard of this organization's representation in all branches of military and special war service. Four of them are pictured above: Top left, Capt. C. W. Gilchrist, R.C.A.S.C., former Maritimes Press Representative; top right, Capt. B. E. Robinson, R.C.A.S.C., formerly of the Toronto studios; lower left, Lieut. W. R. S. Briggs, R.C.N.R., formerly Royal Tour announcer and producer at the Halifax studios, and lower right, Capt. Hamilton Z. Palmer, R.C.A., formerly of the National Traffic office. Inset are several members of the CBC National Office secretarial staff with samples of knitted articles which they are forwarding to men on active service.

Lions Club Hallowe'en Frolic Next Thursday At Badminton Club Arena

Club Seeks Funds to Carry on Welfare Work in Community

Next Thursday night is the bewitching night of Hallowe'en. Following their usual custom, members of the Lions Club are staging their big Hallowe'en Frolic in the Badminton Club to raise funds for its winter welfare work. The funds raised this year will be more readily felt in the community, for since the last Frolic the club has disposed of that millstone which hung around its neck for several years—the swimming tank debt. Nearly $700 was needed a year ago to complete the payments on the tank, and the proceeds of the frolic plus some other club funds finally disposed of that.

All funds raised next week will be for the club's welfare work in this community. Despite the heavy debt with which the club has had to contend for so long, considerable work has been accomplished locally. Last winter several thousand bottles of milk were provided for undernourished children in the community, in addition to several gallons of Cod Liver Oil. Also during the year donations were made to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, $50 to the station wagon fund, $200 to the Red Cross, and several small contributions. The club undertook, on behalf of the Win the War Committe to raise the necessary funds for the purchase of a station wagon which was presented to the Red Cross on behalf of the citizens of Brampton.

Several times the club has entertained the airmen at Malton, providing transportation, and tickets to local lacrosse games. The club also entertained the flyers who assisted so magnificently in the opening of the recent War Charities drive. The club also handled tonsil cases and eyesight cases during the year. This was all accomplished on very limited funds. The scope of the work to be attempted this year will be much broader in view of the swimming tank debt being out of the way.

The Club is appealing next Tuesday for generous support from citizens. It isn't just a matter of asking for money, but of providing lots of fun and entertainment for that money. There will be plenty of free entertainment at the Frolic, and there will be a score of games in which one may try their skill, and at the same time enrich the funds of the club.

President Ed. Capps extends a cordial invitation to the citizens of Brampton to attend the Frolic and thus to play their part as citizens in the work that the club is doing in their name. Mr. Capps points out that despite the many calls for war purposes, the work in the community must be carried on. That wish was expressed by His Majesty the King at the outset of the war when he asked the whole Empire to carry on the usual tasks and so make sacrifices in the war effort.

So that should be a date to mark on your calendar. Thursday, October 31st, Lions Club Hallowe'en Frolic at the Badminton Club. And just mark it "Must Go".

LIONS PRESIDENT

E. W. CAPPS

An Appeal

To the Citizens of Brampton:

Next Thursday the Lions Club is making its annual appeal to the citizens of Brampton to attend its Hallowe'en Frolic, which is being arranged to raise funds for the club's community activities. It is my pleasant duty to speak for members of the club in asking a continuance of the splendid co-operation the club has received from the citizens of the town in the past.

There is one thing that perhaps is sometimes overlooked by those who support the Lions Club in the various community work it carries on and that is this. The Lions Club is only the instrument by which the work is carried on. Its members are like yourselves, individual subscribers to the welfare work, but every pint of milk given to an undernourished child, every dose of cod liver oil, every donation made by the club to a worthwhile cause, is your milk, your cod liver oil, and your donation. The major portion of the club's funds come from the average citizen of the town, and the club exists solely for the purpose of providing an agency to do this welfare work effectively and without overlapping.

The war has certainly not lightened the burden that the club must carry on behalf of the citizens of the town. On the contrary the demands will be greater, and the club pledges itself to do its utmost to see that the local welfare work is not overlooked in the many appeals that must come toward the war effort.

I know I speak for every member of the club when I say that we shall appreciate to the full any help you can give us at our Frolic next week, and I speak for them, too, in extending to you a cordial invitation to attend the Frolic and help us do the welfare work that we know you want us to do.

Sincerely yours,
E. W. CAPPS,
President, Brampton Lions Club.

Hints On Storage Of Vegetables And Fruit Given

All fruits and vegetables selected for household winter storage should be fully grown and free from damage caused by insects, rough handling, mechanical injury, freezing, and chilling, states R. E. Robinson, Chief, Fruit and Vegetable Field Services, Dominion Department of Agriculture, in a bulletin on "Household Storage of Fruits and Vegetables". Great care should be exercised in grading and sorting the produce for storage so as to eliminate decayed or partly decayed specimens. Samples of such products as apples, potatoes, and turnips, should be selected and cut to determine internal injury. Apples are subject to internal defects caused by railroad worm, bitter pit, core flush, corky-core, and water core; potatoes may have black heart, mildew, blight, and internal browning; and turnips may be affected with brown heart. All fruits and vegetables with internal injury should not be stored.

Useful information in connection with successful storage is given concisely in the bulletin—how to arrange the storage room, selection of varieties of apples, potatoes, onions, cabbage, and other vegetables.

In storage, it is essential that all specimens be thoroughly dry and clean, since, if moisture is allowed to remain on the produce, decay is bound to follow. During the storage period, the fruits and vegetables should be sorted regularly and defective specimens completely removed from the storage room, as refuse if allowed to remain causes contamination of sound stock. The bulletin may be obtained by writing to the Publicity and Extension Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Regional Home and School Meeting Attracted Large Attendance Tues.

Fine Addresses Heard At Afternoon and Evening Sessions

PORT CREDIT—A splendid Regional Conference was held in Clarke hall, Port Credit, by the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations on Tuesday, October 22nd, and the attendance was quite large. Mrs. R. K. Hall, Toronto, was chairman and there were two sessions, afternoon and evening, and Mrs. H. R. Adams was music director.

The afternoon session was opened by singing "O Canada" after which the guests were welcomed. Fine addresses were given on "Rural Life" by Mrs. H. M. Jackson, convener of Rural Life; on "Health" by Dr. E. P. Lewis, convener of Health Education; "Secretary-treasurer's duties," by Mrs. A. C. Beattie, president of York County Council. The addresses were followed by discussion groups for "Presidents" under the leadership of Mrs. T. Hepburn, of York County Council; "Programme Planning", leader, Mrs. Russell Peart, Fishers Corners; "To Plan Study Groups", leader, Mrs. J. V. Arrowsmith, York County Council; "Membership", leader, Mrs. W. E. Wallace, Toronto.

After supper, which was served by the ladies of First United Church at 6 o'clock, the evening session was commenced. During this session there was music, questions answered and reports of group discussion were given, followed by an excellent address by the Provincial President, Mrs. A. B. Silcox.

In her address Mrs. Silcox urged the women not to neglect their homes while they are doing war work. Although war work is very necessary, there is a danger of giving too much time to it and the home is suffering. Mrs. Silcox said, "If we are fighting to save the democracy of which we hear so much, just to give it into the hands of our children, for keeping, and those children have been allowed to grow up, while we have been busy saving democracy by our knitting, or our drilling, or even more important duties. If they have drifted along forming wrong habits, unprotected from infections physical and moral, if we have not guarded against all the insidious propaganda of isms and cults which infect every country, if we have failed to direct our children to show them a better way of living, a way based on the Golden Rule and the Sermon on the Mount, if we have allowed them to drift away from any church connection or any stabilizing influence which will carry them safely through life, we have failed in something very important."

Patricia Godfrey Is Member of Women's Volunteer Service

Known as "Paddy" by fellow drivers, Miss Godfrey has given up a promising career on the stage to do her "bit" for England. She is stationed in one of the borough centres by her unit.

Mrs. Murphy, who is also with the same outfit writes, "I saw a wonderful display the other night when a Nazi bomber was caught in searchlights with anti-aircraft shells exploding around it. We sometimes watch the raids. It is dangerous, but fun."

CANADA TURNS OUT MORE PLANES

With each month of war the humming wheels of the Canadian aircraft industry reach a higher tempo in their song of promised victory. In this photograph a workman is shown as he attaches a wing-tip light to a Lysander army co-operation airplane. A considerable number of these machines are being made in Canada for both British and Canadian use.

Lengthen School Hours to Permit Special War Work

Boys Do Cadet Work While Girls Knitting and Sewing

PORT CREDIT—By a motion of the Board of Education the High School is authorized to lengthen the school day on Monday and Wednesday of each week for the purpose of carrying on war work.

During these two periods the boys are doing cadet work and physical training, the girls knitting and sewing. Pupils not engaged in any of these are free to go on with their studies. Needless to say, nearly everyone is anxious to contribute something to the school's war effort.

With the kind co-operation of the Toronto Township Branch of the Canadian Red Cross a supply of wool is on hand for knitting socks and mitts. The school is purchasing wool for afghans and it is hoped that several of these will be made. Girls who prefer plain sewing are busy at layettes and quilts. Girls are also considering the sale of home-made candy, the proceeds of which will be used for the purchase of materials.

Thirty high school girls have sold over $2,500 of War Saving Certificates.

LEGION NOTES

Another enjoyable evening was spent last Saturday night at the Legion Hall when Post 82 was host to the Fourth Battalion Association. Almost every member was present. This event is usually celebrated by a siscoe supper, but owing to the fact that we could not get siscoes, hot roast beef sandwiches were served, accompanied with green peas and gravy, piping hot. Special mention must be made of the way in which Comrade Percy Wickens cooked the roast beef. It was done to perfection. Comrade Percy Wickens, the boys want you to know that they certainly appreciate the splendid co-operation you gave in making Saturday night a success. Congratulations are in order to Comrade Walter Burrows and his house committee, and the help in the kitchen must be remembered, too — President Warfe, Comrades Gait and Kilgour. The entertainment was "tops."

Many of the boys now serving in the forces just could not stay away. They came from Newmarket, Camp Borden and Kingston. Among them were Sid Nelson, the former secretary; Alex Waldrum, Irvin Kellett, A. Aggett and our former chaplain, Rev. Berkeley, paid us a short visit, returning to Christie Street Hospital early in the evening.

To my friends of the Legion:

I guess I should have written before now to you as when Sgt. Sims was one of the instructors for B. Company, Peel and Dufferin Regiment, after our evening's drill, we often came to the Legion before we went home, and you always made us very welcome. I always remember November 11th. That was one parade I looked forward to. As you men did your best in the last war for us, now it is our turn to repay you for what you did for us, and we will do our best we know how. We are having a good time and everybody is fine. Have seen Charlie Merritt since we have been here and he is feeling fine. Sends his best wishes to you all and to Sgt. Sims, and that goes for me, too. Will write again, so for now, Au Revoir!

I remain,

Yours truly,
PTE. H. KINGSLEY,

Hello Everybody:

Well, we got over here at last. Had a very quiet trip over until last night, when there was a little excitement. A matter of a few subs. Haven't been around the country much as yet, except to Aldershot and Windsor. I've got a new Ford army truck, and drove a load to Windsor yesterday. The King and Queen were there, so we didn't have a chance to go through the castle. I suppose most of you have seen it, but you could put Casa Loma in one corner of it. Roads are very narrow and winding. The cars are all very small. The biggest car I had seen yet, until yesterday, was a Ford. That was in Glasgow. Nothing much going on here except in air raids. Only had one to-day so far, that is a record. London has been bombed very heavily the past two weeks. Disembarkation leaves (5 days) start this Friday. I put in for Oct. 8th, that is the last. Expect to go to London if there is anything left of it by then. Plenty of anti-aircraft gunfire going up from there tonight. Can see it quite plain. Say, you fellows used to tell me "you won't need money when you get to England". I'd like to know how you figure that out, and I haven't been any place yet. A $ note goes about as far here as a $2 bill at home. You change a $ note and get 10s. note and silver change. Then you pass the 10s. note. That goes like a $1 bill. The cheapest tobacco is 31c an oz., nearly $5 a pound. The beer is no good except Bass ale at 9½d. a half pint. No rum rations yet. Got paid on September 13th and on the 16th I was a £ and 10s. into the next pay. What a swell leave I'm going to have! Was looking over a map tonight and just discovered where Teddie Hack is. Will look him up first chance I get. See by to-day's paper they sunk a boat with evacuees on. I hear that it was one of the boats that was in our convoy. Country looks very nice here this time of the year. Saw some of the most beautiful scenery coming down the Clyde I ever hope to see! Will close now. Sincerely,

CARL KEHOE.

Outstanding Preachers Speak at First United Church Anniversary

115th Anniversary Marked By Special Services Sunday

PORT CREDIT — First United Church passed the 115th mile post of its historic career on Sunday last when the congregation and many friends and well wishers from the community gathered for its anniversary occasion. The Junior and Senior choirs, capably led by Mr. Stanley D. Webb, made a real contribution, assisted in the morning by Master Ross Paisley of Clarkson, boy soprano, a winner at the C.N.E. competition. Two outstanding Toronto ministers brought inspiring and helpful messages. Rev. J. P. MacFarlane of Parkdale at the morning worship exalted the place of Christ in the midst of the Church. Rev. C. A. McLaren of St. George's, Toronto, in the evening eloquently urged the holding fast to the faith of ideals of the Christian religion. The people of First United Church are grateful to all who contributed to the success of the anniversary occasion and to the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and to all other friends whose interest and good will are so much appreciated.

Township's Good Record

Well done, Toronto Township! A report issued by Hon. Eric Cross, Minister of Public Welfare, shows that in the ten Toronto metropolitan areas cost of relief has been reduced by 31.2 per cent.; that Toronto Township led the way by a reduction in the nine-month period of 55.1 per cent., which all will agree is a mighty good showing and upon which the council deserves congratulation. Other municipalities effected reductions as follows: New Toronto, 52.2; Long Branch, 46.5; East York, 45.1; Mimico, 42.7; Etobicoke, 40.6; Scarboro', 40.3; York Township, 36.1; North York, 35.2, and Toronto, 27.9. War orders and employment plentiful which is responsible in part for the favorable conditions, but councils have been reducing expenditures as well. There is still room for further economy.

Sources of Revenue

Our township council has sources of revenue not developed with equal perseverance by other municipalities. Usually owners of dogs, who are conscientious pay the fee. Others, less concerned with their duty to the state, pay neither attention nor license fee so long as they are allowed to escape. Not so Toronto Township. Dogs are numerous and, according to a report presented at the last meeting of the council, collector of taxes, F. J. Tolman, handed to the treasurer no less a sum than $662 for 1940. For this little service the collector received $69.20. Another item of revenue that brought surprise to the large number of ratepayers was this: "Licenses, slot machines, $212." The question now being asked is: How many of these money-making devices are licensed in the township?

Mr. Joe Bandiera has accepted a position in the offices of the Cooksville Company Limited.

Mrs. Harry Cooke, Burnhamthorpe Road, is confined to a Toronto hospital through illness.

Mrs. Emma Colwell, Dundas Highway east, who has been ill for several weeks, is enjoying much better health now.

Prominent Peel Gardener Dies At Cooksville

Ernest S. Williams Was 40 Years With Department Store

COOKSVILLE — Ernest S. Williams, employee of the T. Eaton Company for more than 40 years and one of the best amateur landscape gardeners in the southern part of Peel County, died suddenly last Thursday night at his home in Cooksville. For many years Mr. Williams was manager of the restaurant departments in Eaton's before his retirement in 1931. He came to Canada as a boy from his birthplace in England, and first worked on a farm near Guelph. Mr. Williams designed his house and built it of cardboard first to see what it would look like. The experiment was a complete success. He also planned the landscaping and carried it out with a maximum of effect and minimum of expenditure. His chief hobby was the growing of water-lilies, and to this end a small creek running through the foot of the estate is dammed. There are some half dozen smaller pools dotted about the grounds. He was a member of Doric Lodge. He had resided in Cooksville for the past 12 years, where he attended Cooksville United Church. Surviving are his widow, three sons, John, Ernest and Robert, of Toronto, and two daughters, Mrs. Edward Watson, of Georgia, U.S.A., and Mrs. Clifford Scott, of Cooksville.

William J. Turner Widely Mourned

Has Been Respected Cooksville Resident For Over 40 Years

COOKSVILLE — Cooksville lost one of its oldest and most respected citizens last week with the passing of William John Turner. Mr. Turner died at his residence on Tuesday, October 15, following a lengthy illness.

The deceased, who was in his 74th year, has been a resident of Cooksville district for over 40 years. He was educated at Toronto and at Woodstock College. During the course of his life he was a farmer and a business man at Burnhamthorpe, Islington and Cooksville. He was a member of the Baptist Church, Dixie, and as a young man had belonged to the Orange Lodge.

Mr. Turner's family had been in this country for over a hundred years. His mother, Angelina Turner, was born opposite the Eaton Farm at Summerville 107 years ago. His father came as a child from England.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Bessie Howard; one son, Albert, of Cooksville; two stepsons, Maurice and Herbert Sharpe, of Toronto and Alberta; two sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Rose, New York, and Mrs. Lottie Argall, Guelph; four grandchildren, Beryl Turner, Helen, Florence and Willis Foster, all of Toronto. He is predeceased by a son, George Turner, late of Cooksville, and a daughter, Mrs. William Foster, late of Dunnville, Ontario.

Rev. Driesinger, of Hamilton, a former pastor of Dixie Baptist Church, conducted the funeral services on Friday. Service was held at the residence at 2 o'clock with interment at Park Lawn Cemetery.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Ben Turner, a nephew, Clifford Howard, Cecil Howard, Chapman, Kilborne and Ken Clinton.

11,922 Blind People In Canada & Newf'd

There are 11,992 blind people in Canada and Newfoundland. This is the figure given in the Annual Report of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind and is 940 higher than when the count was taken at the end of the preceding year.

In Ontario there are 3,859 blind people; in Quebec, 3,389; in the Maritime Provinces, 1,980; in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, 1,394; in Alberta and British Columbia, 1,446.

These are some of the figures taken from the 58 page Annual Report of the Institute. They are by no means the only interesting figures. During the year there were 654 blind men and women regularly employed by the Institute or in business opportunities operated by the Institute.

From the Institute libraries, 32,122 embossed books were loaned to 1,164 patrons.

CHINS UP, THUMBS UP!

Hip, hip, hip, keep a stiff upper lip,
And don't let the old chin down,
Every thumb must be up
When we strike that upper cut,
We'll make old Fritale frown.
So get ready to cheer for the time is drawing near
The Hun from our shore must be driven,
With a hip, hip, hip, keep a stiff upper lip,
No trace to this foe shall be given.

After the election the balance of the evening was spent in planning programmes and selecting conveners and committees for the remainder of the year.

The officers elected were: President, Edith Pallett; Vice-President, Edna Cook; Secretary, Betty Goldthorpe; Treasurer, Helen Price; Publicity Convener, Margaret Goldthorpe; Pianist, Patsy Herd; Representatives on Local Council, Mabel Armstrong, Agnes Hopkins, Muriel Death.

At the GARDEN'S KEYHOLE with DAVE KAY

After a sojourn at St. Catharines I cannot see the Leafs finishing worse than third place in the regular schedule. Hay Day's boys are well out in front with their training and should get an early jump when the season opens in November, but they do not look like a first-finisher, especially when the New York Rangers are starting this campaign with identically the same team as last year, and that team, my dear fellow sufferers, was just about one of the best hockey machines to have played in the monied ranks.

Boston got the call again for second place and the reason being that their defence will carry them even if one or two sox forwards go off color.

Chicago will have to bear close watching, but the Leafs should be good enough to edge them out and if everything goes as I figure this twosome will provide the best race of the circuit with third place as the winner's reward.

Hay Day has thrown into force a wide open style of training in as much as the boys are going at it wide open from morning till night, with most of the time being spent on the ice (something new for a Leaf team in training) and it is beginning to produce the results—no experimenting with forward lines after the season opens—they have been carefully matched and this can only be done by a long serious period of ice practice, in fact, the Leafs have spent as much time on the ice this year so far as they did during the entire practice periods any year since they have been in the N.H.L.

Had the opportunity of tooting the whistle on blue-line duty last Friday afternoon and I was pleasantly surprised to see how Hap has drilled the boys in obeying the blue-line rule so that a puck carrier who is in a possible scoring position does not have this efforts thrown to the wind with a player overstepping the line—two players in particular last season were great offside offenders and by making them adhere to the rules at camp they have been cured of this and as a result forward line plays are clicking in great style—not having been a linesman till last week I pulled a play on Drillon, Apps and Davidson that turned out to be a delayed pass and was perfectly O.K., and when I blew my whistle a little too soon Apps and Davidson just looked my way with a little smile, but Drillon told me just where I could go and take the whistle with me—and when Drillon is this way in training you can judge for yourself how the rest of the team are bearing down—and all enjoying the way in which Hap Day is giving it to them.

The wise crack of the week came from Tim Daly—when Conny Smythe blew into camp on Friday Daly cornered him and said, "I had a position with this team once but it is just a job now." In past years Daly's chores did not start till 2 p.m. and they finished at 6 p.m.—but with a double morning and afternoon ice shift Tim has to be on hand at 8 a.m. and finishes at 6 p.m. and the beefs coming from him should just about fill the rink by now.

But all work and no play makes for a crabby bunch of players and Hap has taken care of this as I never saw his or Clancy's equal at disturbing—Bucko MacDonald was one of the first victims, a low quiet voice notified the switchboard operator at the hotel that Mr. MacDonald would like to be called on Thursday morning at 6.45 a.m. instead of the usual 7.45 and the operator promptly complied with the request in the morning and Bucko arose and got dressed never thinking to look at the clock and when he got down to the rotunda of the hotel he began to wonder where everyone was and the clerk soon told him—Bucko still claims it was Day who pulled the Sandy, but I will let the cat out of the bag, it was none other than Billy Taylor, ably assisted by Mr. Day, the hard-hearted coach.

Manufacturers Up Brampton Becoming Increasingly Important As Manufacturing Centre Official Figures Reveal

Education To Prepare Young People To Earn Living Inspector Says

Development of Our Educational System is Traced By Inspector

Education lies between where you are to-day and where you want to be in the future, W. Frank Smith, Inspector of Public Schools, told members of the Lions Club in an informative address on the "Development of our Educational System", on Monday night. Mr. Smith, in the course of his address traced the history of education from an early day to the present time.

One hundred years ago, he said, Egerton Ryerson became superintendent of Education for Upper Canada, and decided to take a trip to England, Scotland, the continent and the United States before developing a system of education for Ontario. He found that the English system was developed to produce men schooled for high places in politics and the church. He found that the French system put the emphasis on polished manners. In Germany, he found a more practical system with attention given to technical education, and in the U.S. he concluded that the system was used to build up men who could make money. In Scotland he found that the recent disruption in the Established Church had brought about a strong desire for knowledge, upon which to base arguments for either side in the controversy.

The system of Education in Canada was influenced to some degree by all these other systems, Mr. Smith said.

Many years before Athens had produced a system which emphasized democracy. Two things were important in the Greek system, music and gymnastics. Under these heads the Greeks included many subjects. Under music came drama, and art, and literature and mathematics, while under the heading of gymnastics came the all round development of the body, games and contests. The Greeks were wiser than they are perhaps given credit for, the speaker added, for highest honours in gymnastics went, not to those who won, but to those who performed the best.

Out of the ideas of ancient Greece came the development of the best of our present day ideas

Dale Estate Starts Group Insurance Plan For Employees

Dale Estate Limited has completed arrangements for every employee to secure group life insurance and group sickness and accident protection, it is announced this week. The insurance is on a contributing plan, the employee making a small contribution each week, and the company providing the remainder of the premium. The business was placed through W. A. Bates, local representative of Canada Life. Brampton is particularly group insurance conscious, and among the local firms carrying this type of insurance for their employees are Gummed Papers, Charters Publishing Company, Hewetson Shoe Company, Williams Shoe Company, Copeland-Chatterson Limited, and Pease Foundry. The provision of this insurance by the Dale Estate and by these other companies is an evidence of a keen interest in the welfare of their employees.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death. Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon from McKillop's Funeral Chapel, Brampton with interment in Alliston cemetery. Rev. Sullivan of Ebenezer United Church conducted the services.

Fewer Hunters Seek Pheasants In Annual Shoot

Many Hunters Now In Army Warden Sutherland Reports

For the first time in several years all the townships in Peel County were open to pheasant shooters last Friday and Saturday. Hunters were restricted in Toronto Township however in not being able to shoot south of the Queen Elizabeth way and also along the banks of the Credit in certain restricted areas.

The sale of licenses dropped as compared with last year. Chinguacousy township held its own with a sale of close to five hundred licenses and Toronto Township sold almost four hundred, according to Game Warden D. G. Sutherland, of Brampton. The other townships sold less than fifty licenses each. "The war has had an effect on the number of shooters," declared Mr. Sutherland. "They all seem to be in the army now."

Although licenses have dropped off and the number of hunters decreased, those hunters who were out declared that there were more pheasants caught per person than in any other year. "There was no one that went home empty-handed," said Mr. Sutherland. "A lot of the hunters figured it was the best shoot that we have ever had."

There were no casualties and no disturbances of any serious nature during this shoot which places Peel County well above the neighbouring counties.

Albion Township is the only township that will hold a third day shoot this year, said Mr. Sutherland. They will have another open day on Friday. "There will be no further stocking of Albion with pheasants, though," said Mr. Sutherland. "They should have enough now."

By an arrangement between themselves, a person buying a license in one township will be able to shoot in any of the other townships in the county. This ruling applies only to Peel County as yet.

The annual meeting of the Brampton Red Cross will be held Thursday, November 7th, 8 p.m., St. Paul's Church Auditorium. Dr. W. S. Caldwell, Assistant Director Ontario Division, and Mrs. Fraser, Chairman of the Women's War Work Committee, will speak on the work of the Canadian Red Cross. An invitation is extended to all citizens to attend.

BRAMPTON FROM THE AIR

Here is another aerial view of Brampton, taken by Cecil Chinn, well known Brampton photographer. The view is looking east up Queen Street West to the main corners of the town. In the foreground may be seen Christ Church, the Salvation Army and the Badminton Club on the left. On the extreme right top corner may be seen the Cenotaph in Memorial Park, while a view of Main Street is also seen. This picture gives a particular good idea of how beautiful Brampton is from the air. In some parts of the town, Mr. Chinn says it is impossible to see the streets for the trees.

December 2 Deadline For Voters To Demand Vote on 2 Year Terms

All Peel Municipalities Still Have Time to Present The Question

All Peel County municipalities have until December 2nd, to place petitions before their councils demanding a vote on the two year terms for councils under the Local Government Extension Act of 1940. Caledon, Albion and Bolton, all of which have December elections have passed their deadline for action by ratepayers on October 28th. They may still, however, provide for a vote by immediate action.

Brampton has already decided to call for a vote of the people without a petition of the ratepayers. Other municipalities in Peel may follow suit if they wish, but if no action is taken, councils are compelled to put the question to a vote on the receipt of a petition signed by 5 per cent of the qualified electors. All those entitled to a municipal vote are qualified on this question. Unless such a vote is taken councils elected in the forthcoming municipal elections will serve a term of two years under the provisions of the act.

Under the act, if the council wishes to put the question or the ratepayers demand a vote, the following question will be submitted.

"Are you in favour as a wartime measure under the Local Government Extension Act, 1940, of the municipal council elected for 1941 holding office for a term of two years?"

If the ratepayers desire that their councils shall sit for only one year they must answer "No" to this question. If they favour it, then of course they answer "Yes".

A general survey of the situation in Peel finds that the vast majority of people are strongly in favour of the one year term and against the proposed extension. While they are content to elect their provincial governments every four years, and their federal governments every five years, they seem to prefer the privilege of electing their municipal governments every year.

Sam McCandless Is Eighty-Six On November 1

Engaged in Business In Brampton For Over Thirty Years

Eighty-six years old, on Friday, November 1st, Sam McCandless, 29 George street, Brampton, plans to celebrate his birthday quietly in his home. Interested in the men's fur, nishing business for more than thirty years, Mr. McCandless made many friends and business associates among the citizens of Brampton. He operated the store at the northeast corner of Main and Queen streets, which is now owned by F. T. Hill & Co. He began working at the same store when he was in his teens for Mr. Wilson in the same business.

Mr. McCandless lost his only child, a son, during the last world war. In spite of this tragedy, Mr. McCandless believes that this war is more brutal and more severe than the last. "The other war has nothing on this one for honor and destruction," he declared. Mr McCandless believes that this war will be a long one.

Recalling memories of early Brampton, Mr. McCandless said they had to work without electric light at that time. "We had to use oil lamps then, and we didn't have the transportation facilities that the modern world has today. Brampton had many advantages too, in the public utilities." Brampton has always been a thriving town in Mr. McCandless' recollection.

Brampton Products Total $2,821,553 Year Book Reveals

Brampton Industrial Production Is Rising Official Figures Show

Brampton produced $2,821,553 in manufactured goods in one year, according to the latest statistics issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The available figures are for the year 1937, and are contained in the Canada Year Book of 1940, which was issued this week.

The official record shows there are 22 manufacturing concerns in Brampton with capital invested totalling $2,216,214. In 1937 there were 575 workers employed in these industries, and salaries and wages paid amounted to $909,730, or an average of more than $1,000 per annum. The cost of fuel and electricity in Brampton industries in that year was $37,837. Cost of materials used in these industries was $1,581,122.

The comparative figures for the previous year show that Brampton had two more industries, but that production was $2,567,341 or more than $150,000 less. Number of employees in 1936 was 833, as compared with 875 the following year, which tends to show Brampton steadily increasing its position as a manufacturing centre.

It is rather interesting to note, too, that Brampton has a much larger production than several centres with greater populations. For instance Sudbury, Midland, North Bay and Lindsay, all considerably larger than Brampton, have a much smaller production of manufactured goods. Sudbury has about $600,000 less, Midland about $900,000 less, North Bay well over a $1,000,000 less and Lindsay about $300,000 less.

Streetsville is listed as one of the towns producing over $1,000,000 worth of goods. According to the official record Streetsville has seven industries, with invested capital of $312,220, 99 employees, paid salaries and wages totalling $100,627, using fuel and electricity valued at $3,187, and producing goods to the gross value of $1,443,116.

On the other hand, there are numerous communities which produce more than Brampton, including Fergus, St. Marys, Bowmanville, Ingersoll, Delhi, Petrolia, Tilsonburg and Huntsville. Brampton stands 65th in Ontario in the gross value of products manufactured.

Cadi Lectures Local Youths Charged With Theft In Brampton

"We had some money in the slot machine and we broke into the store to get it back," declared Wm. Holmes, 17, charged jointly with Edward Harris, 16, with theft of cigarettes and tobacco and gum to the value of $25.

"You thought you had a right to break into the store because you lost money on the machine?" asked Magistrate Woodliffe.

Ed. Waller, proprietor of the restaurant, declared when questioned by the accused and his father, Mr. Holmes, that a slot machine had been taken and was returned to him in small pieces. "It was left there by a man, who came and took it away when he learned it was broken," said Mr. Waller.

When asked by accused who the man was, Mr. Faller replied that "it doesn't matter here."

Cross examined by A. Granville Davis, Crown Attorney, Holmes admitted that he broke into the restaurant.

"You thought you could scare Mr. Waller into dropped his charges if you mentioned the slot machine?", he asked. "No," said Holmes.

"Still that has been your main line of defense," declared Crown Attorney A. G. Davis. "No," said Holmes.

Holmes' father pleaded that the boy had played sixty cents, his half of the loot which was not returned.

"Sixty cents doesn't excuse him for breaking into the store," said the magistrate. Turning to Holmes he said that if the Crown had not put in a strong plea in his defense, he would have been sent to jail. "There was no doubt in my mind about it," said the magistrate. Holmes was given suspended sentence and place on probation for a year. "You will have to report to Chief Andrew Herkes every month or oftener if the Chief thinks it necessary," said the magistrate. He warned both Harris and Holmes to keep away from the restaurant in future. The charge against Harris was dismissed for lack of evidence.

Peak Hydro Load in Several Years Registered in Brampton Sept. 24

Factories Operating At Full Speed is Cause of Big Demand

Peak Hydro load in several years was carried here on September 24 with a load of 3,143.1 horsepower. The power cost $7,071.98 for the month of September. Compared with the previous month of August with a peak load of 3,010.4 horsepower on August 30, hydro for the month cost $6,773.40.

D. T. Black, secretary of the Hydro Commission, explained to The Conservator that the reason for the high peak in the month of September was due to the street lighting coming on and also the fact that several of the factories, among which is the Gummed, Paper, are running full time and all night in some cases.

"There is no apparent difference in the power output as yet, with the daylight saving continued," Mr. Black said. "It is a little too early to really know what effect it will have."

Explaining the intricacies of the Hydro tabulation of power usage during the month, Mr. Black produced several long sheets which had lines on them produced by the gyrations of two machines at the hydro sub-station. These sheets, or reports, are taken to Mr. Black daily and then forwarded to the Toronto Office of the Hydro Electric Commission. They are known as the 5000 K.W. and the R.K.V.A. machine. The gyrations of these machines produce lines from which the peak load is figured every month. These results are tabulated by Mr. Black and then forwarded to the head office in Toronto, where Brampton is billed as a municipality on the peak twenty minute load every month. That is, the bill is figured on the twenty minutes during the month when Brampton uses the most power.

The gyrations of the machine are tabulated by mathematicians in the Toronto office, who use a system of trigonometry to get the exact peak. The lines made by the machines vary little but still have to be figured exactly before the peak is estimated.

Red Cross Society Given $6,000 From Brampton War Charities Fund

Hospital Auxiliary Legion and Victorian Order Also Given Share

Four charities, for which the recent appeal was made in Brampton, have already received grants from the Win-the-War Fund, it was announced at last night's meeting of the Win-the-War Committee. The Red Cross Society was given its full allocation of $6,000, a cheque for which has been issued.

The Hospital Auxiliary was given $350, the Legion $400 to replace its Poppy Fund appeal, and the Victorian Order of Nurses $360.

E. L. Yokes and C. V. Charters were appointed a committee to aid Mrs. Horwood and the Salvation Army in securing the requirements for the recreational hut for the men at Malton. It was pointed out in this connection that these young British airmen, who spend six weeks at Malton, are in much the same position as young Canadians overseas. Their impression of Canada will be received from the manner in which they are treated during their training here. The committee is hopeful that citizens will rally and see that the needs of the hut are met, and that these men are given the same warm welcome that our boys receive in the old country. Many items are still required for the hut and citizens interested are asked to call Mrs. Horwood. The response so far has not been too good.

The Junior Red Cross has taken charge of entertaining the young fliers at Malton and any citizens wishing to entertain these boys over the week-end are asked to get in touch with Mrs. Jack Beatty or Mrs. James Algie, Jr., who will make the necessary arrangements. Many of the boys have already been entertained here and are most grateful for the courtesies extended to them.

Gordon Graydon, Peel member of Parliament, has had a busy week. Last week he addressed the Provincial Conservative Association of Saskatchewan, at Saskatoon. On Monday he was guest speaker at the Victoria College Alumni meeting in Burwash Hall, and on Tuesday night he spoke at the Milk Transporters' Association banquet at the Winchester Hotel in Toronto, at which a Peel man, Norman Duncan of Toronto Gore, was elected President. Mr. Graydon is a graduate of Victoria College, where he spoke Monday.

All In Readiness For Big Hallowe'en Frolic Tonight

All is in readiness for to-night's big Hallowe'en Frolic under the auspices of the Brampton Lions Club. The event will be staged at the Badminton Club on George St., where many novel games and contests have been arranged. The frolic will get under way at 6.30 p.m. with a school children's parade from Gage Park, proceeding along Main Street, north to Nelson, and west to George and to the Badminton Club. Several good prizes are offered for the best dressed children in the parade.

Every person buying an admission ticket will be entitled to a chance on one of the five door prizes. First prize will be a ton of coal, and four other prizes will be given, including a thermos jug, and a leather upholstered hassock.

Feature attraction at the frolic will be the appearance of the world famous clown, Fifi, who is coming to Brampton specially for this event.

Proceeds from the frolic will go to the welfare fund of the club which provides many useful services in the community. A sample of these services was seen on Monday night when the club passed for payment, accounts for three tonsil operations for needy children. Not only did the club pay the operating costs, but also the hospital charges. With the swimming tank debt now completely paid off, the club will very considerably widen the scope of its community work during the coming year.

The club decided to carry all members on active service on the roll of the club for the duration of the war. The club also accepted an invitation to meet with the Rotary Club on November 11th at 6.30 p.m. This will be the first time that the two clubs have held a joint meeting.

Chief Of Police Prepared For Any Hallowe'en Pranks

Chief A. Herkes of Brampton will take precautions tonight for apprehension of any youths who will attempt to cause damage in the town. "We are putting several men on duty tonight," he told the Conservator. "Last year there were a number of youths who broke street lamps and I think we will be able to cope with them this year." He explained that the fire department put men at each of the alarm boxes and cut down on false alarms. "Altogether," concluded the chief, "I think the boys will co-operate with us and not cause any unnecessary damage."

Belfast Born Bramptonian Knits 107 Pairs Of Socks

The McBrides got their "Irish up" this week and Mrs. McBride marched down to The Conservator office and brought with her the 107th pair of socks she has knitted since the war started. It all came about this way:

The other day young James, who is just six, came in to his mother from playing on the street in front of their home at 6 Lynch street. "Mum, do you know what they say out on the street? They say the Irish are yellow," he told her. "I was flabbergasted," stated Mrs. McBride, "and I made up my mind right then and there that the McBrides would let everyone know they were Irish and that the Irish were doing their bit."

So this Belfast-born woman, who is Mrs. William McBride, of Brampton, showed us the 107th pair of socks she has knitted since December 15 of last year. "I started them Sunday evening and finished them on Tuesday," she said. "I can knit a sock a day." Besides this she has completed two sweaters and three pairs of rifle mitts.

Mrs. McBride explained that she learned to knit when a girl going to school in Ireland. During the last war she was in the land army. Their group was transferred to Devonshire, England, to do men's work. She was there for nearly three years and during that time did much knitting. They were supplied with wool and in the evenings they knit socks and sweaters.

"I knit for anyone who brings me wool and I don't charge for it," she told us. At one time she was knitting for six lads overseas. "Two of

Combined Appeals Are Best

On Sunday night, in a broadcast over a large number of Canadian stations, the Canadian Red Cross Society voiced its reasons for opposing the consolidation of war charities appeals. The argument presented by the Red Cross has been heard over and over again, but is certainly not supported by the facts. The Red Cross is afraid that in combining with other charities in a joint appeal, that its needs might not be met. We beg to differ with the Red Cross on this point, and there is plenty to support our attitude.

In the recent war charities campaign in Brampton, the Red Cross was asked to state its needs for the ensuing year, as were the other charities sharing in the fund. Brampton not only raised the sum necessary to meet the Red Cross allocation, but exceeded it by 50%. This has also been true in other centres where similar joint appeals were made. Galt is a recent instance, and Simcoe is another town which successfully made a joint appeal.

The Red Cross might compare these results with those obtained in Brampton the year previous. The Red Cross objective fell short, as did also the Y.M.C.A. and the Canadian Legion war services. The Salvation Army appeal was the only successful appeal, and the Navy League received nothing from Brampton. Under the present arrangement all these war charities will receive their objectives in full.

We cannot understand why the Red Cross has adopted this attitude of standing aloof from other war charities. True, their work is more important than all others and their needs greater. The people of Canada are not going to let the Red Cross down. In supporting joint appeals they are simply trying to do their share to cut down on the recurring costs of repeated appeals. As publishers of a newspaper we stand to lose by this method, but because we believe it to be the right method, we strongly approve of it. In the United States more and more charities are being placed under a joint appeal known as the community chest, and we do not think that any individual charity suffers. In Toronto some 32 Protestant charities make one annual appeal under the auspices of the Federation of Community Service, and the Catholic charities combine in one appeal under the Federation of Catholic Charities. This plan has worked well with these organizations and it can work just as well with the war charities. We believe that the Red Cross is mistaken in its attitude toward joint appeals, at least for the duration of the war. We do not believe that the Red Cross will suffer by such a move, nor do we think the Canadian public for one minute will see the Red Cross short of the necessary funds to carry on its magnificent and indispensible work, either in peace or war.

Refreshing Co-operation

One of the most refreshing signs of the times, is the co-operative spirit being exhibited by the churches. In Peel county there have been many recent demonstrations of this spirit within the past few weeks. When the Brampton Presbyterian church anniversary services got under way, the United and Baptist congregations joined with the Presbyterians and cancelled their own evening services. On Sunday last, two churches gave up their evening services to join with Grace United church at their anniversary service. In Streetsville the same evening the congregation of the United Church joined with the Anglicans in their anniversary services, and not many weeks ago the United Church in Port Credit also joined with the Anglicans in a special service. Many communities also hold joint services during the Lenten season, and we believe that this desire to co-operate is all to the good. Churches may differ slightly in doctrine, and in mode of worship, but their aims are all the same and there is no justification for the argument that they cannot get together for the general good of the community. Being what we are, it is not at all necessary that we all believe the same things or worship the same way. If we tried to carry that into any other realm we would all like spinach or we would all dislike it. Tastes differ in modes of worship the same as they do in taste for food, in manner of dress, and in likeness for various types of entertainment and sport. We hope that this spirit spreads abroad, and that the churches, both Protestant and Catholic show a more hearty desire to co-operate one with the other, instead of being at loggerheads over minor differences in faith and methods of conducting public worship.

A Reason For Gratitude

The other night we were privileged to attend one of those wonderful suppers put on by a women's organization in Peel county. Most of us have attended these suppers on occasion, and to think of them always conjures up a vision of great long tables loaded down with a huge variety of wonderfully cooked food. There's always an abundance of everything, and it is always of the best. Sitting across the table from us at this supper was a young chap, typical of most of the people who attended the supper. Placed before him was a most generous dinner of delicious meat loaf, potatoes, peas and carrots. On the table also was celery, pickles, baking powder biscuits, several kinds of tarts, pies and all the other dainties which go to make up a typical country dinner. The young man leaned over and took a piece of butter on his knife and spread it thickly over his potatoes. There must have been more than an ounce in that piece of butter.

Now we are not finding any fault with the young man, but it did make us stop and think about the folks in the Old Country who have two ounces of butter and two ounces of margarine to last them a whole week. And what it really did was to make us think most seriously of how fortunate we in Canada are and what a whole lot we have to be grateful for. Those who now form the last bulwark for democracy in the old land, face scarcity. They are rationed very stringently. We in Canada have everything we want. Plenty of butter, eggs, meat, tea, plenty of all the necessities, and plenty too of all the luxuries of a good table.

And so when we are asked to make sacrifices by payment of higher taxes, when we are asked to give to Red Cross or Y.M.C.A., or Salvation Army, or any of the other war charities, let us remember all these things we have to be grateful for. When we have the privilege of sitting down at a well laden table, heavily set with the good things this Canada of ours produces, let us stop momentarily and think of the folks over home who are getting along on two ounces of tea a week, two ounces of butter and two ounces of margarine a week, a restricted meat diet and rationing all down the line. And when we think of them over there, and of the thousands of our own Canadian boys over there too, let us go to work with a new determination to make the necessary sacrifices to win this war.

The Church and the Poor Folk

We received an interesting letter on Monday from a man residing not far from Brampton. His letter contained a word or two of commendation for The Conservator and the completeness of its news service. He expressed a desire to subscribe for the paper, but gave a number of reasons why this was not possible. It seems he could not afford it, and this was borne out by the fact that the letter was sent without a stamp, and we had to pay six cents to get it from the post office.

Commenting on the various sections of the paper, he mentions the church page with its notices and stories of church activities, and adds that he does not go to church "because our clothes are not fit for a barnyard, let alone a community church". He also mentions the fact that church people never visit his family.

Now we don't know very much about the writer of this letter, except of course, that he's hard up. But the letter does contain an indictment of the church which is all too often true. A great many churches do neglect the type of people who have no clothes fit to wear to go to church, and because they don't go to church, members of the church don't care very much about visiting them. Perhaps the most important job that the church has to do is to take adequate care of the poor. The Master, when living on this earth, paid particular attention to the poor and to the sinners, apparently as a lead to the church which should follow Him. There is a tendency in most churches to pay special attention to the people who can raise most towards the expenses of the church and little attention to those whose economic conditions do not permit of them helping to any marked degree. It is one of the problems that the church, revitalized by the war, has to contend with, and must attend to if it is to survive as the refuge of the weak and the poor.

Maybe Here's the Answer!

"Who has the answer?" asks the Fort Erie Times-Review of a problem which is being asked about war savings certificates. It seems that a certain Fort Erie citizen figures it out this way. "If I buy a dollar's worth of war savings stamps, I give the government nothing towards winning the war. I merely lend the government a dollar which it must repay with interest. When I buy a dollar's worth of cigarettes, I give outright to the government, nearly 54 cents in taxes. Not only does the government not have to repay this, but it has not interest to pay on it. The way I figure it is that if I buy a dollar's worth of war savings stamps instead of cigarettes I deprive the government of 54 cents that it would otherwise have for war purposes, without repayment or interest charges."

It seems rather a logical argument, but it isn't as simple as that. The real factor is that Canada must have ample labor to conduct its war program. The more of the luxury type of goods we consume, the more labor is taken up in their manufacture and the less labor is available for war work. That is definitely a handicap. There's another more important angle too. There's an old adage which says something about "half a loaf is better than none at all", but it does not say that half a loaf will do when a whole loaf is needed. It may be true that the government would get 54 cents from each dollar spent on cigarettes, but when one buys a dollar's worth of war savings stamps the government gets the whole dollar for its war fund. The question then is whether it is better to receive 54 cents for keeps or a dollar to be paid back. If Canada cannot get sufficient dollars it cannot produce the sinews of war. If it cannot produce the sinews of war then it cannot win the war, and if it cannot win the war then the question of whether the government gets 54 cents in cash or a dollar to pay back, doesn't matter at all. Our economic system will be gone and we will be economic slaves of Germany. So the answer is, buy all the war savings stamps you can, because it gives the government the dollars when it needs them.

Note and Comment

Tonight is Hallowe'en, when ghosts and goblins are supposed to be abroad throughout the country. A safe and sane way to observe this festival is to cause no one any inconvenience that you would not like caused for yourself. There are plenty of ways to have lots of fun without damaging other people's property or annoying the neighbours.

Parliament will meet next week. It was announced that an adjournment would be made until January but Premier King has evidently felt the power of public opinion and decided that the members must be consulted on the important questions requiring decisions touching affairs of peace as well as of war. There are promises of lively times during the session.

Two school boys were brought into court this week charged with stealing. Defence was that they had lost some money playing the slot machines. Some time ago, in response to popular demand, slot machines were seized and their use ordered discontinued in Brampton. Following this action here a by-law, expected to be prohibitive, was passed in Chinguacousy. Now it is said the old temptation has been re-established in town, with the same evil results. It is to be desired that the experience of the two boys who were exposed will be a lasting lesson to them and at the same time a warning to others and a notice to the operators of all gambling devices in town that they must fold up their machines and get out of the business.

OTHER OPINIONS

Italy's Private War

When the inhabitants of Rome recovered—rather slowly, I learn—from the results of the recent outburst of anti-aircraft fire over the city, they gave the visitation a new name. There was no British aircraft there, but the falling shells killed and wounded a fairly considerable number of people. The new name is "La guerra Italo-Italiana," the Italo-Italian war.—From the London Daily Telegraph.

The Answer Is "No"

So far the city of Rome and Vatican City have been spared from aerial bombardment and it has been said that Britain agreed there should be no bombing there. Yet Westminster Abbey is just as sacred to millions of British people as is St. Peter's in Rome and it has been smashed. Wonder if Mussolini has urged his Axis partner to abstain from hitting London churches? But we know the answer already—No.—From the Niagara Falls Review.

Double Responsibility

While reckless driving should be severely punished, pedestrians should also be expected to remember that it is much easier to stop, turn, or otherwise control one human body on two legs than it is to do the same thing with a heavy contraption on four slipping wheels. Walkers and drivers both have their own rights. But they also have duties. They should have every consideration for the rights of the other fellow.—From the Winnipeg Tribune.

Acquisitive

Russia walked in and took over the eastern section of Poland, and there was no fighting; by conquest Russia took a strip off Finland. In June of the present year Russia became possessed of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia, and in the same month secured Bessarabia and North Bocovina from Rumania. And the only battle Russia had to fight was against Finland. Stalin seems to have done well so far for a country which is presently not at war.—From the Peterborough Examiner.

Stay With The Chores

Of course betting on horse races is illegal unless you happen to go right down to some of the tracks and bet with the assistance of the government, but betting on the races is going on in every city in the country and in a good many of the towns. And people are looking daily at those selections and pinning their faith and their cash on the predictions of some wise man who picked two winners out of 21 starters. All of which points to the belief that it's just as well to continue with the day's chores and leave the horse races alone.—From the Peterboro Examiner.

For One Out Of Five

Probably the most frequent and most confusing mis-application of a common word in discussions of industrial relations is that of "labor". In its inclusive use by political speakers and writers and by those concerned with the labor policies of government, it is supposed and is understood to mean all wage earners: actually, when so employed, it commonly means only the one-fifth the total number of workers who happen to be members of labor unions. Instead of all, or even a majority, of labor, it applies only to an inconsiderable minority.—From the Los Angeles Times.

The Bully Squeals

The bully is squealing. A few Germans have been killed in the raids on Berlin, and the official bulletins scream about the "assassins" and "pirates" of the R.A.F. There were no such cries when the Germans bombarded Almeria from the sea without warning and killed Spanish women and children in their beds. This, the only "victory" won by a pocket-battleship, was written off as a "successful operation". There were no protests from Berlin when the German air force methodically wiped out Guernica, national shrine of the Basques, with whom they were not at war. This was regarded as good practice for German airmen. But now the bully squeals. He is up against someone his own size.—From the Daily Mail (London).

Should Be Kept In Session

At a time of national crisis such as this, a situation might arise at any time which would require Parliament to come together to make important decisions. Emergencies might occur which would make delay disastrous, even though the government is armed with extraordinary power. In such case, it would be a serious matter if all the lengthy formality of calling a new session had to be got through with. That is why, while this war lasts, there should never be a prorogation without an immediate re-summoning. Under such a system, Parliament would, officially, be continuously in session, and instantly available.—From the Windsor Star.

What The Loss Means

In the past 13 months, tallies show that a thousand naval and merchant ships have been sunk. Put out of your mind for the moment, if you can, the cries of 7,877 men, women and children who slid down to a cold and watery death on the decks of those ships. Think only of the ships themselves. Into every ship went savings from the labor of men. Into each went plans and dreams and rivets and plates and a thousand intricate devices and little triumphs over practical problems. No such fleet has ever been assembled, but if those ships could have paraded in line, and each minute one had sunk as it approached a reviewing stand, the ghastly parade would have continued for more than 16 hours.—From the Kitchener Record.

British Newspaper Praises Book By Dr. William Perkins Bull

The following editorial appeared in The Brighton News, of England, on Dr. William Perkins Bull's book, "From Macdonell to McGuigan", which was published by Charters Publishing Company. The editorial appears under the caption, "An Orangeman Tells a Catholic Story."

It is strange what a deep imprint a man can make on the life of his country.

Wm. Perkins Bull, K.C., L.L.D., of Toronto, Canada, we believe, should lead in any achievement award which might be given by Canada.

He has successfully treated, not just one of the most delicate controversial subjects, but the most delicate — religion — in a volume which is a literary masterpiece.

Perkins Bull is a Protestant, an Orangeman. Nothing is more provocative of debate, than when Irish-Catholic meets Irish-Englishman Orangeman and the Battle of the Boyne is mentioned. And when a man like W. P. Bull enters into an avowed determination to discuss the Catholic-Orange question a bitter tirade on Catholicism is expected.

Dr. Bull did exactly that. He wrote a book "From Macdonnell to McGuigan", and that book has done more to break the old spirit of antagonism, to bring about mutual respect, and to bring peace to the hearts of Protestant and Catholic alike than any other achievement by any other man in Canada.

Never has more tolerance been exercised, never has the spirit of John Bull fair play been better shown, and never has there been more sincere honesty displayed than he displays in the handling of a subject that has caused the seas of bloodshed and the downfall of nations.

All this he has done in a volume that shows remarkable depth of research, sound reasoning, and a literary excellence which marks it as a work which will endure.

We marvel at the way he has gone about the marshaling of facts and the production of statistics.

His absolute fairness fairly shines. His book is fine literature. We who know him salute him.

of democracy. The Roman system followed the Greek, but it produced a different type of man, one who could build roads, erect aqueducts to bring water to large cities, architects, and perhaps of most importance, was the emphasis put on law.

Christianity profoundly influenced the system, but when the early Christians found the world so much opposed to their ideas, they locked themselves in monastries, and studied to save their own souls. Yet in these monastries, he added, was kept alive the feeble spark of learning. When the Turks seized Constantinople and uprooted the civilization of that day, the teachers, monks, and students fled to Italy where a new phase of the system developed. These men went out and planted schools over the then known world, but they kept strictly to a classical education. That system remained almost to the threshold of the 20th century, Mr. Smith said.

Then came new ideas, the development of the kindergarten, where good citizens were produced from incorrigible little tyrants.

The Aim of Today's System

The underlying principle of the old systems was fixed and static. There was a body of learning to be acquired, at all costs. The system was not right because when the student graduated he had nothing to go out and sell in the way of services to a prospective employer.

The new courses have four cardinal principles, the speaker continued. They seek to develop by activity, second by practise and not by precept, thirdly but suitability to the environment of the child, and lastly, by letter the student become personally identified with the problems presented.

Through newer methods educational authorities seek to prepare young men and young women to take their place in the business and industrial life of the nation. They realize today that education is that thing which lies between what you are today and what you want to be in the future.

Mr. Smith was introduced by Dr. Alan Noble, chairman of the education committee which sponsored the meeting. B. Harper Bull extended the thanks of the club for an exceedingly interesting address.

Banquet at Night

A very successful day's activities was brought to a close with a banquet in Brampton Baptist Church at night, when the ladies of the church served a delicious meal. Leonard Jefferson, President of the Peel County Junior Farmers, acted as chairman, and the guest speaker was J. E. Houck who spoke on the topic, "Your Tomorrow". In a very forceful and inspiring talk Mr. Houck told the boys that what they made of their today, would decide what they were to be and what success they would have tomorrow.

Over 60 attended the banquet, including several members of the Junior Institutes. The presentation of cups and awards was another feature of the evening. Agricultural Representative Cliff Graham had charge of the day's events, and made the presentation of the awards.

Award $500 Damages To Port Credit Lady For Fall On Icy Walk

Mrs. Elsie H. Sexton was awarded $500 damages in her suit against the corporation of the village of Port Credit by Mr. Justice Hope, at the close of the fall assizes here last Friday. A non-jury case, it completed the sessions of the Supreme Court here in Peel County.

Aftermath of an accident on a slippery sidewalk last February at the corner of Front St. and Highway No. 2, Mrs. Sexton suffered a fractured hip and arm and knee injuries.

Denis Smith was awarded $2,500 and costs for injuries sustained in collision with a snowplow truck operated by the defendants, William Taylor and R. A. Scott, in Brampton, last February. The charge was dismissed without costs against Scott, according to the decision handed down by Mr. Justice Hope, Friday morning.

A shower and presentation was held on Tuesday evening by the Canadian Legion, Post 82, Port Credit, in honour of Mr. and Mrs. L. Magness, who were married recently. There were a large attendance and as well as receiving numerous gifts, Mr. and Mrs. Magness were presented with a cheque by the president, Wm. J. Warfe, on behalf of the Legion members. Short addresses were given by C. Campbell and E. C. Drew. The guests enjoyed dancing and refreshments afterwards.

In an excited voice, a woman called up the Pittsburgh morgue the other day and asked: "Do you people have a missing man in the morgue who's 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs 155 pounds, wears a blue serge suit and stutters?"

Then daughter married, but s

The way a home to build
On modern plans, one which s

For she could cook and she co

And she could make her streamli

And when the stork knocked at

With wide and welcome arms
She took the little bundle in
For she knew all the charms
That modern science now

To rear these tiny mites,
And keep them healthy all the d
And restful through the nigh

And what a mother she did ma

For she knew how to be a wife

She said: "It's nice to build

Sermons By Visiting Clergymen Feature Grace Church Celebration

Women Cater to 350 Guests on Monday at Anniversary Supper

Highlights of the celebration of the 52nd anniversary of Grace United Church over the week-end were the sermons preached by the two visiting clergymen, Rev. Dr. A. S. Orten of Emmanuel College, Toronto, and Rev. Dr. Charles Endicott, secretary of the Missionary and Maintenance Fund of the United Church of Canada. Dr. Orten took for his theme at the morning service, "A Glorious High Throne," based on the words of the prophet Jeremiah, 17th chapter and 12th verse. The speaker commented on the empty political thrones and the dictators who had jumped upon them. Others thrones lay in the moral realm, and these in recent decades had been left vacant. "People are tired of a freedom which has developed into frustration The church knows of a throne which and license," affirmed the speaker. is God's. From that throne proceeds our confidence that three great boons for man may be won, namely, true freedom, unity and fellowship and security for the future. The preacher concluded with the words from the Hallelujah Chorus, "The Lord God Omnipotent Reigneth."

Evening Service

Dr. Endicott at the evening service, which was largely attended and marked by fellowship with St. Paul's United and Brampton Presbyterian churches, declared "The great days of the church are ahead." He bade his hearers to look not to the past bet to the future, to visualize a better church than the fathers knew and to resolve to be better Christians than the fathers were. His message fittingly illustrated by a wide experience in church life, particularly on the prairies, was a great source of encouragement to all who heard him.

Grace Church choir rendered an excellent account of themselves in the services of praise. Scores commented on the beautiful telling way Mendelssohn's great anthem, "Hear My Prayer," was rendered with Mrs. C. M. Corkett taking the solo parts.

Rev. (Capt.) Andrews, minister of St. Paul's Church and chaplain to the forces at Newmarket, Ontario, took part in the evening service.

Anniversary Supper

The anniversary supper surpassed in attendance and enthusiasm any of recent years. The ladies catered to around 350 guests. Dr. Charles Endicott amused, inspired and challenged his audience to "make their dreams come true." His lecture began with an account of the thrill which came to him when as a Devonshire lad he saw the billboard poster "Come to Canada, land of opportunity." He had taken the pronouncement at its face value, had come out to the New Land, and arriving on the prairies had met with initial disappointment. That these setbacks did not deter him was recalled to the audience by the chairman, Rev. E. A. Chester, pastor of the church, in his reference to the election this year at General Council meeting in Winnipeg, of Dr. Endicott to be general secretary of the missionary and maintenance work of the United Church of Canada.

Dr. Endicott dealt in particular with three of his own dreams, the dream of a great new land, the dream of a life-work, and the dream of a glorious church. The speaker challenged any organisation to show a like record of service rendered as the Christian Church. The United Church alone, it was stated, operates 55 hospitals.

Mr. C. E. Fairles reported as vice-Chairman of the finance committee, announcing that the special Thanksgiving on Sunday had amounted to $307, and in addition a special gift of $110 for missionary work.

A vote of thanks to the ladies was moved by Mr. M. J. Odlum, Mrs. J. E. Houck, president of the Woman's Association, responding. The gathering came to a successful close with the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Dufferin and Peel Presbytery Will Hear Dr. McClure

Noted Missionary In Far East to Feature Rally Nov. 8

Congregations of Dufferin and Peel Presbytery of the United Church are sending large delegations to a Missionary Rally to be held in St. Andrew's Church, Orangeville, on Friday, November 8, to take the form of a supper meeting, commencing at 6.30 p.m., Daylight Saving Time. Outstanding speakers have been secured in the persons of Dr. R. B. McLure, F.R.C.S., and Rev. M. C. MacDonald, M.A., B.D. Dr. McLure, known to his friends as "Bob," has been called the "Scarlet Pimpernel of the Orient" because of the thrilling experiences through which he has come. For some time he has been the field director of the International Red Cross in China and is thoroughly familiar with the situation regarding the importance of the Burma Road. He has been closely associated with Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-Shek and is one of the best-informed missionaries on the present situation in China. A talented, versatile and dynamic speaker in great demand throughout Ontario from service clubs and Canadian clubs, Dr. McLure's first love and loyalty is to the Canadian Church's Mission to China, and of this he will speak at the Orangeville meeting.

The second speaker will be Rev. M. C. MacDonald, late of Truro, N.S., and now assistant secretary of Home Missions at headquarters, Toronto. St. Paul's and Grace churches are expecting to have a large representation at the rally. Rev. M. C. MacKinnon, minister of St. Andrew's Church, Orangeville, will act as chairman of the meeting, Rev. G. W. Rivers of Bolton, chairman of Presbytery, and Rev. A. Chester of Brampton, convener of Presbytery's Missionary and Maintenance Committee, will also take part.

CHRIST CHURCH A.Y.P.A.

A good representation from our branch journeyed over to St. Stephen A.Y.P.A., Hornby, to be their guests at a Hallowe'en social. The usual rounds of games and dancing were enjoyed.

Next Monday evening, the girls of our branch, under the direction of Miss Gwen Button, will entertain a number of young Englishmen of the Royal Air Force, now in training at Malton. Cards, games and dancing will be featured and the affair will be held in the Liberal club rooms at 8 p.m. Eddie Miller and his committee will provide the necessary transportation for the boys, and all in all, it should be a very happy evening. It is hoped that there will be a good crowd of girls out to even up the party.

To look up, learn more, strive to rise always.—Pasteur.

GUEST SPEAKER

REV. DR. "BOB" McCLURE, F.R.C.S.

Widely known missionary, and often referred to as the "Scarlet Pimpernel" of the Orient, who is to be chief speaker at the United Church Presbytery Missionary rally at St. Andrew's Church, Orangeville, on Friday, November 8th, at 6.30 p.m. D.S.T. Dr. McClure recently spoke to a large congregation in St. Paul's Church here. He will speak on this occasion to the Dufferin and Peel Presbytery.

The funeral was held at Orangeville on Wednesday of Eliza Ann Henry, wife of the late John Patterson, who died on Monday at her First street residence after a lengthy illness. James Fiddler, beloved husband of the late Jane Ann Bird, passed away at the family residence, Guelph street, Georgetown, on Saturday, October 26. Mr. Fiddler, who was born August 16, 1863, at Burgh-by-Sands, Cumberland, England, came to Norval in the fall of 1888 and was employed for a number of years as a miller at the Robt. CHRIST CHURCH Young Men's BIBLE CLASS

Meets Each Sunday At 2 P.M.

Attendance on Sunday was slightly higher than the week before, and the class officers are bending every effort to get every member out. This coming Sunday the class will meet at 3 p.m. instead of 2 p.m. The Bible Class of St. Mark's Church, Orangeville, will be guests of our class for the afternoon. Mr. Arthur Wheeler, leader of the Orangeville class, will be guest speaker. The Ladies' Bible Class of Christ Church will also be guests of our class for the afternoon. It is rather unusual to have ladies present, but as the Orangeville class is a mixed class, it was thought well to invite the local young ladies.

Last Sunday's meeting was featured by an address by the leader on the subject, "British Israelism". It was the third in a series of addresses outlining the doctrines of various religious groups with which most of us are acquainted. Further addresses in this series will be given later.

Commencing on Sunday next a box will be placed in the vestibule of the church, and members of the class are asked to put in their odd coppers. The fund procured in this way will be used to buy cigarettes and comforts for members of the class with the C.A.S.F.

The Class was glad to welcome last Sunday one of its former members, now on Active Service, in the person of Sgt. Fred Hemphrey. Most of the soldier members attend the class when they are in town for the week-end.

Incidently Bill Thompson is making the active service fund box, which should be sufficient to say the job will be well done. Next Sunday then, 3 p.m. instead of 2 p.m., and one hundred per cent attendance is requested.

C.Y.O. Masquerade

The "Vanishing American" turned up at the Hallowe'en Masquerade at Acton on Wednesday evening of last week and won the award for the best national costume. The affair, held in the Parish Hall, was sponsored by the C.Y.O. of Acton with members of Milton and Brampton C.Y.O. groups as their guests. About 100 young people appeared in costume and among the prize winners were Miss Annie Haggerty, Brampton, the best comic costume, and John Paul, Acton, as the "Vanishing American", the best national costume. An Acton orchestra supplied music for dancing, after which the committee in charge served refreshments.

Safety is sanity in action.

No man ever was rich enough to have an accident!

Each member is being canvassed for donations to the Supreme Lodge Fund for the relief of victims of bombings in England. The money received in this way will be forwarded to Supreme Lodge as from "Lodge Brampton Members", so if you can only spare a dime or a quarter it is just as welcome as a larger amount, so offer what you yourself feel you can afford. There will be no expenses taken out of this fund, every cent will be used for the one purpose.

S:o:E

At the end of last week the Supreme Lodge War Fund stood at $2,336.02. Let Lodge Brampton —the society's largest lodge—do its part.

S:o:E

We have lost the services, for the time being, of one of the lodge's most ardent workers, in the person of Elmer Snell, our chaplain. Elmer has been transferred by his firm to their Fort William plant for a few months. We wish him luck and hope he doesn't get too lonely so far from Brampton's gardens.

S:o:E

The Western district are holding their annual Memorial Service in the Oakwood Theatre, at St. Clair Ave., on the night of Sunday, November 10. Lodge Brampton members, their wives and friends are invited to attend. If you wish to go, phone the president at 627W, in order that transportation can be provided.

S:o:E

Keep Tuesday, November 12, open for the election of your officers for 1941. On the shoulders of these few members, with the assistance of a few Past Presidents, will rest the welfare of over 350 members for one year. The very least you, as inactive members, can do is attend this meeting to at least see who your officers have been in the year just closing.

S:o:E

The Cigarette Fund for the boys overseas was added to at the O.C.C. last Friday night to the tune of $7.80 and on Monday night the S.O.E. bingo came through with another $4.55, although the crowd was not large.

S:o:E

Congratulations to the Daughters of England who, we understand, packed 31 boxes for the soldiers on Monday. These boxes consisted of socks, sweaters, scarfs, gloves, shaving cream, soap, tooth powder, cigarettes, tobacco, gum, chocolate bars and many other things that go to make up the kind of boxes our boys love to open.

S:o:E

With the Juniors

Next Tuesday is Ritualistic and Decorum judging night. The officers have been working hard to prepare for this night and if you members who are not officers wish to do your part towards winning this competition either come prepared to sit through the lodge meeting quieter than you have ever done before or as a last resort, if you can't trust yourself, it would be better to remain away from this meeting. Last year half of our points were lost on the behavior of a very few of the members. We're as good as any of the other lodges but the only way we can prove it is if every member does his part. The meeting will not start till 8 o'clock but floor baseball will start shortly after 7 o'clock.

S:o:E

On Tuesday, November 19, you will be given your last chance to support the Junior lodge in 1940, at an open bingo to be held in the Orange Hall.

S:o:E

The Model Aircraft contest was a failure, partly due to the wind on Saturday, but we are afraid due more to the lack of interest of the members. When the plan was suggested at lodge at least twelve members said they would enter planes. The amount of prize money was based on this and when only three juniors showed up it was very discouraging.

S:o:E

In class 1 Carlyle Jordan's plane was awarded first prize as it was the only plane entered. The second and third prizes luckily were saved.

S:o:E

In class 2 Bill Bean beat out Earl Reid by one second and they will receive first and second prizes.

S:o:E

The prize money will be presented during general business on Tuesday night.

S:o:E

The final practice for the junior officers will be held at the hall at 2 o'clock on Sunday.

Daughters of England

The D.O.E. celebrated their fourth birthday party last Thursday, Oct. 24th. Visitors from Toronto included District Deputy Sister Whitnell, Grand Trustee Sister Mason, Centre District Deputy Sister Smith and Past District Deputy Sister MacMillan. During general business Immediate Past President Gladys Bean was presented with her past president's jewel. After lunch, served by the social committee, bingo was played. A soldiers' shower was held and gifts were taken to provide extras for the soldiers' Christmas boxes.

S:o:E

We had a swell time at our birthday party in spite of the fact that the bus load from Lodge Old England didn't turn up. After the meeting, which was well attended, we were served pork pies and peas, cake and coffee by the social committee under Sister Ross. During general business two large baskets were passed around and were filled by the members who gave gifts to put in the soldiers' Christmas boxes. Thanks everybody.

S:o:E

The social committee packed the overseas Christmas boxes on Monday afternoon at Sister Furness'. Many thanks to the S.O.E. bingo committee for the fine donation of $5.00 for the postage of these boxes.

We wish to offer thanks to all those who are not members but who have knitted many things for us and so helped us considerably.

RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Woman Finds a Remedy

With perfect frankness a woman correspondent writes:—

"I have suffered from constipation as long as I can remember, and taken all sorts of things—which in some cases seemed to do good at first, but afterwards to have no effect. Then I thought I would try Kruschen in my tea every morning, and I have done so for over a year. I am pleased to say after the first month I had no more trouble with constipation and I have felt very fit."—(Mrs.) G. M. S.

Kruschen helps to maintain a condition of internal cleanliness. The several salts in Kruschen stimulate the organs of elimination to smooth, regular action. Your system is thus kept clear of clogging waste and poisonous impurities.

MACVILLE

For several months there has been "nasty gossip" about disregard of law in this township. Not only was the liquor law said to be disregarded in many places, but with such disregard, and because of it, other laws were being violated with impunity. The difficulty encountered by officials entrusted with enforcement of law was the unwillingness of those who pretended to know of these law violations to furnish evidence when called upon to do so. Lately prosecutions have taken place and convictions have been secured, which may be taken as evidence that those people are becoming ashamed of the evil name being attached to the districts in which they live, and also that the officials are being assisted in carrying out their work. Nobody likes to be considered a spy or an informer, but it is clearly the duty of every citizen who has knowledge of law breaking to inform the law officers of the evidence in his possession, and to support, rather than hinder, the efforts being made to ensure decency and good behaviour.

All Doing Well

Whether he is elected for a third term or not, President Roosevelt and his family have certainly made great contributions to United States history. The part and place that Mrs. Roosevelt has taken in recent years is really remarkable. The sons, occupying, in the public eye, places almost equivalent to princes in the Old World, have not done too badly, either.—St. Catharines Standard.

Registration Of Women

Representatives of various women's organizations meeting in Toronto were informed that the Voluntary Registration of Canadian Women has practically completed its task of registering Canadian women able and willing to perform war work of various kinds.

The registration was conducted voluntarily, starting with the outbreak of war a year ago, and upwards of 250,000 women were registered, most of them having special qualifications.

At the meeting Senator Iva Fallis, the national chairman, reported that Prime Minister Mackenzie King had twice publicly praised the work of the registration and had pledged himself that the utmost use would be made of it.

Miss Margaret Hyndman, of Toronto, director of the work, told of the enthusiasm shown by women in every part of Canada.

In Class By Itself

The British have a secret weapon to which sufficient attention has not been paid, states H. V. O'Brien, in the Chicago Daily News. I refer to that strip of concentrated screcklichkeit known as the Channel.

I have crossed this body of water many times, both invading the United Kingdom and retreating from it. I have crossed at various points and in assorted crafts. Even on the fast run from Calais—in a big ship, requiring only a little over a hour and a half for the trip—I have arrived in such condition that I couldn't give battle to an aroused caterpillar.

From now on, the waters of the Channel are likely to make a trip by barge more frightful than any bombardment. For the first half, the Germans will fear they are going to die; and for the second, they will fear they aren't.

An army of 2,000 men has set out in Chicago to kill every rat that can be found. Why not turn them loose on the Nazis?

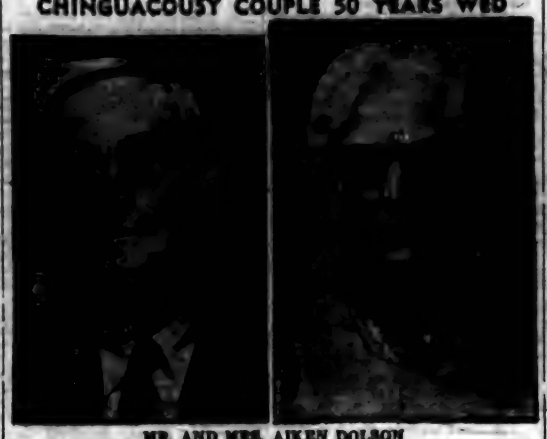
CHINGUACOUSY COUPLE 50 YEARS WED



MR. AND MRS. AIKEN DOLSON

One of Chinguacousy Township's most prominent families, and operators of one of Peel's finest farms, Mr. and Mrs. Dolson on Tuesday celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. Scores of visitors called to extend their congratulations. Mr. Dolson is a Past President of the County of Peel Agricultural Society, and also of the Peel Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

Miss Lorna Magill has returned from a three month visit with friends in the west. Miss Magill travelled as far as the coast, and on her return trip stopped off at Saskatoon where she visited with Dr. and Mrs. J. F. C. Anderson. Mrs. Anderson was formerly Katie Howis of Brampton.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Shaw, of Peterboro, were guests with Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Charters in Brampton on Monday and Tuesday of this week. Mr. Shaw is the Canadian manager of the A. Wander Company, manufacturers of Ovaltine. He is active in work with young people and on Monday night he addressed the Young Men's Club at Guelph. His wife is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Goldthorpe, of Dixie.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Willis, Main street south, Brampton, have a very interesting guest at their home this week in the person of John Robertson from Aberdeen, Scotland. John, who in peace time was engaged in advertising work, has been serving since the outbreak of war with the merchant marine as a radio operater. While on board his ship bound for Newfoundland, he suffered a severe and painful injury to his left eye. First aid was rendered on board the boat. Despite the best medical attention in Newfoundland, Mr. Robertson was forced to go to Montreal to consult an eye specialist. After many painful but patient weeks, the eye is showing hopeful signs of a return to normalcy. It was a chance meeting that brought the Willis' and Robertson together when the former were holidaying in Newfoundland this summer. Mr. Robertson is a very interesting character and relates with Scotch modesty his war experiences. He is favorably impressed with what he has seen of Canada and frankly admits surprise at the "English appearance" of our country. Our cities, city hotels and public buildings have been a revelation to him.

WORK INSTRUCTIONS

Red Cross Knitting

Official Instructions of the Canadian Red Cross Society

For the first time complaints have been received from Red Cross headquarters concerning the work turned in from Brampton. The complaints are of a minor nature, but local officials are anxious to have them corrected. Many socks sent in are too tight at the top, and knitters are asked to cast on loosely. They should stretch from 6½ to 8 inches.

There has also been some trouble with the toes, having not been finished smoothly. Ladies are asked to take particular care in this regard as much of the comfort of a pair of socks is lost if the toes are not properly finished.

Residents of Peel County all their lives, Mr. and Mrs. Aiken Dolson were tendered congratulations on the celebration of their golden wedding anniversary, by over 200 friends who visited them at their home on the fourth line west, Chinguacousy, on Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Guests were present from Tonnawanda, N.Y., Chatham, Toronto, and all parts of Peel County, and numerous letters and cards of congratulations were received by the celebrants, in addition to a large number of lovely gifts appropriate to a golden wedding anniversary.

He is a son of the late William Dunn Dolson and Janet McLaren, and was the youngest and only surviving member of two families in which there were seventeen children, nine in the first and eight in the second. FUEL-SAVING, AUTOMATIC HEAT
Before Winter Sets In!

Burn Decidedly Cheaper Coal—Have Less Work and Worry—Enjoy Even Heat In Cold Weather or Mild

INSTALLED IN A FEW HOURS—BEFORE YOUR HOUSE COOLS

There's still time to get your heating the easy way this winter. A Pease Conco Stoker can be installed in a few hours—you'll have real heating comfort from then on. Even heat, whether the weather is mild or cold . . . smaller fuel bills . . . less attention to the fire.

"Magic Tell-Tale" Safeguards Operation

The "Magic Tell-Tale" is a small, colored light mounted on the thermostat, which signals to you if, for any reason, the stoker needs attention. An exclusive and valuable safeguard!

Exclusive "Magic Hand Control" Regulates Heat Automatically—Efficiently

This mechanical marvel starts the stoker when more heat is required—stops it when the temperature is correct. It feeds the fire small quantities of coal at short or long intervals to maintain fire in mild weather—keeps an even bed of fire—prevents overheating. It saves money by proper firing—saves you time and effort.

Sizes For Every Heating Need—Monthly Payments, If Desired

The "Magic Hand Control" and "Magic Tell-Tale" are only two of the features which have made Pease Conco Stokers economical heating investments in many homes and buildings. Let us tell you about others. No obligations, of course. Simply telephone, or come to our Brampton showrooms.

● 'TIS Hallowe'en! Shall out! Come on shall out! Don't be mean, don't you know its Hallowe'en.

● MANY a person will have their doorbell ring tonight and acquainted with the fact that its Hallowe'en. Grocers and confectioners have been doing a land office business with housewives, who have been buying up a supply of candies and apples in preparatory to the annual call by enthusiastic children. Children draped in everything from mother's old wedding dress to dad's tuxedo.

● ONE housewife up on Church street became quite panicky yesterday afternoon when she discovered it was Wednesday and a half holiday. She realized that the stores were closed and she hadn't made her annual purchase of apples for her Hallowe'en callers. She phoned several places hoping to secure them outside the regular sources of supply, but without any luck, until her husband told her of a farmer whom she phoned and ordered several baskets. The husband, anxious to know why the rush for the apples, was astounded when his spouse advised him, "Don't you know tonight's Hallowe'en and I must have apples for the youngsters?" She almost fell over in a dead faint when the husband acquainted her with the fact that she was just one day out.

● WELL, she got the apples, anyhow, and is just waiting. I'll bet some of the young folks would just love to know who this party is—wouldn't you? Well, we're just not tellin', see!

● AND everyone hopes that the younger generation will confine their activities tonight to the simple pastimes and refrain from destructive practical joking. Years gone by have brought as much devastation as an aerial raid over London, and it is sincerely hoped that when Bramptonians wake from their sleep on Friday morning, they will find the same fair town to which they said "Bonne nuit" the night before.

Isaac Sproule Is 87 On Friday

"People are living above their means these days," declared Isaac Sproule who, on Friday, will celebrate his eighty-seventh birthday. "The country in a few years has been ruined financially, and the main cause of the downfall of the family is that everyone is buying an automobile. A few years ago I would have backed a note for anyone who needed money: to-day, I wouldn't look at a soul, all because they haven't the money to pay it back," said Mr. Sproule.

"Radios and picture shows rank with the automobile as one of the main causes of the downfall of the country." He said that Brampton, as a whole, had progressed since his arrival here sixty-three years ago. "Electric light and modern transportation have helped to a greater degree to help the town grow," he said. Mr. Sproule began to live in Brampton forty-four years ago. He is the sole survivor of a family of five boys and one girl.

He had four boys, the lone survivor of whom, Harry Sproule, is manager of the F. T. Hill and Co. Men's Store. George, Jack and Les are deceased. George was at one time adjudged Canada's best all-round Lacrosse player.

Born in the township of Nepean
Born in the township of Napanee in the County of Carleton, the son of Henry Sproule and Hannah Walker, Mr. Sproule has spent most of his life on the road as a commercial traveller. He has been with Simms and Wellington, the nurserymen, for twenty-seven years this March 1. He served as Brigade Sgt.-Major with the Ottawa Garrison Artillery for 11 years. One of his brothers served in the North West Rebellion. "I would have gone too, I wasn't old enough at the time," he said.

Mr. Sproule predicts that this war will be longer than the World War of 1914. "In the end Britain will win, but it will take a long time. It is too bad that a swine like Hitler can put the world in its present shape," he said.

Damage toll for Hallowe'en night is always high. If youngsters would remember that all the damage they do has to be repaired and if they had to repair it there would be less. At a recent meeting of the Brampton Win the War Committee it was decided that the Junior Red Cross should be given the responsibility of providing for the entertainment of the airmen in training at Malton, in particular those who have come from other parts of the Empire for advanced instruction here under the Empire Air Training Scheme. This organization asks for the co-operation of the citizens of Brampton in offering to entertain the airmen in their homes during week-ends or, perhaps, for Sunday dinner. Any one who is willing to do this is asked to get in touch with any of the members of the Junior Red Cross, including Miss Betty Fleury, phone 122, and Miss Florence Dowding, phone 901. These offers will also gladly be accepted by the president of the organization, Mrs. John S. Beatty, Main street, South, whose phone number is 325. Our boys are being well looked after in England, surely it behooves us to extend similar hospitality to these English lads who have left their homes and come here to train. Here is a real war service which we as Canadian citizens can and should render. A little thought and effort is all that is required.

Malton Plowman Makes Fine Showing At Match in Iowa

George Hostrawser, of Malton, came tenth in the tractor class with a score of 83.5 at the first international plowing match in the United States held at Davenport, Iowa. Mr. Hostrawser, well known in plowing circles in Peel county, and winner of many local matches won second place in the tractor class at the provincial plowing match at St. Thomas recently.

Mr. Hostrawser was one of three Ontario youths selected to represent the province at the Davenport match. Fred Timbers, of Stouffville, and Alex. Black, of Guelph, were the other two young men representing the province. They were accompanied by J. A. Carroll, of Brampton, director of agricultural societies for the province.

Timbers won the United States championship at Davenport with 92 points. He has taken part in scores of matches and has won more than he can recall. The Peel boy has also been a consistent winner at plowing matches, and his selection to represent Ontario was a recognition of his ability as a plowman.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Berry Celebrate Golden Wedding At Snelgrove

Five Daughters and Twelve Grandchildren Join in Celebration

SNELGROVE—Surrounded by five daughters and twelve grandchildren Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Berry celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home, twenty-two road, Tuesday night. Despite the inclement weather a large number of relatives were present and many friends called to offer congratulations to the guests of honor. Mr. Berry who is 75 years old, and Mrs. Berry who is 70, are enjoying good health, the former carrying on the work on his farm daily. Mr. and Mrs. Berry were married at Arley, Worcestershire, England, by Rev. Daniel Vawdrey, the bridesmaid, Mrs. J. C. Evans, of Caledon East, being present at the anniversary, while the best man, Thomas Williams, still resides in England. The five daughters present at the wedding anniversary all reside in the vicinity of Brampton, as follows: Mrs. John C. Salisbury, 2nd line east; Mrs. D. F. Moddland, Brampton; Mrs. W. F. Cook, 2nd line west; Mrs. W. S. Newhouse, Snelgrove; Mrs. W. Salisbury, 1st line west. Mrs. Berry has one brother residing in England, while Mr. Berry has the company of four sisters and four brothers. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Berry were presented with an elaborate basket of flowers by the grandchildren, and other presents were received, each gift being accompanied by wishes for many more happy years of married life. When Mr. and Mrs. Berry arrived in this country from England, 34 years ago, they settled at Boston Mills, and though they have made a few changes they always resided in Peel County, and are at the present time residing in their new home erected recently in twenty-two road.

A co-incidence of the anniversary was that two daughters, Mrs. Moddland and Mrs. Newhouse were married on October 29th, and were not forgotten on their parents anniversary. During the evening a sumptuous anniversary luncheon was enjoyed, the three tier cake being made and presented to her grandparents by one of the nieces.

Industries In West

The assumption that Canada's prairies are almost exclusively agricultural in their production is not borne out by the latest figures available at Ottawa concerning manufacturing in Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan. These point to a manufacturing production worth $379,474,000 furnishing employment for 42,214 people receiving salaries and wages amounting to $45,551,000. Western Canada may be one of the great granaries of the world, but it is also, apparently, developing from the standpoint of manufacturing.

Got By German Censors

Nazi censors, perhaps, could not be expected to know that "Pinecrest" is a cemetery near Ottawa but the name appeared to tell the story of life in a German internment camp as related in a letter from an Ottawa district soldier who is a prisoner in Germany.

Said his letter: "I must say that these Germans are not what we have been led to believe they are. There is just one thing I would like, one thing I desire above everything else—oh, for a nice soft bed in Pinecrest."

Could Ship Full Quota

Canada may export to the United States up to 51,720 head of cattle, weighing 700 pounds or more, other than dairy cows, during the last quarter of 1940, which started October 1, the Dominion Department of Agriculture announced.

Under the Canada-United States trade agreement, it was provided that 193,950 head of such cattle may enter the United States from Canada at the reduced rate of 1½ cents per pound, provided that not more than 51,720 are imported in any one quarter of the calendar year.

Imports of such cattle during the first three-quarters of this year were sufficiently under the established quota for any quarter to permit entry at the reduced rate of the maximum quantity during the fourth quarter, the department said.

"In other words, we may export to the United States up to 51,720 heavy cattle at the reduced rate," it added.

God has never ceased to be the one true aim of all right human aspirations.—Vinet.

Kidney Acids Rob Your Rest

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—fix covers and count sheep. Often they blame it on "nerves" when it may be shaky kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons from the blood. If they are faulty and fail, poisons stay in the system and disappointment, headache, backache often follow. If you don't sleep well, try Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite remedy. 122

CAMPUS COMMENT

Ah, what lovely frosty mornings! How one loves to get out of a warm bed to walk about with your knees knocking with cold. And to break the ice in the wash-basin just to see if there's really water there. And to walk to school with the wind blowing right through you. Ah lovely mornings, what will we do when winter gets here? Woe is us!

Rugby: Brampton—Etobicoke

The hardest defeat this season was last Friday's game. Although Brampton outplayed the winners all the way, it was due to a two minute relapse in the backfield that they lost the decision. The score: Etobicoke 7, Brampton 6.

Brampton started in great fashion by reeling off four consecutive first downs and although they held the play in Etobicoke's territory, they were unable to score. In the second quarter after a long forward pass, Brampton were close enough for Lent to plunge over for a major score. The convert failed and the home team steadied down with a 5-0 lead. Brampton's defence was superb, holding off Etobicoke's threats via the air. After completing another forward pass, Brampton were close enough for Lent to kick a point before half-time sounded. Half - time, Brampton 6, Etobicoke 0.

At the start of the second half, Brampton received the ball and play took place on their 40 yd. line. Then it happened. A bad lateral pass by a Brampton half and the referee blew his offside horn. Two Brampton halves, thinking the play had stopped, thus ignored the Etobicoke end who picked the ball up and walked to a touchdown, which they converted and tied the score. Brampton were then forced to take the defensive which was a fatal sign. In the last quarter Etobicoke fought down the field and reached close enough to kick the deciding point and win the game 7-6.

Although they were outplayed, Etobicoke were opportunists and capitalized on their breaks to bring them a win. Futterer, Foste and Jones played outstanding ball for the winners.

Carter was dangerous on running back kicks; Garbutt's tackling featured; Lent's blocking sent end runs out, and Anderson at centre played well. It was a tough game to lose, boys.

Brampton—Weston

And now for a little more bad news. On wet Tuesday, Weston defeated Brampton by the score of 14-1.

On the first few minutes of play, Weston recovered a Brampton fumble but were only able to kick for one point. Then Weston broke from scrimmage with a lovely run that put them 1 yard out from Brampton's goal line. Poole plunged it over for a major which was not converted. Brampton came to life and held them until half-time. Brampton had two chances for touchdowns, but couldn't get under way. Lent was able to kick for 1 point. Half-time, Weston 6, Brampton 1.

Again Brampton started the game on the wrong foot. Weston advanced half the field on forward passes, in which department they were very dangerous. A long sleeper pass earned them their second major which they converted successfully. In the third quarter, Brampton were rouged twice to complete the score. Weston 14, Brampton 1.

Poem

As you all know and must remember,
After October comes November,
When all you hear is "don't be mean,"
Why, can't you guess, it's Hallow-e'en.

And now our party at High School,
Where we have learned the golden rule,
Come one, come all, next Friday night,
You must be there to see the sight.

From what I hear, we all must dress,
To see which one can be the best,
As for the skits, what a surprise,
We all can guess who'll win that prize.

So don't forget, all you, be there,
And be prepared for a good scare,
I'm not so sure it ends quite late,
But doors are open promptly at eight.

FAMOUS CARTOON CREATOR, AND HIS CREATIONS

Walt Disney, producer of the technicolour full-length cartoon "Pinocchio", at the Capitol this Friday and Saturday.

with DAVE KAY

The lid comes off this week on the N.H.L. stew pot for the 1940-1 season with "Hap" Day's Mapleos taking on the New York Rangers this coming Saturday night at the Carlton St. Ice Palace.

Your guess is as good as mine as to the starting line-up but you can lay it on the line that the same fifteen men mentioned in last week's column will be "IT" with the only change being that Schriner will possibly get the centre ice job on the Heron, Chisholm line.

The fans are in for a pleasant surprise when they see the marked improvement in Turk Broda's style, especially of covering the corners. Turk has really borne down on trying to correct his weak points and he has been rewarded with a very marked improvement in his play and to add to his new style, Hap Day has the defence covering up in such a style that does not block his view of the puck inside the defence zone (remember the goal in the last play-off game with the Rangers), so in all we expect a win this coming Pay Day.

Players may come and go but Evergreen Bob Davidson gives every indication on going on forever, and the form displayed by this veteran at St. Kitts gives every indication that he will again be the backbone of the Leafs front line brigade and the "Canny Scot" that he is, just takes it in his stride, asking no quarter but giving plenty.

Much has been written about the "Whirlwind" Walter Stanowski but my chips go on Bingo Kampman, not for one minute taking away from the sensational and effective style of Stanowski's play but Bingo is being shouldered with the heavy duty job and that means less goals for himself but also leaves less goals for the other fellow and if ever a player can more than hold his own when it comes to the knock-'em-down-drag-'em-out business, Bingo rates number 1 in the N.H.L. and for references you can ask Art Coulter who by no means is in a position to enter the Cream Puff Club.

After Tuesday night's game at Brantford, Joe Primeau, who made his debut at a linesman, will more than do. The ex-Leaf centre star has not lost any of his skating style and the way he keeps up with the play is a treat to watch after putting in a couple of seasons yelling one's pipes out at Clarence Campbell and Bert McCaffery, who in most games tried to call them from a rocking chair style at centre ice.

Frank Selke tells me that the subscriber list at the Gardens is over 500 greater than last year and that means less seats for the general public sale. So let me warn you now before the season starts, I have no friends at the Gardens and don't expect to till next spring, so climb on the band wagon and get yourself a couple of ducats for the season as my chances of obtaining them are O-U-T with every person except "Pop" Kelly and he has been sold to Chicago.

Many fans have asked me just what actual hockey experience Conny Smythe had before he became associated with the Maple Leafs and to the best of my ability, I raked my fast fading memory and came up with the following memoirs; Smythe was first noted in hockey as captain of the Varsity Juniors in 1914-15, when his team defeated the Kitchener Union-Jacks in the O.H.A. semi-finals and came back next season to do the same thing to the same team, only this time it was the finals. In the next season Smythe managed the 40th Battery team and in this season Frank Selke, his right hand man at the Gardens, also handled the 119th Battalion team at London. The next few seasons Conny was overseas with the Canadian troops and immediately upon his return he became coach of the University of Toronto teams and then he organized the Maple Leafs and one of his first moves was to appoint Frank Selke as his assistnt and this relationship has continued ever since.

Manager Jack Adams has finally decided on the man to fill the goal-tending job with his Detroit Red Wings. Adams announced this week that red-headed Johnny Mowers, 24-year-old Niagara Falls, Ont., product will take over the spot vacated by Cecil (Tiny) Thompson, now manager of Buffalo Bisons in the American League.

Mowers has played only a half-season of professional hockey, going to the Omaha club of the American association last year after starring with Pontiac of the Michigan-Ontario Amateur League. His most serious opposition in training was Jimmy Franks, who was goalie last season with Indianapolis of the American League.

George Mantha, veteran left winger, is out of the National Hockey League for the first time since he turned professional in 1928. Mantha, with Canadiens for the past 12 seasons, has been sent to New Haven Eagles with Polly Drouin and Peggy O'Neill. The three players are subject to recall.

Boston Bruins are in Montreal now for a week's training prior to opening the National Hockey League season with Montreal Canadiens. Coach Cooney Weiland says that the Bruins are standing pat on the line-up that won the N.H.L. championship last season. Says Weiland: "This club was good enough to win the championship last season. Barring injuries it should be good enough to go on from there."

• • •

So if you can't gain admission to the Gardens on Saturday, get the radio tubes checked as Foster Hewitt will be back on the job and whether the Leafs win, lose or draw, it still will be a grand night as it signals the opening of another hockey season and truly no sane minded person will doubt your word when you say it is the World's Fastest and most Exciting Sport—maybe I'm nuts and if such is the case hockey is responsible.

CAPITOL NOTES

Patrons will please note that commencing Monday, Nov. 4, the evening shows at the Capital will begin at 7 and 9, D.S.T., during the week. Saturday night shows will begin at 6-8-10, D.S.T., unless advertised differently.

A matinee will be held Monday at 2.30, for "I Love You Again", with William Powell and Myrna Loy. A special school matinee will also be held Wednesday at 4.15 for "Blondie Brings Up Baby".

Walt Disney's second great cartoon feature, "Pinocchio", comes to the Capital this Friday and Saturday. It is filmed in multiplane technicolor and has all the beloved stars of the famous book in it, including, "Pinocchio" himself, The Blue Fairy, Jiminy Cricket, Monstro the Whale, J. Worthington Foulfellow, Figaro and many others.

"I Love You Again", at the Capital Monday and Tuesday, brings William Powell and Myrna Loy together again in one of the funniest pictures of their careers. The two are cast as husband and wife, but, the fact that the marriage took place during an attack of amnesia on the part of Powell and that he doesn't recognize his wife, home or friends, when he comes out of it, makes for hilarious comedy. The large cast includes Frank McHugh, Edmund Lowe, Donald Douglas and "Alfalfa" Switzer.

With Blondie engrossed in the theories of child training, Dagwood trying to sell an apartment house, Baby Dumpling adjusting himself to school routine and Daisy disappeared, "Blondie Brings Up Baby", at the Capitol Wednesday and Thursday, has more than its share of laughs. Adapted from Chic Young's comic strip, the cast in this is exactly the same as in the previous "Blondie" hits. Penny Singleton is Blondie, Arthur Lake is Dagwood and Larry Simms is Baby Dumpling.

The shorts for the coming week include: With "Pinocchio", a Crime Doesn't Pay entitled, "Buyer Beware", and an Our Gang Comedy; with "I Love You Again", a Canada Carries On series entitled, "Wings of Youth". The first in the series of the famous "March of Time" reels will be seen with "Blondie Brings Up Baby". It is entitled "On Foreign Newsfronts".

Orders for tickets are now being taken at the Capitol Theatres for the big Wild West Rodeo starring Gene Autry, which is to take place Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 14-15-16, at the Coliseum in Toronto. The show is being put on by the Motion Picture War Services Committee and the proceeds are to go to the British Air Raid Victims' Fund.

Good Story, Anyway

Some of the passengers were relating their experiences of fogs.

"Yes," said the old salt, "I've seen pretty thick fogs in my time. Why, off the coast of Newfoundland the fog was sometimes so thick that we used to sit on the rail and lean against it! We were sitting one night, as usual, with our backs up against the fog, when suddenly the fog lifted and we all went flop into the water. A bit thick, wasn't it?"

Husband, Son And Daughter Mourn Mrs. Carey's Death

Caledon East Churches Mark Anniversaries At Special Services

CALEDON EAST—Mrs. Ed. Carey passed away at her home in Albion on Monday, October 21st. She was born in Caledon Township sixty-seven years ago, and before her marriage was Miss Ellen Sweeney. Burial took place at St. John the Evangelist Church, with Rev. M. J. Barrack performing the last rites. Left to mourn her loss are her husband, one son, Dan, and one daughter, Eileen. Also surviving are four brothers, Dan, Hugh, Jim and Jack, and three sisters, Mrs. W. Killeen, Miss Dolly Sweeney and Miss Margaret Sweeney.

Diamond Anniversary

Caledon East United Church celebrated its diamond anniversary on Sunday last. To capacity congregations at both services, Rev. Dr. Wallace delivered very appropriate and inspiring addresses. Special anthems were sung by the church choir and by Caledon East Male Quartette. Miss Betty Pipe also rendered a beautiful solo at the evening service. On Monday evening, Dr. Wallace delivered an illustrated lecture on England, Scotland and Wales, showing pictures he had taken himself while touring the Old Country.

Knox Presbyterian

Knox Presbyterian Church terminated the celebration of its eighty - seventh anniversary on Tuesday, October 22nd, with a fowl supper and concert at Caledon East Community Memorial Hall. Roast geese and roast chicken, with all the trimmings, featured the supper, and over four hundred people enjoyed it thoroughly. The programme was put on by Duncan Cowan and his company of entertainers, which included Miss Ethel Evans, violinist; Ted Rusk, ventriloquist, with his pal Pat, and Miss Louise Westlake, pianist and accompanist. The hall was filled to overflowing and the audience was very well pleased with the performance. During intermission an auction sale was held to dispose of the few remaining ready-to-eat fowl, and this, as well as all other activities connected with the celebration, was a huge success.

MONO MILLS

Mono Mills Pioneer Is 100 Years Old Never Seen Street Car

MONO MILLS—A pioneer of Dufferin County, John Anderson is today celebrating his 100th birthday at his son Solomon's farm at Mono Mills. During the national registration in September he was the oldest man to register in this part of the county.

He has seen Britain go to battle eight times starting with the Crimean War and he says, "I think if Britain can go to war seven times and be victorious she can surely add another war to her list".

He has been to Toronto only once in his life and that time it was to collect a bet. The bet, he explained was that he could not get to Toronto in four days. He accepted the bet, he explained, because he knew that his friend was wrong, for he had heard of people who could go to Toronto in three days.

Until recently Mr. Anderson had never seen an automobile. He has never seen a street car in his life nor has he seen an elevator. His Toronto visit was so long ago that there were only horse drawn vehicles there at that time.

Mr. Anderson declared that doctors have told him that he is in the best of health and his heart and blood is "like that of a baby". He attributes his long life to lots of fresh air, exercise and plenty of sleep. He still enjoys his daily walk about the farm.

PALGRAVE

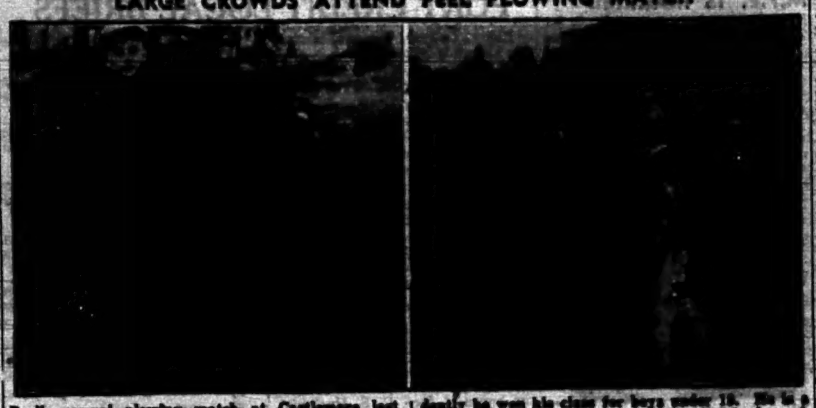
PALGRAVE.—When the car in which he was driving was struck by a train at the Bolton level crossing last Friday afternoon, David Smith of Palgrave escaped without serious injuries. His car was damaged to the extent of $100. He was struck by a C.P.R. freight train.

Forced Landing

Last as darkness fell, a young pilot had to make a forced landing on a field on the farm of Harold Patterson. Landing without either injury to himself or the plane, he was able to take off again the next morning.

Miss Isabel Jones and Mr. Cecil Bilton of Toronto spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones . . . Mr. and Mrs. Joe Waterers were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Zimmerman . . . Miss Jean Watson spent half a day in Toronto last week . . . The W.A. of the United Church met at the home of Mrs. Albert Wood where a special quilting was held. A quilt was completed for Mrs. A. Bible . . . Mr. Allan MacInnes of Toronto was a visitor in the village on Saturday . . . Young people's regular meeting will take the form of a Hallowe'en party and all guests are asked to come masked.

LARGE CROWDS ATTEND PEEL PLOWING MATCH



Peel's annual plowing match at Castlemore last Friday attracted large crowds. The weather was ideal for the event, and entries were one greater than a year ago. The Conservator photographer snapped this picture of Harold Cunnington (left) aged 11, the youngest plowman taking part. Incidently he won his class for boys under 18. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cunnington of Inglewood. Right, is Douglas Read, 14-year-old tractor plowman, who came second in his class in the Junior Farmers' section. He lives on Brampton R.R. 5. A sample of Douglas' work may be seen behind the tractor.

Over Heated Stove Pipes Believed to Be Cause of Blaze

ALTON. — Hundreds of spectators were attracted to the scene of a large fire by the glare of the flames in the sky when the large farm home of Gibson Shannon, located a short distance north of the village, on Wednesday evening, October 23rd, about 10 o'clock, was completely destroyed by fire, believed to have started from overheated stove pipes. Mr. Shannon, who lives alone, was able only to save a few articles before the heat of the fire drove him from the doomed building. Owing to lack of water or fire fighting equipment at the distance from the village, those who went to help could do nothing to check the flames that had already got beyond control when discovered. Just eight years ago, on the same date, a large barn on the same farm was destroyed by fire. The sympathy of friends and neighbours is extended to Mr. Shannon in his second big loss. We understand there was no insurance on either buildings.

Y.P.U. Opening Banquet

The Young People's Society of the United Church held a very enjoyable opening banquet in the school rooms of the church last Friday evening, October 25th. Mr. Harold Speers, of Caledon East, was the guest speaker and gave a very interesting talk on Young People's Work following the opening devotional period. Community sing song and games followed the supper and address. The regular weekly meetings of the society for the fall and winter months will open on Monday evening, October 28th. All Young People of this community will be welcomed at these meetings.

Suffers Serious Injuries

We are sorry to report that Mrs. Thomas Hillock, a well known resident of our village was taken to Lord Dufferin Hospital last Sunday, suffering from severe body injuries and a fractured hip bone, as the result of a fall in her home when she tripped on a piece of loose carpet. Dr. C. T. Scott, of Orangeville, was called and attended her injuries and had her removed to the hospital for X-Ray examination. We understand the patient was taken to a Toronto hospital on Saturday last for special treatment and setting of the fracture. Her many friends hope for some improvement in her condition at as early date a date as can be expected.

Baptist Anniversary Services

The Anniversary Services of Alton Baptist Church was held on Sunday, October27th. The special speaker at both morning and evening services was Rev. A. R. Jones, pastor of Kealesdale Baptist church, Toronto. Mr. Jones, who is an accomplished vocalist and instrumentalist also provided the special music. On Monday evening, October 28th, a social gathering of the members and friends of the church was held in the school room of the church.

Red Cross Notes

The Alton Red Cross unit appreciates very much the courtesy with which their canvassers were received in this community. If anyone has been overlooked, their donations will be appreciated in this international war charity. One of our grand old ladies gave a great deal of encouragement to our canvass by presenting the fund with an unsolicited cheque for $25.00. Work turned in for the last two weeks of September was: 4 pr. socks, 3 pr. seaman's socks, 4 seaman's scarves, 2 sweaters, 56 surgical towels. Refugee articles—2 quilts, 8 sweaters, one quilt top and quilting was donated by the North Erin United Church Women's Association.

A particularly extensive amount of work has been outlined for the next two months for refugees and evacuees. Anyone in our community who wishes to assist with sewing or knitting, may procure materials from Mrs. E. D. Barber, convener of Sewing or Mrs. T. W. Meek, Convener of Knitting and please remember that any assistance you may give to this Red Cross work is all helping to win the war and defeat Hitlerism.

Alton W. I. Meets

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Norman Hilliard, 5th Line West, on Thursday afternoon, October 17th. There were 25 members and 8 visitors present at this meeting. Mrs. Hector McDougall took the motto, "Making a Home out of Contentment and Happiness". She introduced her paper by advising use of the Golden Rule, Keeping thoughts of God in the home, living within our budget and concluded with Edgar Guest's poem "A Heap of Living". The roll call was "Ways to help the family keep tidy". This was answered in numerous ways, e.g. to have a certain place for everything, to have a large box for rubbers, overshoes, etc., to keep seasonable clothes handy, store other clothes away. After this a fine demonstration of an evening lunch was given by Mrs. George Cameron. It consisted of sandwiches, cookies, and cake. It was decided to hold the November meeting on the evening of November 21st, in the Town Hall. The speaker will be from the Farmer's Magazine. Mrs. William Dorrington told of the Scotch farmer who is feeding yeast to his cows to increase vitamin D in the milk. The meeting closed with lunch and the usual social half hour.

Mrs. Joyce McConnell has returned from a few days visit with friends in Toronto.

Mrs. W. Milligan, of Toronto, spent Sunday and Monday with her niece, Mrs. Wm. Darrington.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Cameron attended the funeral in Arthur last sek of Miss Grace Day, a close friend of Mrs. Cameron.

Latimer Ward, R.C.A.F., Camp Borden, spent a few days' visit last week with his parents Mr. and Mrs. George Ward.

A number of our citizens attended the annual fowl supper at the North Erin United Church, on Wednesday evening, October 23rd.

Rev. Donald Sinclair, pastor of Alton Baptist Church, occupied the pulpit in Keelesdale Baptist Church in Toronto, on Sunday, October 27th.

Lloyd and Bruce Cameron and Raymond and John Madill, motored to St. Thomas to attend the recent International Plowing match, for a day and report an interesting trip.

Pte. Billie King, of the R.C.A.F. Manning Pool, Toronto, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas King. His brother, Jack King, is also in a military training camp.

Mr. E. Hansen, assistant teacher in the continuation school here, spent the week-end at his home in Acton and assisted with the special music as organist at his home church anniversary services there on Sunday, October 27th.

Miss Ella Dawswell and Miss Agnes Meek, of Toronto, motored up on Friday afternoon and spent the week-end with Miss Meek's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Meek. Miss Dawswell also calling on several old-time friends here.

Friends of Mrs. John Martin are sorry to learn that she is under the care of a doctor and nurse, suffering from the effects of a stroke. There has been some slight improvement in her condition the last few days.

Friends of Mr. William Fletcher, 4th Line, are sorry to learn of his illness in Lord Dufferin Hospital, where he was taken for treatment for ulcers of the stomach last week and hope for a speedy and complete recovery.

It takes about 1,500 nuts to hold an automobile together—but only one to scatter it all over the landscape.

CLASS IN MECHANICS UNDER AIR TRAINING PLAN

Besides the thousands of pilots to be turned out under the Commonwealth Air Training Plan, even greater numbers of other experts are being trained to make the Empire's air forces the world's most powerful. A class in aero-mechanics is shown here at study in one of the many schools spread across the Dominion.

CALEDON

Cook—Widdis

CALEDON.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Widdis, Cataract, was the scene of a pretty autumn wedding this afternoon when their daughter, Dorothy Margaret Widdis, became the bride of George Clifford Cook, second son of Mrs. Cook and the late J. E. Cook, Georgetown. Rev. Fred Ward, Grafton, officiated. Mrs. Fred Ward, cousin of the bride, played wedding music. Housing Shortage

Proposals for construction of small, pre-fabricated houses under government direction as an answer to serious housing shortages where large military and war industrial developments have taken place, are under consideration, it was learned.

Since most housing shortages created by war are likely to be temporary, the answer may be found in a program of making portable cottages and small houses assembled with fabricated walls and partitions. These would be set up in the vicinity of military stations for wives and families of troops and in the neighbourhood of larger war industrial plants where a heavy influx of labor has occurred.

Steel ingot production in Canada during the eight months ended August totalled 1,281,942 tons against 783,509 tons in the corresponding period of 1939.

Glorious Weather Provides Ideal Conditions For Peel Plowing Match At Castlemore Corners on Friday

Horse Class Entries Show Increase As Tractor Classes Fewer — Total Entries Are One Greater Than in 1939 Match

With perfect weather conditions prevailing, and with a most encouraging crowd in attendance, the Peel County Plowing Match at Castlemore on Friday proved to be an outstanding success. Entries numbered 48, which was an increase of one over last year. There was a decrease in the number of tractor entries but an increase in horse entries which more than offset this. On the same day a match at the Indian Reserve at Brantford attracted several plowmen who might otherwise have entered the Peel contest.

Eleven-year-old Harold Cunnington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cunnington of Inglewood, was the youngest entry in the match and he won his class for boys under 18. In addition to winning his class, he was awarded the R. E. Bolls and Sons Trophy for the best ridge plowed in Class 6 for Junior Farmers.

Frank Laidlaw of Haldimand County was the judge for all classes. Mr. Laidlaw expressed particular interest in the work of the Peel plowmen, whom he paid high tributes to. He is one of the outstanding judges in the province and recently had the difficult task of judging at the provincial show at St. Thomas when he had to select a winner from no less than 68 entries in one class.

In the evening a dinner was held in Ebenezer United Church, where the ladies of the Castlemore Women's Institute served a delicious meal to a crowd which required more than two full sittings of the hall. E. Parkinson expressed the appreciation of the men to the ladies for the splendid co-operation given in helping to make the day a success. The president of the Institute, Mrs. , replied on behalf of the ladies.

Later in the evening, the township hall was crowded to capacity for the prize presentation ceremonies over which President William Hostrawser presided. Among those present was Mr. J. A. Carroll, Director of Agricultural Societies for the Provinces of Ontario and Manager of the Provincial Plowing Match.

War Scenes Banned

To maintain neutrality the Greek Government in Athens has virtually banned news reels. The police in each district of Greece are held responsible for the innocuous character of the news reels shown in their respective areas. Since September, 1939, the censors have rigidly excluded war scenes from the news films sent into the country and the result is that reels are often cut to a small fraction of their length. The gap thus caused in the programs of the moving picture theatres is filled by local news reels of considerable length, and these are proving quite popular.

Membership Tea Held Thursday At St. Andrews W.M.S.

PORT CREDIT.—A very successful "Membership Tea" was held on Thursday last by the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. The attendance was quite large and everyone enjoyed the demonstration on making "pull toffee", given by the president, Mrs. A. Milne. Later on this candy was sampled by the guests and all agreed it was quite delicious. An amusing gum contest was put on when the ladies were each given a chiclet and after chewing it were instructed to make some object with the use of a toothpick. Mrs. Mac Thomson was declared winner of this contest. Tea was then served on small tables decorated with autumn leaves and pouring were Mrs. M. Goggin and Mrs. W. Landaborough. The hostesses were Mrs. J. Kilgour and Mrs. G. Williamson.

The members of the society wish to thank all those who helped to make this event such a success.

Port Credit Swamps Oakville Seniors In Exhibition Game

PORT CREDIT — Port Credit High School rugby team swamped Oakville High School seniors in an exhibition game on Tuesday by a 23-0 score.

The Ports took the offensive early after Graham Thompson had recovered an Oakville fumble about 35 yards out. A flea-flicker pass, White to Lee to Miller to Tucker, brought play to the 15-yard line.

From there White dropped back and rifled a short pass to Lee, who carried the ball over for a major score. Tucker kicked the convert.

Oakville kicked off and Port Credit started a plunging attack with Miller and Lee going for from eight to 12 yards consistently. On a third down White faked a kick from placement and threw a touchdown pass to Dave Gray.

In the second quarter the whole Port Credit front wall broke through and stopped the Oakville quarter-back cold for a safety touch and two points. Port Credit continued its offensive in the last half to score another nine points.

Junior Rugby Team Defeats Etobicoke In Hard Struggle

Port Credit—Port Credit High School's junior rugby team turned back their rivals from Etobicoke in a junior T.D.I.A.A. game here, by 19-17, after a close, hard fought struggle, with first one team taking the lead and then the other.

Etobicoke broke in front early in the first quarter. Taking advantage of a Port Credit fumble, Bailey took a forward pass from Jones and ran 30 yards more for a touchdown. Roy Smith kicked a single for the Port's first score, and early in the second quarter the same player smashed his way over for a touchdown after Miller had brought the ball in close. Beatty converted.

Jones put Etobicoke in front again in the third quarter when he threw another touchdown pass to Bailey. The convert failed. The locals once more took the lead when Coles threw a pass to Dave Gray, and they added another point when Miller came up fast to rouge Smythe on one of Smith's towering punts.

In the final period, the Etobicoke front wall broke through to block a kick. Cassidy picked up the loose ball and romped for a touchdown. They converted again via the forward pass route.

In the closing minutes of play Miller intercepted an Etobicoke pass and set up the play for Smith to plunge for his second touchdown. Beatty converted to end the scoring.

Captain Don Miller, Port Credit half back, was again the standout man on the field. He was a one man team defensively and was in on practically every tackle from his wide secondary position. Roy Smith was a tower of strength offensively, while Mike Costello turned in a fine defensive performance until he was injured in the second half.

Smythe and Jones were the pick of the losers. Both boys ran and passed well and played good defensive games. Cassidy, Jackes and McNiven also played good games.

Let The Voters Decide

— An Editorial —

Neither the Township of Toronto nor the Village of Port Credit has taken any steps to provide an opportunity for the voters of these municipalities to decide whether the councils elected in 1941 shall serve for one or two years. The Local Government Extension Act of 1940 provides that if a vote is not taken on the question, councils elected in that year shall sit for a period of two years.

It would seem that this matter should be decided by the voters themselves, and not by the sitting members of the 1940 councils. The voters may force the hand of the councils if those bodies do not wish to act in the matter. In scores of municipalities the decision has been reached to place the matter before the electors and arrive at a decision the democratic way. If councils take no action, voters may force action by petition. On presentation of a petition, signed by only 5% of the voters, the council must put the question to a vote of the people. As a whole the province of Ontario has shown itself wholeheartedly against the proposal to elect councils for a two year term. There can be no recriminations from the voters if they make the decision themselves, but there may be lots of recrimination if councils propose to neglect the issue and decide for themselves whether the 1940 councils shall remain in office for two years.

Plan Pantomine For Presentation During December

Clarkson Lady is Writing "The Wishing Moon" For S.S. 6

CLARKSON.—A Christmas pantomime, "The Wishing Moon", is being written by Evelyn Hawkes Crickmore, Clarkson, and will be presented by the children of S.S. No. 6, early in December. This musical fairy play with a cast of seventy-five will be given on two evenings and the proceeds will be for Red Cross and refugee supplies. Many will remember that Mrs. Crickmore wrote another outstanding pantomime about two years ago and it was a big hit. She not only writes these musical plays for children but writes the script to suit each individual child in the school. It entails a great deal of work but when it is for the benefit of Red Cross, Mrs. Crickmore feels that it is very worth while. She has also contributed greatly to Red Cross work by her palmistry. On many occasions in Clarkson and surrounding districts, as well as Toronto and Oakville, Mrs. Crickmore has graciously offered her services as a palm reader for teas and other events.

She received many beautiful cards and lovely gifts and her niece made a large birthday cake, suitably inscribed and decorated in daffodil yellow and green, this was served with other dainty refreshments.

Masquerade Party Features Meeting Of Cooksville Y.P.U.

COOKSVILLE — Live ghosts greeted members of Cooksville United Young People's Union when they held their annual Hallowe'en masquerade on Monday evening and later mingled among the guests. The affair was held by candlelight and Jack o'lanterns, bats, skeletons, and black cats were used for decorations.

Once again the "cock-a-doodle-do" ruled the roost when Miss Pearl Fewster, costumed as a big white rooster, received the prize for the best attire in the ladies' class. George Claridge as a colored girl won the prize in the men's group. Over eighty young people appeared in costume.

A varied program was provided by Shirley and Ronald McDonald, vocal solos, accompanied by their sister, Miss Ellen McDonald; Earl Buntin, Brampton, accordion solos, and Rev. Hueston D. McCormack, vocal solos and reading.

Miss Ethel Innes, attired as a witch, presided over a black pot from which the guests drew peanuts containing their fortunes. An anatomy contest, in which one of the skeletons on display figured prominently, was won by Eldon Eckel, with Merris Leonard receiving the consolation prize. Miss Fannie Milburn and Miss Doris McKee assisted in conducting games.

The tea table was covered with a lace cloth and silver service. Pouring were Miss Nelta Tolman and Miss Jean McKay. Several of the young people assisted Miss Ethel Johnston's committee with the serving.

Everything Quiet Police Report In Toronto Twp. Shoot

COOKSVILLE — The pheasant shoot in Toronto Township went off quietly and without any mishaps, according to the local authorities. No accidents were reported to Chief Constable S. M. Belford, and according to Deputy Game Warden Bert Dennison, "everything was pretty quiet."

Disregard of "no trespassing" signs raised the ire of some of the district's farmers. "If you went down to Toronto and walked over their lawns they would just about eat you up," one Britannia resident side. A property owner in the west end of Cooksville claimed that in spite of signs plastered over the property, two hunters shot at pheasants in a herd of cows. Several pheasants escaped on a farm when the hunter, in his natty attire, refused to walk through a burdock infested ravine.

PLATES ARE STOLEN

COOKSVILLE—Wallace Livingstone, Cooksville businessman, after driving from Cooksville to the business district in North Toronto, found that both license plates were missing from his car. They had been taken off when the vehicle was painted and were still at Cooksville. Although Livingston had not been questioned by a police officer throughout the 15-mile trip, he would not leave the city until the plates had been taken to him.

Marriage Register At St. Patrick's Reveals Old Laws

DIXIE—Members of the Lamphier and Doherty families, two families prominent in the life of Toronto Township, figure in the first recorded marriage in the register of St. Patrick's Church, Dixie. The witnesses were Patrick Healy and Catherine Shaughnasy It is interesting to note that the old spellings differ slightly from the modern ones. Lanphire is also spelled Lanphiir and Lanphier in other places in the register.

Joseph Lamphier's father, Charles, came from Dublin, Ireland, and was one of the founders of St. Patrick's Church. The Doherty's resided in Hanlon, near Burnhamthorpe. The late Hon. Manning Doherty was a son of Jane Doherty's brother, William. Severe Penalties Provided

A decree against food profiteering, providing penalties of a severity hitherto unparalleled in Spain, was issued to help the government meet the problem of feeding the nation this winter.

Persons dealing clandestinely in rationed foodstuffs or charging prices higher than those fixed are liable to penalties ranging from fines of 1,000 to 500,000 pesetas to permanent prohibition against operating as a merchant and jail terms.

All grain must be surrendered to the national wheat commission at fixed prices.

Hitler has issued a decree limiting the sale of false teeth in Germany and occupied countries. But the "gummers" may derive a bit of comfort from the thought that there'll not be much to eat this winter, anyway.

IRISHTOWN

By Rev. Father John E. Moss.

Editor's Note—The special services held on Sunday to mark the re-opening of St. Patrick's Church, Dixie, with the attendance of some of the former pastors caused many of the parishioners to start reminiscing. Incidents in the church's past were recalled. Much historical data in this connection has been collected by the pastor, Rev. John E. Moss, who has written the following short historical sketch under the appropriate title of "Irishtown".

Irishtown was the name given to the eastern section of a village known a hundred years ago as Sydenham. If a name means anything, there is no reason why it should not still be called Irishtown. But it is not. It is called Dixie, after a certain Dr. Dixie, who is described as "an influential resident in those parts." For years now, Dixie has been the site of a church dedicated to St. Patrick, which serves the Catholics of Dixie, Islington, Summerville, Etonville, Burnhamthorpe, part of Malton and part of Cooksville.

The parish of Dixie-on-Dundas, if we may name it thus elegantly, possesses two books which are older than the present century, and which will not be put aside for several years to come. They are the baptismal registers. The newer one is, of course, still in use. So is the other. For many septuagenarians know that a baptismal certificate will be accepted by the government as satisfactory proof of their age for the granting of a pension.

Aside from this usefulness, they are of value from another standpoint, namely that they represent an interesting parish history. Not that they give us many facts of importance, but that they contain the names of the priests who have been in charge, and thus serve as notes for a meditation on the development of Dixie.

If we open the first volume with care, and with respect for its age, we shall see that it refers us, not to St. Patrick's Church at all, but to "Toronto Township Church, 5th Line." Perhaps our city friends are puzzled or amused at the use of such a designation as "Fifth Line," but if they lived on the fifth line, the term would soon have as much meaning to them as "Fifth Avenue" has. If they did not soon become accustomed to it, they would soon be lost in this parish, because even now, in most parts of the territory, the question "where do you live?" cannot be answered better or more accurately than "on the second line, four houses below the baseline, a green house quite a piece back from the road—you can't miss it!" Well, this Fifth Line Church, which does not exist now, was about three miles north and three miles west of the present church on the Dundas Highway. It was the church of St. Kevin, and was twenty-six years old when this register opens, in the year 1856.

The first entries are signed by Father J. McNulty. Father McNulty was a hard worker, and cared well for his parish, which at that time was almost large enough to be a diocese. He built a church in honour of St. Joseph at Streetsville, a task which was far from easy, and in all things he gave generously of his time and energy until he went to pass the last two years of his life in retirement at Dundas. In spite of the labour that it cost him, however, or perhaps because of it, he seems to have taken a liking to the place. At any rate, immediately on his arrival, he began to collect funds for a presbytery which housed the parish priest for ten years, when a new one was built in Dixie.

In March, 1859, Father Conway came, but he remained for less than a year. During that time, he was successful in paying the debt of the Streetsville church, but his contribution to our baptismal register is nothing—the names of those whom he baptised were put into a memorandum book and mislaid somewhere.

Father Shea came in 1860, and was followed in 1861 by Father Flannery—no wonder Dixie was called Irishtown! Even the house in which Father Flannery sometimes said Mass was inhabited by Mr. Owen Hickey, who still has some relatives living in the parish. Perhaps it was Mr. Hickey's hospitality that caused Father Flannery to share Father McNulty's liking for Dixie, but in any case, he too built a presbytery, at its present site on the Dundas Highway. Any plans, however, that he might have had to stay, were changed by the Bishop, who transferred Father Flannery in the following year.

We must occasionally pass over some names in this list of Dixie priests, whether for lack of anything to say, or for lack of space in which to say it. But we think that these good men whose names are omitted will not mind. Some of them, if we may judge from their penmanship, seem to have intended what they wrote for themselves alone. Father McIntee, however, seems to show that he was thinking of posterity when he penned the following: "N.B. Began my missionary labors in this parish April 11/72 and hereby certify that the following children mentioned have been duly baptised by me." And he certainly did us all a great service when he built the present St. Patrick's Church, which stands as a memorial of himself and as a centre of Catholic life, we hope, for many years to come. He thus describes things briefly in the baptismal register: "On Sunday the 13th of October, 1872, the new church of St. Patrick's near the Presbytery was dedicated to divine worship by His Grace Archbishop Lynch. The sermon was preached by Very Rev. Archd. Northgraves of St. Michael's Cathedral. The Mass was sung by Rev. J. J. McEntee, P.P."

Some paint and repairs would help the church greatly at the present time. To my knowledge, it is thirty years since it has been painted. After its renovation, it was opened on the eighth of November, 1908. Vicar General McCann, who is still remembered in Toronto, delivered a special lecture, and the choir rendered musical Vespers. His Grace Archbishop McEvay blessed the Stations of the Cross on Sunday, the sixth of December, of the same year. The parish priest at this time was the present Dean of West Toronto, Msgr. Treacy, who had been appointed at the beginning of Lent, in 1904, by Archbishop O'Connor. Preceding him as parish priests had been the present Senior Vicar General, Msgr. Coyle, and Father Bergin. Father Bergin had died in 1904, after being in charge for only a couple of months. Msgr. Treacy recited the prayers for the dying at his bedside.

The next two parish priests were Father Richardson and Father James Minehan, both of whom have now gone to their reward. But Father Patrick Kirby is still living. His successor, Father William Egan, is now at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church in Toronto, and Father John O'Connor, the last parish priest, is now in charge of St. Helen's Church, Toronto.

This, briefly, is the story of Dixie up to the present parish priest, Doctor Arthur O'Leary. As you can see, there is nothing at all startling recorded in over a hundred years. And yet, the things that have passed unnoticed are of tremendous importance. We cannot record, for we do not know, all the labours and prayers and sacrifices and consolations of these priests and of their flocks. But we do know that such things existed, and were very real for those to whom they belonged. Even the two volumes that we have used as guides to the story are records of wonders beyond compare—countless instances of the re-birth of souls to the life of God's grace in Holy Baptism. And the church, with its altar, its communion railing, its confessional, is really God's workshop, where He has laboured all these years to produce the necessaries of the spiritual life for His people. Some people think that nothing important ever happens there, and in reality it is a place of miracles—not extraordinary events, but stupendous and marvellous events all the same.

It is therefore a glorious history, that of the parish of Dixie, as of every parish. And the glories of it are reward even in this world for the efforts which are the price of them. These efforts are symbolised by an incident which took place in the early days of the parish. One of the parishioners carried on his shoulders a cross destined for one of its churches. May the priests and people of Dixie continue thus to imitate their Master, that they may one day share in His glory!

Trainees At Lakeview Delighted With Riviera Concert Party Display

Plan to Hold Monthly Events For New Trainees at The Military Camp, Lakeview

The Riviera Concert Party was enthusiastically received on the occasion of their visit to Lakeview Training Camp on Friday last, the 25th, and arrangements have been made for the Concert Party to appear each month as the new batch of "trainees" arrive. A new hall is in course of erection, which will seat 1,000 and will have a modern stage with convenient dressing rooms.

Captain Ransome thanked the cast on behalf of the officers and men and congratulated them on the fine performance.

The variety programme opened with a splendid number by Mrs. Minnie Wands, which was very well received, and was followed by a Gipsy Dance by Joan Craig. Arnold Renshaw took an encore with his number "I'll never smile again", as did Mary Taylor with "The Sailor with the Navy Blue Eyes."

Mrs. Wands and her class, Grade 999, was received with roars of laughter by the boys, and Betty Blower followed with a cute little song and dance number "Playmates."

Mr. Tardiff, our inimitable tenor, gave a wonderful rendition of "Sweet Mystery of Life," with an Irish Clog dance by Lorna Whamond following.

The programme closed with a gorgeous pageant and Military review, featuring everything that is military or naval. This included Joan Craig, representing the Navy; Bill Brown, Army; Joan Stalker, Air Force; Mary Taylor, Women's Army; Ray Heenahan, Lois Patterson, Jean McCay, Lorna Whamond, Jack Tars; Betty Blower, French Army; Tap on Drums by June Rivers, Betty Whamond, Ruth Hopton, preceded by solo tap on drum by Kathleen Butler.

Mr. John Drummond sang the toast to Britannia (Mrs. Wands) in "There'll always be an England", the programme concluding with "Rule Britannia" and "God Save the King."

Mr. Peters supplied drum effects which always adds so much to our programmes.

The music and singing was under the direction of Mrs. Florence M. Rivers; the dancing under the direction of Miss Pat Rivers. All dancers used on these programmes are pupils of the Rivers' School of Music and Dancing.

Comes Natural

Almost as soon as they can walk boys and girls start climbing, endangering their lives; a little older, they are being pulled, half drowned, out of the swimming holes where they had been warned not to go or the ponds where they had been trying the ice to see whether it would bear—and found it would not. In adolescent and adult life we see them dashing through the traffic on busy thoroughfares or crawling under the gates at protected railway crossings. There seems to be an element in human nature that loves danger—or that does not consider it if it comes up against gratification of curiosity. Perhaps it is a good trait this disregard of danger; it has helped to place many heroic deeds on the roll of history. But it must be annoying to the British authorities to find that the people they want to protect blithely go ahead doing as they like.—From the Owen Sound Sun-Times.

Tired Little Baby

Tired, my little baby?
Tired, I know you are,
Rest your tiny head now,
Angels from afar
Come to watch and guard you
In the silent night,
Till the morning welcomes
With its glorious light.

Tired, my precious baby?
'Tis but Nature's call,
Sleep, my little darling,
Evening shadows fall.
Stars are all a'twinkle
In the moonlit skies.
Rest, my little baby
Till morning bids you rise.
JAMES MacGREGOR.

Looking For Destroyer

The Sunday morning visitor to the Navy yard approached a sentry.
"Can you direct me to H.M.S. Satan?" he asked.
"Never heard of it," said the sentry.
"That's odd," said the stranger, as he reached in his pocket for a newspaper clipping, and read: "Next Sunday the Navy yard chaplain will preach on Satan, the great destroyer."

An advertisement claims to tell how to get started in aviation without leaving home. That's easy. Just fly off the handle, or hit the ceiling.
